VOL. LXXXIII | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana Thursday, January 4, 1968 | NUMBER 1

Indiana State Library

Half the joy of life is in little things taken on the run. Let us run if we must—even the sands do that—but let us keep our hearts young and our eyes open that nothing worth our while shall escape us.
—Victor Cherbuliez

Around the Town
WITH THE EDITOR

Lizzie Milliman passes along the following feature article written by her daughter, Marguerite Hercules, who is Women's Editor of the Tyler (Tex.) Courier Times Telegraph. It's interesting enough to quote in full.

"A railroad trip through the Sierra Madre Mountains of Mexico was a fascinating experience for members of Texas Press Women, Inc., following their 75th annual convention in El Paso recently.

Through the courtesy of Pan American Travel Service in El Paso, the group made the trip via the Chihuahua Pacific Railway. Herbert Ruiz, of the travel agency, and Andy Sandiseur of Albuquerque, N.M., free lance commentator and photographer, accompanied the group, who were met at points enroute by tour servier, press and hotel representatives.

After traveling by bus from El Paso, the delegation boarded the railroad's Diesel powered Fiat Autovia at Chihuahua for the scenic mountain tour.

The Autovia, which travels through the mountainous area only in daylight hours, is a far conception from trains pulled by the coal-fired engines of past decades.

A tiny compartment in the front of the passenger coach, only large enough to accommodate the engineer and his assistant, was quite a revelation to the press group, who had expected to see their train pulled by a separate engine.

The passengers were permitted to go into the tiny compartment with the engineer. And, this experience was quite thrilling.

As one looked straight down, the rails were reminiscent of a roller coaster track as the coach dropped down the mountain side, or climbed steadily upward.

Compared to a roller coaster ride, however, the usual jerks were lacking. The improved elastic track and welded rails suppressed all vibration, and the ride was very smooth.

A single coach carried the group on its departure from Chihuahua. In addition to the comfortable passenger seats and engineer's compartment, the coach had an open kitchen compartment in the back, from which a crew of two prepared and served complete meals, snacks and drinks.

Both breakfast and luncheon were served during the 13 hour trip from Chihuahua to Los Mochis. The menu for breakfast, which was served on portable tables fastened to seat arms, consisted of grapefruit, ham and eggs, beans, sliced tomatoes, sliced onions, halipeno peppers, toast and coffee. A Mexican menu was featured in the luncheon.

The railroad system, built by the Government of Mexico, is one of the great engineering marvels of the Western Hemisphere because of the technique of its construction. Completed in 1961, the line between Chihuahua and Los Mochis goes over 27 bridges and through 72 tunnels. The system of huge canyons which it traverses, in end to end fashion, would accommodate four Grand Canyons of Arizona.

The canyons along the route are breath-taking. The summits of many are covered with profuse pine forests, and with many varieties of oaks, cedars, junipers and mandrone trees. On others boulders and vari-colored crags jut skyward.

In lower mountain glens, veritable jungles abound in parrots and other birds of brilliant plumage.

Wildlife of the mountains includes panthers, jaguars, wolves, coyotes, mountain lions, foxes, monkeys and deer. Ermines in habit some of the streams.

The mineral wealth of the eminently volcanic region is varied. There are formations of pyrite, andesite and types of chalk. Also, there are platinum, copper, lead, zinc, opals and even diamonds. Mines of gold, silver, tungsten and optic calcite exist and some mines, now abandoned, have large deposits of "complex" ores awaiting facilities for their extraction.

Springs and streams of warm and hot water flow through the ravines and provide laundry facilities for the sparse population, who wash their clothes there and spread them on the rocks to dry.

Waterfalls run down many of the gorges. The highest waterfall, "Basaseachic," is 328 meters high and is one of the world's twelve largest.

As one travels southwestward, the lower ravines are covered by a thick layer of fertile earth. Here orange trees, banana plants, avocados, pineapples, mangoes and sugar cane thrive. Apple orchards grow in abundance in some areas.

Brilliant wild flowers and tropical flowers, including orchids, add to the scenic beauty.

Approximately 384 kilometers from Chihuahua is Anahuac Station, a newly developed industrial center of 10,000 inhabitants, where Ponderosa pine is converted into cellulose, plywood and an artificial fiber known as "Texcorta."

The railroad also passes the Tarahumara region, where the Indians, known as Tarahumaras, still live in caves. These semi-nomad people, although unsociable and rebellious to formal living, proved skillful workers in the construction of the railroad.

In contrast to the rugged, Indian-inhabited area, the traveler passes Cuauhtemoc, a small town tht stands out for its cleanliness, thrift and progress. It is the center of trade for a Mennonite colony of 20,000, whose principal industries are agriculture and dairy products.

Typical, tiny Mexican villages are at intervals along the railroad. Here serape and sombrero-clad natives cluster to watch the train pass through.

The highest point on the railroad is at Ojitos, where the elevation is over 8,000 feet. The highest bridge, Puente Chinipas, has an altitude of 102 meters and is 292 feet in length. The longest bridge, of 500 meters, is Puente Rio Fuerte. The Continental Tunnel, longest on the line, extends 4,134 feet through the mountains.

Los Mochis, southwestern terminal of the railroad, is an important agricultural and sugar producing center with 38,000 inhabitants.

Low rail fares and hotel rates make a Chihuahua Pacific Railway a most economical vacation and one that's unequaled in uniqueness and scenic splendor."

Brownies Brighten Shut-ins' Christmas

On December 19 the Saint Joe Brownies of Troop 466 went to the Sheehy Nursing Home and Convalescent Home to sing Christmas carols for the patients. After singing several carols, each Brownie presented a patient with a Christmas gift which she had made at a previous meeting.

The following mothers provided transportation and accompanied the girls on the trip: Mrs. Donald E. Miller, Mrs. Jessie L. Cannady, Mrs. Donald Yeiser, Mrs. Don Bullock and Mrs. Forrest Bevington.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met for its first session of 1968 Tuesday evening at the town hall. Members Lynn Lake, Jack Bowser and Ted Haberkorn attended the meeting with former clerk-treasurer Harvey Carr attending to perform duties in the absence of Donald Kinsey who was ill.

Ted Haberkorn was named chairman of the board with Jack Bowser to serve as vice-chairman. It was voted to retain attorney Phil Butler as legal counsel for the board, subject to his acceptance.

Howard Miller appeared at the meeting to discuss a situation relative to water service at his property in Saint Joe, and the matter was settled by mutual agreement.

Bill Mansfield was appointed water commissioner and Vinson's Market was appointed as collection agency for water bills.

Discussion was held on enforcing regulations on payment of water bills to avoid misunderstandings and problem situations in the future. The water billings will be payable by the 15th of each month beginning in March. January deadline will be January 25 with February's bills payable by the 23rd.

Bills allowed at the meeting included:

Bill Mansfield, water commissioner salary and postage	$41.44
Auburn Sanitary Landfill, December service	240.00
DeKalb County Farm Bureau Coop, fuel oil	16.16

Discussed briefly were matters pertaining to annexation of certain areas adjacent to Saint Joe, and consultation with the town attorney concerning enforcement of the junk car ordinance.

Clifford Billow, outgoing member of the board, was present for the entire meeting to offer assistance to the new board in getting accustomed to its duties.

Prosecutor Has Busy Year

1,552 traffic cases were processed in the five courts in the county during 1967, according to a recent report by Prosecuting Attorney H. Charles Winans. The courts are held in Auburn, Garrett and Butler in city court sessions and in Waterloo and Auburn in Justice of Peace courts.

All but 11 of the cases have been completely disposed of and those remaining have definite trial dates.

In addition to the traffic cases, 255 miscellaneous misdemeanors were handled, including 48 cases of theft of cash or goods valued at less than $100, 67 cases of assault and battery, 32 dispositions of disorderly conduct and 53 actions alleging public intoxication.

There were 10 cases of simple trespass and 26 instances of malicious trespass. 19 charges of parents' failure to provide for minor children were concluded with convictions.

Mr. Winans reported that his office actually interviewed citizens making a total of 1,704 complaints investigated, with the assistance of Sheriff James Sims.

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, the prosecutor filed 40 criminal cases in 1967, all of which were disposed of by a conviction or are now set for a definite trial date. In addition there were 91 juvenile cases filed out of 151 investigations.

506 complaints of bad checks were received and recovery or 100 per cent restitution for the complaining businessman was obtained in 407 instances for a cash value recovery of $23,000.

108 deserted wives called on the prosecutor's office for assistance, making the total complaints filed by police officers and citizens 2,357.

"It is with a great deal of pride that we in the prosecutor's office point out that we have fought to get every case processed without needless delay and that we have less than 12 cases pending in the entire county at this time," Mr. Winans stated in concluding his report.

Sam Hood Has Record Corn Yield

Sam Hood of east of Saint Joe was given special recognition December 7 for producing a corn yield of 198 bushels per acre. This is among the high st yields ever grown in the state of Indiana and is more than double the Indiana state average corn yield for the last seven years. Altogether, Hood harvested 1,980 bushels of number 2 corn from 10 acres for his 198 bushel average.

In producing his exceptional yield, Hood used the single cross hybrid, Funk's G 4384, planted in 40 inch rows, with 39,000 plants per acre at harvest. He fertilized with 300 pounds of actual nitrogen, 82 pounds of actual phosphate and 190 pounds of actual potash per acre.

Hood received his Documented Yield Award from Carl Perkins of Saint Joe, fieldman for the coop.

Death For Deserters

A "dirty word" in every person's lifetime is the word "discipline." Most of us immediately associate ideas of extreme restriction, confinement or forced restraint when the word is heard. On the other hand, we also associate order with the same word, the kind of order which is beneficial not only to the individual directly involved but also to society as a whole.

The present day's concern over civil rights, individual rights, etc., and the prevalent permissiveness with which society treats these movements have brought a breakdown in discipline, and it is not just the younger generation which is involved. Youth today has more opportunity than ever to do more things than ever before in the nation's history. They have been encouraged in their attempts to "be their own boss' at an early age by those who have good intentions in striving to make "freedom" universal. But those older persons with good intentions have themselves grown up in an increasingly affluent society under which material wealth has brought greater freedom of movement and activity. Consequently, we have those citizens of the nation who are today exercising what they believe is their "right" as an individual in doing what they please with what they have, even when faced with or actually in military service. This breakdown in discipline, this loss of restraint, endangers the strength which has given our people their much-desired freedom.

There has not seemed to be much concern expressed over the four Navy deserters who are now seeking asylum in Sweden. They were momentarily in Japan, then in, of all places, Russia (and I can hear someone saying, "So what, they had a right to go there"). Some people will probably say that the lack of public response thus far is an indication of the growth of freedom in this country, that it is a good thing that those young men did what they did without censure. But to me, the lack of concern is an indication of how dead we are, how corrupted our sense of values has become. We speak in highly complimentary tones of our boys who are dying for freedom anyplace in the world they may be sent. At the same time we apparently condone the actions of these four deserters. What if a large number of our servicemen chose to violate the discipline which is the core of military strength and civil order? What if there were no fear of punishment in the hearts and minds of most of our servicemen, and they chose to do as they pleased? If they did, there would be no freedom for anyone because there would be no protection for anyone.

A local resident commented recently that if he had done in the 1940's what some of our young men are doing today as civilians (burning draft cards), he would have been in jail as a traitor. Some people explain the difference by pointing out that we are not involved in a declared war today; therefore, military discipline is not as stringent as it would be in time of official war. The trouble with that explanation is that, offical or not, declared or not, we are fighting a war whether we like it or not. And everyone is involved whether they like it or not. And everyone is dependent upon the other whether we like it or not. The man in uniform depends upon his buddy next to him; if either lets the other down, both are lost. If it were not for this discipline of dependence, any military effort we make would be doomed to failure. The same discipline of dependence applies also to civilian life.

I am personally concerned over the apparent lack of discipline in the military picture when servicemen can desert and no threat hangs over their heads. Or, if it does, we haven't heard about it. Is the death penalty too unpleasant, too distasteful for our ears? We can stand to send thousands to death under orders on the battlefield, but we hesitate enforcing the death penalty for deserters???

Anyone in military service who deserts his country while there is fighting going on should be subject to the death penalty. Until such time as severe penalties are hanging over the heads of law breakers, whether they are military lawbreakers or civil law breakers, there will be disrespect for duties and obligations. The crime rate is rising in civilian life because the courts have backed off on the punishments. The military services have deserters because, apparently, the penalties have been reduced.

I am far from a bloodthirsty individual. But I do believe that severe penalties are a definite deterent to severe crime. When any man walks out on his duty in the military service, he endangers his country's security and the freedom of all the people. He turns his back on those of his buddies who also serve in the military forces but who maintain enough discipline in their souls to do as they are told even though they may not like it. The very heart of military strength is discipline, obedience to command and regulation.

Discipline must reach down also into the "little" things, or order and strength break down. I think it is unfortunate that, while some young men are fighting for their lives and daily existence in Vietnam at this very moment, having no rights and no choice of what they want to do at the moment, others in the armed forces are coddled and allowed to let their hair grow long as they please and to taper their military trousers to suit their fashion tastes. Somehow I find it hard to stomach such lack of discipline in the military while such friends as Bob Gerber, Mike Lake, Gary Sible, Pat Crow, Randy Reinhart and others like them are subject to the enemy's fire power. True, they may have at one time, perhaps the present, done the same thing if they had the opportunity. The point is, regardless of what job we may be performing in the military service, no one has the right to suit their tastes while others have no rights at all. The discipline of universal short hair and strict dress regulations is a manner of visual mutual respect within the armed forces which ought not to be forgotten.

It appears that we are trying to make war as "pleasant" as possible for our young men and ourselves so that it does not interfere with our rights, freedoms, personal tastes and pursuit of pleasure, when the truth of the matter is this is serious business and we ought to act like it.

Hoosier 4-H'ers Heard Freeman Speak at Chicago

Indiana delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago heard several prominent men and women speak. One was U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman.

Miss Schaefer

Roberts

Three of the delegates were Suzanne Schaefer, 19, of Fort Wayne; Jon Roberts, 19, of Syracuse, and Anita Haynes, 18, of Auburn. They were chosen as 1967 state award winners by the Cooperative Extension Service.

The young Hoosiers attended a concert played by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra as guests of The Singer Company. They had time for tours and seeing the brilliant Christmas decorations in Chicago's Loop.

Miss Haynes

The theme of congress was "Pursuit of Excellence" and the 4-H'ers heard issues of concern to today's youth discussed by a panel. Panelists included astronaut James Lovell and Johnny Morris, Chicago Bears flankerback and a sports reporter.

Miss Schaefer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schaefer, was the winner in the home economics program sponsored by Montgomery Ward.

In 10 years of project work Miss Schaefer prepared more than 1,300 containers of canned and frozen foods and received blue ribbons at the state fair for seven successive years. She estimates she saved her family $2,200 on her canning project alone.

Miss Schaefer, who prepared 1,160 meals and sewed 79 garments during her 4-H career, said she learned to be a wise shopper as well. By visiting local grocery stores she learned to examine labels closely and to shop several stores for bargains.

Miss Schaefer also racked up successes in a project usually reserved for the opposite sex. She won numerous awards with her beef project, including the National Angus Auxiliary Scholarship, which she is applying towards studies at Purdue University.

Roberts, also a Purdue student, took top honors in the field crops science project sponsored by Amchem Products, Inc., Agricultural Chemicals Division.

In eight years of project work, Roberts raised 539 acres of crops, including corn, wheat, soybeans, popcorn, alfalfa and oats. His demonstrations on soil science won awards in national competition three years.

To improve crop production Roberts tests various seed in combination with different fertilizer levels each year. When a particular combination proves out for two or three years, he uses it for his total farming program. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Bernard Roberts.

As part of her home management project Miss Haynes has won state fair blue ribbons in clothing, food preservation, electricity and crafts. She is an excellent cook and a clever home decorator, gaining experience by helping her family renovate an old tenant house.

Through her 4-H projects Miss Haynes learned the importance of budgeting for proper diet and economic menus. Selected to participate in the People-to-People goodwill tour or Europe this year, her trip to Chicago was provided by Tupperware, the home management project sponsor. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes, she is now a student at Manchester College.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Did you ever hear of a union accepting a reduction in wages? Unheard of? No longer, because a Philadelphia plasterers' union local has taken the revolutionary step of voting to reduce its hourly rates in residential construction by $10 a week.

Union members did it on their own and the vote was unanimous.

C. W. Harder

Why? To meet increasing competition from dry-wall construction. Membership in the plasterers' local had declined from about 1,200 a few years ago to 458, mainly due to the competitive advantage of the new wall techniques compared to the high costs of plastering.

Thomas McCormick, business manager for the union, explained the voluntary pay cut this way: "What's the use of bragging about your high rate of pay if you're standing in an unemployment line?"

He even expressed doubts whether dry wall construction would have made such advances if plasterers' rates had seemed less prohibitive.

Competition. That's the key word in the American economy. If the opposition can deliver more (or the same) for less, your customer will buy from the opposition. And yet, unions have tried to negate this law by all manner of force and coercion . . . with product boycotts, restrictive labor practices, prohibitions against advanced technology, conspiracies to prohibit a free market, etc., while seeking higher wages.

The extent to which they have succeeded has been due to the "special rules" government and the courts have provided by giving unions exemptions from antitrust laws. The National Federation of Independent Business has constantly pointed out how this is inconsistent with a competitive free enterprise economy.

Unions have enacted their demands without compunction and left "the boss" to figure out how to stay competitive.

Businessmen manage to do it by shaving expenses, increasing productivity, cutting out unprofitable operations, deferring expenditures, and yes, reducing their profits. The unions which constantly cry "More! more!" are oblivious to this struggle against higher taxes, higher labor costs, inflated credit, increased materials costs and what have you.

Now, for once, a union has faced up to the issue, recognizing that customers have been making a choice between competitive alternatives and this choice has been reducing employment of plasterers.

The plasterers don't want to join the dodo bird and dinosaur in extinction.

Unions can price themselves out of business. And what's the use of bragging about your high rate of pay if you're extinct?

Small Fry Send Love and Allowances To Ricky, March of Dimes Youngster

Six-year-old Ricky Carlsen is learning early in life that the hearts of American youngsters overflow with sympathy for the handicapped.

For almost two years, Ricky, born without a left forearm, has been swamped with letters to his Yorktown Heights, N.Y., home from small fry across the nation. The letters all expressed love and most were accompanied by small sums from two cents to fifty.

Whatever the sum, it meant a sacrifice for the small donors in terms of less candy or bubble gum or going without a comic book.

The unexpected outpouring of mail and money came about in this way:

For use during the 1966 March of Dimes campaign to fight birth defects, a "school card envelope" was prepared for classroom distribution around the country. The card was perforated with slots for coins and it also bore a photo of Ricky and beneath it the name of his home town. Thus, if they wanted to, the school children could write to Ricky directly, and some of them did, instead of sending their contributions to the local chapter of the March of Dimes.

Ricky is quoted on the school card as saying that he would like to grow up to be an astronaut but that it's impossible because he was born with only part of one arm. (This explains, in the passages from his pen pals that follow, the occasional references to his space-age aspirations.)

Aside from sending sympathy and contributions to Ricky, some of his pen pals seized the opportunity to tell him what's weighing on their young minds. For instance, Nancy Wanstrath, of Batesville, Ind., sounds off on one particular sore point, and she seems to express the consensus in this area of all the others.

"Dear Richard," she writes, "I go to St. Louis Catholic School. It's nice but I could do without it—really. And if it keeps on snowing, we might not have any school tomorrow! Love, have to go now."

In writing to Ricky, a young gentleman named Ronnie McCain, 16, of Victoria, Tex., adopts a clerical stance. "May you have a Graceful Life and never give up because God will always be with you. God bless you, son. I hope to be a Preacher some day. Love forever."

FOR TWO YEARS Ricky Carlsen, 6, Yorktown Heights, N. Y., born without a left forearm, has been receiving notes and contributions to the March of Dimes from pen pals across the nation. Here he collects the day's mail.

Phyllis Mastey of Dolton, Ill., apparently aware of a woman's right to be coy about her age, seems to want to make a point about sex discrimination. She protests, "I can't be an astronaut because I am a girl! But I will try my best to help you so you will become an astronaut. I have to go now."

Perhaps three-quarters of Ricky's correspondents signed off "have to go now." This suggests the onset of some sort of escape compulsion or feeling of impending crisis as soon as Young America sets pen to paper.

Sue Larson of Estacada, Ore., who is also demure about her age, quickly gets down to juvenile essentials. She immediately asks Ricky, "Do you have any animals? I have three cats and two dogs. Also chickens. And I am in the 7th Grade. Also I have to go now."

Perhaps the most touching note, because of its simplicity, comes from Jayne Smith, 8, Haysville, Kan. She writes that "I send you this letter to bring you love from children all over the world."

Ricky is busy these days answering the letters and mailing his replies. He and the writer to whom he showed this correspondence could quote from many more. But they both have to go now.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club held their Christmas Party December 13 at Plainer's Steak House, with ten members and three guests present.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer offered the grace before dinner. Each member ordered the dinner of her choice from the menu. Each setting was marked with a Christmas nut cup and Christmas music was played during dinner.

After dinner the members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Maurice Kline. Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser read an entertaining short story entitled "Christmas Pageant," and Mrs. Robert Musser read the poem, "Guest At the Inn." Those present then had a gift exchange.

The guests of the evening were Mrs. Sadie Krise and Mrs. Lora Leighty, emeritus members, and Mrs. Everett Mavis, honorary member, all of Auburn.

The committee in charge of the evening was Mrs. Robert Musser and Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser.

Court Dismisses Protestors' Complaint On Point Of Procedure

Judge Harold Stump upheld a motion to dismiss, filed in behalf of the Commission On General Education of the State of Indiana, in a decision issued January 4, 1968. The motion to dismiss was in response to a complaint filed against the state commission on behalf of the site protest group in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District which seeks to re-establish a central location for a proposed new junior-senior high school.

The protest group has retained Nelson Grills of Indianapolis as their legal counsel, and the complaint was filed by Grills in behalf of the protestors last summer.

Although ruling against the protest group, the judge also commented somewhat pointedly about the protestors' right to be heard as aggrieved patrons and parents of students, as well as taxpayers. His explanation pointed out specifically that the decision to dismiss the complaint in no way reflected upon their reasons for concern in the site matter. His decision merely involved the question of proper procedure. He said that the state commission's approval of a site did not establish absolute selection. The final decision still remains with the local school board, and his dismissal of the complaint in no way jeopardizes the protestors' right to seek court consideration of the matter.

(The following is the complete text of the ruling and accompanying statements made by Circuit Court Judge Harold Stump, as forwarded to those parties directly involved or their representatives. The ruling came following the filing of a complaint by a school site protest group, and a subsequent motion to dismiss the complaint, filed in behalf of the the Commission On General Eduention of the State of Indiana. The court's ruling upheld the motion to dismiss the protestors' complaint.)

Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., et al
vs.
Richard D. Wells, et al

"Gentlemen:

"Please be advised that on January 4, 1968, the following entry was made in the above referenced cause, to-wit:

" 'Defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' complaint having heretofore been submitted to the Court for hearing, and counsel for the parties having now submitted briefs in support of the position of said parties, and the Court having heard and considered arguments of counsel and having considered the briefs of the parties, now finds that plaintiffs' petition for Judicial Review of the Administrative Adjudication made by the Commission on General Education of the State of Indiana in approving the request of the Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School Corporation for approval of a proposed school site does not properly come within the purview of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act, being Chapter 365 of the Acts of the Indiana General Assembly for 1947 as amended, so as to vest this Court with jurisdiction to hear and determine plaintiffs' petition under the provisions of the aforesaid act; that defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' motion and petition should be sustained.

" 'It is therefore considered, adjudged, decreed and ordered that defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' complaint and petition be sustained, and plaintiffs' complaint and petition be dismissed accordingly. To the foregoing finding, ruling and judgment plaintiffs object and except.' "

"First, I should like to compliment counsel for the parties for the careful and studious analysis and presentation of the issues and the respective positions of the parties to this proceeding. Controlling precedents in the form of decisions by appellate tribunals has not been discovered in abundance, either in the briefs prepared by counsel, or by the Court's own research. The Court recognizes the need for a final disposition of this controversy, such as would enable suitable school facilities to be constructed somewhere in the affected school district; however, the means sought to be employed by the plaintiffs and petitioners in this proceeding are believed to be inappropriate to accomplish this desired end.

"It has been suggested by the plaintiffs that defendants' motion to dismiss is not a proper procedural device to attack plaintiffs' complaint and petition. In view of the somewhat hybrid nature of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act, under which act this proceeding has been brought, particularly with regard to the provisions relating to pleadings, it is believed that the motion filed by the defendants adequately presents the issue sought to be raised.

"Plaintiffs suggest that 'the determination in question is a final approval of THE site for a school building by the Commission . . .'. It is believed that plaintiffs' position in this regard is not correct, in that the determination which was made by the State Commission was the approval of a possible site upon which a school building might be constructed, without any directive by the Commission as to where the building must, or even should, be constructed by the local Board of School Trustees, this being a decision resting entirely within the province of the local Board of School Trustees, and being further a decision which would be subject to appropriate attack by interested and affected persons. Accordingly, the action of the State Commission is not the final determination or approval of the selection of THE site upon which the proposed school building must be built, inasmuch as such approval and selection are outside the authority of the State Commission.

"The determination by the State Commission of the issue of approval or rejection of a possible or proposed site for the construction of the school building affects the local School Board, and other agency of the State of Indiana, in the ultimate determination by such local school board of the ultimate construction site. This administrative determination which affects only another agency is within the exclusionary clause of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act.

"Plaintiffs' contention that the plaintiffs are interested persons in the ultimate selection of a construction site for the school building can not be questioned, as plaintiffs allege that they are affected taxpayers, parents of affected school children, and school patrons within the geographical limits of the school district. As such, they are certainly interested persons in the site that is ultimately selected, and are clothed with inalienable rights to seek judicial relief to protect those rights. The action of the State Commission does not divest any interested persons, either proponents or opponents of possible construction sites, of their rights to appropriate judicial relief. Neither does the action of the State Commission vest any person or agency with any rights which violate or countermand any statute, rule or regulation governing final selection of a construction site or with rights which could in any manner violate the rights of any interested person. In an appropriate legal proceeding, to challenge the construction of the school building on any site selected by the local School Board, which proceeding would lie against the local School Board, the approval by the State Commission of a site selected by the local School Board would in no way be binding upon the Court in which such proceeding was to be determined, nor would such State Commission action be res adjudicata as to any issue to be tendered in such proceeding. In such proceeding, the Court could then be clothed with jurisdiction over all parties, proponents or opponents, and the local School Board, as well as over all issues embraced within the subject matter of such litigation. In such proceeding a binding and final adjudication could be made in a proper judicial forum.

"It would be difficult to imagine a ruling, adjudication or determination by one administrative agency at the request of another agency which would not ultimately affect citizens and taxpayers as 'interested persons'; however, at the level of action where they become directly affected, their right of redress to the courts could in no way be inhibited by the ruling of one agency upon issues tendered for determination by another agency.

"The plaintiffs would have the right to an adjudication of the precise issues presented in their complaint and petition filed in this proceeding, but not under the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act against the Commission on General Education of the State of Indiana. This right is in no manner affected by this ruling by this Court, nor is the expression of any opinion as to the merits of the real issues concerning a school site intended by these findings, rulings, or judgment of this Court. Duplicity would be the certain result of the continuance of this proceeding only to be followed by the institution of a suit against proper defendants to properly present for adjudication the same issues involved in this proceeding.

"Objection is made by the plaintiffs that the action of the General Commission was without observance of procedures required by law, in that no reported record was kept of the proceedings, and no transcript was prepared. Although it must be conceded that it would have been far better practice if such record and transcript would have been kept and prepared, the provisions of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act do not make it mandatory that such be done. The authority for such practice is contained in the act, but likewise, the authority to conduct such hearings in an informal manner is granted in the act. In any event, the duty of making a timely objection to the absence of a reporter to make and transcribe a record and to the failure to make and preserve an appealable record would seem to have rested with equal weight upon all participants in such hearing.

"This Court is entirely in accord with plaintiffs' contentions that 'Indiana has always recognized that in the selection of school sites there should be an opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities.' The procedure to accomplish and guarantee such opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities in the selection of a school site has not been followed by the plaintiffs in this proceeding.

Yours very truly,
Harold D. Stump, Judge"

Not As Bad As It Sounds

The January 4; 1968, decision of the DeKalb Circuit Court in dismissing the school site protestors' complaint against the Indiana Commission On General Education contains some interesting statements. In a detailed explanation of the decision (a decision which has had a demoralizing effect on some of the protest group), the Court makes some significant comments. You can read the entire decision elsewhere in this issue, from which the following excerpts are taken:

". . . the Court. . . . now finds that plaintiffs' (protestors) petition for Judicial Review of the Administrative Adjudication made by the Commission on General Education of the State of Indiana in approving the request of the Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School Corporation for approval of a proposed school site does not properly come within the purview of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act. . . ."

". . . that defendants' (State Commission) motion to dismiss plaintiffs' motion and petition should be sustained."

"Controlling precedent in the form of decisions by appellate tribunals has not been discovered. . . ."

"Plaintiffs suggest that 'the determination in question is a final approval of THE site for a school building by the Commission. . . .' It is believed that plaintiffs' position in this regard is not correct. . . ."

"Plaintiffs' contention that the plaintiffs are interested persons in the ultimate selection of a construction site for the school building can not be questioned. . . ."

"The plaintiffs would have the right to an adjudication of the precise issues presented in their complaint and petition filed in this proceeding, but not under the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act against the Commission on General Education of the State of Indiana. THIS RIGHT IS IN NO MANNER AFFECTED BY THIS RULING BY THIS COURT, NOR IS THE EXPRESSION OF ANY OPINION AS TO THE MERITS OF THE REAL ISSUES CONCERNING A SCHOOL SITE INTENDED BY THESE FINDINGS, RULINGS, OR JUDGMENT OF THIS COURT."

"This Court is entirely in accord with plaintiffs' contentions that 'Indiana has always recognized that in the selection of school sites there should be an opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities.' The procedure to accomplish and guarantee such opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities in the selection of a school site has not been followed by the plaintiffs in this proceeding."

So, when it is all boiled down, you come up with the fact that the Circuit Court threw out the protestors' complaint concerning the site on the point of procedure, but not without stating that the protestors have a right to be heard.

I WONDER!
Will some one please
Tell me how come women
Cover their hands
With gloves to their elbows—
Their neckline is plunging
Half way to their waist
Their shoulders are bare
Their busts and the rest
Go exactly the same way,
They look only half dressed.
So, pray tell me why women
Wear gloves and cover their hands
And expose all the rest? !

Mike Lake Awarded Bronze Star

Gunners Mate 3rd Class Michael L. Lake, USN, son of MM Stanley H. Lake of RI Saint Joe, was recently awarded the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V." The presentation was made during ceremonies aboard the destroyer USS Turner Joy at Long Beach, California.

Mike received the award for meritorious service while serving with River Section 512 during combat operations against the enemy in the Republic of Vietnam.

His citation reads in part: "On June 21, 1967, while on a combat patrol, he demonstrated courage and keen marksmanship while engaged with the enemy. Despite intense enemy fire that was hitting close to him, he calmly and accurately aimed his guns with extreme effectiveness resulting in the destruction of one enemy sampan and three confirmed enemy kills."

A graduate of Eastside High School, Petty Officer Lake entered the service in May of 1964.

Bids Received On School

(Prepared by Superintendent Kenneth Cole)

The Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, 503 East Green Street, Butler, Indiana, and the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School Building Corporation met in a special joint meeting at 7:00 p.m., E.S.T., January 16, 1968. This meeting was held in the Butler Elementary School Kindergarten room as had been legally advertised. As per the formal agenda, this meeting was held for the prime purpose of opening bids having to do with the proposed construction of the new Eastside Junior-Senior High School.

Those present at the meeting from the Board of School Trustees were Delbert Washler, Keith Ulm, Wendell Cooper, Lynn Fisher, Argus Fisher and Harold Kagey. Those present from the Building Corporation were Richard Crow, Robert Ridge, Robert Darby, Gale Bowser and Marvin Lesson. Also present were School Superintendent Kenneth L. Cole, School and Building Corporation Attorney H. Charles Winans, and present from Maurer, VanRyn, Ogden & Natali, Inc., of South Bend, Indiana, were Oliver Ogden, Charles Price, George Bartuska and Fred Graeber. An audience of some fifty (50) bidders and otherwise interested persons were in attendance.

School Board President Delbert Washler called the meeting to order promptly at 7:00 p.m., E.S.T., and in the same breath announced that no further bids would be accepted.

Board President Washler thanked all present for their bids and their attendance.

The Board of School Trustees each read exact copies of the minutes of the previous meeting and approved same as read.

Board President Washler then called upon Oliver Ogden of Maurer, VanRyn, Ogden & Natali, Inc., and asked Mr. Ogden to take over and supervise the opening of all bids. Mr. Ogden did take the floor. Mr. Charles Price opened all bids, Mr. Ogden read same aloud, and Attorney Winans, George Bartuska, Fred Graeber and School Superintendent Cole logged the bids, as did most everyone present in the meeting room.

At 8:40 p.m., E.S.T., Mr. Washler thanked Mr. Odgen for his fine supervision of the opening and announcement of the bids. Mr. Washler then relieved Mr. Ogden of the floor. Mr. Washler then announced to all present that all bids as submitted would be taken under advisement and further that all would at an appropriate time be notified as to the successful bidders.

At 8:42 p.m., E.S.T., having no further business to come before the Board and after a motion properly made, seconded, and carried, the meeting was adjourned.

Superintendent Cole's note:

Over all the bid opening occasion would have to be termed quite successful for there were some thirty-seven (37) bids submitted by highly competent firms. Generally the bids were competitively grouped. The general discussion following the formal meeting seemed to indicate that the General Construction Bidders were somewhat higher than had been anticipated, but not prohibitively so.

A complete and detailed report to the citizens of the school community will be made following a special meeting at 8:00 p.m., E.S.T., on January 23, 1968.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The site protest movement has been conducted in such a way as not to hinder the school board in planning as much as possible for new construction. The architects have stated that the design is such as to be adaptable to any site. Important steps yet remain before construction can be undertaken, and the group seeking a central site is reported to be continuing its efforts.

Bloodmobile Coming

Delores Hicov of east of Saint Joe, general chairman for the Riverdale area, and Mrs. Jessie Baxter, DeKalb County Red Cross executive secretary, have announced that the Bloodmobile will be at the Riverdale Elementary School Wednesday, February 28, 1968, from 1:00 until 6:00 p.m.

An additional hour of time has been made available to accommodate those whose employment hours prevented them from participating in the blood donor program in the past.

The Riverdale area quota will be 100 points, a quota which was missed by only one pint in April of 1967 when the unit made its first appearance in the Riverdale community and 99 pints were donated.

Mrs. Hicov and Mrs. Baxter urge area residents to mark the February 28 date on the calendar as a reminder to be prepared to give a pint of blood to the blood bank.

Committee assignments and other general information about the Bloodmobile's appearance at Riverdale will be announced at a later date.

What a man IS contributes much more to his happiness than what he HAS. . . . What a man is in himself, what accompanies him when he is alone, what no one can give him or take away, is obviously more essential to him than everything he has in the way of possessions, or even what he may be in the eyes of the world.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

The "Photo From the Past" in the December 21 issue was a group of fellas playing hockey down at the schoolhouse back in January of 1960. The good old days. Pictured left to right were Bob Gerber, Mike Haberkorn, Dave Haberkorn, Allen Amstutz and Mike Loy.

The next old photo was the opening center jump of the first game of Riverdale's 1959-60 basketball season. The game was played November 6, 1959, and Ronnie Smith was the center jumper.

Several people have asked me how I like the new News Office building. The answer is "fine." Some of their interest is due to the fact that I have electric heat in a cement block building and some folks are skeptical of the combination. They need not be. Bucky Baker and his crew saw to it that I have a tight building—and I mean tight. The windiest coldest days so far haven't caused me any particular discomfort. Insulation does wonders. There are six inches in the ceiling and four inches in the sidewalls—plus Thermopane windows for lots of light.

It is different, however, from the "feel" of the heat in the house where we have forced air from a coal stoker. And any time you have a cement slab on the ground with no basement, the floor is going to be cooler. But overall, and all things considered the heat Jack Bowser put in Buck Baker's construction job has been very satisfactory.

—And that oughta make I&M happy!

Carl Schott of Oklahoma City has frequently said to Bob Johnson, who hails from Alabama: "You'll never fly."

Both are buddies of Mike Loy's out at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where the boys are in flight training. And the remark is made jokingly.

The two have kidded Mike in the past about his being from a small town, and they rib him about the dinky hometown newspaper he gets—which several other local servicemen have mentioned. But the kidders reportedly always look for the paper and read it thoroughly.

Carl and Bob put Mike on about the size of Saint Joe, who lives here and where. Just to shut them off, Mike took a piece of paper and proceeded to draw a sketch of the town, marking the location of the houses and who lives in them.

—There, they got their names in the dinky little Saint Joe News.

Why Continue the Protest?

The word "hearing" has popped up frequently in the school site controversy in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, the most recent instance being within the comments of the judge of the DeKalb Circuit Court following his ruling to dismiss a complaint against the Commission On General Education filed by the group protesting the use of the Butler site for new junior-senior high school construction. The school board of the district discussed the complaint dismissal briefly at its meeting Monday of this week, and the board's legal counsel offered the explanation that such judicial comments following the court ruling were merely to salve the wounds of those who had been ruled against and to point out the democratic process which Indiana strives to uphold.

It was suggested by the superintendent Monday night that the appearance November 21, 1966, of Nelson Grills, the protestors' attorney, at a school board meeting to present arguments against the Butler site was a "hearing." The school's legal counsel hesitated in answering, then had to admit that the presentation by Grills was made AFTER a site rescinding action had been taken. And that admittance is a very important point!

It is interesting to review the actions taken by the previous board and the present board in the past three or four years, in connection with the idea of protecting our "democratic process" in the state of Indiana and in particular in our own little school district. Subject to some criticism now from its own supporting numbers for its failure to act more quickly and positively while it had the power, the former school board majority must be defended in that its hesitancy was due to a recognition of the controversial nature of the site matter and its desire NOT to abuse its power nor unduly antagonize those who might not agree with its intentions. The former board without question displayed more concern for all in the district in the school site matter than has the present board majority. And there is evidence to support such a statement.

On July 1, 1965, the former school board publicly announced through a notice in the district newspapers that the selection of a site for a new junior-senior high school would be discussed at the July 6, 1965, special meeting of the school board. The public was invited to attend and participate. The public did attend, it did participate, the board did discuss the matter in executive session, it reconvened publicly and rejected a motion to build at Butler, then passed a motion to build some four miles south of Butler without specifically naming a site at such location; it merely named the general area located centrally within the district.

In the weeks that followed, there were attempts, on the spur of the moment, by one member of the board, to approve the Butler site but these attempts were not successful. However, there was an instance of a tie vote on two occasions concerning the central location, but with the strange circumstance of the presiding officer voting to make the tie! Normal and ethical procedure in the conduct of any meeting has been that a presiding officer votes only to break a tie. But this tradition was set aside by the Butler-site proponents in their efforts to change the site. Such efforts were successful, because one of the tie votes thwarted an effort to proceed with the purchase of a central site.

Time passed during which a curriculum study required ALMOST TWO YEARS to complete (ask any outside school official what he thinks of a two-year curriculum study for a school of under 500 students in our circumstances at the time and see if he doesn't smile). The architects' cost estimates showed a tremendous additional cost if a rural site were to be used, and it required the special investigative efforts of the majority members of the board to finally get the response from the architect that his estimate for a rural site was over $100,000 too high! He had not investigated thoroughly, obviously, in a very important matter, but for some reason was still willing to submit estimates of cost. Despite this incident, the rural site majority kept its temper and did not seek retaliation in any way.

Time passed and a new school board majority came into being July 1, 1966, with two new faces, both known to favor the Butler site. Their campaign contained grossly exaggerated cost estimates concerning transportation of pupils to a rural site. These cost estimates were later in effect refuted by the superintendent when he stated on November 21, 1966, that the cost of transportation would be so nearly the same at any site as to eliminate the cost as an argumentative point. But the new members were already on the board, so such a statement was too late to counteract a campaign issue. And the board had by that time rescinded previous site action of the former board.

But now to get down again to the matter of "democratic process" in the selection of a school site. The old board did everything in reason to be careful of all concerned, even to inviting public participation BEFORE a site decision was made. However, the new board, elected under the pressure of striving to keep the high school in Butler by any means, RESCINDED THE PREVIOUS SITE ACTION WITH NO PUBLIC NOTICE THAT SUCH SITE DELIBERATION WOULD BE HELD. In other words, despite the suggestion by a board member that a review of all pertinent information should be held, the new and present majority of our school board was so intent upon carrying out its will that it ignored its responsibility to the public by failing to announce its intention to again consider the site matter for possible rescinding action. Democratic process???

Add to these local circumstances the fact that state agenices waived certain site regulations resulting in site approval. Such site approval was given with no opportunity for the public to participate BEFORE site approval was given. Democratic process???

The intent to have its own way is still evident on the present board, unfortunately, and it has been necessary for a group of people to resort to legal steps to — of all things — UPHOLD REGULATIONS ESTABLISHED TO GUIDE IN PROVIDING EQUAL AND CONVENIENT EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES. With a junior-senior high school located in Butler, there would not be equal, convenient educational facilities; there would not be the "community center" concept of the school which, as recently as Monday night of this week, the school board declared as its goal!

What has been more discouraging in the past year has been the reluctance of two "neutral" sources within the administration of the school to use their position to strive for a workable solution to the site controversy. Both the school superintendent and the school legal counsel have been fulfilling their legal duties admirably and diligently; they have worked long and hard to carry out the directives of the school board, much more so than the previous superintendent and previous legal counsel, but the latter had reason not to function. Both were known supporters of the Butler site and their enthusiasm was far from great when the previous central-site board attempted to carry out its intentions. However, under present circumstances, with a site controversy still prevailing in the district involving a large enough protest number as to merit consideration and recognition (which it has never really received except in contempt), a moral responsibility and opportunity presented itself for the superintendent and the legal counsel to function in behalf of all concerned without jeopardizing their proper position in school administration. That is: there has been a united recognition of the need for new school facilities in the district. There has been a dispute as to where these facilities should be. There has been a united recognition of the need to achieve the necessary facilities as quickly as possible. There has been a protest due to rescinding of previous action, creating a further delay now of an official nature which began three years ago or so as an unofficial action on the opposite side. Therefore, IF we need a school and IF we need it as quickly as possible, anyone who would suggest a different approach than legal action would be doing the entire district a favor. The superintendent and the legal counsel have been in a position to do so, but no suggestions have been forthcoming. By continuing only to carry out their legal responsibilities to carry out the directives of the board, they have in effect taken the position of fighting to get the new school facility built in the city of Butler. They may not have intended to do so, but that is the way it is. If every means of settling the question of site were being utilized, IT WOULD NOT BE NECESSARY FOR THE FILING OF A COMPLAINT AGAINST A STATE AGENCY OR AGAINST THE SCHOOL BOARD ITSELF. As matters now stand, favoritism is being shown for a particular group and for a particular motive, to the disadvantage of a large segment of the school district whose interests are supposedly the concern of EVERY school board member and the school administration.

A further disappointment as far as those neutral sources is concerned is that, on several occasions in the past year, they have been defended against the wrath of some of the protest group. On one occasion the legal counsel sought the support of a protest spokesman when the former was confronted by an upset group at Indianapolis. I know; I defended him. But when it came to the next school board meeting and he was asked to report on the Indianapolis "hearing," he chose to concentrate on criticism of the Commission On General Education and its confused situation (which a member of the commission had admitted), and ended by making personal and embarrassing remarks about the protest spokesman, such remarks vocally supported by the superintendent. A protest was made on the spot against the nature of the report which made the commission look like a group of idiots. But strangely, the report, the nature of the report and the public protest never got into the minutes.

The "democratic process" was preserved and protected by the previous board which, although favoring a rural site, still granted the public an opportunity to be heard. The present board and its backers have done little to preserve and protect the "democratic process," giving no notice of site rescinding consideration, granting the public no privilege of expressing itself prior to rescinding action and taking little heed of those who have been aggrieved by the rejection of a central site.

There has been a question raised by the Butler-site proponents as to how many are included in the protest group. But those same people appear to be afraid to find out how many are in their own group also, inasmuch as the present majority has made no effort to determine the feelings and opinions of the district in this very definite site controversy. I repeat my challenge of several weeks ago, that the board hold public meetings in the district which any and all may attend, that questions be asked and answered by anyone who wishes to participate, in order that rumors, doubts, fears, and so on, may be cleared as much as possible. Then submit the question of site location to the public in a public opinion poll with the question: where do you think the new school ought to be located, in Butler or in a central location?

If the school board is willing to abide by the results of such a poll, after adequate time for public meetings and public answers to all questions, I am willing to abide by the poll.

But Butler-site proponents appear to be afraid of submitting the question to the public. What is preferred is to throw up smokescreens to draw attention from the main issue. Such distractions in clude apparent concern over protest numbers, ridicule of protest members, published "crucifixions" of protest sympathizers and central-site supporters, and the latest distraction: the question of what did the judge mean by making such a lengthy explanation of his recent circuit court action?

It is most unfortunate that the site matter appears to be headed for a decision of legal prowess, legal manipulation and legal technicalities, when such a matter should be decided by a local agency, the school board, in consideration of local people and accompanying local circumstances. Such legal action has been made necessary not only by the arbitrary action of the new school board majority but also by the reluctance of certain state agencies and offices to uphold those state regulations which, in the final analysis, not only serve as a guide to a better educational program but also serve as a protection for an aggrieved group such as the protestors represent. Because of the reluctance of individuals and agencies to fulfill their duties and obligations, the dispute must continue.

Just a "hearing" is not the answer, not any guarantee. Those who conduct the hearing have the responsibility to be receptive to the views of those who exercise their right to express themselves concerning the site. Such receptiveness is not evident on the present school board, only contempt. This was evident Monday night at the board meeting as discussion was held concerning the recent court ruling. It was obvious that the presiding officer, the superintendent and others on the board were anxious to get off the subject.

We have been involved in legal actions, "illegal" actions, accusations of fact and of deception, emotional upheaval, and so on. And through it all, one question STILL remains as the primary point to be considered: NOT who has the smartest lawyer, NOT who will make the right move at the right time, NOT who can pull the right strings, NOT who has the power to force their way—but rather: where should the school be built to serve the entire district as a convenient center of school and community activity?

Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., et al
vs.
Richard D. Wells, et al

"Gentlemen:

"Please be advised that on January 4, 1968, the following entry was made in the above referenced cause, to wit:

"'Defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' complaint having heretofore been submitted to the Court for hearing, and counsel for the parties having now submitted briefs in support of the position of said parties, and the Court having heard and considered arguments of counsel and having considered the briefs of the parties, now finds that plaintiffs' petition for Judicial Review of the Administrative Adjudication made by the Commission on General Education of the State of Indiana in approving the request of the Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School Corporation for approval of a proposed school site does not properly come within the purview of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act, being Chapter 385 of the Acts of the Indiana General Assembly for 1947 as amended, so as to vest this Court with jurisdiction to hear and determine plaintiffs' petition under the provisions of the aforesaid act; that defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' motion and petition should be sustained.

"'It is therefore considered, adjudged, decreed and ordered that defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' complaint and petition be sustained, and plaintiffs' complaint and petition be dismissed accordingly. To the foregoing finding, ruling and judgment plaintiffs object and except.'"

"First, I should like to compliment counsel for the parties for the careful and studious analysis and presentation of the issues and the respective positions of the parties to this proceeding. Controlling precedents in the form of decisions by appellate tribunals has not been discovered in abundance, either in the briefs prepared by counsel, or by the Court's own research. The Court recognizes the need for a final disposition of this controversy, such as would enable suitable school facilities to be constructed somewhere in the affected school district; however, the means sought to be employed by the plaintiffs and petitioners in this proceeding are believed to be inappropriate to accomplish this desired end.

"It has been suggested by the plaintiffs that defendants' motion to dismiss is not a proper procedural device to attack plaintiffs' complaint and petition. In view of the somewhat hybrid nature of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act, under which act this proceeding has been brought, particularly with regard to the provisions relating to pleadings, it is believed that the motion filed by the defendants adequately presents the issue sought to be raised.

"Plaintiffs suggest that 'the determination in question is a final approval of THE site for a school building by the Commission . . .'. It is believed that plaintiffs' position in this regard is not correct, in that the determination which was made by the State Commission was the approval of a possible site upon which a school building might be constructed, without any directive by the Commission as to where the building must, or even should, be constructed by the local Board of School Trustees, this being a decision resting entirely within the province of the local Board of School Trustees, and being further a decision which would be subject to appropriate attack by interested and affected persons. Accordingly, the action of the State Commission is not the final determination or approval of the selection of THE site upon which the proposed school building must be built, inasmuch as such approval and selection are outside the authority of the State Commission.

"The determination by the State Commission of the issue of approval or rejection of a possible or proposed site for the construction of the school building affects the local School Board, another agency of the State of Indiana, in the ultimate determination by such local school board of the ultimate construction site. This administrative determination which affects only another agency is within the exclusionary clause of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act.

"Plaintiffs' contention that the plaintiffs are interested persons in the ultimate selection of a construction site for the school building can not be questioned, as plaintiffs allege that they are affected taxpayers, parents of affected school children, and school patrons within the geographical limits of the school district. As such, they are certainly interested persons in the site that is ultimately selected, and are clothed with inalienable rights to seek judicial relief to protect those rights. The action of the State Commission does not divest any interested persons, either proponents or opponents of possible construction sites, of their rights to appropriate judicial relief. Neither does the action of the State Commission vest any person or agency with any rights which violate or countermand any statute, rule or regulation governing final selection of a construction site or with rights which could in any manner violate the rights of any interested person. In an appropriate legal proceeding, to challenge the construction of the school building on any site selected by the local School Board, which proceeding would lie against the local School Board, the approval by the State Commission of a site selected by the local School Board would in no way be binding upon the Court in which such proceeding was to be determined, nor would such State Commission action be res adjudicata as to any issue to be tendered in such proceeding. In such proceeding, the Court could then be clothed with jurisdiction over all parties, proponents or opponents, and the local School Board, as well as over all issues embraced within the subject matter of such litigation. In such proceeding a binding and final adjudication could be made in a proper judicial forum.

"It would be difficult to imagine a ruling, adjudication or determination by one administrative agency at the request of another agency which would not ultimately affect citizens and taxpayers as 'interested persons'; however, at the level of action where they become directly affected, their right of redress to the courts could in no way be inhibited by the ruling of one agency upon issues tendered for determination by another agency.

"The plaintiffs would have the right to an adjudication of the precise issues presented in their complaint and petition filed in this proceeding, but not under the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act against the Commission on General Education of the State of Indiana. This right is in no manner affected by this ruling by this Court, nor is the expression of any opinion as to the merits of the real issues concerning a school site intended by these findings, rulings, or judgment of this Court. Duplicity would be the certain result of the continuance of this proceeding only to be followed by the institution of a suit against proper defendants to properly present for adjudication the same issues involved in this proceeding.

"Objection is made by the plaintiffs that the action of the General Commission was without observance of procedures required by law, in that no reported record was kept of the proceedings, and no transcript was prepared. Although it must be conceded that it would have been far better practice if such record and transcript would have been kept and prepared, the provisions of the Administrative Adjudication and Court Review Act do not make it mandatory that such be done. The authority for such practice is contained in the act, but likewise, the authority to conduct such hearings in an informal manner is granted in the act. In any event, the duty of making a timely objection to the absence of a reporter to make and transcribe a record and to the failure to make and preserve an appealable record would seem to have rested with equal weight upon all participants in such hearing.

"This Court is entirely in accord with plaintiffs' contentions that 'Indiana has always recognized that in the selection of school sites there should be an opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities.' The procedure to accomplish and guarantee such opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities in the selection of a school site has not been followed by the plaintiffs in this proceeding.

Yours very truly,
Harold D. Stump, Judge"

CONCORD JR. CLUB

The first meeting of the new year was held at the home of Mrs. Dewey White.

The new president, Mrs. Laurel Carper, conducted the regular order of club business. The secretary, Mrs. Neil Prentice, gave the report from last month's Christmas meeting and read the correspondence. The new chorister, Mrs. Forrest Bevington, led the club in singing several songs including a "Happy Birthday" to the hostess.

Mrs. Carper gave the report from the County Council meeting, giving dates to be remembered for the coming weeks.

Delicious low calorie refreshments were served to 10 members. The next meeting will be at the Harry Strong residence.

EHS Drops 3

The Eastside Blazers lost three games in the past two weeks, one a heartbreaking overtime thriller to Woodlan 67-65.

January 5, the locals were defeated at Churubusco 67-40 in a game which saw three quarters of offensiveless basketball on the Blazers' part. Unable to get any organized attack going, the Blazers scored only 4 points in each of the first two quarters, doubled that to 8 points in the third period, then piled in 24 points in the final quarter against Busco's bench.

Quarter scores were 12-4, 28-8 and 52-16.

The reserve squad lost by only a point, 36-35.

Last Friday Woodlan and Eastside played a nip and tuck game throughout, quarter scores being 17-14 Eastside, 32-30 Woodlan, 44-41 Woodlan and a 57 all tie at the end of regulation time.

In the overtime Woodlan outscored the Blazers, 10-8, the winning basket coming on a scramble in front of the Woodlan basket and a desperation toss in the air. The horn sounded as the ball was in the air.

Jerry Simanton played his first full game and ended up high scorer for the Blazers with 16 points.

Woodlan won the prelim 49-20.

Saturday, the Blazers traveled to Wolf Lake to suffer a 59-41 defeat. Dave Myers was high scorer for the Blazers, but had only 10 points.

Carthage Choir To Appear At St. Mark's

St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe is among 12 churches on a six state spring concert tour to be made in April by the Carthage College a cappella choir.

Carthage's 40-member a cappella choir, second oldest touring choir in the nation, was founded in 1927. It has performed in Chicago's Orchestra Hall, New York's Rockefeller Center, Denver's Red Rock Natural Amphitheater, and the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

During the summer of 1966, Carthage's choir members visited Europe on a 41-day tour featuring 20 concerts in France, Germany, Denmark and Switzerland.

The choir will lead its audiences through a variety of musical styles during the 17 concerts in April. Director John Windh's program includes representative works of Bach and pre-Bach composers, because never since the time of Palestrina and Bach have the great composers devoted themselves so completely to the art of church music. Masterpieces from recent eras also will be sung, including several simple carols and spirituals.

Prof. Windh, in his second year as head of the Carthage choir, is continuing a tradition of choral excellence begun over 40 years ago by Prof. Elmer Hanke and continued by Prof. William Roth for six years prior to Windh's arrival at Carthage. He is a graduate of St. Olaf (Minn.) College and a Phi Beta Kappan. He has participated in music festivals in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin as choral clinician and adjudicator.

The tour includes concerts in Lutheran churches in Woodstock, Illinois; Waukesha, Wisconsin; Wind Lake, Wisconsin; South Haven, Michigan; Garden City, Michigan; Cleveland, Ohio; Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Ashland, Ohio; Columbus, Ohio; Forest Park, Illinois; and Kenosha, Wisconsin, as well as the April 23 appearance in Saint Joe.

Carthage College is located in Kenosha, Wisconsin. A student there this year is Tom Hursh, son of MM Woodrow Hursh of near Spencerville.

The officers and directors of The Knisely National Bank of Butler have announced that they have engaged the firm of Koeneman, Boerger, Krouse, Dinius & Erb, Certified Public Accountants, of Fort Wayne to conduct an independent audit of the bank.

This action was taken to conform with good business practices, and the current trend in banking to independent audits. It is widely assumed that auditing is a function of the bank examiners, but this is not true, according to Bob Darby, cashier of the Butler bank.

Mothers Escalate Birth Defects War In Nationwide March of Dimes Drive

A nationwide march, calling for escalation and all-out efforts to win a war, is planned for the week of January 21. Feelings run high in favor of this cause and none will oppose it.

Everyone is a hawk in the battle against crippling birth defects which strike a quarter of a million newborn babies every year in the United States.

This year, more than a million mothers have volunteered to serve the March of Dimes in its continuing fight against the heartbreak of birth defects. Marching Mothers know that March of Dimes funds conquered polio in the 1950s and freed them from fear of this childhood crippler.

Now, determined that children handicapped by birth defects be given a better chance in life, and in the hope that unborn generations will be spared, volunteers will march through their neigborhoods on behalf of the 1968 March of Dimes campaign.

They will urge people to contribute to the important work carried on by medical teams at 100 March of Dimes birth defects centers and to support the voluntary health organization's research and education programs.

For the fifth consecutive year, actress Jane Wyatt is serving as national chairman of the March of Dimes Mothers' March on birth defects. As in the past, Miss Wyatt will personally lead the drive in her Southern California community, calling on her neighbors to ask them to give to the March of Dimes.

A frequent visitor to birth defects centers around the country, Miss Wyatt is staunch in her belief that the fight can be won if enough support is given to those who are leading the way.

March of Dimes-financed Centers conduct a triple attack on birth defects—the Great Destroyer. In addition to diagnosis and treatment, scientists are studying the causes of defects and ways of preventing them.

No birth defect ever touches one person alone. One American family in 10 knows the tragedy of a child with congenital handicap, either mental or physical. For this reason, the March of Dimes pays close attention to educational efforts which bring greater understanding of the problem to more people.

IT'S NO SECRET that actress Jane Wyatt again will lead more than one million volunteers in the national Mothers' March for the 1968 March of Dimes campaign against birth defects. The happy fellow learning the good news is National Poster Child Timothy Foos of Whittier, Calif.

Mothers' March volunteers also want parents and future parents to know about sound health practices which can mean everything to their children.

This year they will carry a personal message, "For Women Only," from Dr. Virginia Apgar of The National Foundation-March of Dimes. An internationally recognized medical authority, she developed the "Apgar Score," widely used throughout the world to determine the condition of an infant immediately after delivery.

In a personalized note, Dr. Apgar begins with the importance of prenatal care. She urges mothers and future mothers to have complete physical check-up and to talk their husbands and fiances into doing the same. Health histories and any family background of birth defects should be given to the doctor and his advice followed faithfully during pregnancy. Dr. Apgar warns against taking any drugs or medication—even aspirin—during pregnancy without a doctor's approval.

To mothers marching against birth defects, it is not enough to be concerned for just one week in January. The March of Dimes, and all who are associated with it, have a twofold purpose. They want every child born with a severe handicap to lead a happy, useful life in a society which fully accepts him. Beyond this, they are working to keep such blows from striking others. The task calls for wide support.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Much of the United Auto Workers' strategy in recent bargaining with industry has been dictated by the potential cost of strike benefits paid out of the union treasury.

Ford, rather than the bigger General Motors, faced a company-wide strike. Following the Ford settlement, a contract with Chrysler was negotiated without resorting to a strike, and then U A W confronted General Motors, hoping that no more than selective, limited strikes would be necessary. A total walkout at GM could cost the union up to $55 million a month.

C. W. Harder

At the peak of the Auto Workers' strikes against Ford, Caterpillar Tractor, Burroughs and other companies, the reported cost in union benefits was 8½ million dollars a week. Walter Reuther, UAW president, pushed through a special assessment on all union members to help finance the walkouts.

But like Ford, he's got a better idea. Now he wants taxpayers to kick in with money.

According to columnist Victor Riesel, Ruether is planning a campaign for state unemployment benefits for strikers. He first wants states to consider strikers as "unemployed" and then he'll seek shorter waiting periods and higher benefits.

Four states now provide unemployment benefits to striking union members. New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island and West Virginia are so distinguished. The issue was hot in New Jersey, where it passed just last year. The party which controlled both houses of the legislature was soundly defeated in a November election and some observers ascribe this to the unemployment - pay - for - strikers issue.

Taxpayers and voters have had to stomach an awful lot in the name of welfare, but a strike subsidy is too much.

Unemployment pay for strikers . . . that is like handing out dynamite to rioters.

The drain on the union treasury and the striker himself are, after all, among the forces that lead to union-management settlement of strikes. Neither side can sustain the resulting losses. If union members were paid to stay off the job, with strike benefits bolstered by unemployment pay, the balance of power in labor negotiations would shift so decisively that economic chaos would result.

Then you might hear a union leader using this threat: "We're going to stay off the job until our unemployment benefits run out." Then we would have a Welfare State for sure.

The latest test findings of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards disclose that regular tires on glare ice may take close to nine times as far to stop as on a dry pavement. The Safe Winter Driving League points out that regardless of the type of traction device employed—even with tire chains—far slower than normal speeds are a must on icy pavements.

HEALTH and SAFETY TIPS

Is A Silent Killer Loose In Your Home?

A silent killer may be loose in your house.

The deadly criminal is carbon monoxide—CO—a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas produced every time a carbon-containing material burns.

A leaflet from the American Medical Association reports that CO combines with blood 200 times more easily than oxygen. If you breathe air containing a normal amount of oxygen and a moderate amount of carbon monoxide, your blood will be starved for oxygen. When blood cannot supply oxygen to your brain, permanent brain damage or death may result.

Dangerous quantities of CO usually accumulate when a cool, slow fire burns in limited air. Since you can't see, smell, or taste it, the gas is hard to detect except by your symptoms—drowsiness, headache, tightness across the forehead, confusion, nausea, and muscular weakness. CO poisoning may confuse you so that you cannot reach fresh air to relieve the symptoms and prevent serious injury.

To prevent a carbon monoxide attack in your home—

- Have all heating systems checked annually for operating efficiency. Make sure that vents, pipes, flues and chimneys are tight.
- Make certain that your heating plant is not starved for air.
- Be sure that all heating devices designed for venting are properly vented to the outside.

- Provide additional fresh air for charcoal grills and hibachis used indoors.
- Never tamper with ducts or vents of a heating device to get more heat out of it.
- Be sure that heating devices have been tested by a reputable firm. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for installation and use.
- When changing types of fuel, ask a qualified serviceman to adjust all appliances involved.
- Don't close your fireplace damper until you are certain the fire is out.
- Be sure that your garage is sealed from the house. Never run the car in a closed garage.

Endeavor to be patient in bearing the defects and infirmities of others, of what sort soever they be; for thou thyself also hast many failings which must be borne with by others.

Around the Town
WITH THE EDITOR

The word making the rounds these days is that young Bob Stiver, who is helping to work his way through college by serving on Riverdale's maintenance staff, is really doing a good job in keeping the rooms in order—especially the kindergarten!

—And Bob Hoover is reported to have bowled a 197 the other night, which makes up for that 90 of a few months ago.

A few weeks ago, Lizzie Milliman submitted a report of a Mexican trip, written by her daughter, Marguerite Hercules, who is Women's Editor of the Courier-Times-Telegraph at Tyler, Texas. The second part of the report is as follows:

"Chihuahua is the largest and one of the richest states in Mexico. It is traversed by the Chihuahua Pacific Railway, which connects the towns of Juarez and Ojinaga, at the border of the United States of America, with those of Los Mochis and Topolobampo on the Mexican Pacific Coast.

"The capital city, Chihuahua, is the business and cultural center of North Central Mexico. It was founded in 1704 during the Spanish colonization and is a striking example of colonial architecture, although newer residential sections have a modern trend.

"The railway station, with a daily hubbub of travelers, has huge murals which depict the evolution of transportation and industry of the country. Rail fare from Chihuahua to Juarez is 12 cents less than bus fare.

"The State Capitol, built around an inner court, has a red cedar reception room with velvet-covered seats and a huge solid gold and rock crystal chandelier. Murals on the Capitol walls facing the court trace the history of the state from its beginning to the present.

"The Federal Building houses Hidalgo's Dungeon, which accommodated many 'guests' during the Revolution.

"An interesting museum is the legendary Poncho Villa's home, where Mrs. Villa receives tour guests and converses freely with them.

"The University of Chihuahua, with 8,000 enrollment, is a noted center of learning, modern in concept, with a beautiful campus and buildings. Modern buildings also house the Institute for Mentally Retarded Children.

"Like all Mexican cities, Chihuahua has its bullring. The arena is new, with shady and sunny sides. Bullfights are held traditionally on Sunday afternoons.

"Plazas, the trademarks of Mexican towns and cities, abound. One of the largest is the Plaza de la Constitucion, in the central downtown area, across from the city's two largest hotels. Here folk pause daily and on Saturdays and Sunday the plaza is packed with strollers in their Sunday best. Music adds to the week-end festivities.

"On arrival in Chihuahua on Sunday night, the plaza and street in front of our hotel was a thronging mass and a band blared forth with Mexican music. First consensus was that our touring press group was getting a royal welcome. However, as we filed into our hotel, we learned that Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, President of Mexico, was arriving simultaneously and he and his entourage were being ushered into the hotel next door.

"Facing the Plaza de la Constitucion is the ornate Cathedral, which was started in the early 1700's and required practically a century to complete. In Mexico, cathedrals are never added to when parishioners increase. Instead, another is built.

"Baseball is popular in the city, where there are 316 ball 'fields.' The population is not interested in statistics; residents 'just go to see the game.' Soccer and football also are played.

"The city has both old and new residential areas. Over 400 millionaires reside in Chihuahua and, in one section, the home owners are reputed to be worth over a hundred million dollars. The homes are magnificent and always built with patios and surrounded by walls or fences. Some are of marble and others have marble entrances and driveways. Jagged, molten glass, dazzling in the sunlight, tops some walls to prevent the entrance of intruders. Government housing projects provide better homes for families in low income brackets.

"A bit of antiquity still existing is the Spanish aqueduct, which was constructed in 1764. A modern waterworks plant has supplanted its usefulness as a source of city water supply, and today it provides water only for a military installation.

"The city has modern shops, where all types of merchandise are sold at reasonable prices. The central market, typical of most Mexican cities, does not exist in Chihuahua.

"Modern buses provide transportation for the city's 246,000 inhabitants. Many residents own automobiles and traffic moves at a rapid pace."

Those pictures from the past last week included MM Foster Goe, pictured in 1961 on their 50th wedding anniversary December 10, 1961; Diann Mayer who was salutatorian at Riverdale in 1961; and Price Brookfield, Riverdale coach in the late 50's and early 60's.

Howard and Kathleen Blaine lived in Venezuela for 9½ years, from January of 1955 to mid-1964, before returning to the states and going into business at The Oasis at Saint Joe. Prior to his work in Venezuela, where he was assistant superintendent of operations for the mining of iron ore for the Orinoco Mining Company, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel, "Hod" worked for the B&O for 15 years. He and Kathy are natives of Butler and now reside at the junction of State Roads 8 and 1 with their daughter, Leslie 12, and sons, Lynn 15 and Lee 5.

While in Venezuela, the Blaines helped in the building of The Protestant Community Church of Puerto Ordaz in 1959. The church has a seating capacity of 250 persons, with three church school classrooms also a part of the building program as well as the manse.

Just before Christmas Hod and Kathy received a letter from William C. Murphy, president of the Vestry, telling of the progress of the church. It is an interesting story, as follows:

"The Protestant Community
Church of Puerto Ordaz
Puerto Ordaz - Estado Bolivar
Venezuela

Herman F. Allen, Pastor
Telephone 867
November 29, 1967

"Dear friends:

"You put a great deal of time, energy, money, and prayer into the Protestant Community Church of Puerto Ordaz. And though you no longer live here, we know that the church continues to be in your thoughts. How are we getting along?

"We are carrying forward the work you helped to establish. This is a lovely church, reflecting the rich heritage and the deep commitment of Protestants who came here and who remain in this area. Also, the church symbolizes the dignified simplicity that characterizes the Protestant approach to faith and practice. You are entitled to feel a proper pride in your contribution to this church. It is unique.

"At the present time, there are about sixty families represented in the Congregation. Some more active than others, just as when you were here. Attendance at worship averages seventy persons each Sunday. On the whole, we have a very high participation from the available Protestants in the community.

"There are about forty-five children in the Sunday School. Teachers include Pat Hicks, Rae Morris, Dorothy Allen, Christa Jensen, Louise Hosmer, Grace Alexander, and Pastor Allen. Sam Hosmer is the leader of the assembly that takes place at the close of the hour.

"Florence Oleson directed the Vacation Bible school in August. Forty-eight children enrolled.

"In November we began rehearsals for the Christmas pageant. Betty Benn is the director and Grace Alexander is in charge of the music. Some of the little angels have now become shepherds. Some shepherds have become wise men. Yet Mary and Joseph still go to Bethlehem, the shepherds are watching their flocks, the angels are singing, and the wise men follow the Star. The hill back of the church, where the stars shine down, rings with glad songs and shines with light from the Greatest Story.

"The Women's Group continues to be an inspiration to all of us. This year they have as their program theme, The Great Religions. It is not unusual to hear some of the women talking about the religious literature, rituals, and practices of Islam, Hinduism, Judaism, or Buddhism. The speaker for the September meeting was Father Juan Bautista Aizpurua of the local Catholic parish.

"The women are busy in other ways, too. Right now everything is bazaar oriented. Groups and individuals are busy making angels, madonnas, doll clothing, Christmas candles and ornaments, feathered flowers, pastries and baked goods, collecting white elephants, making tickets, planting flowers, and working on the barbecued chicken dinner. Of course there will be hot-dogs, cokes, and coffee. Probably some surprises, too. We hope one of them isn't rain!

"The officers of the Women's Group are: Betty Benn, president; Mary Edith Beard, vice president; Lorreta Harrison, secretary; Florence Oleson, treasurer; and Beth O'Brien, historian.

"We are enjoying splendid leadership from the Vestry. Not only does the Vestry administer in the life of the Congregation but also serve a dinner each October. They plan, serve, and clean up afterwards. Naturally the women are a little nervous! Yet the Vestry manages to pass their inspection of the kitchen.

"Members of the Vestry for 1967 are: Bill Murphy, president; Phil Sinclair, vice president; Murray Causey, treasurer; Hank Drane, Jim Ramsey, and Doug Mitchell are the other members.

"The Altar Guild helps us to worship the Lord 'in the beauty of Holiness.' Each Sunday there are fresh flowers beautifully arranged to remind us of the continuing creation by God. Members of the Guild are: Vera Murphy, president; Geri Wosobolnik, Carla Vintilla, Eunice Calendar, Grace Alexander, Patti Nogales, Florence Oleson, Nancy Ramsey, Louise Mitchell, Louise Hosmer, Loretta Harrison and Rae Morris.

"We have a cyclone style fence along the back and North side of the church property. The Women's Group is paying for an extension of this fence to run along the Peru side to the end of the new Sunday school building, and from the North side of the Manse to connect with the existing fence. Have you got it? All of the front side of the church property remains open.

"Carl Hogberg has given a bell to the church, a real one. We are trying to discover the best way of mounting the bell on the tower with the 10 Commandments and the IHS symbols. When this is done, we'll be able to wake up the late-sleepers.

"We are using a new hymn book, the Pilgrim Hymnal. The former hymnbook that served us so well began to wear out. Jim Harrison is the organist. When he isn't around we use the piano. Grace Alexander and Pat Hicks are the pianists.

"We are struggling financially. Our balance in January of 1967 of Bs 30,000 shrank to Bs 17,000 by the end of October 1967. We hope to finish out this year without a further reduction in the balance. We are praying, and some of our prayers are intercessory in character!

"As you know, we have sustained many losses. Since we started our membership roll in February of 1962, one-hundred and fifty-four of our members have left Puerto Ordaz. For a small congregation this represents a considerable loss. We now have 65 members who live in Puerto Ordaz.

"Dorothy and Herman continue to go to Piar every other Sunday. Piar has experienced a revival of interest and activity. The Sunday school meets regularly, and attendance at worship is quite good. Construction of the new Chapel has been delayed until an adjustment has been made between budget and construction costs. We hope this will be resolved soon.

"Vestry members at Piar are: Stan Brandon, president; Bud Cranor, vice president; Walter Brown, treasurer; and Lynn Wallace, Marge Bakkila, Bob Campbell.

"The Allens also go to Guri on alternate Sundays. Worship is held in the Catholic Chapel. Pastor Allen took Communion to Guri in October. A very representative group participated. Luthers, Methodists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, and Baptists shared the Bread and the Wine. Also one member of the Russian Orthodox Church. Quite a variety in a small group. Yet all took of the same Loaf, our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

"Perhaps this particular service at Guri serves as the best illustration of the uniqueness of the work being done by the Protestant Community Church of Puerto Ordaz. We, too, are missionaries and reconcilors. We pray for grace to continue in this work of the whole Church of Christ.

"We salute you. We want you to know that we think of you. You remain in our hearts and in the work of the church you helped to establish.

Cordially,
The Vestry
William C. Murphy
President"

Kim Bowser stopped in last week to see if a group of students could make a tour of the News Office. We discussed the details, including my question, "What class is it?"—expecting something like "7th grade" or "8th grade" or the teacher's name.

But back came the more profound identification from Kim: "Class of '74."

—Talk about looking ahead.

Don Becker and Roger Kennedy, two of our Dave's buddies out at Hunter Army Air Field in Georgia, are a couple more of the servicemen who get a kick out of the little Saint Joe paper—especially when it's littler than ever like the January 11 issue.

—You know that old saying—big things come in little packages.

Central Site Still Sought By Group

A representative group of 70 to 75 persons atended a public meeting Tuesday night at the Spencerville Community Building. The meeting was to report on the progress and plans of the group protesting the use of the Butler site for junior-senior high school construction.

A review was presented of the events which have transpired in the past few months, including a circuit court decision which dismissed a complaint filed in behalf of the group against the state's Commission On General Education.

It was noted that while there has been little to encourage the group in its uphill battle to regain a central location of the new school, there also has been no change in the overall picture involving the movement. Matters still stand basically as they did when the group first began its protest activity. While there has been little help from any source in response to the group's activity, there has also been nothing enacted against it. The recent circuit court decision was not against the site protest; it was a ruling against the procedure indicating that a suit against the state education commission was not the proper procedure.

Efforts instituted by the group's legal counsel, attorney Nelson Grills, of Indianapolis, have been such as to not hinder the school board from planning extensively for new construction. Even the acceptance of bids is not significant site-wise, inasmuch as construction plans are adaptable to any sizeable site, according to the architect.

A majority of those present participated in the discussion, and the prevalent feeling expressed was that there is still a great deal of support for the protest movement and that current plans for further action will be supported.

Ideas were expressed and exchanged for ways to raise funds to assist in payment of legal fees. An auction was selected as a first finance project, to augment the voluntary donations which have come in thus far.

A financial report showed that over $1,500 had been expended thus far, including $1,300 for attorney fees. With Tuesday night's voluntary donations following the meeting and with a few other contributions thereafter totaling $135.00, the group has current indebtedness of approximately $725.00.

Additional legal expenses are yet to be met, with further action currently in preparation by the group's attorney.

Progress Sometimes Forgotten

One of the temptations that come with power is to overlook the need for restraint. In the extensive efforts in the past several years to overcome the social evils which befall minority groups, particularly the negro, there has been a prevalent inclination to overlook this need for restraint, to "snowball" efforts to such an extent that there is reason to fear the adverse effects which always do come when restraint is forgotten.

The old saying that "Rome wasn't built in a day" may not be comforting and sufficient for the average negro, but it is as appropriate in the matter of social reform as anywhere else. However, avid social reformers look with impatience and sometimes contempt on anyone who tries to exercise care in approaching a problem which has existed for a long time, as has the problem of the negro and the prejudice against him. There is no argument that evils have existed in our society with regard to the negro; they still do exist and will always exist in a free society. That is one of the penalties of a free society: perfection is impossible because free thought is allowed. And while we are basically concerned with the welfare of all people in this country, it remains a fundamental truth that, on the day when "poverty" and social inequality are not in evidence, on that day also will freedom be erased. The only way the avid reformers can gain the degree of reform they seek is by legal enforcement, by universal control of the affairs of human beings. Where enforced control exists, freedom does not exist.

In the case of the negro, his plight has been so publicized and emphasized that he now has distinct advantages in some respects, even though his number remains high of those who are underprivileged. The cry of racial prejudice is held as a threat over the head of anyone who, for reasons bad or good, makes a decision or choice which leaves the negro out. Racial prejudice does exist, to be sure; but there seems to be an inclination to overlook the progress that has been made for the negro, the opportunity which does exist for the negro to improve his position in society.

As an illustration, I point out that those who watched the UCLA-Houston basketball game last week end watched ten players in action on the floor. Most of the time, there were seven negroes and three whites playing. Tuesday night, there was an all-star basketball game of the National Basketball Association. One again, the action involved seven negroes and three whites during most of the game.

Thus, in the past week, at the non-professional as well as the professional level, the negro was given the recognition he deserved in the sports world under such circumstances as to suggest that he has been accepted in our society at least enough to allow him to improve his economic status. True, a lot of those thousands who watched the negro play all-star basketball may not want to live next door to him; all predujice has not been overcome. But a big step has been taken and it ought to be recognized and appreciated. One thing at a time is better than no thing at all.

In professional baseball, the negro is very much in evidence, most major league teams having four, five and six players on the field from the negro race. In professional football, the story is the same—negroes are a major part of the sport. And the professional sports world grows each year, with expansion of old leagues and formation of new ones, requiring more and more paid participants and the negro is getting at least his share of the fruits of such expansion.

I don't think the negro has gained the place in sports he now holds just because somebody hollered loud and long. He is at the top in professional sports, and in other professions, because of his proven value through individual effort and initiative. Professional sports would not require the number of negroes now participating, on the basis of population percentages. On percentages, there would be fewer negroes in professional sports but there isn't. The negro is too good to be overlooked and he is now recognized in the sports world for what he is, for what he can accomplish, not for what his color is.

If the "prejudice" actually prevailed in the public's mind as is asserted to exist by the avid social reformer, there would not have been over 18,000 people in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night to watch predominantly negro basketball teams play. Prejudice has not been wholly wiped out, to be sure. However, it certainly has been greatly reduced, and the avid social reformers ought to recognize that fact so that the ball they have rolling, of improving the negro's position in American society, does not get out of control due to lack of restraint.

The worst thing that can happen in the mind of anyone, regardless of color, is to get sorry for himself, to feel that he doesn't have a chance, that the world is against him. The negro is not the only one who does not have a better job; there are many white people, too, who are not where they could be, who are not what they could be. A great deal of this failure is due not as much to public fault as to the lack of individual initiative. It is still a fact of life that any man who uses his talents to the best of his ability will receive the recognition he deserves. If you're concerned with money, that means he will get a better job, he will be paid what he is worth; there is always someone looking for a better man. If you are concerned with other than monetary return, the devoted worker will be recognized, respected and loved. And it won't matter what color his skin is; there is always someone who recognizes the individual for what he is worth, who looks for the dedicated worker.

There are a lot of things yet to be cleared before the negro can feel he is truly an accepted part of our society. But he has come a long way and has a lot going for him at the present time. There is the need to recognize his own individual responsibility to work for his betterment, and the responsibility to exercise restraint within his own race, lest a good thing become an instrument to divide rather than unite our society.

ATTENTION, PLEASE

In regard to the vacant Leighty Store Building in Saint Joe, at my age I would much prefer to sell this at almost any price and any kind of terms with no cash down. However, this must be very soon as I'm shopping for a suitable operator and I'll finance and open a grocery store, including a few items not carried in any other store in town. Much prefer to secure a couple with no small children or one unattached person who is now located in or near Saint Joe. However, I'm about to start advertising in out-of-town sources.
I'll make an almost unbelievable financial deal with any honest and adaptable person or persons.

NFO Withholding

Max Heffley, president of the DeKalb County NFO, has announced that the organization has started an all-commodity holding action in an effort to force up prices of farm products.

The NFO is leading off with grain because it takes a longer time to have an effect than other commodities. Meat will be added at a later date and at an opportune time. Milk will be added at another time so that the strength of all commodities of the all-commodity holding action will reach a climax at about the same time.

The NFO is using the action in support of the belief that the only way farmers can stop present low farm prices is to stop selling their production. The NFO is advising its members to put a price tag on their products and hold for those prices, as do other businesses.

The NFO is asking the cooperation of non-members also. It believes, in addition, that fair farm prices will help all bankers as well as all local merchants, but the only way farmers can do it is to refuse to sell their products at the present low prices and then they will get their price.

Belle Woodcox

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday for Mrs. Belle Woodcox, 94, a former resident of Saint Joe, who died Sunday afternoon in the Martin Place West Hospital in Detroit. She had lived with her children in Detroit for the past several years.

Mrs. Woodcox was born March 10, 1873, the daughter of the late Alex and Addie Filley. She was a member of the Saint Joe Church of Christ and a member emeritus of the Ladies Literary Club of Saint Joe.

Survivors include three sons, Vance of Atlanta, Georgia, Malcolm of California and Vernon of Livonia, Michigan; a daughter, Martha Scrive of Warren, Michigan; 10 grandchildren; 21 great grandchildren; and two great great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in the Baidinger-Walter Funeral Home at Spencerville with Bro. Donald Foust, former minister of the Saint Joe Church of Christ, officiating. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery at Saint Joe.

Planning Meeting

An organizational meeting for the February 28, 1968, appearance of the Bloodmobile at Riverdale will be held Thursday, February 1, at 2:00 p.m. in the library of the Riverdale School.

Delores Hicov is chairman of the project.

Anyone who is able to assist in the project is asked to attend the planning meeting.

The Bloodmobile will be at Riverdale February 28 from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. The quota is 100 pints of blood.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met January 17, 1968, at the home of Mrs. Russell Snyder. The meeting opened with the club collect and pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

Mrs. Robert Musser presented a very interesting lesson on the subject "Children's Poetry and Nonsense Rhymes." Mrs. Musser traced the history of poetry for children, starting back with Nursery Rhymes. Some of the poets whose work she described were: Robert Louis Stephenson, Christina Rosetti, Longfellow, Whittier, Eugene Field, James Whitcomb Riley, Edward Lear and Lewis Carroll.

Mrs. Maurice Kline presided at the business meeting. Ten members responded to roll call.

After adjournment, the hostess served light refreshments.

The next meeting will be on January 31, at the home of Mrs. Lola Northrup.

The Saint Joe News

VOL. LXXXIII — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, February 1, 1968 — NUMBER 5

Indiana State Library

Around the Town
WITH THE EDITOR

Alice Hollabaugh of Spencerville passes the word along from Glen Moore that the Spencerville Community Club will have its regular monthly meeting next Monday night, February 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Building. All interested persons are invited to attend and help plan for the spring fish fry.

If there are any kids in the territory who for one reason or another have not seen the Shrine Circus in Fort Wayne in past years, a few free tickets for the Saturday afternoon or evening performances this week end can be obtained from Stromberg Real Estate just west of town. So kids, if you have a way to get there, here's a chance for a free ticket to the circus courtesy of "Red."

Mrs. Bullock found a pair of girls' glasses Tuesday afternoon in front of the Lutheran Church in Saint Joe. They were found before the Brownies gathered at the church for their meeting.

The glasses have light blue shell frames and one lense is cracked.

The owner can get them at the News Office.

Marie Meese sends a note from Jimmersan Lake where she is visiting with son Jim and family for a while. She says thanks to everyone for remembering her while she was hospitalized recently and after she got out. Her note ends:

"Hope you are all well. And keep the home fires burning until I get home, no place like little St. Joe."

While puting away some old editions of the Saint Joe News Tuesday morning, in cleaning up and preparing for the nice bunch of "Clines of 74'ers" who took a "tour" of the News Office as a part of their social studies course under Mr. Richard Manganiello, I saw headlikes and items from various issues. One of the items was in the January 4, 1923, issue and announced the January 2 marriage of Donald Keller and Lasearn Sailer. The item concluded, "The groom is a mechanic and holds a position at Harlan. Both bride and groom are highly respected young people among their friends at St. Joe . . . . ."

And the annual report for 1919 for the town of Saint Joe showed receipts of $2,518.30 and expenditures of $2,011.06. M. M. Maxwell was treasurer.

Now the town budget runs five or six times that amount.

An illustration that life is a repetition of situations, the same basic problems recurring from time to time to support the philosophy that there really isn't anything new in the world, was found in the 1919 batch of papers.

On December 4, 1919, Fred Leighty, editor at that time of the Saint Joe News, printed an article announcing that a drastic increase in the cost of newsprint presented a serious financial problem. The following issue of December 11 contained the announcement that subscription notices had been sent out to bring everyone up to date and provide immediate financial support. Fred also stated that he had not yet determined what to do, hesitating in raising the subscription fee from $1.25 to $1.50. (In those days a quarter was a pretty big jump.)

On December 18, it was announced that the News would suspend publication after Christmas of 1919, and the time due on Saint Joe paper subscriptions would be applied on Auburn paper subscriptions; the News' mailing list would be turned over to Auburn.

On December 25, News readers got a Christmas present in the announcement that the paper and Mr. Leighty would "stick to it" and continue publication, due to the advertising contracts which had been made with the paper by businessmen in order to keep the publication alive.

I thought it was interesting, because there were more businesses in Saint Joe in 1919 than there are now, and the editor was having trouble then making the publication justifiable from a financial standpoint.

—As I said, before there's really nothing new in the world.

Injunction Sought By Central Site Proponents

A "Complaint For An Injunction" was filed Monday in the DeKalb Circuit Court against the seven-member school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District in behalf of a group seeking to re-establish a central location for a proposed new junior-senior high school in the district. The suit was filed by Theodore E. Haberkorn, Sr., Jack Hollabaugh and Victor Timmerman. Named as defendants are Delbert Washler, Joseph Parabull, Wendell Cooper, Harold Kagey, Lynn Fisher, Argus Fisher and Keith Ulm.

The suit asks that "the court enjoin the defendants acting as the Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb Community School District from taking any action to implement their determination to construct a junior-senior high school upon the site selected for such construction on the north side of the City of Butler which adjoins the elementary school and for all other relief proper in the premises."

The suit was filed just a day before the school board met with the recently formed holding corporation which will finance construction of the new facility and negotiated Tuesday night on terms of a lease agreement.

The suit lists the following points:

"3. That the predecessors of the defendants acting as the Board of School Trustees on the 15th day of March, 1966, recognized the need for a new junior-senior high school building to accommodate grades seven through twelve by a motion of the board.

"4. That the Publicity Chairman of the DeKalb Community School Board of Trustees announced publicly that a meeting of the Board of Trustees would be held July 6, 1965 and the public was invited to the meeting to participate in discussion of a site for the proposed junior-senior high school. That at this Board meeting held July 6, 1965, the School Board voted to select a site approximately 4 miles south of the City of Butler.

"5. That on or about February 28, 1966, Board of Trustees of the School District adopted a resolution that the east side junior-senior high school be built on the Lyon, 50 acre, site which the Board had under option.

"6. That on or about the 18th day of July, 1966, the defendants acting as the School Board of Trustees at a meeting without notice rescinded the approval of the Lyon site for the construction of the proposed junior-senior high school and determined to locate the school at the north side of the City of Butler upon a site presently occupied by an elementary school. The site is within less than a mile of the northern boundary of the school corporation, and the limits of the school corporation extends north and south for a distance of more than eleven miles. DeKalb County has no County Superintendent of schools.

"7. That the site upon which the proposed junior-senior high school will be located adjoins and is less than 500 feet from a railroad and a sewage treatment plant. That the determination of the defendant Board of School Trustees to build the proposed junior-senior high school upon the site selected which headjoins the Butler elementary school and is located on the north side of the City of Butler, is arbitrary, capricious and not in accordance with the law in that the site approved:

"(a) Does not comply with the rules and regulations of the Commission on General Education in the following respects: (1) The size of the proposed site available for the construction of the junior-senior high school is less than the minimum size allowed for such schools. (2) The site is not free from hazards and nuisances. (3) The site is not suitable for community use of the parents, residents, and taxpayers of the school corporation, (4) The site does not make provision for maximum possible expansion of buildings for future increases in enrollment and for expanded educational needs, (5) The site will not provide a school which will serve as a community center for the entire school corporation, (6) The school building is not located at the center of the school population of the district in a suitable environment.

"(b) Does not comply with the law of Indiana in that it is not as near the center of the school corporation as seems wise.

"(c) The school site is located nearer than 500 feet to a sewage treatment plant which constitutes an unhealthy condition and this condition has not been waived on written approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Secretary of the State Board of Health and the Administrative Building Council.

"8. That the plaintiffs possess no adequate remedy at law to prevent the construction of the proposed junior-senior high school upon a site which does not comply with the law and any damages which might be provided them by reason of the violation of the law are inadequate.

"9. That, unless the defendants are enjoined from constructing the proposed school house upon the site on the north side of the City of Butler adjoining the elementary school, they will pursue their efforts and construct the proposed junior-senior high school on that site."

Programs Set

MM Mike Hicov have announced that the February 20 meeting of the Riverdale P.T.A. will include a presentation by Mrs. Florence Weaver on the Special Education Class at the Riverdale School. Square dancing by Alice Kagey's class will be the entertainment.

The March 19 meeting of the organization will include a film about the Mott Foundation at Flint, Michigan, shown by county agent Wayne Williams. Entertainment will include students participating in the January music contests.

Blazers Romp, Get Stomped
—by Phil Haberkorn, Sports

The Eastside Blazers celebrated the return of Herb Holden to the lineup with a smashing 78-42 win over the Prairie Heights Panthers in the Eastside gym last Friday evening. The victory, which was the sixth in seven outings for the Blazers, was the result of a balanced attack that saw each of the five starters score in double figures. Holden led the Blazers with 20 points, while Dennis Ginder, Doug Booth, Don Wasson and Jerry Myers also hit for double digits.

The Blazers got off to a slow start, as the Panthers scored seven field goals in traversing a 14-12 first quarter lead. Late in that period, though, Wasson personally took charge and the home forces on a 29-6 spree took them to a 43-26 halftime lead. The big sophomore was superb in grabbing rebounds, both offensively and on defense. The trio of Myers, Wasson and Holden counted 29 of their team's 39 first-half points. Wasson scored 13 and Myers 10. Holden received a standing ovation from the Eastside fans as he entered the game early in the second period, and he paid them back with three field goals and some sparkling defensive play. In the second period alone, Eastside scored a total of 27 points.

Activity slowed down in the third quarter, as both teams had troubles with ball control. The Panthers were again outscored, 14-10, as EHS Coach John Redwell substituted players freely throughout the remainder of the game, using six of his bench squad to give the starters periodic rests. Wasson sat out most of the third period, but his absence was more than equalized by Holden's play. The fans cheered him on each time he got the ball; the more they yelled, the better he played. Skip Campbell and Myers each counted 4 points in the third period to lead the Blazers to a 53-32 lead at the start of the fourth period.

Things got rolling again in the final stanza, as the Blazers poured in another 19 points, with the Panthers scoring 16. Most of the period was played out by members of the Blazer bench, but three starters, Wasson, Holden and Dennis Ginder, put in 11 points. The Prairie Heights offense would have been reduced considerably had it not been for the efforts of Doug Booth, who scored half of his team's 16 points. The Blazers had held 31 point leads in the third period; but as if that wasn't enough, and it wasn't for the fans, the lead was rolled up to 25 points on no less than two occasions, 59-34 and 60-35. Dennis Ginder closed out the Eastside scoring with a free throw that gave his team the final 24-point margin; the lead would have been close to 30 points had several players made some late free throws.

What really made this a night to remember was the fact that the Eastside Reserve team rolled to a 51-36 win over their opponents. Joe Bowman led Eastside with 9 points.

BLAZER BLIPS—John Kochert gave a couple of demonstrations on the Art of the Fast Break in the third period. He got loose two or three times, and that means loose. Once he started from his own foul line with five defensive men between him and his goal. By the time he crossed the 10-second line, there were only two men left, and they were going down when he momentarily lost control of the ball and had to wait for the rest of his team—both teams, in fact— to set up a play. — When was the last time Eastside

Great battles are really won before they are actually fought. To control our passions we must govern our habits, and keep watch over ourselves in the small details of every day life.
—Sir John Lubbock

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A couple of weeks ago a package came to the News Office containing a new type of gas-operated razor. A note inside was addressed to the town board with the following message:

"When I saw this remarkable new shaver, I knew you were just the one to derive much pleasure from it. Now you too, can join the many satisfied users the world over. Just plug it in and see for yourself.

"Hope you enjoy its use many, many times.

Cordially,
Dog Lovers"

I'll have to admit that at first I had a rather savage reaction but I cooled down after a bit.

If you wonder what the gadget is like, stop in and take a look at the unique shaver.

With the school planning now at the point where the site is a definite factor in current proceedings, it is important that those who are actively participating in the effort to gain a central location for our upper grades (and those who sympathize with the effort) participate in such things as the public hearing next Tuesday on the proposed lease agreement between the school corporation and the building corporation.

Every action taken by the board from now on will be related to the Butler site, as far as construction, lease, bonds, etc., are concerned. Therefore, next Tuesday is the first of a probable series of opportunities for those who seek and support a central site to actively participate in the effort.

'Junk' Car Law

One of the matters discussed at the January meeting of the Saint Joe Town Board concerned "junk cars," several of which are found standing useless and unattractive in Saint Joe. An ordinance was passed in 1966 by the immediate past town board, setting out regulations concerning such automobiles, in an effort to rid the community of an unsightly condition. Enforcement of the ordinance appears to be a certainty in the future, and the contents of the ordinance are printed herewith for the information of Saint Joe residents.

Such ordinances are not uncommon, most of the responsible communities making use of such legislation in order to "nudge" residents into a more conscientious concern for the appearance of private property and the community as a whole.

"ORDINANCE NO. 66
AN ORDINANCE DEFINING JUNK CARS, REQUIRING THEIR REMOVAL AND FIXING PENALTY

"Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the town of St. Joe, Indiana:

"Section I.

"For the purpose of this ordinance 'junk car' shall mean any motor vehicle which:

"(a) Does not bear a currently valid license plate

"(b) Is not in a garage or other building

"(c) Shows any amount of damage, such as broken glass, wheels off, fenders or body extensively damaged, or

"(d) Will not pass the State Standard Vehicle Safety Check, or

"(e) One that is being overhauled in the street or yard of any residence.

"Section II.

"Because of the danger to health from vermin and insects and to children attracted by such cars, junk cars are declared to be a nuisance except in lawfully operated junkyards or yards lawfully operated for vehicles awaiting permission for junking from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

"Section III.

"Any member of the Board of Trustees may order any junk car removed within ten (10) days.

"Section IV.

"Notice of such order shall be placed upon said junk car. Copies of said notice shall be served upon any adult occupying the real estate on which the junk car is located and upon the owner of the junk car if known. If no occupant of the real estate or owner of the junk car can be found, a notice affixed to any building on the real estate shall constitute notice to the owner and occupant of the real estate and to the owner of the junk car.

"If there is no building on the real estate, said notice shall be affixed elsewhere on the real estate.

"Section V.

"If said junk car is not removed within the time so fixed, any member of the Board of Trustees may cause said motor vehicle to be removed at the expense of the owner of the real estate, which expense shall constitute a lien on the real estate.

"Section VI.

"If such order is not obeyed within the time fixed, the owner of the junk car and the occupant of the real estate upon which it is located shall each, upon conviction, be subject to a penalty of $50.00. Each day on which the junk car is permitted to remain upon the real estate after the time fixed in said order shall constitute a separate offense.

"Section VII.

"The ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and publication as required by law.

"Passed and adopted this first day of August, 1966.

Maurice F. Kline
President of the Board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana"

Monthly Sewage Charge Estimated At $11.50

The main item of business at Monday's meeting of the town board was a review presentation of a proposed sewage treatment installation for the town of Saint Joe. The review was presented by Bob Klink, representative of Clyde E. Williams & Associates, professional engineers. The firm was authorized by the previous town board to undertake a preliminary survey relative to wastewater disposal for the town.

Four different types of water treatment facilities have been outlined by the engineers: stabilization ponds, trickling filter plant, aerobic digestion plant and factory-built plant. Stabilization ponds have been recommended by the engineers due to lowest annual maintenance costs as compared to other installations.

The cost of sewers has been estimated at $153,600. To this is added the cost of whichever treatment plant may be decided upon. The comparative costs of the treatment installations is as follows:

Stabilization ponds	$112,200
Trickling filter	$110,400
Aerobic digestion	$124,700
Factory-built plant	$94,200

The lower initial cost of the fourth plan is offset by annual maintenance costs which are almost doubled as compared to Plan I. Thus the estimated annual costs are $30,800 for Plan I as compared to $32,900 for Plan IV. Annual costs of the other plans are: Plan II $30,800 and Plan III $34,800.

With use of federal and state aid as is available and a 30-year bond issue at 5%, the estimated monthly cost per household is $11.50. As noted by the board at the meeting, this is a substantial expense to be added to the cost of living for Saint Joe residents. However, with sewage disposal and water pollution becoming a widespread state and national problem, such costs appear to be inevitable for every household and business regardless of where they may be located.

The board has, under the circumstances, set Friday, February 23, as a tentative date for a public meeting at which all available information will be presented and questions or comments sought from the public.

Copies of the sewage treatment proposals are available for public inspection from board members Jack Bowser, Ted Haberkorn and Lynn Lake and at the News Office.

Attending Monday's meeting were Erwin Rinard, Clarence Rinard, Clifford Billow, Maurice Kline, and Harvey Carr.

An extra board meeting has been set by the board for Monday, February 19, to consider matters which were not discussed at Monday's meeting. The public is invited to attend and offer its suggestions and assistance on such matters as stray dog control, junk car removal, drainage problems, etc.

Bills allowed at Monday's meeting were as follows:

Letters to the Editor

The following letter was received this week and contains a few noteworthy comments concerning a recent News editorial:

Dear Ted, 25 Jan 68

I just want to take a few minutes to express my thanks for receiving the "News". Each week I look forward to reading about home and the people I know. As you know the other officers in my unit look forward to reading it as well. Everyone got a good laugh out of reading about Carl Schott and Bob Johnson. Both want to thank you for mentioning them in the dinky paper.

Carl wanted to send his compliments for the article "Death for Deserters" a couple of weeks ago. He and all the fellows here agree wholehearted with your opinions. It is good to know that people still have some "old fashioned patriotism" left. With everything in the paper and on TV it makes one wonder if the people support him or not. Thank you for sending the "News" and when you hear from Mike and Dave again tell them I said "Hi."

Yours truly,
Mike

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

I would like to thank you for your kind writ-up of the Carthage College Acapella Choir. As a member of the choir I really appreciate your thoughtfulness. I am sure that Mr. Windh does, too.

However, I find that a few corrections should be made to give the most accurate information.

The concert scheduled for the April 23 is not being held at St. Marks, but at Holy Trinity in Harlan because of the reason of space. The most space is needed so that the most people can get in.

Being the nation's second oldest touring choir we have a great tradition to uphold. This years choir does this admirably. We have sung some of the tour music, and it is enjoyable to sing. I am sure that it will be enjoyable to hear.

Oh, by the way. The choir numbers 60 people at the present time. It is a bit larger than the number listed in the article.

I want to thank you again for your article and your support.

Sincerely,
Tom Hursh

I would like to express my personal thanks to all the friends and neighbors of St. Joe for their recent generous contributions to the DeKalb County March of Dimes. Your contributions totaling $115.55 made our very first drive in St. Joe a happy success. Some of you who would have liked to contribute were missed, we are sorry for that. Next year we will strive for better organization, so that everyone who wishes to be included will be contacted.

I would also like to thank all the ladies who so generously volunteered their time to make the March. They were Marilyn Conley, Paula Roberts, Thelma Holtsberg, Sharon Bowser, Corkie Hershberger, Phyllis Richmond, Helen Yoiser and Fern Carr.

In addition canisters were placed in Yoiser's Standard Service, Saint Joe Barber Shop, Vinson's Market and The Oasis.

All contributions collected will be used exclusively in DeKalb County in the fight against birth defects.

Sincerely yours,
Loretta Loy

Dear Ted, 3 Feb 68

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the past few issues of the Saint Joe News. Being stationed here in Southeast Asia, its good to read about the activities at home in good ol' Saint Joe.

My tour has given me the opportunity to see and tour Guam, industrious Thailand, Okinawa, and Vietnam.

I hope the winter there hasn't been as hard as I have heard rumored. The mean temperature here stays up around the 80's all winter long.

Judging from the number of letters in the paper I would say there are plenty of men from Saint Joe serving over here. I have hopes that they soon will be able to return home.

Very truly yours,

Lease Hearing Next Tuesday

A public hearing will be held Tuesday, February 13, 1968, at 8:00 p.m. in the office of the superintendent of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District. The hearing will be on a proposed lease to be entered into between the school corporation and the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School Building Corporation. The lease is in connection with construction of a new junior-senior high school on the Butler school site.

The proposed lease is for a term of 17 years, starting with the completion of the school buildings to be erected by the building corporation. Annual rental provided by the lease is $298,000 per year, payable on June 15 and December 15 of each year.

Drawings, plans and specifications, including estimates of the cost of the buildings, as well as a copy of the proposed lease, are available for public inspection on all business days during business hours in the superintendent's office.

The hearing provides an opportunity for all interested persons to be heard upon the necessity for the execution of the lease and upon whether the lease rental provided for therein is a fair and reasonable rental for the proposed building.

The hearing may be adjourned to a later date or dates or to a larger room in the same building if necessary. Following such hearing the school board may either authorize the execution of the lease or may make modifications as agreed upon with the building corporation.

CONCORD JR. CLUB

The Concord Jr. Extension Club meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Strong Roll call was answered with anecdotes pertaining to any event in February. Lincoln proved the most popular subject with Washington and Valentine's Day also mentioned.

Regular business was attended to by the president, Mrs. Laurel Carper, and the secretary, Mrs. Neil Prentice. The coming of the Bloodmobile was discussed and plans made to assist in the canteen.

The hostess tried to get each member to draw a star by watching themselves in a mirror. It was a hilarious interlude—until it got to be my turn.

Mrs. Carper had a couple of games to stir the imagination.

Delicious refreshments of peppermint salad were served to nine members.

Sewage Question Is Here

Residents of Saint Joe are now confronted with the same problem as is facing, and has faced, other communities in the state and in the nation. That problem concerns sewage disposal and water pollution.

The old town board and the new board have received preliminary survey reports on the size, type and cost of different sewage disposal installations. The unpopular part of the matter is that, while sewage disposal is a desirable asset to the community, it like everything else must be paid for. And right now, with the information presented by an engineering firm, it looks as if something like eleven dollars a month per household is the cost of the system over a 30 year period, subject to economic or population changes.

Eleven dollars a month is a lot of money, a big expense to add to the average household, whether it's Saint Joe or some other city or town. But there seems to be no way of getting away from the fact that water pollution is a national problem and apparently must be dealt with from now on as a major public responsibility.

It appears that it is only a matter of time before every community will be compelled to participate in polution control, assuming that polution is actually as bad universally as we hear it is. It's one of those things you just do not want to face, but you know you must.

So, in the coming weeks, residents of Saint Joe should add to their thoughts the consideration of the situation, offering whatever comments they may have to the town board.

Not Completely 'Way Out'

William F. Buckley, Jr., has an interesting program on television Sunday nights. He interviews and debates with personages from all segments of our culture, discussing political, social and economic matters. There is one thing "wrong" with the program and that is that it is scheduled at such a late hour Sunday night that most people are not able to view it. And, there is also the fact that many people may not particularly enjoy or profit from that type of program; it can get pretty deep at times. But there is such a wide variety of personalities on the program that at some time or another, just about everybody would seem to get something out of it.

On January 28, Mr. Buckley's guest was Dr. Timothy Leary, the man who is the leader of what he calls a "religion" involving the use of drugs (chemicals). He does not advocate universal use of drugs; he says that everyone is not able to face the revelation of self which LSD, for instance, brings on. He does, however, urge those who are really in search of their "real" selves to join his movement; he urged Mr. Buckley to do so once or twice during the program.

I watched the program, expecting some kind of obviously irrational "nut." But I got a surprise. While Dr. Leary was attired "differently" (some sort of blouse-like high-necked shirt with beads hanging from his neck—you couldn't see his trousers), he spoke as sensibly, as responsibly, as rationally as any so-called "normal" person.

Dr. Leary expressed the same concern for the family, for children, for the "rat race" in today's American society as you and I have expressed from time to time. And I found myself very much impressed by his believable statements—until he offered drugs as the solution to our anxieties. Mr. Buckley debated the point of drugs with Dr. Leary, and questions offered by college students at the program made for an extremely interesting hour of television.

The thing that is disappointing about Dr. Leary's "religion" is that the use of drugs to supposedly reveal to a person his very soul seems to detract from one fundamental of creation which I, for one, am not yet ready to abandon. That is, man was created superior to every living thing on earth. His intelligence makes him capable of creating a world of usefulness and creativeness which no other "animal" can achieve. The use of drugs would seem to admit a universal deficiency in the human race, which might be interpreted by some as an accusation of inadequate creation on God's part—man in a sense saying, "God, you did pretty good, but you left something out. I'm going to improve on your job with chemicals."

It would be foolish to deny that constructive use is made of drugs and chemicals by the medical profession in treating specific individuals for physical and mental ailments. However, it is a different story when someone says that many or most people need a drug or chemical in order to activate their "total being."

While I do not share Dr. Leary's solution to our personality problems, I do agree with him in the concern for basic human relations, and it was a revelation to find that a supposed "crackpot" in today's society has sincere motivations and concern. The trouble and differences arise in his proposed solution, because whatever chemicals the average person needs are already in his body and can be maintained without resorting to a form of temporary insanity.

I would suggest that you watch Mr. Buckley's program occasionally.

COUNTRY COUSINS 4-H CLUB

The Country Cousins 4-H Club had a meeting January 19 at the Collins home. The meeting was called to order by Anna Collins. The pledges were led by Carolyn Kessler. Roll call was answered with "your favorite color." The secretary's report was read by Judy Ricketts. Linda Harper and Debrah Collins led the group in singing.

In new business the club discussed the selling of light bulbs for a club project. Betty Miller gave out the 1967 pins. Anna Collins gave a demonstration on teenage dip.

The club was served refreshments and played games. The 1968 books were given out.

The next meeting will be February 13 at Kerns'.

CONGRESS' 'GRAVY' PROGRAMS LIKELY TO KEEP FOOLING U.S.

The present Congress will undoubtedly continue making prostitutes of the states.

As in most prostitution, the victims are willing. The states imagine they are getting money an easy way. It won't be until later that they will realize they have traded something more precious, their sovereignty, for money.

The meretriciousness of the states, as of whores, is based on the notion that it is possible to get something for nothing. State voters clamor for more services; state governments ask Washington for money; Washington gathers more in taxes or borrowings which people of the states must eventually pay, then gives some of it back to the states with all sorts of conditions.

These conditions make states dependent on the Federal Government as slavish as any prostitute is on her protector.

States have become increasingly dependent upon the Federal Government for money for welfare and education. Medicaid is the newest handout, although Social Security has kept many people off welfare rolls, which the government also aids. It also offers millions in anti-poverty aid.

With each of these seeming gifts, the government has imposed many do's and dont's.

Desegregation may be approved by a huge majority of Americans. But in accepting Federal funds for welfare and education, states [illegible] their right to achieve it in their own way at their own time.

The Federal Government is now in position to dictate the curricula of aided institutions. It can require colleges to teach the new arithmetic: a $20-billion deficit in the Federal Government is actually a gain, and there is no such thing as debt because we owe it to ourselves.

Colleges have shown signs of resisting Federal dictation. A few have declined grants for Federal projects when they infringed on academic freedom. Colleges can be independent because they have other resources: foundations, corporations, alumni.

The Federal Government also dictates who may live where and at what price in its public housing program. (Some of the early public housing projects have become poorhouses run by the inmates.)

The present Congress has already taken over intrastate meat inspection, and it is now considering taking over auto and consumer credit insurance. Washington long ago took over labor relations; it has taken on grip on state taxation by deals to exchange income tax data.

It is true that Washington usually moves into vacuums. Some take-overs have come because states have failed to function. And by the time states realize this, it will be too late. They will be the kept women of Washington.

Cong. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., points out in the Tax Foundations Review that in the current fiscal year, the Federal Government " is pouring out about $17 billion in grants-in-aid to state and local governments through over 400 separate authorizations operated through almost every one of the government's departments and agencies."

The grim joke is that this $17 billion comes from the people of the state it goes back to.

—Elmer Roessner in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel, January 22, 1968.

Blazers Drop 2

The Eastside Blazers dropped a pair of games last week end. They were defeated Friday night on their home floor by Bishop Dwenger of Fort Wyne 67-44.

Saturday they lost to Hamilton 54-45 at Hamilton.

The Blazers held their own against the towering Dwenger five through most of the first half, trailing by 16-13 at the end of the first quarter. The Blazers were behind by only one point 29-28 just before the end of the second quarter when Dwenger stored two quick baskets and held a 33-28 halftime lead.

Those two buckets seemed to trigger Dwenger for the second half as they outdid the Blazers in every department, holding a commanding 51-32 three quarter lead. The Eastsiders managed to score only 4 points in the third period as their shuffled and reshuffled lineup couldn't come up with a scoring combination.

Dwenger outscored the locals 16-12 in the final quarter for the final 67-44 tally.

The Dwenger reserves won the prelim 40-28.

Saturday the Eastsiders blew an early lead and were overtaken by Hamilton in the final period. Eastside led 19-7 at the first quarter mark, 25-19 at the half, then were behind 38-36 at the three-quarter mark. In the final period Hamilton outscored Eastside 18-9 for the 54-45 victory.

Hamilton's reserves won an overtime prelim 31-30.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met January 31 at the home of Mrs. Lela Northrup. The meeting opened with the club collect and the pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

Mrs. Maurice Kline presented a very interesting lesson on Epics and Ballads. She defined both of the forms of poetry, and gave a history of both types. Mrs. Kline read parts of some ballads about Robin Hood, and other well known ballads. Parts of Homer's Illiad and Oddyssey, Milton's Paradise Lost, and John Brown's Body were read as illustrations of epics.

For entertainment, Mrs. Weldon Shafer presented her guest, Miss Shawn Campbell of Butler. Miss Campbell, a senior at East side High School, attended Indiana Girl's State last summer and presented a very enjoyable description of her experiences there.

Mrs. Kline presided at the business meeting. Eight members responded to roll call. Mrs Wayne Storer announced tentative plans for the club's annual Gentlemen's Evening which will be on February 17.

Mrs. Kline appointed the following program committee for 1968-69: Mrs. Forrest Bevington, Mrs. Lela Northrup and Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser.

After adjournment, the hostess served light refreshments.

PEPPY GALS 4-H CLUB

The Peppy Gals 4-H Club will meet February 19 at 7:00 p.m. in the St. Peter Lutheran Church basement at Spencerville to organize for the year.

All girls between the ages of 10 and 18 are invited to join. A girl reaching the age of 10 any time during 1968 is eligible to join now.

VOL. LXXXIII | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, February 15, 1968 | NUMBER 7

If I were to try to read, much less answer, all the attacks made on me, this shop might as well be closed for any other business. I do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten thousand angels swearing I was right would make no difference.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A reader passes along a suggestion which appeared recently in Cliff Milnor's column in the Fort Wayne Jornal-Gazette about offering some help to the people of Thailand. An Air Force sergeant says:

"On my days off I teach school along with other GIs. We teach English to the Thai people. They are in great need of soap — and candy. If anyone in Fort Wayne cares to donate some soap or candy, he cannot imagine what it would mean to these people. We really need this favor . . . ."

I doubt if the sergeant would complain if someone outside Fort Wayne sends some help. So, if you wish, send soap and candy ((h(o(s(ure th(ey'(re wrapped separately) to:

Wayne Paradise, manager of Auburn's FM radio station WIFF, stopped in Monday to place an ad in the News. We had a pleasant conversation, in the course of which he stated that the station has installed some $30,000 worth of new equipment to give it the "imperial" sound. That's a pretty big hunk of do-re-mi to shell out for equipment in a small station.

It has been suggested by a serviceman that the boys in service, as well as the families back home, would in many instances like to know where their friends are stationed and what's going on there. So we're going to try to set up a serviceman's column in this paper, in which any information relative to our servicemen can be published—addresses, change of addresses, information about duties and so on (where permissible).

So, servicemen and families, let The News know about your whereabouts, etc. You've been faithful in sending letters to the editor in the past for the benefit of our readers. Now we would like to expand the program, you might say, and get more in on it.

Loretta Loy has volunteered to be the editor in charge of the serviceman's column and any information should be directed to her.

Got any ideas for a name for the column????

—And remember, The News goes free to any man in service who wishes to receive it.

Bloodmobile Here Feb. 28

The Bloodmobile will be at Riverdale Wednesday, February 28, to receive blood donations from 1:00 to 6:0 p.m. The unit will be set up in the Riverdale Cafeterium at Saint Joe.

Those who can and will give a pint of blood are asked to contact Delores Hicov, chairman of the service project, if contact has not been made by one of several volunteer workers in the area. Appointments can be set up for the convenience of the donor if early contacts are made.

The quota will be 100 pints of blood. Last year the quota was missed by only one pint, with 99 donations recorded.

Lease Hearing Continued To Feb. 23; Board Requests, Gets, Change Of Venue

Approximately 50 persons attended the special meeting of the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District and the board of directors of the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School Building Corporation held Tuesday, February 13, 1968, at 8 p.m. The meeting was held for the purpose of allowing public hearing on the proposed lease between the two corporations for the purpose of constructing a junior-senior high school on the Butler school site.

The meeting officially began in the superintendent's office but was immediately moved to the Butler Elementary cafetorium due to the number of people present.

School Attorney H. Charles Winans, School Superintendent Kenneth Cole and building corporation member Robert Darby offered testimony in support of the proposed lease.

Nelson Grills, attorney for a group seeking the re-establishment of a central site for the proposed facilities, then presented a brief for those remonstrating against the lease proposal. He asked that those opposed to the lease on the Butler site stand, and approximately 45 persons arose.

The brief Grills presented contains essentially the same arguments as have been presented in earlier court suits filed by the central-site group. Main points are:

that the site does not provide sufficent area for present and future needs; that the site is not free from hazards and nuisances, these being an adjacent railroad and sewage treatment plant; that the site is not located near the center of the school district in a suitable environment.

Following presentation of the testimony from both sides, the board voted to take the matter under advisement for a period of ten days.

The meeting then adjourned.

The boards will reconvene Friday, February 23, 1968, at 8:00 p.m. to continue the hearing on the proposed lease-rental agreement.

A move was made in the past week in the suit filed recently in DeKalb Circuit Court against the school board. The suit was filed by three school district patrons in behalf of the central-site group.

School Attorney H. Charles Winans requested a change of venue in the suit and the request was granted Tuesday, February 13, 1968. A new judge will, therefore, be appointed by the Indiana Supreme Court to hear the case.

Programs Set

MM Mike Hicov have announced that the February 20 meeting of the Riverdale P.T.A. will include a presentation by Mrs. Florence Weaver on the Special Education Class at the Riverdale School. Entertainment will be under the direction of Mrs. Lucina McNall.

The March 19 meeting of the organization will include a film about the Mott Foundation at Flint, Michigan, shown by county agent Wayne Williams. Entertainment will include students participating in the January music contests.

The 1968 Science Fair was held in the elementary cafetorium in Butler last week end. There were 106 contestants ranging from the first to the tenth grades. Approximately 300 people viewed the projects Sunday afternoon. It was the largest science fair ever held in this school district.

All trophy winners will be eligible to participate in the regional fair at Angola in April.

World Day Of Prayer

World Day of Prayer will be observed in this community Friday, March 1, 1968, with a community service at the Spencerville Methodist Church. The service will be held at 7:30 p.m.

"Bear One Another's Burdens" is the theme for the 1968 observance of World Day of Prayer.

Members of all churches in the Riverdale area are invited to participate in the local service. There will be special children's service.

Rev. Russell Snyder will deliver the message.

NFO HOLDING ACTION

"We are getting in a very solid position on grain that is being blocked together under the NFO Grain Bank and In-Position Grain Sales Program," National NFO President Oren Lee Staley said this week.

The NFO's all-commodity holding action, designed to secure fair prices and contracts for farmers, has started with grain and will be followed by meat, milk and all other commodities at opportune times.

"It is doubtful that the grain trade realizes how much grain production has been blocked together by the NFO in recent weeks," Staley continued. "By blocking our grain production together, buyers cannot purchase grain from individual members but must buy from NFO members as a group."

Staley explained that NFO members not only are holding their products for prices and contracts, but are blocking their production together for nationwide block bargaining. "This is power and will bring us substantial successes," the NFO president said.

NFO target prices in the grain action include: corn $1.50 per bushel, wheat $2.00 per bushel, soybeans $3.00 per bushel and sorghum grains $2.25 per hundredweight, plus comparable prices on all other grain commodities.

'Gerb' Wounded

Nancy Gerber, wife of PFC Robert P. Gerber, sends The News the following letter from Bob who is stationed in Vietnam:

"I have some news that may not be very good to you, but I don't want you to worry. You probably wonder where I got the Red Cross paper. Well, I got wounded early in the morning on the sixth of Feb. But I am doing okay. It was a grenade scattered in the side of the face.

"I figured I had better tell you before the Army lets you know. I don't know if it'll leave a scar or not. I had surgery as soon as I got to the hospital. I don't know how long I will be in here but just keep sending my mail to the same address.

"I am okay, walking around with a bandage around my head and chin. I just can't eat for awhile.

"I just thank God that it didn't kill me. So you've got to think of that. They have very good Doctors and equipment over here. Say hi to everybody at home and please take care of yourself and Bobbie."

Bob is stationed near Chu Lia in South Vietnam. His address is:

Stick To The Question

If it were possible to establish a set of "commandments" for such disputes as we are having in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District over a school site, the first one ought to be, "Thou shalt not lose sight of the primary question involved." If such a commandment were being followed by all of those involved in the school site dispute, there would be no such inexcusable incidents such as reported threats to the person and family of the school attorney, whose involvement in the school site matter is a part of his legal responsibility as counsel for the school board. I want no part of any uncivilized and barbaric approaches as represented by threatening telephone calls to people who don't agree with my thinking or the thinking of those with whom I may be associated. Such tactics only throw doubt upon the credibility of our particular cause, that of seeking to prevent the construction of a new school upon a site which is cramped and inconvenient. A righteous cause has no place for such tactics, and ours is a righteous cause.

In the past couple of weeks, comments have been passed along to me to indicate more opposition to the Butler site, even right up to the doorsteps of the city of Butler, than most of us had dreamed of. But such information cannot be publicly and specifically identified with individuals because it would obligate them without their permission. Thus, the efforts of those who oppose the Butler site have a big handicap, unless these people who do not think it wise to build a junior-senior high school on the small Butler site do the talking and express themselves to the right people - namely, the school board, the superintendent, the school attorney - and the sooner the better. The longer it takes to resolve the site question, the more it costs every one of us in taxes.

And don't forget this. Our tax rate is going to jump $1.50 per $100 of assessed valuation in order to build the needed facilities! Those facilities are supposed to serve students and patrons in the entire district as conveniently as possible, they are supposed to serve as a center of community activity. This is impossible, physically and mentally, when such facilities are in an extreme location in the school district, as is represented by the Butler site.

Other comments in the past couple of weeks have indicated that perhaps the unwillingness to give further consideration to the site matter is due to personal resentment directed my way. If so, what is happening is that the price of freedom (freedom of speech) in this case is personal resentment to the disadvantage of a lot of school patrons. It's too bad that the expression of opposite views can be used to justify the lack of further site consideration.

An excuse given for not granting further site consideration by the board is that the school board election of May 1966 decided the site issue with the election of three men who campaigned for the Butler site. However, it seems unfair to close one's mind to the fact that there may be a new attitude in the minds of those who previously supported the use of the Butler site. And, under the circumstances, with time and money so important in school construction, it would seem rational and reasonable to find out what people think NOW. But the present majority on the board refuses to think beyond that election two years ago, continues to live "in the past" in more ways than one.

The thought has been expressed from the other side that nothing "convincing" has been presented on behalf of the central-site group to cause a change in outlook in the site matter. An early question involved the matter of numbers: how many are there who are against the Butler site? This question was raised over a year ago, and while there was no way to give an accurate answer, it was still a matter of record that the very first public meeting to publicize the protest against the use of the Butler site brought out 239 individuals who "shelled out" around $700 on the spot to begin financing legal counsel. Subsequent meetings had some 40 and then 75 or so attending. While this is not an overwhelming statistic, it is a significant one; and it should be remembered that such meetings were of strictly informational character.

If the number involved thus far (and is injustice measured only by numbers?) has not been "convincing," then there is the apparent growth in the anti-Butler site sentiment as represented by those individuals who have informally offered information and comments, which I cannot divulge here without their permission. Their position in the school district might be jeopardized. But if anyone from the other side is sincerely interested in such information, he could find out for himself with a little effort. There is still the matter of a public opinion poll to find out what patrons think of building the new school at Butler. A challenge has twice been expressed here to the board to make such a move; but it is apparently unacceptable to the board. Such a poll CAN be made; there is nothing to prevent the school board from finding out, by any means it choses, what the people of the district think. Legally, a referendum cannot determine a school site, as has been mentioned here before from legal advice. But the board is not prevented from basing its decision on the basis of public opinion!

If the board is really interested in what we mean by "inconvenience" as far as school location is concerned, they could find out about the mother who mentioned the 17 miles she must drive ONE WAY for the extra-curricular school activities of her student. They could find out about the half dozen seventh grade track boys from Riverdale who ultimately dwindled to but one; they had to go to Butler to participate. They could find out about the father who has been making two trips daily during the basketball season so that two sons can participate in the sport - two trips at 10 miles a trip one way! They could find out about the camparatively small number of students from the Riverdale area now participating in band, mostly because an equal opportunity for such participation is not possible when the music department is based at the high school in Butler. They could find out that Riverdale, before reorganization, had a band numbering some 50 students. They could find out, for instance, in the matter of time and travel (plus inconvenience - you must go when the school sets the time, not when you have the time) that a trip to the Butler site and back from Saint Joe requires some 40 to 45 minutes; a trip to the central area of the district requires 15 to 20 minutes round trip. For Spencerville patrons it's more miles and more time. But from Butler to the central area and back requires little more than 15 minutes, if that much.

If the board were interested, they could find out that the P.T.A. which is supposed to serve the entire district at the high school level was made up last year completely of officers from Butler, and this year the nominations included only two persons from the Riverdale area, neither of which was for the two top offices of the organization. The nominating committee usually has difficulties in finding willing nominees, especially from the Riverdale area. Why? Because the farther you get from the school in miles, the less you are a part of the school, in effect, "belongs" to those who are closest to it. That is a fact of life which too many people are unwilling to face and admit. Today's even more to that one-sided P.T.A. story to illustrate the control of the clique of Butler over school matters, but I won't get into that because the main question still is: where should a new school be build to serve the entire district as a center of school and community activity?

The conditions under which a large portion of school patrons must function, with the junior-senior high school facilities at Butler, are positive conditions of discrimination. You don't have to take my word for it. A patron from within a stone's throw of the city of Butler stated last week, "I don't think the school should be in Butler. I feel sorry for the kids in this end of the district. With what they have to do in order to take part in school activities, travel as far as they do, it's a form of discrimination."

Anti-Butler site sentiment is not prevalent just in Saint Joe, as was inferred in a recent feature story in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel. It is not a sentiment felt by a "selfish minority," as has been charged for the last couple of years or so, and the charge had its effect even on a big city newspaper. Anti-Butler site sentiment prevails in the entire district to a degree which appears to be surprising. But unless these people do their own talking, or are willing to be identified with their opinions, we're going to be paying that $1.50 more per $100 assessed valuation for the next 17 years to build a school 'way up north in a little corner, to the disadvantage of a lot of taxpayers and patrons in the school district.

A posible solution is to do what the board considered momentarily several months ago. That is, add on to the present facilities at Riverdale and Butler so that both schools can house kindergarten through eighth grade. Whether you remember it or not, and whether you believe it or not, the superintendent informed the board several months ago that the need for additional space at the elementary level IS GREATER THAN THE NEED AT THE UPPER GRADE LEVEL! If this is so, why not resolve the situation by providing for ALL our needs: build at Riverdale and Butler for kindergarten through eight, build a high school in the center of the district? Why has the elementary need been "hushed up" in the past several months?

Butler site proponents on and of the board are using every kind of diversionary thought possible to take attention from the main issue. They talk about how much the central site group owes its attorney - and don't have the information correct! What does a legal fee have to do with the proper location for a new school??? They talk about Saint Joe's possible costly investment in a sewage plant - but what does this have to do with the proper location for a new school??? They talk about the availability of more money from Butler sources to fight for the school than is available for the central site proponents - and it's true. But what does this have to do with selecting the proper location for a new school?

Once again, I challenge the school board to find out what the public thinks, if the public believes the new school should be at Butler or in a central location. Tax money is public money, and when a question is raised about the manner in which over $3 million is going to be spent for school construction, the public has a right to be consulted and considered. The school board has a responsibility to more than monied interests and past school control.

What are you afraid of, board members? Speaking for myself, I am willing to abide by the decision of the public, as stated recently, even if the public picks the Butler site which violates certain regulations and suggested standards! What more concession can be made to help resolve the situation as quickly as possible and get construction under way? The best solution IS NOT by court decision but by local resolution. The delay, which is now in effect due to the necessity for court action by the central site group, could be eliminated if it were not for the reluctance of the school board majority to seek the will of the people today.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

A friend of mine in St. Louis, who is deeply concerned with the Vietnam war, recently sent hundreds of copies of an editorial in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch to friends all over the country. The editorial was headed, "To Save the Dollar, End the War," and I thought it was fine.

She also wrote to the publisher of the newspaper, offering to pay for a subscription to be sent to President Johnson. The publisher replied sadly that this would be of no use because "the White House has cancelled its subscription to the Post-Dispatch."

This, to me, is as frightening a symptom of President Johnson's paranoia about the press as anything I have heard. When he orders cancelled a subscription to one of the most respected and responsible newspapers in the country, because it opposes his view on Vietnam, then we are dealing with a leader whose ears are completely closed to dissenting opinions.

A few weeks earlier, another form of political megalomania made itself evident on the part of President Johnson. According to a wire service story, he was about to board a U.S. government helicopter when an officer saluted him and said, "Sorry, sir, but this other helicopter over there is yours." And Johnson reported, "Son, they're ALL mine!"

In point of fact, and law, none of them belongs to the President, but to his office; they are on loan to him in his function as President. The President OWNS nothing that he has not already brought with him to the White House; he has only the USE of certain government facilties.

This grandiloquence, this immodesty, this overwhelming sense of self-importance, can be more dangerous to a nation than the actual policies its follows — as we can clearly see with General deGaulle. Confusing oneself with God is the most common disease of leadership — and it is even a more striking aberration in a democratic country than in a totalitarian one.

Everyone knew that Hitler was a psychopath, or that Stalin was a lunatic butcher; their governments were, after all, based on passion and pig-headedness. But the virtue of a democratic society is largely that it can choose men with cool heads and flexible characters to lead it through difficult times. And when its leader turns out to be rigid, stubborn, vain, vengeful and petty, we have lost our great advantage.

From The FBI

Man cannot live in our complex society today without a system of laws. The system is doomed unless the laws are enforced, and the enforcement officer is ineffective unless his efforts to maintain the peace and protect life and property are supported by the government and the people.

The destruction of law enforcement, particularly at the local level, appears to be a prime objective of some dissident groups and individuals in our country. While they have made no appreciable headway, they are creating such a smoke-screen of harassment and intimidation that enforcement of the law is becoming an overwhelming burden for many agencies.

In some areas, the doctrine of dissent is bordering on a doctrine of nihilism. Since local law enforcement represents the first line of defense of our social order, it becomes a primary target of those who challenge established authority. Regardless of the cause they support, many groups seek altercations with local police to gain publicity and sympathy. Consequently, in this rebellious climate, law enforcement must not only cope with an alarming and increasing crime problem but must also defend its very existence.

Currently, there is a move to have Federal courts take over certain local police departments or supervise their operations. According to this ridiculous plan the courts would place a police department in receivership and appoint a special "master" with full administrative powers over its affairs. The courts could do this country a great service if they would promptly, and with finality, slap down such schemes to undermine and destroy local law enforcement.

Over the years, the FBI has consistently championed the cause of progressive State and local law enforcement. While extending full cooperative services to police agencies and assisting in the training of many thousands of State, county and city policemen, this Bureau has meticulously kept within the scope of its own authority and avoided any encroachment in areas of responsibility belonging to State and local police.

America has no place for, nor does it need, a national police force. It should be abundantly clear by now that in a democracy such as ours effective law enforcement is basically a local responsibility. In the great area of self-government reserved for States, counties and cities, the enforcement of the laws is not only their duty but also their right. Law-abiding citizens and local officials should vigorously oppose concerted attacks against law enforcement and the devious moves to negate local authority and replace it with Federal police power.

PAST OFFICERS CLUB

Members of DeKalb County Past Officers Club of Indiana Federation of Clubs elected Mrs. Marion Dreibelbis president at their annual meeting February 1 at the home of Mrs. Raymond Dunn of Waterloo. Other officers elected were Mrs. Dunn, vice-president, and Miss Mildred Evard, secretary treasurer.

Mrs. John Freese gave devotions, using a pre-Easter theme. She read passages from the Bible, which outlined the events leading to the Crucifixion of Jesus.

Mrs. Evadna Covell gave a report on the prevalence of cheating in schools and colleges and some of the probable causes, including pressures of parents and teachers on students to attain higher grades.

For the remaining portion of the program, Mrs. Morgan introduced her niece, Miss Nancy Siebold, music instructor of Angola High School, who presented a music ensemble composed of six juniors known as the New Day Singers. They gave a variety program of songs which included these numbers: Green Back Dollar, Chilly Winds, Saturday Night, a Hebrew spiritual and Very Last Day.

Mrs. Dunn served refreshments following the program to fourteen members and two guests.

The next meeting will be a potluck dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. Ruth Klingler. Mrs. Charles Schweitzer will plan the program.

Budget Reductions Sought - Adair

PRESIDENT SUBMITS BUDGET—The President has now submitted to Congress his budget message asking for $186 billions for fiscal 1968-69. Just how much the Congress will appropriate remains to be seen. However, I expect to seek cuts, at least, in the amount of $9 billions. I see no reason why the budget cannot be reduced drastically, particularly while the taxpayers are burdened with the cost of the Vietnam conflict. The President's budget has a built-in deficit of $8 billions, or probably more, and I firmly believe that it should be cut to do away with further deficit spending.

Now that the budget request is a matter of record, it is of interest to review previous budgets. From 1890 to 1968, the Republicans were in control of the government for 34 years. During the GOP Administration, the budget was balanced 22 of the 34 years with a cumulative public debt of $13.4 billions. The Republican Administrations also reduced taxes 9 times and only asked for tax increases twice.

On the other hand, the Democrats were in charge of the government for 33 years. The Democrat Administrations balanced the budget in only three out of the 33 years. Cumulative federal debt during these Administrations amounted to $319 billions. The Democrats reduced taxes four times in the 33 years but offset this with 13 tax raises. I think those figures speak for themselves.

THE FISCAL 1969 BUDGET—In brief, here is the way the federal dollar will be spent: Vietnam, 14 cents; other defense costs, 29 cents; social insurance trust funds, 20 cents; education and other major social programs, 11 cents; international programs, 3 cents; interest on public debt, 6 cents; veterans, 4 cents; other government programs, 13 cents.

Here's where the federal dollar will come from: individual income taxes, 43 cents; corporation income taxes, 18 cents; payroll taxes, 22 cents; excise taxes, 9 cents; borrowing, 4 cents; other revenue sources, 4 cents.

—Cong. E. Ross Adair

"DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE"

General Telephone has announced that its information service will be known as "Directory Assistance."

The new name has been adopted because it offers a better description of the purpose of the service, which is to assist customers in obtaining a number they cannot find in their directory.

Some telephone users have taken the name "Information" literally and ask the operators for types of information unrelated to telephone numbers. Others call the operator without first checking to see if the desired number is in their directory. This causes delays in serving customers who really do need help in finding a number, according to Carl Willis, traffic director for General Telephone.

Calls to the information operators have nearly doubled in the past five years.

Customers can now reach the Directory Assistance operators by dialing the number they now dial for information.

HICKSVILLE PRODUCERS MARKET TO CLOSE

Another reminder that agriculture in northwestern Ohio has experienced major changes in recent years came this week with the announcement that the Hicksville market of Producers Livestock Association is being closed effective February 16, 1968.

In making the announcement, Gerald L. Hiller, secretary-general manager of the consolidated Producers association headquarters in Columbus, said that the board of directors and management agreed that changing conditions make it necessary to discontinue business at this location. The great increase in soy bean acreage and other crops, the decline in livestock production and increased costs of operation were cited as major reasons for this move.

Fred Gengnagel of Butler, Indiana, is chairman of the Advisory Committee, and Vernon Eager of Hicksville is vice-chairman. Other member are George Kurtz of New Haven, Preston Beard of Hicksville, William DeLong of Antwerp, Arthur Krieg of Hicksville and Oakley Rena of Mark Center.

Horace Meek has been manager of the market from the time of his full-time employment in 1947. LaDonna Baker of Spencerville, Indiana, has served as office manager the past year.

The Hicksville market served many thousands of farmers over 50 years. A group of local farmers organized a local market or shipping association in 1919. This was one of the first live stock cooperatives in Ohio. It became a part of the Producers in 1939 and an auction was be-

BENEFITS JUMP POSES THREAT TO SOCIAL SECURITY SYSTEM

New increases in Social Security benefits are a mixed blessing at best. At worst they are a clear threat to the security of the entire system.

Many have, for years, warned against putting too great a strain on the Social Security system lest it become, like the one in France, crushed down to the point of virtual bankruptcy. For their pains, most who have issued such warnings have been belabored as foes of Social Security rather than its friends.

Every American who has a stake in Social Security should do some honest thinking about just who is and who is not a friend of the system.

Look at the increases in benefits that most recently have been proposed.

For anyone who looks only at headlines, the proposal is fine. It calls for a 13 per cent increase in benefits. There are very few people who object to getting more money, and there are very few who will closely examine where it is coming from.

The source — as with any Government spending scheme — is you. Government can never give anyone a penny that it has not first taken away from someone else. No matter how you slice it, the Social Security system is not an insurance system in which investors get back an equal return on what they put in. The system is a flat tax system and must be considered realistically as such.

The benefits, therefore, will come out of an increase in taxes. The way this is to be accomplished is by raising the taxable base on which Social Security tax payments are made. Up until now, the tax has been pried out of income up to the first $6,600.

To finance the increase in benefits, this base will first be raised to $7,600. That means that everyone with an income in that range will be paying taxes on $1,000 more of his income next year than last year — to finance the boost in benefits.

In future years, it is envisioned that the taxable base will be raised at least to the $10,000 level. It is hard to see how the raises can stop there. And it seems fairly safe to assume that the percentage of tax slapped on these incomes will have to rise and rise.

Already it is planned that the tax rate will go from the present level of 4.4 per cent to nearly 6 per cent in 1987. But that isn't the whole story, either.

You have to double that rate to get a true picture. You pay nearly 5 per cent of your wages to the system and your employer pays the same. After a while, the total paid will equal about 12 per cent of your wages.

Many younger workers will never get back what they have been forced to put in. If the system was like insurance, this sorry state probably could be avoided. But so sensitive have nerves become in this area that any attempt to take an honest, frank look at the system usually is defeated by demagoguery.

In 1949, the system had enough money on hand to pay benefits for nearly half a century. Today it is said to have only enough on hand to pay benefits for one short year and must depend on new, young workers coming in just to keep even.

The best friends Social Security ever has had are those men who want to keep it sound, even if it means taking a close look at its flaws. The real foes of the system are those who, for political benefit, are willing to burden it far beyond safe, sound and sane limits. —Barry Goldwater in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

You'll have to look a long time to find a more courageous couple than Jack and Connie Hollabaugh of Spencerville. The thought occurred to me Tuesday night following the P.T.A. meeting as I conversed with Connie about Jack's condition.

In case you didn't know it, Jack suffers from diabetes and has been under extensive doctor care for some time now. He is now almost totally blind, has kidney trouble, has open sore legs, has a heart condition—and still goes on with his swimming pool manufacturing business with the help of his faithful wife.

Jack was far from a cheerful man in recent years. But during the past several months he has accepted his condition and now lives with it—with a smile!

How any family can have the troubles the Jack Hollabaughs have and come up smiling as they do is beyond me. They're quite a bunch.

On two consecutive nights this week, it took the utterances of youth to climax adult meetings and bring a heart-warming response from the older generation, plus a feeling of assurance that the younger generation does have a good sense of values.

Monday night the Republicans had their Lincoln Dinner at Auburn and all the dignitaries were there for the party gathering, and there were the rousing comments and speeches, and there were the candidates announcing their intentions with appropriate words. But it took a young man in a quartet to really "stop the show" in as fitting a climax as you would want. It couldn't have been better if it had been planned.

I don't know who they were, but four young men from DeKalb Central High School closed the meeting with one good old barbershop harmony selection. Then one of them stepped to the mike and said something like:

"It doesn't matter if it's Republicans or Democrats—what is happening tonight, with these candidates announcing that they will run for office, is what — — holds us together"—and as he spoke the last words, he brought his hands together and clasped them together.

For a sacred moment, there was silence, then the adults burst forth in resounding applause as the boys left the room, and the meeting ended.

They only sang one song, and only one boy said only a few words—but what a climax it was!

Then Tuesday night, after Mrs. Florence Weaver had given her presentation about the special education class which she leads for ages seven through twelve, P.T.A. Pres. Mike Hicov asked if there were any questions or comments. A young man in the front row raised his hand for permission to speak, which Mike granted. The young man said something like:

"I know what a good job Mrs. Weaver is doing. I've helped her—it wasn't much—but I know she doesn't get all the credit she deserves."

The adults—and the kids—at the meeting burst into applause.

—And Mark Diemer thus gave one of our teachers about the nicest "gifts" you could think of. —And he's only a fifth grader!

You know, that request by the school board for a different judge to hear the central site group's complaint against the school board points out an odd circumstance. Judge Harold Stump, in an earlier complaint filed by the group against the state's Commission On General Education, offered the opinion that the group had a right to be heard, but not in the manner in which it had proceeded. Now the group IS proceeding in the "proper" manner by involving the local ruling body, the school board, but the board will not allow the case to be heard before the local judge.

It is strange that a man who has earned a reputation for fairness in his court decisions, to the extent that he is frequently sought to render judgments in cases outside our county, is not good enough to render a fair decision in the current suit filed against the school board.

It's a simple case of a group of people saying that regulations are not being followed in selecting a school site, and the group is asking a court and a judge to decide whether the regulations are being followed. It isn't a fight between equal sites, it's a question of following rules and regulations. Under those circumstances, there could hardly be a conflict of interest on the judge's part or feeling of prejudice, which is presumably why the school board wants another judge.

It's too bad that a respected jurist, elected by the people, noted elsewhere for his capabilities, isn't good enough to decide a question of law in his own county.

It makes you wonder.

Bloodmobile Here Feb. 28

"If you haven't been contacted call us—or just come on over," is the request from Mrs. Michael Hicov, chairman for the appearance of the Bloodmobile at Riverdale Wednesday, February 28, 1968. Those who may be called in advance for an appointment include Mrs. Hicov at 238-4891, Fern Carr at 337-3445 and Bettty Bevington at 337-3142. Appointments are not required but do help to schedule donors in a steady and convenient manner. Those who cannot make a definite appointment may drop in at the Bloodmobile anytime during its stay to make a blood donation.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Riverdale Cafetorium from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. next Wednesday. Donors are needed to reach the quota of 100 pints.

World Day Of Prayer

World Day of Prayer will be observed in this community Friday, March 1, 1968, with a community service at the Spencerville Methodist Church. The service will be held at 7:30 p.m. "Bear One Another's Burdens" is the theme for the 1968 observance of World Day of Prayer.

Members of all churches in the Riverdale area are invited to participate in the local service. There will be special children's service.

Rev. Russell Snyder will deliver the message.

First Aid Class Starts March 4

Doris Yeiser, local First Aid instructor, has announced that a course in First Aid will start March 4, 1968, at the Riverdale Library. Anyone interested in taking the useful course should contact Mrs. Yeiser so that adequate provision can be made for the size of the class.

All persons 18 years of age or over are eligible to take the course. There is no fee charged, the only cost being that for a textbook.

The class will meet each Monday for five weeks, for two hour sessions beginning at 7:30 p.m. At the conclusion of the course, an advanced course is offered if participants wish to continue the training.

Mrs. Yeiser's telephone number is 337-2715.

Town Board Restricts Parking; To Seek Gas Service

The Town Board of Saint Joe met in special session Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. with board members Jack Bowser, Ted Haberkorn and Lynn Lake and clerk-treasurer Donald Kinsey present.

Discussion was held about public response to the proposed sewage treatment installation for the town, there appearing to be only one or two negative comments from townspeople. The predominant attitude appears to be that such an installation, while costly, is a necessary and a desired thing. A presentation was to have been made to the board from another engineering firm, concerning a sewage treatment installation, but it was postponed by the firm until the March 4 meeting.

Investigation into the possibilities of obtaining natural gas for Saint Joe will be made at the March 4 meeting, with Ray Shuttleworth of the Northern Indiana Fuel and Light Company of Auburn scheduled to appear also at that meeting.

The board directed the clerk to enforce as much as possible regulations concerning the payment of water bills.

After a discussion concerning a recommendation from the volunteer fire department, the board voted to prohibit parking on the east side of Widney Avenue from Jefferson Street to the cemetery. The narrow thoroughfare is a potential hindrance for the passage of a fire truck in case of emergency, when automobiles park on both sides of the street. For safety, the parking restriction was introduced and the cooperation of affected residents will be sought. Adequate signs will be installed in the block concerning the restriction.

The board also voted to provide paint and brushes for refinishing of the fire hall roof when weather permits.

Litter barrels will be refinished and augmented for the main street and for use at the local ball diamond.

The meeting ended after discussion of the possibilities of providing for community growth through zoning for residential and industrial park purposes.

75 Hear Special Education Report

Around 75 students and adults attended the February meeting of the Riverdale P.T.A. held Tuesday evening at the Riverdale cafetorium.

President Mike Hicov conducted the meeting and introduced Principal Charles Hampel who in turn gave a glowing introduction for Mrs. Florence Weaver, special education instructor for the Eastside school district.

Mrs. Weaver outlined the activities which are conducted in the classroom. There are 18 students in the class, coming from the entire school district. Mrs. Weaver's class includes ages seven through twelve. Actually, the age division should be seven through ten, but the shortage of special education instructors makes it necessary to include a higher age limit at the present time.

There are only 18 licensed special education instructors in the state of Indiana at the present time. Mrs. Weaver stated that there seems to be a reluctance on the part of prospective teachers too get into the special field due to what seem to be universal disciplinary problems with such classes. However, Mrs. Weaver's class is an exception in the matter of discipline, according to Mr. Hampel who had stated in the introduction that the special education class is a model for student behavior.

Additional special education is sorely needed, according to Mrs. Weaver. There is a "waiting list" of students for such a class which would fill over one entire additional special class. Such a need cannot be fulfilled, however, due to the shortage of trained instructors.

Thus, under present conditions in the local school district, as Mr. Hicov pointed out, the "slow" student who is helped by the special and intensive training given in the special class, is at the age of twelve then thrown back into the class environment which had originally created a problem. No solution was offered for the situation, due to the basic need for qualified teachers.

Mrs. Lucina McNall introduced several students who participated in recent music contests and they performed for the P.T.A. group. Included were:

Tom Hicov, a second place winner, who sang, "My Task."

Sue Hicov, a first place winner with a perfect score, who sang, "My Favorite Things."

Girls' Ensemble, who won a second place, singing, "Lonesome Valley" (Kathy Baker, Sally Wertman, Pamela Bullock, Marna White and Sandy Panning).

Terry Akey and Sue Hicov, first place vocal duet winners, with "The Swing."

Robert Farrer, a first place piano solo winner, with "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven.

Susan Farrer, first place winner, with a flute solo, "First Waltz."

First place piano solo winner Larry Hart with "Introduction and Fugato."

Craig Seehler, second place vocal soloist, with "Sound of Music."

Refreshments were served and many stayed to "shoot the breeze" for a while.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale

The Limberlost Girl Scout Council cookie order-taking will be held in this community from March 1 through March 10.

Local Girl Scouts will be calling on residents door to door to take orders during that time.

There are five varieties of cookies, the sale of which will assist the Girl Scout program in this area.

Those wishing to place an order may do so by calling Pat Osmun at 337-3401, Pat Korn at 337-9053 or Mrs. John Bush at 238-4257.

Use Your Seat Belt!

An interesting article appears in the current issue of "Michigan Medicine" concerning automobile accident injuries and lap seat belts. The article was prepared from cases observed by five medical doctors of Ann Arbor, Michigan.

The five cases reported involved:

A driver was was "hanged" (not fatally) on the steering wheel when his head came forward over the wheel and his chin caught the force of impact;

A nine year old girl who was a passenger in the front seat and was thrown forward, striking her head on the instrument panel (her seat belt was not tight);

A housewife riding as a passenger in the front seat thrown forward into the instrument panel;

A woman passenger in the front seat who was pitched forward into the instrument panel by the force of impact with a tree;

A 62 year old male driver pitched into the steering wheel by impact with another automobile.

In all of the above cases, the driver or passenger was using a lap seat belt. However, in the last-mentioned case above, the driver of the other car involved was not wearing a seat belt and was killed, having been thrown from his side of the front seat to the right side of the passenger compartment and into the instrument panel. In another case above, the driver did not use a seat belt but was protected by the steering wheel and suffered only facial lacerations not of serious nature. In most cases, internal injuries were suffered in addition to the obvious external physical injuries, but in all cases the patients recovered or are recovering.

The report points out as its conclusion that while injuries were suffered in the reported accidents, lap seat belts were responsible for preventing death in most cases. The need for additional upper body protection is evident, this by use of a shoulder harness and headrest. The report recommends the use of separate lap and shoulder belts to prevent possible internal injuries which would more probably occur with the use of combination lap-shoulder belt.

The article is very appropriate for the times, inasmuch as safety regulations are becoming a matter of federal concern. The inclination to overlook the use of such fundamental protection which lap belts provide is strongly challenged by the findings of the five doctors who did the research in the above accident cases.

Whether or not we agree as to how safety can and should be accomplished, the information in such reports points toward the great benefits which can be realized from the safety measures which are gradually being incorporated into today's automobiles. The first concern of any driver, as far as safety is concerned, is to be careful. When care is not sufficient and an accident does occur, the next step is to be prepared. From the report of the medical journal (which readers may inspect at the News Office), it is evident that the installation AND USE of lap and shoulder belts is the greatest single factor to protect the lives and limbs of automobile passengers at the present time.

As time passes and the evidence accumulates, it becomes obvious that the failure or reluctance to use seat belts is just plain foolish. Did you ever place a few marbles in a jar and shake it? Imagine—in an accident, that jar is your car and one of those marbles rattling around—is YOU, if you don't use your seat belt.

(The following comments are repeated this week, for the benefit of all boxholders receiving this week's issue of The News. The editorial originally appeared in the issue of February 15, 1968.)

Stick To The Question

If it were possible to establish a set of "commandments" for such disputes as we are having in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District over a school site, the first one ought to be, "Thou shalt not lose sight of the primary question involved." If such a commandment were being followed by all of those involved in the school site dispute, there would be no such inexcusable incidents such as reported threats to the person and family of the school attorney, whose involvement in the school site matter is a part of his legal responsibility as counsel for the school board. I want no part of any uncivilized and barbaric approaches as represented by threatening telephone calls to people who don't agree with my thinking or the thinking of those with whom I may be associated. Such tactics only throw doubt upon the credibility of our particular cause, that of seeking to prevent the construction of a new school upon a site which is cramped and inconvenient. A righteous cause has no place for such tactics, and ours is a righteous cause.

In the past couple of weeks, comments have been passed along to me to indicate more opposition to the Butler site, even right up to the doorsteps of the city of Butler, than most of us had dreamed of. But such information cannot be publicly and specifically identified with individuals because it would obligate them without their permission. Thus, the efforts of those who oppose the Butler site have a big handicap, unless these people who do not think it wise to build a junior-senior high school on the small Butler site do the talking and express themselves to the right people - namely, the school board, the superintendent, the school attorney - and the sooner the better. The longer it takes to resolve the site question, the more it costs every one of us in taxes.

And don't forget this. Our tax rate is going to jump $1.50 per $100 of assessed valuation in order to build the needed facilities! Those facilities are supposed to serve students and patrons in the entire district as conveniently as possible, they are supposed to serve as a center of community activity. This is impossible, physically and mentally, when such facilities are in an extreme location in the school district, as is represented by the Butler site.

Other comments in the past couple of weeks have indicated that perhaps the unwillingness to give further consideration to the site matter is due to personal resentment directed my way. If so, what is happening is that the price of freedom (freedom of speech) in this case is personal resentment to the disadvantage of a lot of school patrons. It's too bad that the expression of opposite views can be used to justify the lack of further site consideration.

An excuse given for not granting further site consideration by the board is that the school board election of May 1966 decided the site issue with the election of three men who campaigned for the Butler site. However, it seems unfair to close one's mind to the fact that there may be a new attitude in the minds of those who previously supported the use of the Butler site. And, under the circumstances, with time and money so important in school construction, it would seem rational and reasonable to find out what people think NOW. But the present majority on the board refuses to think beyond that election two years ago, continues to live "in the past" in more ways than one.

The thought has been expressed from the other side that nothing "convincing" has been presented on behalf of the central-site group to cause a change in outlook in the site matter. An early question involved the matter of numbers; how many are there who are against the Butler site? This question was raised over a year ago, and while there was no way to give an accurate answer, it was still a matter of record that the very first public meeting to publicize the protest against the use of the Butler site brought out 239 individuals who "shelled out" around $700 on the spot to begin financing legal counsel. Subsequent meetings had some 40 and then 75 or so attending. While this is not an overwhelming statistic, it is a significant one; and it should be remembered that such meetings were of strictly informational character.

If the number involved thus far (and is injustice measured only by numbers?) has not been "convincing," then there is the apparent growth in the anti-Butler site sentiment as represented by those individuals who have informally offered information and comments, which I cannot divulge here without their permission. Their position in the school district might be jeopardized. But if anyone from the other side is sincerely interested in such information, he could find out for himself with a little effort. There is still the matter of a public opinion poll to find out what patrons think of building the new school at Butler. A challenge has twice been expressed here to the board to make such a move; but it is apparently unacceptable to the board. Such a poll CAN be made; there is nothing to prevent the school board from finding out, by any means it choses, what the people of the district think. Legally, a referendum cannot determine a school site, as has been mentioned here before from legal advice. But the board is not prevented from basing its decision on the basis of public opinion!

If the board is really interested in what we mean by "inconvenience" as far as school location is concerned, they could find out about the mother who mentioned the 17 miles she must drive ONE WAY for the extra-curricular school activities of her student. They could find out about the half dozen seventh grade track boys from Riverdale who ultimately dwindled to but one; they had to go to Butler to participate. They could find out about the father who has been making two trips daily during the basketball season so that two sons can participate in the sport - two trips at 10 miles a trip one way! They could find out about the camparatively small number of students from the Riverdale area now participating in band, mostly because an equal opportunity for such participation is not possible when the music department is based at the high school in Butler. They could find out that Riverdale, before reorganization, had a band numbering some 50 students. They could find out, for instance, in the matter of time and travel (plus inconvenience - you must go when the school sets the time, not when you have the time) that a trip to the Butler site and back from Saint Joe requires some 40 to 45 minutes; a trip to the central area of the district requires 15 to 20 minutes round trip. For Spencerville patrons it's more miles and more time. But from Butler to the central area and back requires little more than 15 minutes, if that much.

If the board were intersted, they could find out that the P.T.A. which is supposed to serve the entire district at the high school level was made up last year completely of officers from Butler, and this year the nominations included only two persons from the Riverdale area, neither of which was for the two top offices of the organization. The nominating committee usually has difficulties in finding willing nominees, especially from the Riverdale area. Why? Because the farther you get from the school in miles, the less you are a part of the school. It, in effect, "belongs" to those who are closest to it. That is a fact of life which too many people are unwilling to face and admit. There's even more to that one-sided P.T.A. story to illustrate the control of the city of Butler over school matters, but I won't get into that because the main question still is: where should a new school be build to serve the entire district as a center of school and community activity?

The conditions under which a large portion of school patrons must function, with the junior-senior high school facilities at Butler, are positive conditions of discrimination. You don't have to take my word for it. A patron from within a stone's throw of the city of Butler stated last week, "I don't think the school should be in Butler. I feel sorry for the kids in this end of the district. With what they have to do in order to take part in school activities, travel as far as they do, it's a form of discrimination."

Anti-Butler site sentiment is not prevalent just in Saint Joe, as was inferred in a recent feature story in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel. It is not a sentiment felt by a "selfish minority," as has been charged for the last couple of years or so, and the charge had its effect even on a big city newspaper. Anti-Butler site sentiment prevails in the entire district to a degree which appears to be surprising. But unless these people do their own talking, or are willing to be identified with their opinions, we're going to be paying that $1.50 more per $100 assessed valuation for the next 17 years to build a school 'way up north in a little corner, to the disadvantage of a lot of taxpayers and patrons in the school district.

A posible solution is to do what the board considered momentarily several months ago. That is, add on to the present facilities at Riverdale and Butler so that both schools can house kindergarten through eighth grade. Whether you remember it or not, and whether you believe it or not, the superintendent informed the board several months ago that the need for additional space at the elementary level IS GREATER THAN THE NEED AT THE UPPER GRADE LEVEL! If this is so, why not resolve the situation by providing for ALL our needs: build at Riverdale and Butler for kindergarten through eight, build a high school in the center of the district? Why has the elementary need been "hushed up" in the past several months?

Butler site proponents on and of the board are using every kind of diversionary thought possible to take attention from the main issue. They talk about how much the central site group owes its attorney - and don't have the information correct! What does a legal fee have to do with the proper location for a new school??? They talk about Saint Joe's possible costly investment in a sewage plant - but what does this have to do with the proper location for a new school??? They talk about

To Run In Primary

Merle R. Holden of Rl Saint Joe, Executive Secretary of the Indiana State Young Democrats and president of the DeKalb County Young Democrats, has announced that he will be a candidate in the May 7 primary for Democratic precinct committeeman from Concord Township and for a delegate to the Democratic State Convention.

In making the announcement, the local young man said that he considers the two posts very important because good government and good political parties begin at the precinct level. He emphasized that if elected, he would work hard to organize the precinct and would attend meetings of the DeKalb County Democratic Central Committee, of which the precinct committeeman is a member.

Holden will graduate from Indiana University this June with a Bachelor of Science degree in secondary education with a major in social studies. He plans to teach social studies at the high school or junior high level. He attended the Fort Wayne Regional Campus of I.U. for three years before finishing up at Bloomington. He is a graduate of Eastside High School and was sports editor of the Saint Joe News for five years and editor of a sectional basketball publication, DeKalb County Sports, for two years. While in college, he was editor of the student newspaper of the Fort Wayne Regional Campus and was a member of the Student Senate.

For the past four years, he has been manager of the Saint Joe-Spencerville Pony League baseball team and is a past Indiana-Kentucky Synod Luther League officer of the Lutheran Church in America. He is also a past District Chairman for Northeast Indiana for that organization. He is a member of St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

The near life-long resident of Saint Joe is a registered basketball official in Indiana and is a member of the DeKalb County Historical Society. He is the founder and charter president of the DeKalb County Young Democrats and attended the 1967 convention of the Indiana State Young Democrats where he was selected to be the executive secretary of that organization. He is currently in his second term as president of the DeKalb County Young Democrats.

He resides north of Saint Joe with his parents, MM Ross E. Holden, and has two brothers and one sister.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Cora Funk February 16, 1968, with 10 members attending.

The meeting was opened by the group reciting the collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Doris Yeiser, her subject being "Faith" and was very interesting and inspiring.

Cora Funk reported on the Leaders Lesson that she had attended. Catherine Bowser announced the different crafts to be displayed February 23, 1968, and urged all members to attend if possible. Eva Clauser told of the plans the Ways and Means Committee had made for the year.

Doris Yeiser again reminded those who volunteered to help at the Bloodmobile February 28, when it comes to the Riverdale School.

Three members celebrated birthdays in the month of February and "Happy Birthday" was sung to the group.

The meeting was then closed to reopen March 15 at the Edith Sailer home.

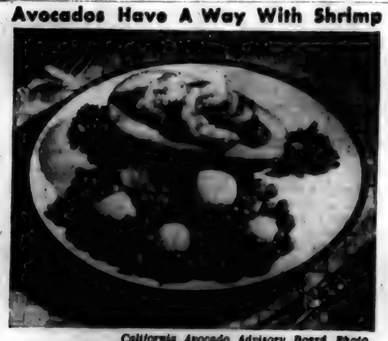
Avocados Have A Way With Shrimp



California Avocado Advisory Board Photo

California's delicious avocados must have a natural way with shrimp. However they are combined — in appetizers, salads, or in a tempting entree — the two together taste simply terrific!

This luscious main course suggestion offers just-ripe avocados (they yield to gentle pressure in the hand) filled with a piping hot mixture of shrimp in a slightly-thickened tomato sauce seasoned with onion and Worcestershire.

The result is a simple-to-make and eye-pleasing dish with zesty red sauce brimming over green and yellow avocado half shells.

SAUCY SHRIMP IN AVOCADO

the availability of more money from Butler sources to fight for the school than is available for the central site proponents - and it's true. But what does this have to do with selecting the proper location for a new school?

Once again, I challenge the school board to find out what the public thinks, if the public believes the new school should be at Butler or in a central location. Tax money is public money, and when a question is raised about the manner in which over $3 million is going to be spent for school construction, the public has a right to be consulted and considered. The school board has a responsibility to more than monied interests and past school control.

What are you afraid of, board members? Speaking for myself, I am willing to abide by the decision of the public, as stated recently, even if the public picks the Butler site which violates certain regulations and suggested standards! What more concession can be made to help resolve the situation as quickly as possible and get construction under way? The best solution IS NOT by court decision but by local resolution. The delay, which is now in effect due to the necessity for court action by the central site group, could be eliminated if it were not for the reluctance of the school board majority to seek the will of the people today.

Others say. . . .

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Drew Pearson is one of today's most controversial columnists. While his tactics and taste may sometimes be questioned, it cannot be overlooked that he is often capable of digging out those unpleasant details in politics and government which others prefer to overlook or ignore, details which oftentimes should be known by American citizenry. His assistant, Jack Anderson, wrote the following on-the-spot report, showing how thin American forces are spread in this nation's attempt to be all things to all people. It is a report which you will not like —and you shouldn't! It appeared in the February 20, 1968, issue of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.)

ALONG THE 38th PARALLEL. America's most forlorn and forgotten soldiers crouch at night behind sandbags in the lonely outposts along the demilitarized zone, waiting for a silent, elusive enemy to strike.

A long history of machine gun and grenade attacks began on Nov. 2, 1966, the very day President Johnson ended a triumphant visit to Seoul. On that day, the North Koreans bushwacked an American patrol and killed six soldiers. They have been sniping and marauding ever since.

In the months that have followed, hit-and-run North Korean patrols have killed 24 GIs and wounded 78. The figures will be even higher by the time this report is printed. For hardly a night goes by that the eerie darkness of the 38th Parallel isn't shattered by the sudden crash and flash of a firefight.

Yet the GIs are forbidden to strike back at the enemy outposts across the DMZ 4,000 yards away. Their orders are to watch and wait in the severe, artic-like cold for "Joe" to hit first.

Joe is the name they have given the North Korean enemy and, after dark, ambush patrols crawl out of the bunkers, belly through the ice-crusted brush and lie on the frozen ground, numb fingers on the triggers, hoping to intercept "Joe."

For this bleak, bitter duty, the soldiers of the Second (Indianhead) Division not only collect no combat pay and receive no combat ribbons, they also must make out with the left-overs from Vietnam.

I dropped in on these boys in their bunkers on a savagely cold night, moving from outpost to outpost in a blacked-out jeep. Ahead of us moved an escort jeep, carrying three huddled, helmeted figures with rifles at the alert.

In cramped, dingy rooms behind or below the observation posts, around hot charcoal burners, the GIs exercised their constitutional American right to gripe a little. I'll omit the names—these guys have enough grief without getting called on the carpet for talking out-of-turn to the Drew Pearson Column.

"This is the end of the supply line," grumped one seargeant. "We get what nobody else wants." He spoke of shortages of ammunition, fuel and spare parts.

"Why don't you find out how many vehicles are deadheaded?" suggested another. He referred to the jeeps, trucks and personnel carriers that are laid up for lack of spare parts.

"The carburetors don't work," said a tall, skinny youth with a moustache too old for his face. "The vehicles we've been getting all seem to have bum carburetors."

"I don't think," chimed in another, "there's a tire patch in the whole Second Division." The only way they could fix a flat, he said, was to take the tire to a Korean-operated, commercial garage. On the way to the front, I had noticed a couple of make-shift civilian quonset huts, advertising: "We Fix Flats."

"I tried to start up a tank," said a sergeant, "No fuel."

Another found the emergency brake missing from a new jeep. Others had heard about vehicles arriving without vital parts.

Several griped about the rationing of fuel oil in their barracks. They would come down, after four or five days on the Demarcation Line, to cold barracks.

"The guys in the rear don't suffer none from the cold," bitched a GI with four days' stubble on his chin. "After they take what they need, there ain't enough left for us guys."

The soldiers in the bunkers and trenches also hadn't received any of the M-16 rifles now used in Vietnam, but they seemed satisfied with their M-14's.

"The M-14 is heavier and fires a bigger slug," explained a corporal, fingering his rifle affectionately.

There had also been ammunition and helicopter shortages, they said, but new shipments had now arrived.

I took up their complaints with Gen. Charles Bonesteel, the United Nations commander in Korea. He acknowledged there had been shortages and promised to investigate the specific complaints.

My own investigation confirmed that Vietnam priorities and Secretary of Defense McNamara's economies had left our 50,000 troops in Korea critically short of the ammunition, helicopters, spare parts and other equipment they would need in case of an attack from the North. Furthermore, the supplies that reach this remote area, as the GIs had complained, are often deficient.

In a few instances, individual officers had rationed fuel oil for the barracks; but they have now been informed this is carrying economy too far. The shortages have not deprived the GIs of the essentials they need. But in case of an emergency, the Eighth Army in Korea would be caught short.

The fact is inescapable, however, that the American boys who endure cold and risk death every night in the harsh mountains facing North Korea have been neglected by their own government. The brass hats in their Pentagon easy chairs might give a thought to providing these soldiers with the combat pay, supplies and recognition they deserve.

New Progress in Genetic Research .. Is Reported by the March of Dimes

DOCTORS AND NURSES with their small patients—and the patients' genetic charts showing chromosome abnormalities—at the March of Dimes-sponsored Birth Defects Center at the University of Tennessee Memorial Research Center and Hospital, Knoxville, Tenn.

March of Dimes research scientists during 1967 reported progress in pinpointing causes of two major classes of birth defects.

New blood-testing techniques may show the extent and nature of birth defects in the children of women who contracted seemingly mild infections during pregnancy.

Progress is also being made in testing human cells to determine carriers of certain rare defects and to find out how those defects are passed from generation to generation.

Dr. Charles A. Alford is testing babies born at the University of Alabama Medical Center by a new technique of determining the level of a blood protein called IgM. A high level indicates that the baby has been infected in the womb. Dr. B. H. Kean and associates will launch a similar program of testing obstetric cases admitted to the lying-in branch of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center for laboratory evidence of toxoplasmosis, a parasite that often causes brain defects and blindness in the baby. The infection is usually completely symptomless in adults.

At the University of Rochester, N. Y., Dr. James B. Hanshaw is testing babies born at the Strong Memorial Hospital for cytomegalovirus, another infection harmless to the mother but dangerous to her unborn offspring, in causing damage to the brain, eye, liver, and other organs.

On the hereditary side of the birth defects problem the major development of 1967 is medicine's rapidly increasing ability to spot the "normal" carriers of genes for certain inherited diseases.

New biological test techniques make it possible to recognize the gene carriers of 67 out of 99 known "inborn errors of metabolism," which are inherited enzyme deficiencies often responsible for severe deformity or mental retardation in children, Dr. David Yi-Yung Hsia recently told a March of Dimes-sponsored Genetics Institute meeting.

Study of disease carriers provides scientists with sharper tools for understanding the subtleties of inherited deficiencies, said Dr. Hsia. Detecting disease carriers also provides geneticists with useful information on how genetic traits are inherited, he added. Chemical differences among carriers of the same disease, for example, may reveal that more than one gene is involved in the disease process. Identification of carriers simplifies calculation of how frequently the disease-producing gene occurs among different populations.

All this information, says Dr. Hsia, takes much of the guesswork out of genetic counseling. A simple test performed on persons of high-risk populations—either relatives of a person with a heritable disease or members of population groups having a high disease incidence—may tell whether they do, in fact, carry the disease and, if so what the likelihood is of transmitting it to their children.

Six-Step Easy-To-Build Patio

The outdoor living season is at hand. Here are six easy steps to help make your summer more enjoyable with a new concrete patio. If you're experienced, you can handle the job yourself. Otherwise relax and call your concrete contractor.

Step 1. PREPARE THE BASE — Select your patio area carefully to be sure it's exactly where you want it. Stake out the area to help you visualize its appearance. Remove the sod and at least four inches of top soil. Compact loose soil with a tamper or heavy roller. Place a smooth, level one-inch layer of sand to provide firm, even support for your patio.

Step 3. SET THE FORMS — Your concrete patio can be laid out in almost any shape: square, circle, diamond, or free form. For a 4-inch thick slab, use 2x4 boards on edge, nailed to 1x2-inch stakes driven firmly into the ground. The top edge of the forms will be the surface grade of your patio. Be sure that water will drain properly.

Step 2. ORDER CONCRETE — After the base is prepared and forms set, call your local ready-mixed concrete dealer. Tell him the size patio you are building and that you want to use concrete with 6 percent air-entrainment. He will deliver enough concrete to do the job. Be sure to have enough help ready to place the concrete when it arrives. Wait until you are ready to place the concrete before calling the ready-mix company.

Step 4. PLACE THE CONCRETE — Place the concrete as near as possible in its final position. Don't spread it from one central pile. Spade the concrete thoroughly to help consolidate it. After the concrete is placed, strike it off with a 2x4 resting on the forms as shown here. This insures a flat, level patio surface. Keep enough concrete ahead of the 2x4 to fill in all low spots.

Step 5. FINISH THE SURFACE — After the surface water evaporates and the concrete starts to stiffen, "float" the patio surface with a light metal or wood float. This produces a textured, slip-resistant finish. If a very smooth surface is desired, finish with a steel trowel. But remember that the smoother the surface the more slippery it will be when wet.

Step 6. CURE THE CONCRETE — Cure the concrete properly to produce a strong durable surface. For best results keep it wet for at least six days after placing or cover it with a plastic film as shown here. Wet burlap or straw are equally good for curing. Your concrete patio should provide many seasons of enjoyment.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Whether one is pro-Vietnam war, or anti-Vietnam war is perhaps not the major issue.

For it undoubtedly seems that at the core of the controversy in the Asian conflict is rampant confusion over the American foreign policy which has prevailed for some three decades.

• • •

On one hand, there is supposedly official abhorrence of non-democratic forms of government, yet there is no protest when a military junta takes over in Greece, neither did such a position ever impede the grants of foreign aid to Communist Tito's Yugoslavia.

C. W. Harder

And perhaps the best example of what creates public confusion over this matter of foreign policy is the stance taken on the subject of Rhodesia.

In a manner somewhat reminiscent of the happenings around Boston Harbor. Lexington and Concord, this small country decided to pull away from British rule. This did not particularly set well with the current socialistic Labor government at No. 10 Downing Street in London.

The upshot of all this, as is well-known, was for the United States to support the British plea to invoke economic sanctions against her former colony.

As a matter of fact, the United States went even a little further in this direction, decreeing criminal penalties for any American engaging in commerce with Rhodesia.

So now comes the really silly situation.

The metal chrome is extensively needed for both industrial and defense purposes. Rhodesian mines had been the principal source of this nation's chrome supply. This supply was cut off by official edict.

But now, according to a reputable national magazine, the U. S. is getting its chrome from Russia which presumably is a great help to the communist economy giving it dollars.

In addition, as is well known, Russia has been quite active in supplying arms and munitions to he Viet Cong, and has told the world it intends to do so.

Thus, while there is not the remotest possibility of tiny Rhodesia launching an assault on the United States, Russia is considered to be the potential enemy, and yet it is this communist economy that the imports of chrome are enriching. It is said that there are no comic pages in Russian newspapers. Obviously for laughs Ivan and Olga do not need them. Dispatches from Washington are often much more comical than any cartoonist could possibly dream up.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The annual Gentlemen's Evening of the Ladies Literary Club was held Saturday evening, February 17, 1968.

Ten members and their husbands and friends met at the Saint Joe School and drove to the Char-King Cafeteria in Fort Wayne where everyone enjoyed a delicious dinner of their own choice. Following dinner, several members and their guests enjoyed their first hockey game, while others proceeded to a popular movie.

The committee in charge of the evening was Mrs. Wayne Storer, Mrs. Russell Snyder and Mrs. Forrest Bevington.

The club met Wednesday, February 21, at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser.

The meeting opened with the club collect and the pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer presented a most interesting lesson on Poetry of the Bible. She began by giving several definitions of poetry, and pointed out that the chief characteristic of Hebrew poetry is its rhythm, not rhyme. Members of the club each had her own Bible and read various poetical portions of the scriptures. Special attention was paid to the "Poetical Books of the Bible"—Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes and Songs of Solomon.

Mrs. Russell Snyder was in charge of entertainment, and read excerpts from the book "Bull At a New Gate" by Vic Jamison and Don Westfall.

Mrs. Maurice Kline presided at the business meeting. 12 members responded to roll call. Mrs. Walter Reinhart was welcomed as a new member, and Mrs. Albert Wade was a guest.

Announcement was made of the DeKalb County Federated Clubs Convention to be held on March 8 at the Waterloo E.U.B. Church.

After adjournment the hostess served light refreshments.

The next club meeting will be held March 6 at the home of Mrs. Everett Mavis in Auburn.

NEWVILLE TWP. HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Newville Township Homemakers Club met Wednesday, February 14, in the home of Rozella Mickelson. Velma Zion was co-hostess and Edna Mickelson assistant.

Following a Valentine dinner, the meeting was opened by the president, Shirley Spall, who emphasized kid's day by reading several verses concerning babies. History of the song of the month, "Oh, Susanna," was read by Rozella who led singing of the selection.

Bertha Ricketts read a devotional selection entitled "Earth places," followed by prayer. Response to roll call was by 22 members with kids' sayings or Washington and Lincoln quotes. "Happy birthday" was sung to Anna Hursey, Cynthia Sipe, Hazel Nicholls and Bernice Miller.

Special reports were: nursing homes visit by Shirley Spall; outlook by Charlotte Kimmel; safety by Bernice Miller. Child care leader Zella Collins showed new and educational games for children. Dorine Singer read the new budget and finance projects for the year. Pennies for friendship were collected, also pennies for buttons worn.

Dates to remember were: [illegible] craft school at Auburn; February 28, Blindmobile at the Riverdale School.

The lesson on finance was presented by Cynthia Sipe and Freda Eagle. They emphasized the importance of understanding types of credit, loans and their advantages and disadvantages. Credit facts bulletins were distributed following a discussion period.

Cheer cards were signed to send to shut-in members. Secret pal gifts and Valentines were distributed by postmistress Myrtle Mills. A baby photo contest proved many changes, by time, for members.

The March 13 meeting will be held at the home of Dorine Singer. Members bring a hat for renovation, wear something green.

A collection of things that cost less than they did
10 years ago.

Your electric bill just about stands alone. Electricity actually costs less per kilowatt-hour today than ever before.

But if electricity's cheaper than ever, why is your electric bill higher?

Look around. Count the appliances you didn't use ten years ago. Electric power is giving you a better, happier life. So even though rates are lower, your bill is up because you use more.

Considering today's prices, electricity has to be the biggest bargain around. And our whole seven-state system keeps working hard to make it even more of a bargain. Think about that next time you hear us say . . . Electricity is your best dollar value.

Indiana State Library

by Loretta Loy

We are heading the column with a question mark because we still do not have a name for it. How about some suggestions from you servicemen? We want to make this your column. Keep in touch with your buddies, let us know where you are and what you are doing.

If you want to know about a serviceman, ask us and we'll try to find out about him.

Airman Denny Nelson is home on leave from Sheppard Air Force Base. He took his basic at Lackland AFB after enlisting in November of 1967. He graduated at Sheppard with highest honors in the class as an Air Passenger Specialist. He is due to report to McCord Base in Seattle, Washington, March 13.

Army Spec 4 James L. Miller (Toehead to you guys) arrived home February 23 from Fort Carson, Colorado, where he has been stationed since the beginning of basic in October of 1966. Jim will report to Oakland, California, March 28 to join the 90th Replacement Battalion in Vietnam.

Lt. Michael Loy is due home March 1. He has been stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, awaiting Flight School and will return there March 6.

Denny, Jim and Mike all played basketball for Eastside in 1966. So they are looking forward to a reunion.

We understand that Denny Miller, formerly of Saint Joe, is also home on leave but do not have definite information. If you read this, Denny, let us know.

Spec 4 Michael Haberkorn is now stationed in Hawaii. His address is:

Nancy Gerber informs us that husband Bob has recovered from a recent shrapnel wound and is back in action in Vietnam. He is really a proud poppa, Nancy sending him loads of pictures of daughter Bobbie who is the apple of his eye. She was born after he was shipped out for duty.

Connie Hollabaugh informs us that her nephew Ronnie Lake was recently injured in action in Vietnam, has recovered and is again on active duty.

God bless 'em.

Scholarship Winners

The scholarship competition this year for the Eastside High School Spanish Club's summer trip to Mexico was keener than ever before, according to Mrs. Phyllis Posey, head of the Spanish Department. More students applied than in past years, and the choosing was extremely difficult. The faculty committee's votes ended in a tie for the first place. Therefore, Spanish Club officers held a special meeting and decided that each of the top students would receive an equal amount of funds taken in, with any possible deficit to be made up by the participants themselves. Of course, it is hoped that, as in the past two years, enough money will be earned by, and donated to, the club to make it possible to provide a full scholarship for both of the top students.

Those students who reached top honors are Miss Debbie McDowell and Miss Rebecca Blume. Debbie is the daughter of MM Wilbur (Bud) McDowell of R1 Saint Joe, Rebecca is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. V. Blume of 300 West Oak Street in Butler.

Debbie is a sophomore at Eastside, now studying Spanish II. She is a member of the Future Teachers of America, Spanish Club, Pep Council, the Blazettes, and is a cheerleader for the Junior Varsity. Debbie attends St. Michael's Catholic Church in Hicksville and is active in youth work. She plans to teach, but has not decided on an age group or subject area.

Rebecca is a junior at Eastside, currently enrolled in Spanish III. She is a member of Band, Spanish Club and the National Honor Society. Becky attends the Methodist Church in Butler and is an active member of the MYF. She is pursuing a college preparatory course with the goal in mind of becoming an occupational therapist.

First alternate who will go if either of the first place winners should not be able, is Miss Carol Lambert, daughter of MM Ray Lambert of R2 Butler. A sophomore currently taking Spanish II, Carol is a member of the Future Teachers, Spanish Club and secretary of the Booster Block.

Second alternate Kevin Houser is the son of MM Carroll Houser of 403 N. Broadway in Butler. A member of the Letterman's Club, Kevin participates in four varsity sports. He is a member of the Spanish Club and attends the Butler Methodist Church. Kevin is a sophomore and a second-year Spanish student.

Again this year, scholarship students will attend the Colegio Americano in Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico. This city in northern Mexico has an interesting history, not the least of which centers around the revolution, early in this century, against the dictator Diaz and one of his leaders, the legendary bandit-hero, Pancho Villa. American students at the school spend their mornings in formal study of Spanish, Mexican history, music and art. Afternoons are free and left to the discretion of the host family, always an upper-middle class family eager to teach its young host the language and ways of Mexico. In the past, students have always returned with a greatly improved knowledge of Spanish, of the Latin peoples and their cultures, and of the great diversity of the world as a whole. Their experience is an invaluable one, which they are always delighted to share.

The Eastside High School Spanish Club is justly proud of its three-year-old scholarship program. There are very few such club-initiated programs in the nation's high schools. In the past, the club has always earned enough money through various moneymaking projects to send one person. But through community donations, it has also been able to send a second person.

Returning members of the Mexican study tour have presented slides and talks to many interested groups, and these experiences have been worthwhile for the students and requesting groups alike.

An important moneymaking project for the Mexican scholarship will be the Spanish Club's Pre-Easter Bake Sale, to be held April 13 in both Butler and Saint Joe. Watch for posters and help support this worthy cause, Mrs. Posey asks.

Any groups who wish to request programs and to contribute may do so by sending the donation in the form of a check to the Spanish Club, Eastside High School, Butler, Indiana. Funds are carefully noted and acknowledged for income tax purposes. Any donation will be gratefully received.

Senior Play March 22-23

With the announcement of the players who will take the various parts, construction of the set begun, and rehearsals starting this past week, the EHS Senior Class' production of "Night of January 16th," scheduled for March 22 and 23, is now well underway, according to Mr. Donald Klausing who is directing the play.

Strictly speaking, this will be a play without a heroine, but Donna Gay has been chosen for the leading feminine part, that of Karen Andre, defendant in the murder trial. Nor has it a hero, the principal male role being that of the prosecuting attorney, which will be taken by Tony Teutsch.

Other members of the cast will be Karen Stemen, Herb Holden, Larry Brandy, Marty McCollough, Steve Gafken, Barbara Eskright, John Bowers, Perry Bonecutter, Anne Kagey, Dave Gather, Larry Armstrong, Diane Worman, Marty Searfoss, Bill Wellendorf, Elaine Simmonds, Keith Kreimeier, Dick Fisher, Dianne Diehl, Paulette Bakle, Jeff Snyder, Dean Hullinger and Rick Mumma.

Twelve important members of the cast yet remain to be chosen, but, fortunately, need no rehearsing and will not be selected until the night of the performance. They are the jury, who will listen to the evidence and render the verdict on which will depend which of the two possible endings written for the play will be used.

Among the well-known people who have served on the jury during professional performances of the play are Jack Dempsey, James Roosevelt, Babe Ruth and Helen Keller. On one occasion, four United States Congressmen were among the jurors.

Tickets for the performances will be placed on sale early in March and will be available from all members of the Senior Class.

A Disappointment

Ordinarily, it would seem odd to comment about someone's declaring they were NOT a candidate for the school board in the coming May primary election in which four school board members will be elected in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District. But in one particular instance at the present time, such a declaration is a disappointment as far as I am concerned. The fact that Joe Parshall has declared that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the school board is not good news to me, even though his views on site location for the new school are not the same as mine. It is to his credit, and I think it is a reflection of the general conscientious approach which he has taken in the job of school board member, that he made a special call to me this week to make certain that there would be no misunderstanding about his intentions. He felt that recent remarks which he made to me might have indicated that he would run for re-election. So, he made a phone call in order to make certain that it did not appear he said one thing, then did another.

I know there are many people in the central-site group who have little love for those, including Mr. Parshall, who are pursuing the use of the Butler site for a new junior-senior high school. From past experience, I know, however, that he is one of the most interested laymen you can find in the field of education. Despite the current conflict over site, I would hasten to point out to anyone, regardless of their views on site, that a school board member has potentially a lot more to do than pick a piece of land on which to build a school. It is significant that Mr. Parshall's biggest disappointment, even more than the site controversy if I heard him correctly, is reflected in his feeling of failure in the academic field; he believes he has not accomplished much for education at the classroom and curriculum level. Mr. Parshall expresses some very sound views about school matters and education, as far as I am concerned, views which indicate more than average concern and interest in our school.

I personally am disappointed that he has decided not to run for re-election; I would vote for him despite our difference of opinion on site! But he feels a need for a rest, and this coupled with his feeling of personal failure has brought about his decision.

I say these things because, at a time when our school district is in turmoil over the site issue and there are those on both sides of the controversy who talk and act in an unreasonable manner, it would seem helpful to keep in mind the good qualities which do exist in our school system and in our people, even those people with whom we may have a difference of opinion.

I hope Mr. Parshall reconsiders.

Scout News

Saint Joe Boy Scout Troop 173 will conduct two activities in coming weeks. The troop will sponsor a bake sale Saturday, March 16. On Saturday, April 6, the troop will conduct a scrap paper drive.

Funds raised from the two projects will be used to purchase new tents and other equipment.

Spencerville Troop 172 of the Boy Scouts took a trip to Brown County over the last week end to hike a 13-mile trail, "Flags of the Nations."

Those who participated in the hike were Jerry Markle, Tim Hollabaugh, Art Hausbach, Joe Hausbach, Denny Hart, Eric Jacobson, Keith Melchi, Denny Melchi, Loren Fisher, Dick Kagey, Don Shilling, Eddie Shilling and George Carper.

The boys were supervised by Bob Jacobson and Jim Hart.

Announce New Auto Crash Restraint System

NEW AUTO-CEPTOR CRASH RESTRAINT SYSTEM developed by Eaton Yale & Towne, Inc., and designed to reduce fatalities and injuries in auto accidents is demonstrated here. Inflated pillows are positioned between instrument panel and model and dummy in front seat. In actual operation the pillow is inflated by a crash sensor in less than 4% of one second to arrest and cushion passenger and driver forward motion in a crash situation. The experimental system was introduced jointly by Eaton Yale & Towne, Inc., and Ford Motor Company.

crash is the equivalent of one car crashing into a parked car at 45-mph.

Primate tests revealed that animals protected by the system could survive 50% more force than animals protected by other restraining systems.

Auto-Ceptor is a product of the efforts directed towards automotive safety by the Eaton Yale & Towne Research Center. When this engineering group first studied the area several years ago, they decided that the air-pillow crash restraint system was the near ideal solution to the safety problem.

They explored a number of schemes before a workable concept was achieved. After hundreds of tests a working unit with the potential of meeting human survivability requirements (as described in SAE Standard JA-88A) for a 30-mph barrier crash resulted.

At this stage of development of the concept, the two companies joined their efforts in a series of tests for a technical evaluation of the concept for automotive application, utilizing the Ford crash simulator and proving ground vehicle vehicle crash barrier.

The results of this evaluation led to an agreement in which Eaton Yale & Towne assumed responsibility for the complete system design and development, and Ford undertook the establishment of design criteria and the design and conduct of development testing for Ford-built cars.

In summing up the first part of the paper, the reporting engineers said that their concept feasibility studies showed a level of protection unapproached by any other restraint system and indicated potential solutions for the problems of applying this system to the high production automobile.

They feel that the system can offer:

Protection — unmatched by any other system.

Invisibility — completely out of sight until needed.

Convenience — no restraint until needed and no decision or action required of the vehicle occupant.

DETROIT — A unique form of automotive crash restraint system that cushions and arrests the forward motion of driver and passengers by means of a rapidly-inflating air pillow, has been introduced here.

Auto-Ceptor as the new system is called reveals a potential to assist in reducing fatalities and serious injuries with or without seat belts in accidents.

In a joint SAE paper prepared by research engineers from Eaton Yale & Towne Inc. and Ford Motor Company it was revealed that the system has been under development and test for several years.

Although it has proven concept feasibility; design, testing and production considerations keep it some time away from actual installation in production vehicles.

The system incorporates three elements: a crash sensor mounted in the vehicle, a compressed gas reservoir, and a deflated air pillow that may be incorporated into the panel design or into the steering wheel for driver protection or into the back of front seats for rear seat passenger protection.

When the sensor receives crash criteria it triggers the reservoir and inflates the air pillow in less than 4% of one second — before driver and passengers even start to move forward in the crash sequence.

When driver and passengers start to move forward they meet the pillows which then exhaust through side orifices (or "blow-out patches") to release energy at a more favorable rate. This system thus offers dissipation of massive kinetic energy over the longest possible distance with minimum rebound.

Test data so far have indicated a degree of survivability in a 30-mph barrier crash unsurpassed by other means. This is a crash head-on into an unyielding stone wall which has been accepted as an industry standard for the evaluation of restraint systems.

While the 30-mph speed might not sound impressive to the lay person, the 30-mph barrier

To Run In Primary

The president of the DeKalb County Young Democrats, Merle R. Holden of Saint Joe, has announced that he will be a candidate for delegate to the Democratic state convention from Union and Concord townships in the May 7 primary.

In making the announcement Mr. Holden, who is also the executive secretary of the Indiana Young Democrats, said that he was amazed that Union and Concord were put together by the county chairman since they are not joined geographically but he said that Russell Kelham, Democratic county chairman, had assured him that he would not put up any candidate himself and that anyone was free to file for delegate. Three delegates will be elected from the two townships.

"Although it is strange for these two townships to be linked I feel that I can represent the Democrats from Saint Joe and Auburn very well due to my close association with the Democratic campaigns in DeKalb County and Auburn in the past," Mr. Holden stated. He said that he expected the campaign for the three delegate spots could be a very contested one with a great deal of campaigning required. "I am prepared to face this challenge," he said.

Mr. Holden is currently in his second two year term as president of the DeKalb Young Democrats and is in his first term as State Young Democrats executive secretary. He is the first Young Democrat state officer to come from DeKalb County and one of few from the Fourth District in the past 20 years. He will graduate from Indiana University this June with a B.S. in Education with a major in history and government. He will be student teaching at the Auburn Junior High this spring.

Mr. Holden is a past treasurer of the Indiana Kentucky Synod Luther League and a past Northeast district chairman for that group. For the past four years he has been general manager of the Saint Joe-Spencerville Pony League baseball team. He is a graduate of Eastside High School and was editor-in-chief of the Indiana-Purdue Regional Campus newspaper in addition to serving as sports editor of the Saint Joe News for five years. He was the editor and publisher of a sectional basketball newspaper, DeKalb County Sports, for two years.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

C. WILSON HARDER

From time to time, bureaucrats who talk so easily of billions of dollars should be reminded that a billion dollars is still a lot of money, even when it is inflated money. They seem to lose their perspective. A billion dollars is, after all, equal to 1,000 stacks of a million dollars each.

• • •

C. W. Harder

Sargent Shriver, who directs the Federal War on Poverty, the Office of Economic Opportunity and a propaganda campaign against business, seems to have lost his perspective.

He recently referred to 1.2 billion dollars a House Committee was considering as an OEO appropriation as "so little money" that an anti-poverty program at this annual level would be a "gross deception."

• • •

Mr. Shriver threatened to quit unless the House appropriated considerably more.

He told a TV interviewer: "I think it would be gross deception to delude the American people that something substantial is being done about problems here at home such as lack of education, lack of health, lack of justice, lack of housing, lack of opportunity . . . to delude them that something is being done about that when you appropriate so little money that you can't do anything substantial about it."

The problems cited by Mr. Shriver—education, health, justice, housing and opportunity—which are so lacking, he says, are considerable in scope.

Maybe they should be left to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; the Department of Justice! the Federal Housing Authority, and the many agencies which promote opportunity.

It must be clear that the Poverty bunch is spending billions of dollars in areas in which other agencies—Federal, state and local—are also working. The President's fiscal 1968 Federal Budget asked for a total of $37 billion for welfare and social programs, including welfare, relief, housing, education, Social Security, veterans, labor, and urban renewal.

• • •

That was one-third of total budget submitted to Congress.

The "gross deception" may lie here, in the duplication of funds and efforts by government agencies.

A full investigation of the War on Poverty was favored by 85 per cent of the independent business owners polled by the National Federation of Independent Business. A typical comment, this from a body shop owner who has been unable to find capable skilled workers to fill jobs: "The government has a Job Corps here but I have yet to see a man come out of it that could hold a job."

• • •

It does seem to be a gross deception if the billions already spent in the War on Poverty have not accomplished something substantial.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

We haven't reached the first day of spring yet (by the calendar), but every morning there are indications that something is happening already at the school - the boys are out on the ball diamond with the bats, balls and gloves. It's an odd sight—to see them playing baseball, bundled up in coats on these chilly mornings—but it's a good sight!

Arnold Fetters is an antique car enthusiast. He's been working for some time now on the rebuilding of a Model T roadster with most of the work completed. He stopped by the News Office Monday and took me for a little ride in the old car which represents about $1200 as an investment thus far, according to Arnold.

We think we have everything today and that "the old days" were without the refinements which are often credited only to our modern society. But that old Model T had an automatic transmission—and it's something like 40 years old!

Merwin Place brought in a copy of the "Fort Wayne Sentigel" of Wednesday, March 15, 1916, for me to look over. It is not the entire edition, but the four pages Merwin found have some interesting items. One full page is devoted to articles on "Religion, Temperance and Health." Another page has "News By Our Own Correspondents" with items from Ossian, Monroeville, Kendallville, New Haven, Decatur, Hoagland, Grabill, Convoy and Spencerville!

Another page and a half contained an informative article by Frank Dildine entitled, "Glimpses at Prominent Features in the Careers of Our Presidents." It covers only from 1789 to 1916 naturally, but is good enough to run again 52 years later!

So, in another special feature column we'll run the article in weekly installments.

Merwin also had an old geography book from his school days. The copyright was dated 1895 and the foreword by the author was dated 1903. And on the title page is evidence that kids are the same in every generation. Where the word "GEOGRAPHY" appeared in big letters across the page, Merwin in his school days had made up a sentence using each letter of "geography" as the first letter of each word in his doodled effort:

"George Eagers Old Grandmother Rode A Pig Home Yesterday."

The cover of the geography book was embossed with the words:

"The price of this book as fixed by law is 75 cents."

How about that. The price of that big book was only 75 cents. Today it would cost $5.75!

Girls' State Delegates

Miss Sheila L. Reinoehl, daughter of MM Hubert Reinoehl of 407 Eastern Avenue in Butler, has been chosen delegate to Hoosier Girls' State at Indiana University June 23 to 30.

Miss Sandy K. Bissell, daughter of MM Roy Bissell of R1 Spencerville, has been chosen alternate delegate.

The American Legion Auxiliary provides this educational program of "government in action."

Miss Reinoehl and Miss Bissell, juniors at Eastside High School, were chosen by the school on the basis of scholarship, leadership, citizenship and interest in government.

The number of representatives to Girls' State is based on enrollment of juniors in the high school.

95 Give Blood

Although the quota of 100 pints was not reached, the appearance of the Bloodmobile in the Riverdale Cafetorium Wednesday of last week was a success. 95 pints of blood were given by donors from the Riverdale area. 14 others who appeared to make donations were not accepted to due various medical reasons.

Dr. Max Wills of Auburn and Dr. Charles Welrich of Butler donated their services during the afternoon for medical assistance.

Among the many donors was Irene Inlow of R1 Saint Joe who made her 15th blood donation.

As a point of information, Mrs. Jessie Baxter, county Red Cross executive secretary, said that servicemen returned from the South Pacific are not accepted as donors until 6 months after their return.

Firemen Seek Clothing, Toys For Vietnam Orphans, Nuns

Residents of DeKalb County are being asked to participate in a collection of clothing and toys to be shipped to Vietnam for 60 Vietnamese children and nuns. The effort is the result of a plea from SP 4 John R. Stone, whose letter to the Garrett Clipper recently has prompted Riley D. Young, Garrett Fire Chief, to seek the cooperation of other fire fighting units in the county. The information has been passed along to the Riverdale area through Saint Joe Fire Chief Frank Monroe and Secretary Treasurer Joe Robinson.

The Garrett chief's letter is as follows:

"To the Good People of DeKalb County:

"You probably already read the letter from Sp4 John R. Stone which was in the Garrett Clipper. Enclosed is a duplicate of the letter in case you haven't. The letter was mainly about an orphanage and a nunery which was destroyed, leaving many orphans, from the ages 1 to 15, with nothing but the clothes on their backs and some of them didn't even have that. That is why we, the DeKalb Firemen, are now collecting clothing and toys all over the county through the help of the churches and the department. If you would like to help by giving us these things or by giving an amount of money to pay the postage for the freight, we would appreciate it. If we have any money left over after we pay for the freight, we will send it along so they can buy some food.

"If you could see fit at this time to help us in any way, we would appreciate it.

"You may send anything you can to the Garrett Fire Department by March 16."

SP-4 Stone's letter is as follows:

"Freedom Brothers and Sisters:

"I have been a member of your county only a short time, but I feel in that time I have learned the fellowship shared by all. This then is the reason I come now to you for help. Not for myself, but for some sixty Vietnamese children and Nuns, who have lost everything to the ravages of the Viet Cong.

"Their story is not an uncommon one but it is close to me and the men of my unit. If you will recall the newspaper account of the attack on the town of Ban Me Thout you will remember that an orphanage, a school, and a nunery were completely obliterated. These children I refer to are the survivors of that brutal attack. Many of the children were found roaming the battle area in search of their parents among the dead.

"We the men of the 540th Personnel Services Company, have seen to it that they are evacuated to a place of safety in Cam Rahn Bay but this is not enough. We have contributed to their care as much as is possible for us to do but we need help.

"We ask that you look into your hearts and find a means through which you might come to the aid of these children. They range in age from one to fifteen and are in need of everything. Clothing, food, and old toys together with anything else you could gather would be of the greatest help. We ask that you do all you can to help these poor children.

"You may correspond with us at Headquarters U.S. Army Support Command or me, Sp4 John R. Stone US 55 854 891, 516th Pers. Svc. Co., APO San Francisco 96312.

"I feel sure you will do everything in your power to provide as much assistance as humanly possible."

The Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department is cooperating in collecting donations from local residents. Donations of clothing, toys and money may be made to Mr. Monroe or Mr. Robinson, or any member of the local volunteer fire department.

Gas Ordinance Has 1st Reading At Well-attended Board Meeting

Natural gas service for Saint Joe became a possibility Monday night when the local town board held a first reading on a proposed ordinance which would grant construction rights for such an installation to the Northern Indiana Fuel & Light Co. The board took the action following a presentation by Mr. Ray Shuttleworth of Auburn, representing the utility.

Before the proposed ordinance can become effective, however, a second reading must be held at the April 1 meeting of the board. Then a public hearing will be held at the May 6 meeting for a third reading, at which time the citizens of the town voice their opinions about the proposed ordinance. Several townspeople at Monday night's meeting expressed the desire for gas service in Saint Joe.

Mr. Shuttleworth pointed out that gas lines now extend to some three miles or so from Spencerville on state road 1. If service is extended to Saint Joe, the Spencerville community will also be included as the first step with lines then extended to Saint Joe. From Saint Joe, gas would then be provided in Butler to complete a "loop" in the utility's system.

Mr. Robert Buschman, consulting engineer, presented a brief outline of a sewage disposal plant through a private corporation, stating that a savings in cost of from one-fourth to one-third can be realized by such a plan. A plan presented to the board earlier this year would involve government financing at the outset. The private corporation approach does not make use of government funds for construction, but government funds can be obtained after construction, according to Mr. Buschman.

A more detailed report of the corporation plan will be presented at the April meeting. The board continues to plan for a public meeting when the additional information is available.

No commitments have been made by the board concerning a sewage disposal plant. Recent publicized costs have been only estimates and approximations for the sake of public consideration and investigation.

Daryl Benson of the John P. Lewis Construction Company presented the board with cost estimates totaling $3,740.00 for blacktopping of two blocks not completed last year and sealing of another two blocks.

The board took no action on the proposals.

Howard Andres discussed a few insurance matters with the board and an adjustment in due dates was made to make all liability policies due at the same time.

Attending the meeting from Saint Joe were Harvey Carr, Leon Kees, Joe Robinson, Andy Monroe, Walter Ervin and Glen Wineland.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Waterworks—Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., $34.08; Indiana State Board of Health, water examination fee 1968, $10.00; William Mansfield, salary and postage $41.68; Donald Kinsey, postage $5.00.

Town—Farm Bureau, fuel oil $31.64; I&M, street lights 85.74; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash collection 340.00; Lehr Wilder, postage 2.00; Donald Kinsey, cemetery clerk 2 months 25.00; John P. Lewis, balance on 1967 street work 1195.46; Saint Joe News, printing and advertising 25.79; Jessie Canaady, labor 5.00; Brinkman Office Supply, 1.75.

Because it takes a while for [illegible] men overseas to get your letters, the question mark remains. We want all of you to be able to participate in the subject of the letter.

I hope this week went as well for you as it did for me. I seemed to have suddenly found myself in the middle of Tuesday morning's mail and information for my column that was due Wednesday morning! Luckily after one letter Mike hailed me up! He knows a lot more servicemen than I do.

Lance Cpl. Mike Davis of Spencerville has been stationed in San Diego, California, since he enlisted in March of 1967. Mike will soon begin attending classes in Ground Field Radio School, continuing for nine weeks. He was last home around Thanksgiving. Mike just celebrated his birthday February 12. Hope you had a Happy Birthday Mike. Mrs. Davis said that she would let us know when Mike is due home again. Of course, there is always the chance that he may surprise her, as Denny Allen did his mother last Sunday.

Spec. 4 Dennis Allen returned state side March first after 14 months' duty in Korea. Denny went into the Army in August 1966. He has been serving with Special Services as an entertainer. April 5 Denny will report for duty at Ft. Campbell, Kentucky, where it's very possible that he may run into John Stiver of Saint Joe. John left for basic training there Monday, March 4.

Mrs. Joe Robinson passes the word along that son Stanley has been awarded two medals while serving in Vietnam.

Thomas O. McKinley, 26, son of MM Delta McKinley of R1 Spencerville, was promoted to Army Sergeant February 8 while serving in Vietnam with the 198th Light Infantry Brigade. His wife, Christina, lives in Fort Wayne.

Army Private William Creager, 23, son of Mrs. Irene Jackson of Butler, completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training February 23 at Ft. McClellan, Alabama. His father, Kenneth Creager, lives in Waterloo.

See you next week. Don't forget to drop a line.

Mental Health Developments

March 27, 1968, is the date scheduled for the Women's Worry Clinic which is being co-sponsored by the DeKalb County Association for Mental Health and Church Women United.

The program is planned for women of all ages and will be held at the Auburn Presbyterian Church with the opening session at 10:30 a.m. Lunch will be served at 11:30 and the afternoon session begins at 12:30. All women in the area are welcome to attend and the $1.50 registration fee includes the noon lunch.

A nursery is also being planned for mothers with small children. Milk will be provided the children in the nursery but they are asked to bring their own sack lunch. This service is also by reservation only and at a cost of 25 cents per child.

The speakers and various divisions promise to provide an interesting and educational program for every women desirous of keeping abreast of handling present day family worries.

"Let's Worry Together" is the theme for the entire program and it will be subdivided into the following areas:

1. Novice Class—"Oh! Those Pre-Schoolers," led by Miss Martha B. Hemphill, director, Crescent Avenue Nursery School in Fort Wayne.

2. "We're Growing Up"—1st-6th Grades, with Arthur Rahe, principal, Harrison-McKenney Elementary School, Auburn, and Mrs. Eleanor Sunday, Public Health Nurse, DeKalb Central United School.

3. "Beginning and Complete Chaos"—Junior and Senior High School, led by Mrs. Myrtle Overmeyer, special guidance counselor, Waterloo, and Rev. Lester Taylor, minister of Education, Methodist Church, Auburn.

4. "Life Begins At Forty"—led by Rev. Frank S. White, Minister of Counselling, First Presbyterian Church in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Larry Yarian of 710 E. Fifth Street in Auburn will accept reservations for the clinic until noon of March 25. Her telephone number is 925-3169.

Church Women United and the Mental Health Association hope to reach all the women of the area in a united effort to ease the tensions of the day. The invitation extended says, "Come join us and let's worry together."

Announcement of expanded services in the mental retardation program for 11 northeastern Indiana counties by the Fort Wayne State Hospital and Training Center was made by Dr. Ora Ackerman, Superintendent, at a recent meeting of the Regional Retardation Committee of the Northeastern Indiana Region of the Indiana Mental Health Planning Commission.

The state hospital in Fort Wayne, in its effort to be a vital source of help to the community, will designate two days each week for diagnostic and out-patient care in an effort to provide supplemental assistance to those communities without resources for the retarded.

Dr. Ackerman stressed the fact that the hospital's role in providing this service is "just a supplement," until the individual communities are able to assume full responsibility within their own facilities. He indicated that the comprehensive mental health centers now being planned in the region are the answer for the communities.

Robert King, Mrs. Oakley Gronendyke and Mrs. Orval Bair, all of Auburn, representatives for the mental health program, will be included among those mental health leaders within the 11-county region receiving a statement of the various philosophies and practices, as well as a list of the diagnostic resources available at the state hospital and training center.

Discussing the community's role in the overcrowded mental institutions, Dr. Ackerman said that programs offered in the communities for the mentally retarded can provide alternatives for those families needing help.

Announcement of other changes which have become effective at the hospital included an explanation of a new nine unit staffing pattern, designed to best meet the needs of the hospital's 2,500 patients.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

BY C. WILSON HARDER

The United States Supreme Court is supposed to reflect American jurisprudence at the highest level.

While it is difficult for a layman to evaluate the juris part of it, there seems a strange lack of prudence.

• • •

The recent court decision overthrowing the law making it illegal to a communist, or a member of communist front organization to work in a defense plant is, to say the bare minimum, a most strange one.

C. W. Harder

To all but the very blind, it is obvious that the chief goal of communism is to overthrow the United States, and set up a new system based on communism.

It is also well known that defense work is not aimed at possible war with Patagonia, Switzerland, or the New Hebrides. The entire effort and expense is devoted to preventing the communists, either Russian or Chinese, from landing a Sunday punch on these shores.

It is also equally well known that in this age of electronics, and other technological develpments, that in a showdown, the side with the best secret sophisticated weaponry will have the edge.

Thus, letting avowed communists, or even communist sympathizers work in defense plants is most startling. Of course the court held that this decision did not condone espionage, which so far, the majority of the court does seem to be somewhat against.

• • •

On the other hand, if one puts fish in the reach of a cat, it is pretty much of a certainty that informing the cat the fish is not for him will not save the fish.

It was not too long ago, that two people were executed and another sent to prison for a long term for revealing what was then the United States atomic secrets. It is also noteworthy that none of these people held down high ranking jobs in defense work. In fact the leak of this vital information was accomplished by people with very ordinary jobs.

• • •

But perhaps there should be rejoicing that the U. S. Constitution does not give the U. S. Supreme Court authority to set the rules for playing football. Otherwise it could be expected that it would be required that a member of the team on defense be present in all signal huddles by the other side.

Past President Notes

(Reprinted from the Wednesday, March 15, 1916, issue of the Fort Wayne Sentinel, and written by Frank Dildine for that publication.)

"It was nearly six years after the close of the Revolutionary war, and nineteen months after the adoption of the constitution, that the government of the United States was established by the induction into offices of George Washington as president. His inauguration as such occurred on April 30, 1789.

"Since then, with the passing of 126 years, twenty-six men have been elevated to this highest office within the elective gift of the American people. With Washington the United States has had twenty-seven presidents. Of these, three are now living: Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft and Woodrow Wilson, the latter the present chief executive of the nation.

"Five of our presidents were 'accidental presidents.' Elected as vice presidents, they succeeded to the office of the president as the result of the death of the president while in the chief executive's chair. These five 'accidental presidents' were John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson, Chester A. Arthur and Theodore Roosevelt. The only one of the five elected president afterwards was Theodore Roosevelt.

"John Tyler succeeded William Henry Harrison, whose death occurred within five weeks after his inauguration as president. Millard Fillmore became president by the death of President Zachary Taylor, a little over a year after his inauguration. The assassin's bullet, resulting in the deaths of Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley placed Andrew Johnson, Chester A. Arthur and Theodore Roosevelt in the presidential chair.

"George Washington was the only one of our presidents who had no opposition to his elections as such—that is, practically none. He had none at all at his first election and the little opposition to him at his second election did not manifest itself in the electoral vote. He was the first choice of every elector.

"Our Revolutionary fathers believed that the hand that rocked the cradle of liberty and fought so heroically the battles for freedom of the American colonies, was the hand to guide the young nation in its infancy and Washington was unanimously chosen its chief executive.

"The second election of James Monroe as president, was the nearest approach to unanimity, as far as the electoral vote was concerned, to this election of Washington. At this second election of Monroe 232 electoral votes were cast. Of this 213 were for Monroe and one for John Quincy Adams. This one vote for Adams was that of William Plummer, an elector from New Hampshire, and he explained his action by saying that, although he favored Monroe, he voted for Adams solely for the purpose of making Washington's election stand out alone in American history as the unanimous choice of the electors for president.

"To speak of minority presidents—that is elected to that office by a minority popular vote—in a nation like ours, where it is said the majority rules, seems strange to some people. Yet, as the direct result of choosing our presidents by the electoral vote of the states we have had several 'minority presidents.'

"In the presidential election of 1824 the electoral vote was 261. In the electoral college Andrew Jackson received ninety votes, John Quincy Adams eighty four, William H. Crawford forty-one, and Henry Clay thirty-seven. No candidate having received a majority, the election went to the house of representatives and Adams was elected. The popular vote gave Johnson a plurality of 50,500.

"In 1876, when Tilden and Hayes were the respective candidates of the democrats and republicans, each party claimed the electoral votes of South Carolina, Louisiana, and Florida for their candidate. The dispute was referred to a commission of fifteen and, by a strict party vote of the members, eight to seven, the election went to Hayes. He was given 185 electoral votes and Tilden 184. The popular vote at this election was: Tilden 4,284,855; Hayes, 4,033,590.

"In 1888 the popular vote for president was: Cleveland 5,538,045; Harrison, 5,430,907. Yet Harrison was elected. He received a majority of the electoral votes, the count being 168 for Cleveland for 233 for Harrison."

Senior Play March 22-23

With the announcement of the players who will take the various parts, construction of the set begun, and rehearsals starting this past wek, the EHS Senior Class' production of "Night of January 16th," scheduled for March 22 and 23, is now well underway, according to Mr. Donald Klausing who is directing the play.

Strictly speaking, this will be a play without a heroine, but Donna Guy has been chosen for the leading feminine part, that of Karen Andre, defendant in the murder trial. Nor has it a hero, the principal male role being that of the prosecuting attorney, which will be taken by Tony Teutsch.

Other members of the cast will be Karen Stemen, Herb Holden, Larry Berndy, Marty McCollough, Steve Gafken, Barbara Eskright, John Bowers, Perry Boncuttter, Anne Kagey, Dave Cather, Larry Armstrong, Diane Worman, Marty Searfoss, Bill Wellendorf, Elaine Simmonds, Keith Kreischer, Dick Fisher, Diane Diehl, Paulette Bakle, Jeff Snyder, Dean Hullinger and Rick Mumma.

Twelve important members of the cast yet remain to be chosen, but, fortunately, need no rehearsing and will not be selected until the night of the performance. They are the jury, who will listen to the evidence and render the verdict on which will depend which of the two possible endings written for the play will be used.

Among the well-known people who have served on the jury during professional performances of the play are Jack Dempsey, James Roosevelt, Babe Ruth and Helen Keller. On one occasion, four United States Congressmen were among the jurors.

Tickets for the performances will be placed on sale early in March and will be available from all members of the Senior Class.

Deaf Man Perfects Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of one of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aids ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Karl Hart showed me the fruits of his last three years of part time labor at the house he and the Mrs. are really fixing up at Spencerville. The house belonged to his parents, and after they died, the Harts took it over. Karl has remodeled and carpeted the inside, the Mrs. designed the snack bar area, a carport was added, and so on and so on, until the place is a first class modern little home.

Karl isn't quite done with it, but he says it won't be long now.

As I sit at the linotype, or stand at a press, too frequently I see a car whiz by along the railroad street and I think, "One of these days, somebody's going to get it."

Even if the News Office were not right at the corner, many cars go too fast for the intersection. One blue job sailed past the window last week doing 25 or 30—and that's too fast!

It isn't any one group that is guilty. It's men, women, boys, and girls.

How time flies—for some people under certain circumstances—and it drags for others in the same circumstances.

I suppose it seems like years to the Vinsons since son Joe was home on leave from the Navy, but it didn't seem to me to be 15 months when I saw him Monday night. The last time Joe was around was 'way back in December of 1966.

Hey girls—he's sporting a mustache—and does he look cute!

It always happens this way. Just when you figure spring and warm weather are on the way, we get crocked by a storm. Last week the sunny days seemed a prelude to pleasant weather. But Tuesday of this week, and Tuesday night, the wind did blow and the snow did drift.

Oh, it's not really bad—just demoralizing.

Lions Host Blazers, Butler

The Saint Joe Lions Club held their regular meeting at the Spencerville Methodist Church Monday evening, March 11, at 6:30 p.m. Guests were the Eastside Blazers basketball team and coach, John Bedwell, the Butler Lions Club, Eastside's cheerleaders, Lions zone chairman Rex Hile and a few former local basketball stars.

A delicious ham supper was served starting with a choice of salads from the salad bar and finishing with a choice of homemade pie.

President Lavon Hart called on coach Bedwell to introduce his team. He began by introducing his assistant, Leon Strange, then introducing each boy individually and telling some of the good qualities of each as a ball player.

The coach commended the cheerleaders and student managers for their fine work.

The speaker for the evening was Bill Altman who was on the varsity team at Indiana University for three years. He is originally from Mooresville and now lives in Fort Wayne. His subject was basketball. Bill says that he admires any boy who has what it takes to make the squad and stick to it all season. He believes that the sport and the competition will pay rich dividends in later life.

Bob Wilder was program chairman for the evening.

Public Meeting

The public is invited to attend an impotrant information meeting concerning the proposed Cedar Creek Watershed project to be held in the court house at Auburn, in the assembly room. The meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, March 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Acord Cantwell, director of the Natural Resources Department of the Indiana Farm Bureau, will be present to explain the laws and give information on water shed and conservancy districts already in operation in the state. He will compare these with the proposed plan for this area.

A question and answer period will follow the presentation.

This meeting will be presented as a public service to property owners and taxpayers of DeKalb County through the courtesy of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau, according to Mildred Jarrett, publicity chairman.

Prom Planners

Eastside Juniors and Seniors are planning for their annual Junior-Senior Prom to be held Friday, April 19, 1968.

With the emphasis on entertainment, the activities will include a professional comedy act, a "hoppiza," and an area premiere movie, in addition to the traditional "dinner at eight," dancing until one and breakfast at seven.

As an introduction to the evening, informal talks will be given to the upper classmen on girls' cosmetics and boys' attire by a noted specialist.

Those planning for the evening include:

Co-chairmen—Jim Ridge and George Angelone.

Invitation, Reservation and Seating—Cindy Staley (chairman), Phil Haberkorn, Wendy Hughes, Sherry Wertman, Gary Baird.

Favors—Cheryl Hose (chairman), Denny Keller, Lynda Church, Dave Myers.

Site and Dinner—Tom Seltenright (chairman), Rowena Moore, Suzanne Mansfield, Pete Foster.

Program and Entertainment—Sheila Reinoehl (chairman), Reva Armstrong, John Koehert, Marlin Betz, Jerry Smith, Janalee Whitman, Sandy Biesel.

Decorations—Kristine Smith (chairman), Pat Wegmann, Sybil Brattain, Bobbie Scott, Phil Brewer, Gary Heffelfinger, Reitha Funk, Becky Blume, Kathy Smith, Donny Ginder, Vernon Lake.

Rummage, Bake Sale

Ladies of the Spencerville Methodist Church W.S.C.S. circles are making plans for a rummage sale to be held next month. The sale will be held April 5 and 6 with baked goods also to be on sale Saturday.

Hours for the sale are 4 to 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The public is invited to patronize the sale.

The Saint Joe Boy Scout Troop 173 will have a bake sale at the News Office in Saint Joe this coming Saturday, March 16, from 9:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the sale will go for new tents and equipment.

The troop also is planning for a scrap paper drive Saturday, April 6.

Senior Play Has Novel Format

Something new in theatricals will be the feature of the evening when the Senior Class of Eastside High School presents "Night of January 16th" in the Eastside gym on Friday and Saturdays evenings, March 22 and 23.

There have been plays before with vague endings, but this is the first one in which the audience takes an important part in its development and conclusion. With Miss Donna Guy, who portrays the leading part, on trial, a jury selected from the audience is given the problem of deciding her guilt or innocence.

As they enter the gym on the evenings of the performances, the audience may leave their names as candidates for jury duty. Immediately upon the beginning of the play, the Clerk of the Court will supervise the selection of the twelve audience members to serve as jurors. The Clerk addresses the audience and explains that twelve of them will be called upon to come up on the stage and decide the innocence or guilt of Miss Guy.

One by one they will step up on the platform, take their places as a jury would do in a legitimate court, are sworn in, and listen to the testimony. Both men and women are eligible for this duty, and persons thus serving will be refunded their admissions.

Between acts the jurors are led offstage to a small deliberation room. Each act will represent one day of the trial. Just before the ending of the third act, the jury retires for the last time to render its verdict. They vote after a short discussion, and although legally a unanimous decision is required for a verdict, for the sake of dramatic speed a majority vote will be taken for the decision in this trial.

Professional productions of the play have found an eager public ready to serve on the jury. The main problem has been the restlessness of the jury, who would like to circulate in the lobby during intermissions and discuss the case with the audience.

A tabulation of the verdicts given during the Broadway run of the play shows that acquittals have outnumbered convictions, but that on occasion the character Miss Guy portrays could be convicted.

Those willing to serve on the jury for the seniors' production should leave their names with the doorman. Jurors must be at least 21 years of age.

Performances begin at 8 p.m.

'Donor Response Due To Many Factors' - Chm.

Mrs. Michael Hicov, who served as general chairman for the Bloodmobile appearance at Riverdale two weeks ago, made some observations about such a project last week when she announced the names of the workers for the project and expressed her appreciation for their efforts.

Mrs. Hicov said that the large number who respond to the appeal for blood donations was due this year and last year to the drive for success by the workers themselves, the courtesy of the school in making facilities available, the strong backs of the men for set-up and tear-down, much friendliness and community pride. She pointed out that combinations of husband and wife, mother and son, father and son, and a group of six young people all indicate a mutual feeling of responsibility and desire to help. A serviceman who had been in the South Pacific showed up at the Bloodmobile, and there were 35 to 40 first-time donors this year.

Typists—Marcello Storer, Loretta Musser, Evana Keener, April Davis, Arden Dwyer.

Letters to the Editor

Spencerville, Indiana
March 12th, 1968

Dear Ted:

It is about time we send you our renewal money for the continuation of yours and our paper—as the expiration date was some time ago.

Next I think you deserve a Gold Star from all of us for your fine editorials, church, and community work. In other words I don't think most of us realize what it means to have a man of your caliber as our friend and neighbor.

I especially want to commend you on your stand on the school situation. I know you have put in many hours on this enormously important project. You remind me of my father, Ted—we all know he would be in there fighting for this cause, because he was always interested in the entire community—schools—church—besides most respected and level headed. We all miss him very much. I regret he isn't here to help us.

One fails to understand the minds of men who selfishly fail to see what is right and good, but close their eyes and think all the problems will be solved or forgotten—but why? That is what we all are wondering.

An interesting fact along that line was noticed by me—in a large part of our country—saw many new schools but none in a congested town area.

We all hope that the board will be given the wisdom to see what should be done—and soon! Then the courage to fulfill their obligations to their patrons.

Thank you, Ted.

Sincerely yours,
Janice Hollabaugh

Holden Lashes Out Against State Rep.; 'Shocked' At Report

Merle R. Holden, president of the DeKalb County Young Democrats and a former Steuben County businessman, today announced that he is a candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties.

Mr. Holden stated that he had been considering running for nearly a year but finally decided to file after talking to Russell Kelham, DeKalb County Democratic chairman, who had urged him to run. Holden pledged an active campaign based on state and local issues. The executive secretary of the Indiana State Young Democrats said that he will announce his platform later this month. Holden lashed out at the present state representative as a man who does not truly represent the people of DeKalb and Steuben counties as they deserve. "The people of these two counties deserve active representation. They deserve a man who will let the state and nation know what this great northeastern part of Indiana has to offer. They also deserve someone who will take a stand on issues. The present representative is not doing this at all," he concluded.

Holden is currently in his second two year term as president of the DeKalb County YD's and is the founder and charter president of that organization. He attended the 1967 convention of the Indiana Young Democrats where he was chosen executive secretary. He is the first YD state officer from DeKalb County and one of the few from the Fourth District in the past 20 years. He was a member of the committee to sell tickets to the Birch Bayh birthday party last month and is on the committee for ticket sales to the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner at Indianapolis March 30. He has been very active in DeKalb County campaigns in the past.

He is a former Steuben County businessman, having operated the Ice Cube Drive-In in Pleasant Lake. He is a past synod treasurer of the Indiana-Kentucky Luther League and is a past Northeast District chairman for that group. He is a member of St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

For the past four years he has been general manager of the Saint Joe-Spencerville pony league baseball team which is in a league with teams from Butler, Waterloo, Garrett, Angola, Orland and Fremont.

He was sports editor of the Saint Joe News for five years, was editor-in-chief of the Indiana-Purdue Regional Campus newspaper at Fort Wayne, and for two years was editor and publisher of a sectional basketball newspaper, DeKalb County Sports.

He will graduate from Indiana University this June with a Secondary Education with a Bachelor of Science degree in major in government and history. He will be teaching high school this fall and will be student teaching at the Auburn Junior High this spring.

Mr. Holden is a near life-long resident of DeKalb County, having lived in Garrett before moving to Saint Joe in 1952. He graduated from Eastside High School after attending Riverdale High School.

He is a registered basketball official in Indiana and is a member of the DeKalb County Historical Society and the National Education Association.

Merle R. Holden, Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties, has written Governor Roger Branigin and Robert H. Wyatt, Executive Secretary of the Indiana State Teachers Association, concerning reports he has received that teachers in some areas, especially Indianapolis, have been told to obtain twenty signatures each on a petition to Governor Branigin or they will not receive a paycheck. The petition asks the Governor to call a special session of the legislature to provide additional funds for schools in Indiana.

"While I am in partial agreement with the petition, I am shocked to hear that the teachers in some areas are required to obtain the signatures. This is entirely contrary to any rights of the teachers and if the reports are true, I feel the Governor must take this into consideration before calling a special session of the legislature," Holden commented.

The president of the DeKalb County Young Democrats asked the Governor and Mr. Wyatt to look into the reports. He said that he sincerely hoped that they were wrong because if true, the ISTA will lose face across the state and nation.

Past President Notes

(Reprinted from the Wednesday, March 15, 1916, issue of the Fort Wayne Sentinel, and written by Frank Dildine for that publication.)

"In the early years of the republic the constitutional system of the electors, when assembled in electroal college, was to vote for two candidates for the presidency. The one who received the highest vote was declared president and the next vice president. Under this system Aaron Burr came dangerously near to being president of the United States.

"When the electors met the vote, as announced, was: Jefferson, 73; Burr, 73; John Adams, 65; Chas. C. Pinckney, 64; John Hay, 1. As Jefferson and Burr received the same number of votes, the vote being for president, there was no choice and the election went to the house of representatives. There the vote was by states, each state being entitled to only one vote. After a long and bitter contest, on the thirty-eighth ballot Jefferson was elected. He received the vote of ten states, Burr four, and two voted blank. The vice presidency went to Burr.

"After this tie vote it became evident that the constitution was deficient in its provisions for the election of president and vice president and measures were taken to amend it. Before the next presidential election the twelfth amendment to the constitution was adopted. It provided that the electoral vote should be cast separately for president and vice president, and if no one received a majority for either of these offices, the election should go to the national house of representatives.

"In regard to age at the time they assumed the office, Roosevelt was the youngest of our presidents. He was 43 when called by the death of McKinley to the chief executive's chair. Grant was 46, Cleveland and Wilson 47, Pierce 48, and Polk and Garfield 49.

"The oldest president at the time of his inauguration was William Henry Harrison. He was 68. Then came James Buchanan, 65; Zachary Taylor, 64, and John Adams and Andrew Jackson, both of whom were 61. The ages of the other presidents at inauguration were in the fifties. When President Wilson assumed the office he was 56.

"John Adams reached the greatest age. He lived to be 90 years old. Madison was 85, Jefferson 83, John Quincy Adams 80, VanBuren 79, Jackson 78, Buchanan 77, Fillmore 74, Tyler and Cleveland 71, and Hayes 70. Washington was 67 when he died. Polk was the youngest ex-president at his death, being then only 53. Lincoln and Arthur were 56 when called by death. Washington was 57 years of age when he entered upon his first term as president. He was 67 when he died, his death being due to acute laryngitis, brought on by exposure to the cold while making a horseback tour of his Virginia plantation.

"The deaths of John Adams, Madison and Monroe were due largely to the infirmities of old age. The causes of the deaths of our presidents were as follows: Jefferson, to chronic diarrhaea; John Quincy Adams, paralysis; Jackson, consumption and dropsy; Van Buren, asthmatic catarrh; Wm. Henry Harrison, bilious pleurisy; Tyler, bilious fever; Taylor, cholera morbus, combined with a severe cold; Fillmore, paralysis; Pierce, dropsy and inflammation of the stomach; Buchanan, rheumatic gout; Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, assassination; Grant, cancer, at the root of the tongue; Hayes, neuralgia of the heart; Arthur, Brights disease; Benjamin Harrison, pneumonia; Cleveland, pulmonary thrombosis and oedema.

THE NEWS March 14, 1968

REPORT OF 44th CONVENTION OF FEDERATED CLUBS

The 44th Annual Convention of the DeKalb County Federation of Clubs was held Friday, March 8, 1968, at the First E.U.B. Church in Waterloo.

The meeting was called to order at 10:00 a.m. in the main church, with the DeKalb County president, Mrs. Carroll F. Davidson, presiding. Devotionals with the theme, "Is A Happy Life Possible?" were given by Mrs. Roger Gregg of Auburn.

The welcome was extended by Mrs. Charles Schweitzer of Ashley, and the response was presented by Mrs. John McComas of Auburn. Introduction of guests was in charge of Mrs. Davidson.

The minutes of the 43rd Annual Convention were read and approved as read. The treasurer, Mrs. Roy Harding, read her report and showed a balance of $99.22 to date.

Departmental chairmen gave their reports: Water Pollution, Mrs. Charles Schweitzer; Home Life, Mrs. Raymond Dunn; Good Will, Mrs. Frances Shugart; Public Affairs, Mrs. Pauline Heupel; Education, Mrs. Wayne Smith; and Fine Arts, Mrs. John McComas.

Club presidents of the county gave a very impressive account of their various activities for the past year.

Special committee reports included: Project, Mrs. Roy Harding, telling of the work done for the Wee Haven School, Canteen Books which were purchased for veterans, and stationery on sale for the benefit of the historical society. Mrs. Granville Deaton of Waterloo spoke of the Aid to the Blind, and reported a sale to date of $890.00 in blind goods.

Mrs. Hagadorn, president of the Twelfth District, was the speaker of the morning, choosing as her subject, "Knowledge, Vision, Then Action."

The meeting was adjourned for lunch in the church dining room. The tables were beautifully decorated in the Saint Patrick motif, these decorations having been provided by the Waterloo Clubs. The noontime prayer was given by Mrs. Wendell Graffis.

Following the lunch, Mrs. Davidson introduced the guest speaker, Sgt. Charles B. Meeks, of the Allen County sheriff's department, who gave a very interesting and informative talk, illustrated with slides, on vice and the use of narcotics.

Mrs. Dale Heitz presented the resolutions. It was moved they be adopted. Mrs. Harding presented the convention bills and they were allowed.

Mrs. Dunn, chairman of the nominating committee, read the following slate of officers for the coming year, 1968-69 and 1970:

President, Mrs. W. C. Pepple.
1st Vice President, Mrs. Robert Eldridge.
Secretary, Mrs. Dale Heitz.
Treasurer, Mrs. Kenneth Crowe.

There being no nominations from the floor, the slate was duly elected by unanimous consent.

Mrs. Marion Dreibelbis of Garrett conducted the lovely and impressive installation ceremonies for the incoming officers. Mrs. John Freeze served as marshall.

Mrs. Freeze issued the convention call for 1969, to be held in Garrett.

This concluded the business and the meeting was adjourned.

—Mrs. Carroll F. Davidson,
President.

CONCORD JR. HOMEMAKERS

The Concord Junior Homemakers Club met March 4 at the home of Katy Crow.

Devotions were led by Lois Strong and the response to roll call was "first sign of spring."

The club decided to make a donation to the I.F.Y.E. program. We had quite a discussion on what the coins for friendship are used for. We even spoke of how nice it would be to go to Lansing in September.

Mrs. Carper gave her report of the county council meeting. She is making plans to go to the state meeting at Purdue in June. Doris Prentice read the by-laws. Betty Revington gave us her report on future lessons to be selected for next year. Ruth White gave her report on health and safety.

Margaret Carper revealed the name of our guest club for this year. We were also reminded that it is our turn again to prepare a booth for the fair this fall.

To close the meeting, we sang the prayer song.

Mrs. Joe Smith was a guest.

The hostess served a conglomeration of foods, using her guests as guinea pigs.

We will hold our next meeting with Mrs. Laurel Carper. We were warned, since it will be on April Fool's Day.

Half the joy of life is in little things taken on the run. Let us run if we must—even the sands do that—but let us keep our hearts young and our eyes open that nothing worth our while shall escape us.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Jessie Baxter called last week from the county Red Cross office to say how pleased she is that we have a column for the servicemen. The Red Cross takes particular pains, despite some of the stories we occasionally hear, to assist our servicemen and their families in times of need and distress.

We were bake-nailed but good last Saturday, what with the Boy Scouts in the News Office and the Spanish Club at Brown's hardware. It was rumored that another bake sale was supposed to be held the same day, but nothing came of it.

I got a chuckle out of the window cards the Boy Scouts put up to advertise the sale. Along with the date, time, etc., was—"Ted's News Office."

Jesse Loftus called last week and said he's going to get over here from Auburn one of these days to visit his old friends.

Mrs. Weaver's special education class puts out its own little paper, the "Riverdale Courier." The class sent me a copy this week.

The reporters are Herbert Lockhart, Deborah Collins, Roi and Harding and Cheryl Johnson. They reported the following in the February-March 1968 issue:

"We had a very nice Valentine's Day party.

"Danny (Tiny Tim) Johnson and Margaret Collins had birthdays in February.

"Did you see our St. Patrick's Day mural in the hall?

—"Herbert and Randy are our star boy basketball players, and Rosie is our girl star basketball player.

"Roland brought his sea shells to school. It was lots of fun looking in a book for indentification of the shells.

"Danny Conn has moved.

Steven Ochoa is in our room now. We are glad to have him.

"Wilma, Rosie, Debbie, Margaret, Dianne, and Pam M. made cup cakes in home economics a few weeks ago.

"We are glad that everyone is able to be back in school again after so much illness."

—Pretty good.

Audrey Wade of Spencerville, who has been wintering at Eau Gallie, Florida, with daughter, Edith, and son-in-law, Milt McGrath, sent a card last week with the following message:

"Please send my paper to my home address. You should be here in Fla. It is 85 degrees this morning at 11 a.m. A beautiful day. Can't anything be done with that school board?"

—There HAVE been some suggestions. . . . . .

Fish Fry & Festival

The Lettermen of Eastside High School will sponsor a fish fry Saturday, April 6.

The supper will be served at the Butler Cafetorium starting at 5:00 p.m. and continuing until 7:30 p.m.

The same evening, the Eastside High School Festival, a carnival-type affair, will be held in the high school gym.

PEPPY GALS

The meeting was called to order at 6:10 p.m. on Monday evening, March 18, 1968, at the Saint Peter Lutheran Church in Spencerville. The business portion of the meeting was held including roll call, secretary's report, and health and safety discussion. Eleven members were present along with two adult leaders. The meeting was adjourned. Recreation and refreshments followed.

This is the fourth column that I have written. Next week each one of you men will receive your fifth. —I hope you enjoy it.

I suppose you are all getting lots of letters since your addresses have been published, and if you aren't, why not send your address in today? We are looking forward to hearing from you.

Spec. 4 Max Pierson went into the Army in October of '66. He has been stationed at Pleiku, Vietnam, as a supply clerk.

The last week of February, Max took his week of R&R in Japan. While he was there, he surprised everyone at home with a long distance phone call.

The Piersons are expecting their son home any second, for a 30 day leave. After his leave is up, Max will report for duty at Fort Lee where he will be stationed until his discharge in October.

Max's birthday was March 11. When he gets home, he can really celebrate. This year he can vote!

I called Mrs. Walter Reinhart to get some information about Randy—and talked to Randy himself! He has just returned home from Vietnam after 364 days.

Spec. 4 Randy Reinhart enlisted in the Army November 15, 1965, and also spent a year in Germany.

After a 30-day leave, Randy will go to Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

His wife and baby daughter, Bobbie, live with her mother at 158 West Oak Street in Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Creager of R2 Butler have received word from son, Cpl. Joe, that he has received his second purple heart. He was wounded September 6, then again last week by schrapnel. He is serving in Vietnam.

Joe received his corporal rating the past month.

Site Compromise Thwarted By Financial Strength In Butler

Included in the business conducted by the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District Monday evening was the acceptance of faculty resignations, including that of Riverdale Elementary principal Charles Hampel. It is reported that Mr. Hampel plans to pursue graduate work to prepare for teaching at the college level.

Mr. Hampel has been principal at Riverdale for only two years, but in that brief time has been able to accomplish with the aid of the faculty an overall school relationship to a highly desirable degree.

Other resignations included those of Riverdale fourth grade teacher Virginia Davis and Butler Elementary fourth grade teacher Beverly Martin. Mabel Miller, fourth grade teacher at Riverdale, notified the board of her intent to retire.

The board met in executive session for one hour during Monday's session for final discussion of teacher contracts for the coming year.

Board member Keith Ulm notifed the board that he had been contacted by an individual carrying a copy of a remonstrance petition against the lease-purchase agreement concerning the Butler site. For informational purposes, he reported the petition contained the names of many who had originally been in favor of the Butler site but had since changed their minds.

A discussion of the site matter followed, with the majority of those who favor the Butler site expressing the view that the Butler site is the one which can be most quickly utilized, despite the pending court action against it and the current petition opposing the lease-purchase agreement. The large amount of money apparently available to protect the interests of Butler site proponents is the basis for the board majority's allowing the matter to go to court. The idea was implied that there is more money available in behalf of the Butler interests than there is for the central site proponents, therefore a longer delay would be probable if the board were to compromise on site location.

Board members Harold Kagey and Lynn Fisher continue to oppose the use of the Butler site. At Monday's meeting, Mr. Kagey suggested that the board "throw out the Lyons site and the Butler site, get spokesmen for the opposing groups together, and work out a mutually agreeable new location." The suggestion received no support from the board majority due to its conviction that the considerable amount of Butler financial interests would be used to fight any site other than the present Butler location.

At a meeting held March 14, the board continued consideration of a professional negotiations agreement with the teachers in the district.

The board also accepted the low bid of $1,023.75 from L.S. Ayres and Company for stage curtains at the Riverdale Cafetorium.

Comm. Kees Conducts Scout Honor Court; New Scouts Invited

A Court of Honor for the Saint Joe Boy Scout Troop was held Monday, March 18, 1968, at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

The Court of Honor was conducted by Leon Kees, district commissioner, BSA, for the Pokagon District. He was assisted by Rodger Evans, Senior Patrol Leader, of Troop 173.

Advancement awards were as follows, according to Scoutmaster Franklyn Sechler:

First Class—Rodger Evans and Victor Dermott.

Second Class—Jerry Culbertson and Craig Sechler.

Tenderfoot—Kim Bowser, Steve Evans and Terry Dermott.

The opening and closing prayer was led by Rev. Russel Snyder. Refreshments for the Scouts and their families were served by Jeri, Penny and Judy Sechler.

On Monday night, March 25, the adult leaders of Boy Scout Troop 173 will meet with Mr. Leon Kees to register the troop for the next twelve months.

One of the items necessary is to have a complete list of boys intending to be active in the Scout program.

Registration fee, including a subscription to Boys Life, is $2.50 per boy. Any boy in the community who has reached the age of 11 and desires to become a Boy Scout should report this fact to Don Sechler, John Sechler or Frank Sechler before Monday, and give them the $2.50 for registration.

Meetings are held the first and third Mondays of each month at 7:30 p.m. at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

I have told you of the man who always put on his spectacles when about to eat cherries, in order that the fruit might look larger and more tempting. In like manner I always make the most of my enjoyments, and, though I do not cast my eyes away from troubles, I pack them into as small a compass as I can for myself, and never let them annoy others.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Gertrude Borthwick came in and raised so much heck last week about my using "M.M." to stand for "Mr. and Mrs." in news items that I hafta change my ways, I guess. If you didn't notice it last week, you ought to this week. We're back to "Mr. and Mrs." again 'cause Gertrude says there are a lot of people who don't like "MM" but they like me too much to tell me!

—But she told me.

—Never underestimate the power of a woman.

Bill Beebe stopped in this week and mentioned that son Richard of Gaithersburg, Maryland, visited here over the week end with friend Paul Twig—just in time for the big snow. It seems that everytime Richard comes back home for a visit, the weather is anything but pleasant, and Bill had to do some fancy reassuring that Saint Joe does have nice weather, like everybody else.

The nice weather is here now, Richard—but I may be talking too soon!

Jim Myers and Chuck Harter have been going like beavers this week in preparation for the open house scheduled for Thursday of this week. Chuck showed his artistic talents Monday and Tuesday by lettering "Rainbow Farm Center" on the south side of the building in a pretty neat job.

And Jane Kempf of WIFF helped out on the publicity Wednesday with a nice plug on her noon news broadcast.

Play Re-scheduled

Due to inclement weather, many school patrons were unable to attend the Eastside High School senior play entitled, "Night of January 16th." Therefore, the play will be presented again Friday night of this week, March 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

Tickets may be purchased from any senior or at the door that evening. Tickets purchased for the original performances will be honored.

The "jury" which forms an integral part of the play will be selected from the audience. Those adults who wish to volunteer for jury duty in the play may do so as they arrive Friday evening.

Junior League To Meet

Dick Roberts, current chairman of the Junior League baseball adult leader committee, has announced that a meeting to organize for the coming summer of activity will be held this coming Sunday afternoon, March 31, at the fire hall in Saint Joe. The meeting will start at 2 p.m.

All boys who wish to participate, and their parents, are urged to attend the meeting. Junior League is the same as "Little League."

Fish Fry & Festival

The Lettermen of Eastside High School will sponsor a fish fry Saturday, April 6.

The supper will be served at the Butler Cafetorium starting at 5:00 p.m. and continuing until 7:30 p.m.

The same evening, the Eastside High School Festival, a carnival-type affair, will be held in the high school gym.

Rummage, Bake Sale

Ladies of the Spencerville Methodist Church W.S.C.S. circles are making plans for a rummage sale to be held next month. The sale will be held April 5 and 6 with baked goods also to be on sale Saturday.

Hours for the sale are 4 to 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The public is invited to patronize the sale.

Well, men, here is the "fifth" I promised you last week. Drink it—I mean read it in good health.

I got a letter from "Gerb" this week. All the guys in his mortar plt. got together on a name for the column, and they came up with "G.I. News." It sounds good to me, but as I explained to Bob in my return letter, I think it would be a good idea to let it ride for a few weeks till we get a few more entries. Then we can print them all, and let you guys vote on them.

"Gerb" didn't send the first names of his buddies, only the last names. So I had to make up my own. Everyone knows that a man has to have a first name too! Here they are; I hope they are spelled right:

"Vodka" Collins from Oklahoma;

"Dangerous" Dalton from Indiana;

"Sir Cedrick" Coatsworth from Minnesota;

"Kandy Bar" Clarke from Illinois;

"Big Chief" Safar from North Dakota;

"Mysterious" Madama from New Jersey;

"Battling" Robertson from Texas;

"Crazylegs" Cornelion from California.

Kathy Brown Strock called Saturday to say that husband Lance Cpl. Steven Strock USMC is stationed at Field Directional Center, six miles south of Da Nang in Vietnam. Steve enlisted in the Marines in August of '66. He was last home for two weeks in July of '67 when he and Kathy were married.

Spec 4 Denny Allen, home on leave until April 5, will be married March 30. The bride is Miss Sally Nelson of Auburn. Best wishes.

I got a letter from son Mike last week. He has been teaching math to a class of National Guardsmen at Ft Sill, Oklahoma. They started out with decimals, and how to add and subtract positive and negative numbers. From there they went into algebra and are now in trigonometry. Mike says "Can you imagine ME teaching trig!!"

Well, you guys know how we mothers are. It's pretty difficult for our sons to surprise us, but I'll bet when his teachers at Eastside High read this, they will be shocked!

Mike sends a "Hi" to everyone and anyone. His address is:

The public is invited to attend the meeting which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Did you know....

Ulfar Herbertson, handsome young exchange student from Iceland, had the ladies' hearts aflutter as he presented an interesting program about his homeland and customs. The organization voted to award its customary $100 scholarship to a worthy student this year.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Huebner of Rt Antwerp, Ohio, are parents of a son, Scott Lynn, born March 16, 1968, at Paulding Hospital. He weighed 9 lbs. 14 ozs. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yeiser of Saint Joe.

Lions Hear Of Their Contribution To 'Life' In Cancer Project

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met Monday evening, March 25, at the Spencerville Methodist Church. If you would like to know why we meet there so often, I would suggest that you get one of those Lions to take you along as a guest some evening.

The nominating committee presented the following list of candidates:

President, Robert Wilder
1st vice president, Robert Smith
2nd vice president, Harold Curie
3rd vice president, Howard Timmerman
Secretary-treasurer, Clifford Billow
Tail twister, Walter Morr
Lion tamer, Glenn Moore.

The election will be held at the next meeting. But like elections down south, being nominated is the same thing as being elected.

Lion Frank Laub introduced Mr. Henry Kilpatrick of the Central Lions Club of Fort Wayne. Mr. Kilpatrick reminded us that the three main projects of the Lions Club are the Eye Bank, the Seeing Eye Dogs and the Cancer Project. Then he asked if we really knew anything about the cancer project. Since we all knew about the first two but practically nothing about the cancer project, he proceeded to tell us some things about it.

Mr. Kilpatrick was on the original state committee and has been on it ever since. 20 years ago the Indiana Medical Center had buildings at Indianapolis but was sadly in need of equipment with no money available. The Indiana state constitution was so worded that no state money could be used to purchase equipment, and that is why the Lions clubs of Indiana got started on the project. To date we have supplied about 95 percent of the equipment, cost approximately $4½ million.

X-ray equipment of small and medium size was immediately purchased. The first really big unit was a 1 million volt x-ray machine. For one treatment, you need to have the affected portion of your body exposed for but one minute. This machine, including transformers and other necessary parts, requires a 2-story building and basement with the light itself being in the basement and pointed down. When turned on, the rays go through the portion of the patient's body, then through two layers of concrete each 24 inches thick, then about 40 feet into the soil below.

Attendants are protected by lead shields, rubber garments and gloves, and strict regulations for protection against radiation are enforced.

The most vital part of this machine is small, like a match box or cigarette lighter, and very expensive and radioactive.

This machine has been operating at least 8 hours every day for the last 20 years and at the rate of one treatment per minute, this adds up to a lot of people.

Now they have a 2 million volt machine and since the original machine is nearing the end of its usefulness, it will be overhauled. They also have cobalt and other machines at the center. The newest thing they have is a radioactive scanner. There are now three of these machines in the world today and the price is $38,000. This machine can locate cancers and other tumors anywhere in the body. It can even take pictures of any organ of the body and watch it function.

Such machines, wonderful as they are, would not be of much use if it were not for men who know how to run them and read the pictures. Dr. Campbell of the Indiana Medical Center, and his associates and assistants, are the men who experimented and perfected and cataloged details. In fact they have revolutionized many of the methods of diagnosing disease. Their methods have been copied and are now being used throughout the world.

20 years ago there were no radiologists. But now, due to Dr. Campbell and the work at the Indiana Medical Center, we have such technicians, including three at Fort Wayne who read x-ray pictures and report to your surgeon before an operation.

Radiologists work as teams, so that if one doesn't see some detail, the other one will. Soon other medical colleges will be training radiologists, thanks to the Indiana Medical Center. Your own doctor makes use of these diagnostic methods when the occasion arises.

Mr. Kilpatrick said there are many people that you and I know who are today alive and well who would be dead and buried if it were not for the things learned by Dr. Campbell and his assistants. And because of these new diagnostic methods, you and I have a better chance for a longer and happier life.

It is because of the support of the Saint Joe Lions Club along with many other Hoosier Lions clubs that the Indiana Medical Center has been able to bring these benefits to us.

RED CROSS MEETING

Directors of DeKalb County American Red Cross met at the Baxter home in Auburn March 12 at 7:30 p.m. A severe snow storm made travel difficult and limited attendance. Attending were: Paul Trausch, Lyle Tarlton, Leroy Close, Rev. George Schuette, Aris Van Straten, John Smith and Jessie Baxter.

A new slide projector, recently purchased by the chapter, was on display. Directors were urged to promote its use for club programs.

A nominating committee was appointed for selection of a slate of directors and officers at the chapter's annual meeting. The committee includes Ralph Manrow, Anna Mae Platt, John McIntyre and Paul Freeburn. The committee appointed for planning and arranging the annual spring meeting includes Donna Rosenberry, Marie Ruppert, George Kandel and Erma Covell.

A report of chapter finances showed a balance of $3,091.00 as of March 1, 1968. A total of $5,630 has been received in 1968 from United Funds in DeKalb County, ($4,309 from DeKalb County United Fund and $1,321 from the Butler United Fund).

CANDIDATE RESIGNS

Merle R. Holden, Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties, today announced that he has resigned as executive secretary of the Indiana State Young Democrats in order to devote more time to his campaign. He said, however, that he plans to remain president of the DeKalb County Young Democrats.

"The Democratic party and the voters of DeKalb and Steuben counties deserve a candidate who has time to campaign extensively. I do not feel that with the duties of both executive secretary and president of the DeKalb YD's that I would have this time. Therefore, I am resigning as executive secretary of the Indiana YD's. This will give me more time to campaign and more time to serve the DeKalb County YD's," Mr. Holden stated.

Holden was appointed executive secretary of the Indiana Young Democrats after attending the Young Democrats State Convention this past summer. He was the first state officer from DeKalb County and one of the few from the fourth congressional district in the past 20 years. He said that he will continue to attend state meetings and will continue as a member of the district Young Democrat committee. He is currently in his second two year term as county president, a term which will expire in August of 1969.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met Wednesday, March 20, at the home of Mrs. Lela Northrup with Mrs. Carl Perkins serving as cohostess.

The meeting opened with the club collect and pledge of allegiance to the American flag. Mrs. Perkins then led the group in a parliamentary review.

Mrs. Roy Baker presented a very informative lesson on English Grammar. The introduction to her lesson was taken from the booklet, "Now You're Talking," by Amy Vanderbilt. A filmstrip on "Building Sentences" was used for reviewing sentence structure, and another filmstrip on "Prepositions and Conjunctions" was shown.

Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser presented two oral quizzes for entertainment.

Mrs. Maurice Kline presided at the business meeting, with ten members responding to roll call.

The following committee was appointed for the midsummer meeting: Mrs. Robert Musser, Mrs. Wayne Storer and Mrs. Carl Carpenter.

After adjournment, the hostesses served light refreshments.

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Newville Township Homemakers Club met Wednesday, March 13, in the Newville EUB Church basement. Hostesses were Freda Engle and Shirley Spall. The dinner tables were arranged with St. Patrick decor. A moment of silent prayer was observed for members who suffered recent deaths in their families.

The afternoon meeting was opened by the president who read the history of the song of the month, "Annie Laurie," followed by singing the song. Elsie Meek read a devotional entitled, "My Need," followed by prayer. During roll call, a fashion prediction, happy birthday was sung to Myrtle Mills, Della McDonald, Ola Schmidt, and Leta Shaffer. Special interest reports were: food buys, Irene Emenhiser; garden hints, Annabelle Culler; fashion report, Elva Hook. A three-sleeve dress was modeled by Shirley Spall.

Velma Zion displayed her large collection of dolls, including one wearing her 57-year-old baby dress. She demonstrated large plastic knitting needles. Articles shown, taught at the recent craft lesson, were: paper platter pictures, wood plaques, painted soap and decorated egg shells. Lura Thimlar, guest from Auburn, narrated a history, then demonstrated the art and skill of hat making. She gave suggestions for renovating various types of old hats.

A council meeting report by the president listed coming events at Auburn: rummage sale April 19; tasting bee April 24. A variety of new bulletins are available at the county office. The finance committee distributed surprise April calendars to members. Cheer cards were signed to send to ill and bereaved members.

The April 10 afternoon meeting will be held at the church. Members are reminded of the seed and bulb exchange. There will be a cancer survey lesson.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

In the mail comes the following:

Well, thank you Mr. Haberkorn
Like robins on a bright Spring morn,
Like fragrance from the new mown hay,
Our paper comes to us today!
I shudder not as I read through,
The way I used to have to do!
I read it now with jubilations
Since you took out abbreviations!
As you go down the road of life,
You'll make some friends — besides your wife,
And this one fact you'll find, forsooth,
Your best friends tell YOU what's the truth!

Gertrude Borthwick

P.S. If you want to see one of the most, if not the most, gorgeous beds of crocus in this city, drive down on Widney Ave. by the Lester Pugsley residence. By the way, his wife planted them!

On the "yield" sign east of town somebody has gotten into the spirit of an election year already. Stuck right in the middle is a campaign sticker proclaiming:

"GOLDWATER"!

Rummage, Bake Sale

Ladies of the Spencerville Methodist Church W.S.C.S. circles are making plans for a rummage sale to be held April 5 and 6 with baked goods also to be on sale Saturday.

Hours for the sale are 4 to 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The public is invited to patronize the sale.

Junior League Elects Bevington

On Sunday, March 31, there was a called meeting of the Riverdale Junior League organization.

Dick Roberts presided at the meeting at which the following officers were elected for the 1968 season:

Forrest Bevington, president.
Mike Beaty, secretary-treasurer.

Riverdale Junior League cards were handed to 40 boys at the meeting. These registration cards must be turned in by May 17, 1968. Cards may be secured from Mr. Bevington at the school by those not present at the meeting.

Any boy who will attain the age of 8 years before August 1, 1968, and will not attain the age of 13 before August 1, 1968, shall be eligible to compete in the Junior League baseball league.

The coaches, managers and officers voted that a $5.00 entry fee must be submitted by each boy to help cover insurance and other rising expenses to carry on the program.

Revival Services

Revival services will begin Sunday and continue each evening through Friday, April 12, at the Coburn Corners Church of Christ. Starting time for the services will be 7:30 each evening.

Brant Lee Doty, Academic Dean and professor at Great Lakes Bible College in Lansing, Michigan, will be the evangelist. The song leder will be Jerry Paul, a former minister to the Cedar Creek Church of Christ near Leo and presently ministering to the Woodview Church of Christ in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The community is invited to share in these services.

This is column number six, and from now on I have to make them interesting, witty, intelligent and worth the time that it takes to read them, because I have one mother, three sisters, and one very special nuttie girl friend and they are all reading The Saint Joe News now. I have brainwashed them into thinking that I am a famous columnist. Now I must live up to my image.

I received a nice letter from Mrs. Harold Studebaker of Spencerville on Monday. Mrs. Studebaker tells me that son Tom enlisted in the Air Force, and left Fort Wayne March 19 for Indianapolis and then on to Lackland the next day. Tom has been assigned to the 3706 Basic Training Squadron. His address is

AB Thomas K. Studebaker
AF 08 010 086 CMR No. 3
Sq. 3706 Flt. 314
Lackland AFB, Texas 78236

I hope you'll enjoy reading the News, Tom.

Tom's older brother is Spec 5 Michael D. Studebaker who is stationed at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. Mike is lucky enough to have his wife and 4wo-year-old son, Jeff, with him. You may address your letter to:

Spec 5 Michael D. Studebaker
1711 Apt. A-2 Kimbro Loop
Ft. Belvoir, Va 22060

I'd like to remind anyone and everyone who reads this column that it isn't necessary that you know any of the servicemen that have been listed here or in past columns; you may still write to them. Your letters will be most welcome!

Do just pick out a name that you like and drop him a line.

This is kind of a "short on information" column this week. I guess all of you guys must be on secret missions. Right?

Monday, April 1, I baked a lemon cake. I was going to tell my four little ones that it was banana and fool them. But the joke was on me. After I got it all finished, I dropped the whole thing on the floor!! From now on I'll just leave the jokes to Phyllis Diller, then I won't have to clean up the mess.

If any of you have had your address changed, let us know. If we don't have your correct address, you are not getting your paper!— and if you don't get your paper, you are not reading all this good stuff!!

Monte Nicholls' address has been changed to:

Pvt. Monte L. Nicholls
US# 18333440 Co. C, 1st Bn.
61st Inf. 1st Plt.
Fort Carson, Col 80913

See you next week. Don't forget to drop a line.

398 Petition Against Lease; Two Hearings Set

A hearing on a remonstrance against a proposed lease purchase agreement, relative to the use of the Butler school site for junior-senior high school construction purposes, has been set for Tuesday, April 16, at 2:00 p.m. in the Eastside High School gym at Butler. The public may attend the hearing.

The petition filed against the proposed lease-purchase agreement and filed with the county auditor recently contained 398 signatures. While a large portion of the signers appeared on petitions from Saint Joe and Spencerville business places, approximately 142 names were listed with Butler rural addresses with a few from within the city of Butler itself. 11 Auburn rural signers appeared on the petition, as well as 3 Edgerton (Ohio) rural, 1 Hamilton rural, and 26 Hicksville rural.

No door-to-door campaign was held to obtain the signatures, although a few copies of the petition were carried by individuals who made personal calls. Over half the signatures were obtained [illegible] businesses at Spencerville [illegible] last Saturday.

A [illegible] hearing date [illegible] be set after all the [illegible] dispute [illegible] with the [illegible] DeKalb County Circuit Court against the school board to [illegible] group seeking to [illegible] at a central site [illegible] the proposed new junior-senior high school. Judge Ray A. [illegible] the Huntington Circuit Court will serve as special judge to hear defendants' [illegible] request that the plaintiffs post a bond. After a decision on this request, the trial will get under way at a later date.

The hearing has been set for Monday, April 22, at 9:30 a.m. in the DeKalb Circuit court room.

Group Plans Auction For School Dispute Expenses

Plans are continuing for the public auction to be held Saturday, April 20, 1968, for the purpose of raising funds for payment of attorney fees being incurred in the current school site dispute in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District. Sponsors of the sale are the citizens of the school district who are seeking to re-establish a central site location for the district's proposed junior-senior high school.

The sale will be held at the Saint Joe Valley Conservation Club grounds just west of Saint Joe on County Road 60.

Funds to pay the group's attorney fees have thus far been raised by voluntary donations in the district. No campaign has been undertaken thus far of a concerted nature to raise funds; the auction sale will be the first concentrated effort.

With the hearings scheduled this month in the school dispute requiring the services of their attorney, Nelson Grills of Indianapolis, the group estimates obligations to him will total approximately $1,800 by the end of the month. Proceeds from the auction sale will be used to meet this obligation.

The group has paid previous legal expenses of $1,400 plus postage and other incidental expenses, through outright cash donations.

Those who have items to donate or sell on consignment are asked to contact those listed below as soon as possible in order that at least a partial listing of the items to be offered can be published prior to the sale.

Lunch will be available at the sale with women of the school district to operate the lunch counter. Donations of food items are asked for the lunch. Connie Hollabaugh and Lora Hart are co-chairmen in charge.

Those items which are to be sold on consignment will follow a commision fee scale as follows:

Up to $5 selling price—$1
$5 to $15—20 percent
$15 to $50—$3
$50 to $100—10 per cent
$100 and over 5 per cent

Any and all types of items, including antiques, will be accepted for the auction, either as an outright donation to the cause or for sale on a consignment basis.

Town Board Notes

The Town Board of Saint Joe met in regular session Monday night. Visitors included Andy Monroe, Bud Shockley, Harvey Carr and Howard Andres.

Routine matters included alley, street and drain repairs at various locations in the town, plus other items of maintenance and community improvement.

Mr. Monroe appeared in behalf of the local firemen and pointed out the $50 per man clothing allowance established by the last state legislature. The board noted that nothing could be done about the matter this year because there is apparently no appropriation in the current budget for such allowance. The mandatory expense will mean $1,000 additional on next year's budget and each succeeding year.

A Civil Defense meeting at Kendallville next Monday night was announced with board members indicating the desire to attend.

Board member Lynn Lake commented on the cooperation of Widney Avenue residents in observing the no-parking regulation on the east side of the street at the south end. The ban was established recently to maintain an open and sufficiently wide thoroughfare for fire safety.

Previous authorization of expenditures for materials in repainting the fire hall roof were augmented to include the entire exterior of the building, plus the fire hydrants.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Waterworks—Saint Joe News, printing $6.00; Economics Lab, chemicals 34.00; Donald Kinsey, postage 5.00; Indiana Department of Revenue, income tax 108.43; Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., 36.31; A.E. Boyce Co., forms 16.30; William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.44.

Town—Howard Andres, liability & fire truck insurance $263.71; Jesse Cannady, labor 14.00; Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department, rust inhibitor 12.00; Jay Cee Loy, travel expenses 12.00; Truelove Bros., parts 28.92; Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department, parts 2.81; Brown Furniture & Hardware, tape 4.70; A.E. Boyce Co., forms 16.30; Farm Bureau Coop, fuel oil 31.88; I&M 85.64.

Past President Notes

(Reprinted from the Wednesday, March 15, 1916, issue of the Fort Wayne Sentinel, and written by Frank Dildine for that publication.)

"Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant and McKinley were elected to succeed themselves and all except Lincoln and McKinley served eight years, or nearly so. The period of Washington's service as president was seven years, ten months and four days.

"Roosevelt, who, previously was vice president, was inducted into the office of president by the death of McKinley, succeeded himself by election and served as president seven years, five months and seventeen days.

"Cleveland was defeated for re-election to succeed himself at the close of his first term, but after a lapse of four years, he was again a candidate and elected, making his service in the presidential office a period of eight years.

"Wm. Henry Harrison served only one month as president. He was inaugurated on March 4, 1841, and soon after was taken ill with bilious pleurisy. On the 4th of April following his death occurred. His was the shortest service as president.

"The death of Taylor occurred on July 9, 1850, one year, four months and five days after his inauguration as president. His death was due to a bilious fever brought on largely by the worry connected with the discharge of the duties of his office. He was harassed with office seekers and sorely perplexed in attempting to adjust the differences growing out of the slavery question and these causes, with a severe cold he caught, brought his death after an illness of only five days. He found the conflicts in Washington growing out of politics far more trying to his nervous and physical system than the many battles in which he participated as a general during the Mexican war.

"Lincoln served as president four years, one month, and eleven days, Garfield six months and a half, and McKinley four years, six months and ten days. Each was assassinated while in office. Lincoln was shot while attending a theater in Washington by John Wilkes Booth, on the night of April 14, 1865, and died the next day. Garfield was shot in the Pennsylvania depot at Washington, by Charles J. Guiteau, on July 2, 1881, and his death occurred on September 19th following. McKinley was shot on September 6, 1901, at the Pan-American exposition in Buffalo, N.Y., by Louis Czolgosz and, as a result of his wounds, died on September 14th following."

DR. COLEMAN TO SERVE AS YOUTH TOUR DOCTOR

Dr. Floyd Coleman of 425 South Wayne Street in Waterloo has been appointed by the Youth Outreach of the Churches of Christ to travel to Europe on the European Youth Missions Tour.

Dr. Coleman will act as tour doctor for some 130 teens and 50 adults in the midwest who will leave the United States April 8 for 17 days of touring several countries in Europe, including Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, France and England.

Of this group, the Metropolitan Detroit Youth chorus, a 90-member teenage chorus organization, will be appearing in eight European cities in concert. The concert itinerary includes Brussels, Amsterdam, Essen, Frankfurt, Luzern, Lausanne, Rheims, Paris and London.

In addition to the religious emphasis, the group will also be emphasizing America. Their objective is to be ambassadors for Christ and for the United States. It is hoped that other teens in the countries to be visited will be inspired by the Christian attitude of the young Americans and influenced by the patriotic mood of the group.

The tour director, Robert Miller of Fort Wayne, declares that the Church of Christ is very proud and fortunate to have Dr. Coleman, not only as tour doctor, but also because of his dedication to the church and to the United States, and most important of all, because of his dedication to the young people of today.

Dr. Coleman recently announced his candidacy for Joint State Representative of Steuben and DeKalb counties. He had been committed to this trip in December of 1967, prior to his candidacy.

One of the focal points of the tour will be an International Youth Rally which will be held in Frankfurt, Germany, April 13-15. Young people from throughout Europe as well as the United States will be attending this giant rally.

SECTION 10. This Ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage and publication in accordance with law and its acceptance by the Company in writing and shall continue in effect (except as hereinunder limited) as an indeterminate permit pursuant to statute and under and upon such terms and conditions as prescribed by the Public Service Commission of the State of Indiana, and the Company shall file with the Town Clerk of St. Joe, Indiana, its written acceptance thereof.

SECTION 11. The franchise hereby granted shall be and remain in full force and effect for a period of four years from the date of its enactment, at the expiration of which period of time it shall become null and void unless Northern Indiana Fuel and Light Company, Inc., shall have utilized it by extending its gas transmission line to the Town of St. Joe and commenced supplying the inhabitants and businesses of said community with gas service.

Bob Jacobson, 8 Scouts Plan Trip To New Mexico

Bob Jacobson, Scoutmaster of Spencerville Troop 172 of the Boy Scouts of America, has announced that he will take a group of eight troop members to the Philmont Scout Ranch located near Cimarron, New Mexico.

Those who will make the trip from June 24 to July 13 include Art Hausbach, Dennis Hart, Jerry Markle, Eric Jacobson, Greg Bohl, Dayton Webb, Eddie Shilling and Keith Melchi.

The troop is now conducting a light bulb sale to help defray expenses for the coming trip. Priced at three bulbs for $1, the bulbs are available in 60 or 100 watt intensities and are guaranteed for 2700 hours' use.

Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base is a national camping area, located in northeastern New Mexico and comprising 137,493 acres of rugged western country on the slopes of the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rockies. The altitude ranges from 6,500 to 12,441 feet. Philmont is rich in wild game, such as deer, elk, coyote, antelope, mountain lion, buffalo, wild turkey and bear. Its hills and canyons teem with birdlife, its streams abound with fish. The cool mountains harbor a wilderness of botany, trees, flowers, grasses.

Philmont contains several hundred miles of trails, and the Boy Scouts and leaders who go to the ranch must be physically able to hike in rugged mountain terrain with a 25 to 35 pound pack.

The ranch is staffed by over 400 carefully selected individuals from among thousands of applicants. They are divided into a Camping Headquarters Staff and Camping Staffs located throughout the back country.

Trips to Philmont are carefully planned. A 48-page booklet is followed by local Scout Troop adult leaders in arranging for trips to the ranch, the booklet prepared by the ranch staff.

"WHEREAS, DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc., is instrumental in promoting the health, welfare and care of cancer patients in the DeKalb County community; and

WHEREAS, the DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc., is a participating agency in the United Fund; and

HOLDEN APPOINTS TWO FOR CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Carl Walter, 320 W 17th Street, Auburn, has been named secretary of the newly formed "Holden for Joint State Representative Club" in DeKalb County. The appointement was announced by Merle R. Holden, Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties.

Mr. Holden said that a smiliar club will be formed in Steuben County and a co-ordinator will be named for the two counties. Each club will have a chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, treasurer and one or two directors. The appointments will be made in the very near future. The purpose of the clubs will be to promote and direct the candidacy of Mr. Holden for Joint State Representative.

In announcing the appointment of Mrs. Walter, Mr. Holden stated that he felt certain that she would be a definite asset to the campaign. He praised her as a tireless worker, an enthusiastic supporter, and a loyal Democrat. Mrs. Walter's late husband, Carl, was a past DeKalb County clork. Her son, Mike, is a junior at Indiana University.

Mr. Holden also served notice that although he does not have any primary opposition, he plans to start an all out campaign which will last through November 5. Noting that the Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative lost by approximately 10,000-7,000, Mr. Holden stated, "We face an uphill fight but I feel that with a good organization and a tireless campaign, we will be successful. The voters of DeKalb and Steuben counties will witness one of the most active campaigns over this year. It will be a campaign based on issues."

Mrs. Eleanor Thomas, 704 W. 7th Street, Auburn, has been named vice-chairman of the Holden for State Representative Club. Mrs. Thomas is a life long Democrat who ran for county recorder in 1964. Her husband, Gene, is a member of the merchant marine, and she has two children, Allan, a junior at Evansville University, and Carol. Both are members of the DeKalb County Young Democrats.

In announcing the appointment, Mr. Holden said, "Eleanor Thomas is one of the hardest working Democrats I know. As a candidate for recorder, she campaigned all over the county and became widely known and respected. She is definite asset to our campaign."

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

"The Chicago Cubs are on the air!"

Boy, what a welcome sound that was Wednesday afternoon when Vince Lloyd and Lou Boudreau began broadcasting the opening game of my favorite team's games. It seems like such a long ago since hearing a ball game. Seems like it gets longer between seasons every year. Is that a sign of old age?

Howard Shilling called this week to ask about the petition against the Butler school site. He also pointed out that we made a typographical error last week in the write up about his and the Mrs.' 50th wedding anniversary observance. The date of their marriage was given as "1968" instead of "1918"—which makes a lot of difference. Howard said the way I published it, he was still on his honeymoon.

The wind was really blowing Monday in the midwest. We've got tree branches and limbs scattered around town, but nothing really big. The telephone wires at Dale Collins' place on state road 1 were really getting a workout, as was another section up toward Butler. I'll bet they were whipping six feet up and down, back and forth.

Local Teens' Club Forming

Local citizens are urged to attend a meeting for the purpose of organizing a local teens' club to be held Saturday, April 13, at 10:30 a.m. in the former Trading Post building in Saint Joe.

A group of local teens, under the supervision of Mrs. Loretta Loy, is striving to establish a place for themselves to gather for recreation and relaxation.

It must be emphasized that, for this project to be a success, local adults and teenagers must cooperate fully and as a unit. Without adult help and sponsorship, it is impossible for this club to be established.

Already donations for the club have been made by interested adults, including the use of a pool table. Preliminary preparations are also scheduled for Friday afternoon, and a general cleaning up of the building is planned for Monday afternoon, the 15th.

Again, all local citizens, both adults and teens (at least high school freshmen), are asked to attend and participate in the Saturday morning meeting. All possible assistance is needed and will be welcomed.

A meeting will be held Friday morning, April 12, at 10:30. The purpose of the meeting will be to form a constitution as a means of operating the club.

All area teens are asked to attend the meeting and help in writing the constitution.

Hello again. This is Number Seven, just in case you are counting.

They say that seven is a lucky number and I guess it is because I have finally found Denny Miller!!

In my first column I wrote that Jim Miller (Toehead), Mike Loy and Denny Nelson were all home on leave. We knew that Denny Miller was home, too, but since his parents live in Fort Wayne now, our efforts to contact him failed.

During the past weeks we have sent out many secret agents, countless private detectives, advertised in newspapers from coast to coast, sent numerous letters to Washington and even searched the yellow pages of the local phone book. After all this painstaking work we have emerged victorious!

We finally found him at the Traffic Management Headquarters in Vietnam. We discovered that he enlisted in the Army in October of '67 and took his basic at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. After basic he studied business administration and is now serving in Saigon.

You may address your letters to:

So you see we will go to any lengths to find you. You may as well give up. Make it easy on us and on yourselves. Send us your address today (or tell your Mom to send it). You really can't escape us. Think it over!

Conservation clubs from Saint Joe, Moore, Hamilton and Auburn are sponsoring the conservation education meeting. Conservation Officer James Wire of LaGrange County will be the speaker on the subject, "This Is Your Land, Know It, Protect It, Enjoy It." WSCS Sponsors Panel Program To Promote Understanding

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Spencerville Methodist Church has taken a step to lessen prejudice and promote better understanding among races and religions.

The group has arranged for a public meeting to be held Wednesday evening, April 24, 1968, at 8:00 p.m. at the Spencerville church, with a panel composed of a Jew, a Negro, a Roman Catholic and a Protestant, plus a moderator, to participate in a discussion. The panel, composed of women from Fort Wayne, is described as average women, interested in human relations and willing to do something about it.

Mrs. Leon Himelstein, coordinator of the group, has stated, "The panel is an educational group, not an action group. It is an emotional program creating a certain effect in a soft-spoken way."

There will be a question and answer period following the statements by the panel members.

The panel idea was originated about 10 years ago in Kansas City, Missouri, by Mrs. Paul Brown, wife of a businessman. Today there are about 25 panels in major cities with about 500 women participating.

After hearing a panel in South Bend last year, a group of Fort Wayne women organized their own panel to serve the Fort Wayne area. It is made up of housewives and working women from a variety of backgrounds who have a common interest in lessening racial and religious prejudice and are willing to do something about it.

There are 18 women working on the Fort Wayne panel. The members are rotated so that there is always a representative from the four groups mentioned previously, plus a moderator.

"We are just average ladies, but maybe what we think is right," commented Mrs. Himelstein. "We operate on the premise that people are decent and if they put their feet in someone else's shoes, maybe they will change their attitudes after hearing what people go through.

"The average white Protestant American hasn't experienced prejudice and is not sensitive to it. If it's pointed out nicely, maybe they will be anxious to help eliminate it," she explained.

The program begins by an explanation from the moderator as to the purpose of the panel, average women speaking for themselves of their experiences.

Then a personal experience or "statement" of prejudice is told by the Jewish person, followed by the Catholic, the Negro and the Protestant who explains what hasn't been denied her. She tells, without moralizing or sermonizing, what she can do for herself and her family to help eliminate prejudices.

A coffee hour will follow the April 24 meeting.

Re-appraisal To Be Started Soon

DeKalb County Assessor Clayton Hartman advises real estate owners in the county that the reappraisal of real estate in the county will be started soon.

The reappraisal of DeKalb County real estate will be handled by representatives of the United Appraisal Company.

The duty of the appraisers will be to obtain exterior and interior construction data concerning the properties in the county.

The county assessor said the appraisers will not make the assessment but will only be compiling the necessary information.

The cooperation of real estate owners will be appreciated, Mr. Hartman stated. He also said that when the appraisers call at the properties in the county, they will have a card of introduction signed by him.

Holden Gets GOP Member Coordinator

Richard E. Harris of Saint Joe has been appointed coordinator for the Holden for Joint State Representative Club. As coordinator, Mr. Harris will serve on both the DeKalb and Steuben county clubs and will coordinate the activities of the two in their campaign for Merle R. Holden, Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties.

Previously Mrs. Carl Walter of Auburn had been appointed secretary for DeKalb and Mrs. Eleanor Thomas had been named vice-chairman. Still to be appointed are a chairman for each county, a treasurer for both, directors, and a secretary and vice-chairman for Steuben. Mr. Holden said that these appointments would be completed soon.

Mr. Harris, a native of Colorado, is a former school teacher who has taught at Riverdale and Waterloo. He is presently an insurance salesman. Mr. Harris, a life-long Republican, graduated from Colorado State College in 1962 with a BA in history and English. He received his MA degree from St. Francis College in 1967.

In announcing the appointment, Mr. Holden stated that he felt that the fact that Mr. Harris is a Republican was proof that his campaign is and will continue to attract responsible members of all groups who want active representation and desire to take part in a campaign based on issues. He praised Mr. Harris as a "close personal friend who has the time, ability and desire to handle this most important position."

GOP Congressman Says 'Offer Jobs'

Apparently nothing has come of the suggestion. But it is significant that a Republican Congressman early this month suggested greeting the expected "poverty march" on Washington, D.C., this month with job opportunities.

In answer to the question, "Could the late Dr. Martin Luther King's planned April march on Washington be turned into a real success?", Rep. Joel T. Broyhill of Virginia answered, "Yes," and challenged President Johnson to "greet poverty marchers with jobs." Broyhill proposes that "job kiosks," manned by U.S. Employment Service workers, line the streets of the Capital to greet the marchers and match jobs with jobless.

Noting that Washington officials announced private industry was ready to employ the "hard core unemployables" in the District of Columbia, Broyhill said, "I see no need for new, mammoth Federal programs to make work for the Nation's unemployed when there are literally thousands of jobs for which these people can be trained going begging.

"We can start by offering the marchers a chance to 'sign up' for employment. Government working with labor and management can then get jobs and jobless together."

Dear Ted:

See that it is time to send our subscription for another year, so am sending a check for two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) to pay for the paper from April 1968 to April 1969.

We are still having trouble getting the paper. It has been as late as a week and some papers we never get. The trouble started when we began to use zip code. There just isn't anything we can do about it.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Gee

There is something everyone can do about it. Write your Congressman and complain about the service you don't get. Postage rates and pay raises at hand is hand, but the service gets worse—not in our smaller post offices but in the larger offices where bulk distribution is made. Your congressman wants to know what you think about everything—including postal service, especially since it is a daily need. —Ed.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met on Wednesday, April 3, at the home of Mrs. Maurice Kline.

The meeting opened with the club collect and the pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

Mrs. Everett Mavis, an honorary member from Auburn, presented to the members a very interesting review of the book, "Too Strong For Fantasy," by Marcia Davenport. The author's mother was Alma Gluck, the famous soprano and concert artist. Woven through the story were accounts of her many contacts with famous musical, literary and political personalities. Arturo Toscanini was a lifetime friend of the author's. Mrs. Davenport spent many months in European countries doing research for her book on the life of Mozart, and was in Germany when Hitler came into power. She became interested in Czechoslovakia, and made her home there, and was to have married Jan Mazarek, whose father was the president of the Republic of Czechoslovakia. The review was very timely in that it refreshed our memories concerning historical events in Czechoslovakia, which have been in the news of late.

Mrs. Kline presided at the business meeting. Nine members responded to roll call, and Mrs. Albert Wade was welcomed as a new member.

The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were given. It was reported that the club has sold $49.00 worth of material from the Indiana Agency for the Blind during this club year.

The meeting closed with the singing of the club song.

After adjournment the hostess served light refreshments.

School Board

In a session which lasted just over four hours Tuesday night, the local school board considered several important matters concerning curriculum and finances.

Mrs. Florence Weaver gave a detailed report of her special education class at Riverdale Elementary School. The class accommodates students from the entire school district.

Mrs. Weaver pointed out that the shortage of trained teachers continues to exist in the state of Indiana. The special education class presents a challenge inasmuch as students in the class are instructed according to their individual problems. She said there appears to be a reluctance on the part of younger teachers to get into the special education field because of the disciplinary problems which exist in many such classes. Mrs. Weaver reported that she has had no such problems, and the children in her class are very enthusiastic in their work, even to the point of expressing great disappointment if they are not given homework. One of her pupils read 186 books last year.

The board expressed its deep appreciation for the excellent work being done by Mrs. Weaver.

A discussion was held concerning the budget for 1969 and the financial problems facing the district with rising costs each year. Negotiations on salary schedule and policy procedures are currently in progress between school board representatives and the classroom teachers in the system.

A few maintenance and repair matters were taken care of by the board.

Letters of resignation were received from Karen Culler, John Bedwell, Dennis Brown, James Martin, Roger Reynolds, Steven Zellers and Judy Impton.

Keith Ulm, Lynn Fisher and Superintendent Kenneth Cole reported their impressions from the recent National School Board Association convention.

A discussion was held concerning the March 18 minutes, with Mr. Harold Kagey asking that his challenge to the board to try to find a site mutually agreeable to the Butler site interests and the central site interests be entered in the minutes.

The meeting adjourned at 12:05 a.m.

CONCORD JR. HOMEMAKERS

Mrs. Laurel Carper was our hostess on April Fools Day. Response to roll call was an April Fools joke and seed and bulb exchange.

Regular business was attended to as usual. The fair booth was discussed at length. We were reminded of the tasting bee and made arrangements for preparing a meat dish for the affair.

Betty Bevington showed a film strip on "Water Sense" put out by the Calgon Co. which was interesting and timely.

We had as a guest Mrs. Harold DeLong of Avilla, a former member. She mentioned the fact that Noble County fair doesn't feature the Homemakers clubs as we do, nor do they have holiday workshops.

We all looked our refreshments over real good, but found only an "incredible edible," this was through the courtesy of Mrs. Carper's grandsons, Jeff and Tommy Morr. The fresh strawberry tarts were delicious.

We were glad to see Mr. Carper home from the hospital.

Mrs. Bevington will be our May hostess.

As I begin column number eight, it seems that it's about time we decided on a name for this thing, although by now I suppose everyone is used to the question mark hitting them in the face every week.

From Vietnam Bob Gerber and the men in his mortar platoon have suggested "G.I. News." Irene Inlow of Spencerville has suggested "Guy Lines." Mike Beaty of Saint Joe called in "Here and There." Others are: "At Ease," "Drop a Line," "Who's Where?", "Letters," "Just Plain Talk," "See You Next Week," and "Dear G.I."

Let me know which one you like best. The name that gets the most votes will be chosen.

Spec 4 Jim Miller is in Vietnam. Jim is working in the engineering department, driving a gravel truck, building and rebuilding roads. Jim is stationed eighty miles north of Saigon at Quon Loi. His new address is:

Tax Board Hearing Held; Court Hearing Monday In Suit

Approximately 75 persons attended the hearing held Tuesday morning at Eastside High School concerning the proposed lease-purchase agreement for construction of a new junior-senior high school on a site located in Butler. The hearing was called when a petition containing 398 signatures was filed with the county auditor protesting the proposed lease and asking for a hearing before the state tax commission.

The hearing was conducted by representatives of the tax commission. The fieldmen were Carl Leininger, Glen Albright and Ralph Myers.

Spokesman for the remonstrance group was Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., of Saint Joe. A brief resume was made of the points contained in a brief filed with the school board at an earlier hearing on the proposed lease agreement. The same brief was presented to the state fieldmen as evidence to support the remonstrators' efforts.

The brief contains the following points:

Sufficient area is not provided for the combination of the present elementary school and the proposed junior-senior high school;

The site of the proposed school is not free from hazards and nuisances;

The site is not suitable for community use of the entire school corporation;

The site does not make adequate provision for future expansion and adequate accessible service to the portion of the school corporation most likely to grow;

The school building is not located near the center of the school population of the district in a suitable environment;

The lessor corporation has not had the plans and specifications for the proposed school building approved by all state agencies;

The site for the proposed school is presently being litigated.

Attorney H. Charles Winans then presented a brief in behalf of the school corporation. He indicated that an objection to the remonstrators' petition had been filed because there were no sworn statements accompanying the petition to establish the validity of the signatures. He reviewed the legal procedures taken by the school board in preparing for construction of a new facility.

Those attending the meeting were asked to indicate their presence as remonstrators or as supporters of the lease. Approximately 50 persons indicated their support while around 20 identified themselves as remonstrators.

At a February meeting of the school board at which a brief was filed with the board against the lease agreement, some 45 remonstrators were present with no count taken of supporters, there being only a half dozen or so others present at the meeting.

The fieldmen expressed their appreciation for the manner in which the meeting had been conducted.

Next Monday, April 22, 1968, at 9:30 a.m., a hearing will be held in the DeKalb Circuit Court concerning a suit filed against the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District by Mr. Haberkorn, Jack Hollabaugh of Spencerville and Victor Timmerman of Wilmington Township.

Special judge Ray Ade from the Huntington Circuit Court has been appointed by the State Supreme Court to hear the case. A special judge was requested by the attorney for the school board, Mr. Winans.

Monday's hearing will be to establish whether or not the plaintiffs must post a bond to cover any additional construction costs incurred through delay in litigation.

The session is open to the public.

WSCS Sponsors Panel Program To Promote Understanding

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Spencerville Methodist Church has taken a step to lessen prejudice and promote better understanding among races and religions.

The group has arranged for a public meeting to be held Wednesday evening, April 24, 1968, at 8:00 p.m. at the Spencerville church, with a panel composed of a Jew, a Negro, a Roman Catholic and a Protestant, plus a moderator, to participate in a discussion. The panel, composed of women from Fort Wayne, is described as average women, interested in human relations and willing to do something about it.

Mrs. Leon Himelstein, coordinator of the group, has stated, "The panel is an educational group, not an action group. It is an emotional program creating a certain effect in a soft-spoken way."

There will be a question and answer period following the statements by the panel members.

The panel idea was originated about 10 years ago in Kansas City, Missouri, by Mrs. Paul Brown, wife of a businessman. Today there are about 25 panels in major cities with about 500 women participating.

After hearing a panel in South Bend last year, a group of Fort Wayne women organized their own panel to serve the Fort Wayne area. It is made up of housewives and working women from a variety of backgrounds who have a common interest in lessening racial and religious prejudice and are willing to do something about it.

There are 19 women working on the Fort Wayne panel. The members are rotated so that there is always a representative from the four groups mentioned previously, plus a moderator.

"We are just average ladies, but maybe what we think is right," commented Mrs. Himelstein. "We operate on the premise that people are decent and if they put their feet in someone else's shoes, maybe they will change their attitudes after hearing what people go through.

"The average white Protestant American hasn't experienced prejudice and is not sensitive to it. If it's pointed out nicely, maybe they will be anxious to help eliminate it," she explained.

The program begins by an explanation from the moderator as to the purpose of the panel, average women speaking for themselves of their experiences.

Then a personal experience or "statement" of prejudice is told by the Jewish person, followed by the Catholic, the Negro and the Protestant who explains what hasn't been denied her. She tells, without moralizing or sermonizing, what she can do for herself and her family to help eliminate prejudices.

A coffee hour will follow the April 24 meeting.

The duties of a member of the House of Representatives deal primarily with representation of his constituents in the legislative body.

In this action, he should be aware of the needs of his people and the effect of legislation that is proposed on their welfare.

His interest should be for all of his people and while in the Legislature he is the representative of both the majority and the minority. It is not his duty to take sides in local issues to be solved on the township or county level, but rather to act in the interests of all of his people in legislation introduced in the legislature. To this end, it is his responsibility to help enact laws for the benefit of the state and to act to defeat bills that would be obnoxious. He also should have an eye on controlling needless taxation or expenditures.

It is my pledge to continue to do only those things which will add to the dignity and honor of the office.

Chevrolet's new Torque-Drive.

Nobody else offers anything like it at the price.

Torque-Drive does away with the clutch pedal. Most of the shifting, too. And for the most economy, it's available exclusively on all Camaro sixes and Chevy II Nova 4- and 6-cylinder models.

Look how simple it is. You accelerate in 1st, then shift to Hi for cruising. That's all.

If you like, you can even start in Hi. And accelerate from standstill to cruising speed. It's just a little slower that way.

The shift lever is conveniently located on the steering column, and there's a selector quadrant with easy-to-read indications: Park-R-N-Hi-1st. Only your Chevrolet dealer has it—clutchless driving at only $68.65.

VOL. LXXXIII | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, April 25, 1968 | NUMBER 17

To preserve their (the people's) independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debts. We must make our election between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude.
—Thomas Jefferson

Around the Town
WITH THE EDITOR

Recently Bob Jacobson brought in the following:

"Many of the streams of Indiana become cesspools of filth during the summer months, spreading disease and causing death. They are a direct menace to public health. Cities and towns run their sewage and refuse into the streams polluting the water and making them disseminators of disease germs. Fish are killed and the water is unsafe for bathing or for use by live stock. Some legislation is needed to correct this evil. In one instance the odor from the stream receiving the refuse from several factories is so strong that it is very offensive to farmers living in the vicinity of the stream. They have objected very strenuously to the city and county officials but have been unable to obtain relief. This is a situation that needs attention. Not only should the streams be kept fresh and pure from a health standpoint but they should be kept in that condition to permit the growth and production of fish and for recreational purposes."

When do you think that was written? 1968? Nope. It was way back in 1920. The article appeared in the July 24, 1920, issue of "The Indiana Farmer's Guide." Bob and his Boy Scouts saved the issue from a bunch of old papers and magazines they came across recently during a Scout scrap paper drive.

—Which just goes to show that there's nothing new in this world.

With all the appropriate concern today over water pollution, maybe we should call ours the "effluent" society.

There was another article in that 1920 issue with the headline:

"FARM TRACTOR IS FOUND TO HAVE MANY ADVANTAGES—Can Not Wholly Displace Horses"

—I wonder what ever became of the author of that article.

John Paul Hill attended a youth rally at the Saint Joe Church of Christ recently, bringing a carload of teenagers from his Hicksville congregation. As the group left the meeting, he began a ghost story, which seems to be one of his specialties. To add atmosphere to the tale, he pulled his car in at the local cemetery and drove slowly through that quiet area. At a proper and appropriate moment, he doused the car headlights to add to the atmosphere for his eerie tale, then turned them on again. Just like that a flashing red light was reflected in the rear view mirror, and John Paul had to fish out his driver's license and car registration for the deputy sheriff who just happened to be on the watch at the cemetery that night.

Can you imagine the look on the deputy's face when he asked John Paul what he was doing in the cemetery and John Paul answered, "Telling a ghost story"?

Hey, who took my lawn mower? I bid $3.50 for an old hand-pusher at the auction sale Saturday and somebody took off with it. Who knows where it is? I need the exercise.

Last Tuesday when I got back from the tax commissioners' hearing at the high school, I found this note on my desk:

"Tuesday A.M.

"Ted—

"Stopped by to see you—Sorry to have missed you but Dick Prickett and I enjoyed looking over your shop—

E. Ross —"

—So I missed a visit from our Congressman, E. Ross Adair, who was making the rounds of the district last week. He has sent a questionnaire to his constituents asking their views on current problems involving taxes, government spending, Vietnam, etc., in order to know what the people are thinking to serve as a guide in carrying out his duties as our Representative in Congress.

The kids in Mrs. Weaver's special education class put out another edition of their "Riverdale Courier" last week.

Reporters Cheryl Johnson, Roland Harding and Pamela Miller collected the following items:

"Allen and Kevin have had birthdays since our last issue.

"We made some flowers out of colored tissue paper for our mothers.

"In reading we have been doing lots of work with the initial teaching alphabet. It is lots of fun!

"We made Easter baskets out of milk cartons, and used pipe cleaners for handles. We painted and decorated the cartons.

"We have been studying about birds in our science class. Our favorite birds are the robin and the blue jay.

"Mrs. Bevington helped us dye eggs for our baskets on Wednesday. The eggs were such pretty colors.

"We have been looking for signs of spring, and have seen such signs as pussy willows, hyacinths and jonquils.

"Next month, May, will be our last issue."

Auction Raises Near $800

Some 100 to 125 persons defied a rainy day last Saturday to attend and support the benefit auction sponsored by the citizens group from the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District which is seeking to re-establish a central site location for the district's proposed new junior-senior high school.

With sale items ranging from new to used to honest-to-goodness junk, those attending bought $586.65 worth of merchandise. With other income at the sale, the total receipts were $797.40.

Expenses were around $75.

A breakdown of the receipts is as follows:

Auction	$586.65
Donations (cash)	50.00
Hobby Corner	23.00
Food and lunch	137.75
Total receipts	$797.40

A $50.00 donation Monday of this week enabled the group to remit $850.00 to their legal counsel, Nelson Grills of Indianapolis. With the attorney attending Monday's hearing this week, and his presence required again May 3 when a decision will be rendered in the bond matter related to the group's current court action, it is expected that some $1,000 in attorney fees will again be outstanding through May 3.

Crazy Weather

The weather took a crazy turn Wednesday of this week. After a sunny beginning Sunday through Tuesday, including a lot of wind Tuesday, the wind kept blowing into Wednesday and brought cool weather plus snow flurries from time to time during the day. Predicted warm weather didn't make it, and temperatures were going down to the freezing mark for Wednesday night.

Mark it on the calendar for posterity—or something. It snowed, sunshined and blowed on Wednesday, April 24, 1968.

EHS Open House

On Friday, April 26, from 7:30 to 9:15 p.m., Eastside High School is planning an open house for the school patrons of the district.

At 7:30 p.m. teachers and parents will meet in the gym for orientation. Following this meeting, teachers will report to their rooms and a regular schedule of seven shortened periods will follow.

Parents are encouraged to obtain the schedule and room assignment each period from their son or daughter. Student Council members will be assigned as guides to assist parents in locating rooms.

A small number of students will be asked to be present and engage in school work in those activity areas where parents would be most interested in seeing students at work. Several departments will display projects that students have completed this year.

The primary purpose of the open house is to better acquaint parents with their school and the teachers of their students.

Fish Fry Sat'day

The Spencerville Community Club will hold its annual Spring Fish Fry this coming Saturday, April 27, 1968, starting at 5:00 p.m. and running until who-knows-when. The fry will be served at the club building in Spencerville.

The menu is as follows:

Lake Erie perch; choice of potato salad, baked beans and cole slaw; pie; coffee; kool aid.

All carry-out orders must be picked up between 4:00 and 5:30 p.m.

Prices for the fry will be $1.25 for adults and 50c for children under 12.

Extra attractions will be provided with a fish pond, bingo, bazaar, and many other games.

The public is invited to attend and have an evening of fun sponsored by a worthy community organization.

The Unicorn
by Phil Haberkorn

Work is progressing rapidly in preparing the building for use, but that progress may be hindered somewhat by an important factor. Last Saturday, and again Monday afternoon, about half of the wall area was painted, and the painting should be finished this coming Saturday. However, the dance floor must be covered with linoleum and tile. For this to be done, a subfloor must be laid. Materials are needed as soon as possible, and the management is asking the public to make donations of the proper materials, such as plywood. Linoleum and tile are also needed. The Unicorn (at least the dance area) will not be able to begin business until this floor is laid.

An artificial flower garden is planned for construction along one wall of the dance area, and the public is asked to donate the flowers, plywood, and masonite desired to build it.

Additional donations include:

Judy Morgan — 1 gallon paint.

Mrs. James Blake — 2½ gallons paint.

Paper Drive

Spencerville Boy Scout Troop 172 and the Saint Joe-Spencerville Cub Scout Pack 3172 are planning a joint paper drive Friday evening, May 3, and Saturday morning, May 4.

For pickup, call 238-4301 or 238-4637.

Only 12 Acres On Butler Site, Testimony Indicates

A hearing was held Monday, April 22, 1968, at 9:30 a.m. in the DeKalb Circuit Court on a petition seeking posting of bond in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District's school site controversy. A suit was filed in January of this year against the school board by three taxpayers in the district, Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., Jack Hollabaugh and Victor Timmerman, in behalf of a citizens group in the school district seeking to re-establish a central location for a proposed new junior-senior high school. No answer has been filed to the suit, but a petition to have the plaintiffs post a $300,000 bond was filed by school attorney H. Charles Winans. Monday's hearing on the bond request was held in DeKalb Circuit Court before Judge Ray Ade of the Huntington Circuit Court. He was appointed by the State Supreme Court as special judge to hear the case, at the request of the school attorney.

Five witnesses were interrogated by Winans and Nelson Grills, the latter representing the plaintiffs in the court suit. The five were county surveyor Arnold Milks; D. John Turpin of the Fort Wayne office of the state Board of Health; Kenneth Cole, superintendent of schools of the eastern district; Robert Darby, treasurer of the building corporation formed to provide funds for the proposed new school facility; and Oliver Ogden, representative of the school's architects.

Mr. Milks testified at Winans' request as to the surveying of the Butler site to establish the areas required for building construction. On questioning by Grills, the surveyor outlined the area in the site which lies within 500 feet of a railroad and the Butler sewage disposal plant. He then computed that area at 13 acres.

Winans questions directed to Mr. Turpin established the approval of the Butler site by the Board of Health, which waived a 500-foot regulation relative to railroads. Grills then cross-examined the witness who was eventually compelled to admit that a sewage treatment plant could be a health and safety hazard. He admitted that no set schedule is followed for inspection of sewage treatment plants.

Superintendent Cole presented information to indicate that the Butler site could accommodate 2100 or 2600 upper grade students, with two different interpretations of state standards.

To counteract this testimony, Grills asked the superintendent to read the definition of "school building" as established by the state regulations. The definition includes not only "buildings" in the accepted sense but also the site itself, sidewalks, driveways, parking areas, recreational facilities, water and sewer lines, etc. With 13 acres indicated by the surveyor as within 500 feet of a railroad and sewage plant, and 11 acres required for the elementary building already on the Butler site, the superintendent was compelled to admit there were only 12 acres remaining for high school purposes. He was further compelled to admit that, by state regulations, only 300 students can be accommodated on a 12-acre site.

The waiver of the 500-foot regulation by the Board of Health was granted on the condition that no "school buildings" be built within 500 feet of the railroad which lies at the east end of the Butler site.

The superintendent stated during his testimony that all necessary steps had been taken in preparation for actual construction to begin. When Grills asked if construction could "begin tomorrow" if the suit were withdrawn immediately, Cole qualified his previous statement by saying that approval of the sale of bonds had not yet been obtained.

Answers to some questions from Grills were given with obvious reluctance by Turpin and Cole, each of whom appealed once to the court for relief from answering a question as it was posed. The court indicated that they answer the questions as presented.

During interrogation of Turpin, Grills gained the admission from the state health representative that the board of health is demanding the incorporation of ponds in sewage treatment installations.

Darby was questioned concerning the availability of buyers for a school bond issue and he indicated that right now there would be no trouble for the proposed 15-year issue. But he indicated there might be some difficulties encountered in coming months.

Ogden testifed that valuable construction time was being lost this spring. He estimated that the cost of construction was going up at the rate of 5% per year at the present time. A year ago the rate of increase was 4%.

Grills questioned the architect and gained the admission that no construction could be undertaken until the building corporation had obtained the necessary money. Inasmuch as the superintendent had admitted that approval of the bond issue had not yet been sought, the architect then admitted under Grills' questioning that no damages in the form of increased construction costs had occurred due to the plaintiffs' court suit, inasmuch as contractors' bids are guaranteed by a 120-day acceptance clause which does not run out until mid-May.

By mutual agreement between Winans and Grills, no final arguments were presented. Both parties are to file briefs with Judge Ade by this coming Saturday, April 27, 1968. The judge set Friday, May 3, 1968, at 1:00 p.m. for a continuance of the hearing at which time he will render a decision on the posting of bond by the plaintiffs.

The duties of a member of the House of Representatives deal primarily with representation of his constituents in the legislative body.

In this action, he should be aware of the needs of his people and the effect of legislation that is proposed on their welfare.

His interest should be for all of his people and while in the Legislature he is the representative of both the majority and the minority. It is not his duty to take sides in local issues to be solved on the township or county level, but rather to act in the interests of all of his people in legislation introduced in the legislature. To this end, it is his responsibility to help enact laws for the benefit of the state and to act to defeat bills that would be obnoxious. He also should have an eye on controlling needless taxation or expenditures.

It is my pledge to continue to do only those things which will add to the dignity and honor of the office.

I received a very nice letter from Kathy Hudson last Saturday.

Kathy asked me to locate the addresses of Tom Stemen, Joe Creager, and Bob Arnett. So go and get your stationery, Kathy, here they are.

Pvt. Thomas Stemen enlisted in the Marine Corps February 14th of '68 and was sent to San Diego for basic, which he completed Monday, April 22. During basic, Tom qualified as an expert Rifleman and was rewarded a 30 minute phone call home.

Tom's address is:
Tom's address is:
Pvt. Thomas Stemen 2384049
Plt. 235 MCRD
San Diego, Calif. 92140

You can look for Tom to come home sometime in May for a twenty-day leave.

Even though we are two weeks late, we are still going to wish Tom a happy birthday. It was April eighth (hope it was a good one, Tom).

In my third column (March 14) I blabbed everything I know about Joe Creager, so I'll just repeat his address:
Cpl. Joe Creager 2267510
I Co., 3rd Bn., 1st Mar. Reg.
1st Mar. Div. 1st Plt.
FPO San Francisco, Cal. 96602

Bob Arnett enlisted in the Navy in May of '67 and left for basic training at Great Lakes in September of '67. He was last home the 9th of March for 7 days. After his leave he reported back to Gulf Port, Miss.

On Monday, April 15, Bob left for Viet Nam, where he is working in construction.

His address is:
C A Robert E. Arnett B525211
Co/C USN MCB 133
F.P.O. New York, N.Y. 09501

When I called Mrs. John Stemen to get some information about, Tom, I got a bonus, because I also got info on Jack.

Jack C. Stemen enlisted in the Navy December 29,'66. He took his basic at Great Lakes. After basic Jack completed twenty-two weeks of Radar Training and then went to Long Beach, California.

In Jan. of '68 Jack was home for twelve days. He is now stationed in Sasebo, Japan. You may address your letters to:
Jack C. Stemen RD2 B 504202

FPO San Francisco, Cal. 96601

Jack's wife, Paula (Beuchel) Stemen, lives in Auburn with their one-month-old daughter Tracy Ann and Paula's parents.

Cal Coburn is due home on leave sometime in May.

Mike Haberkorn dropped a line to say "Aloha." Mike (as you know from last week's column) is stationed in Hawaii, he gets the paper about 4 weeks late, so he can't read about himself and brother Dave until next month. Mike also asked me to say "Aloha" to the editor of the News. He says that he has known him quite a few years and thinks he is a pretty good guy!! I'm sure a lot of us who haven't known him as long will agree.

Mrs. Jane Budowski works at the International Harvester Co. in Ft. Wayne, (Dept. 1444 I.B.M.) with my mother, Mrs. Irene Loshe. Mother takes the News to work with her every week and they read my column.

Jane has a son in the Service who would also enjoy some letters, so keep your pens and stationery handy and keep on reading!

Pfc. Walerij Budowski enlisted in the Army Sept. 11, '67, and took his basic at Ft. Campbell, Ky. He returned home Feb. 19 for a twenty-day leave and left March 11, '68 for Viet Nam.

Walerij is now working in an office at An Kah in Viet Nam. You may address your letters to:

Mrs. Kathy Strock stopped by the Unicorn Monday, to tell me that husband L/Cpl. Steven B. Strock, serving with the Marines, has been promoted to Corporal.

Steve is stationed six miles south of Da Nang in Viet Nam.

Bob Gerber and his mortar plt. sent a tape home to Bob's wife Nancy. They say that all the names that were given to them really fit, they enjoyed reading them, and they want extra copies of the News! Can you imagine yourself being given crazy names as those were given? And [illegible]

With my editor's permission, I'll repeat that part of my March 28th column for those of you who may have missed it.

Gerb didn't send the first names—

"Vodka" Collins from Oklahoma;
"Dangerous" Dalton from Indiana;
"Sir Cedrick" Coatsworth from Minnesota;
"Kandy Bar" Clarke from Illinois;
"Big Chief" Safar from North Dakota;
"Mysterious" Madama from New Jersey;

"Take-a-Gander" Zander from Missouri;
"Rigor" Morris from Texas;
"Bruiser" Crouse from Indiana;
"Rattling" Robertson from Texas;
"Crazylegs" Cornelius from California.

I guess there is no accounting for taste!

Army Private First Class William G. Creager, 23, whose mother, Mrs. Irene Jackson, lives at 230 Cherry Street in Butler, was assigned April 9 to the 4th Infantry Division near Pleiku, Vietnam, as a rifleman.

His father, Kenneth Creager, lives at 230 Franklin Street in Waterloo.

See you next week, don't forget to drop a line.

P.S. I got a letter from Mrs. Robert Bay of Ft. Wayne. Barbara says that she hates to see the column named. She is used to seeing the ?. She says it is easy to spot.

I, Richard Coll, am a compromise candidate for the DeKalb County Eastern Community School Board. I am a Farm Bureau member, having served 6 years on the county board, also serving as DeKalb County Rural Youth Advisor. I am a graduate of Butler High School, Class of '43' where I was a band member for 4 years. I have also participated in the field of music most of the time since. I am a full time farmer residing 3 miles east of Butler. I am a member of the United Methodist Church. If elected to the school board, I will be representing Troy, Stafford and Newville townships, of which I propose to be as fair to the northeast corner of Troy as well as to the southeast corner of Newville Township and I challenge any other member of the board to do likewise for the district which he represents.

I do not favor the Butler site, but I do favor a site somewhere between the south city limits of Butler and State Road 8, preferably somewhere not now being considered, with good drainage and with good accessibility. I favor a good academic program with as good of teachers as possible, a good athletic program with a full band playing at all home games, with their director being present to see that it is being carried out right. I also favor a good Adult Education Program if it is wanted by us taxpayers who also own these school buildings.

Thanks to those of you who support my candidacy.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER TO BE A CANDIDATE

Cecil Fitch seeks renomination on the Republican Ticket for County Commissioner of South-East District.

I am the present County Commissioner for the South-East District and am announcing that I will seek re-election to a third term.

I was born and raised in Butler Township, DeKalb County. I and my wife, the former Josephine Kistler of Noble County, Indiana, have two children, Mrs. Larry Walberry of Huntington, Indiana, and Richard Fitch, an electronic engineering technician at Bell Laboratories in Indianapolis. There are five grandchildren.

COURT HOUSE REMODELED

During my six years in office, the County Court House has been cleaned, tuck-pointed and new modern aluminum doors have been added; the public rest rooms remodeled; court room carpeted; windows replaced and floors sealed. The heating system has been converted to gas, with one furnace left to handle coal for emergency use. The Court House is one of the most beautiful in the State of Indiana.

Micro-film equipment for recording deeds has been put in the Recorder's office and an addrome-o-graph in the Auditor's office—both have contributed greatly to the efficiency of the offices.

HEALTH BOARD

A county-wide Health Board has been established and for the first time in the history of the County, all birth and death records are kept in one office. The Health Board, a bipartisan board, is operating very well.

PLANNING COMMISSION

A County Planning Commission, with a bipartisan board, has been established and is operating very well to control the orderly development of our county.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

The Highway Department is now one of the best equipped in this part of the state. The highway personnel are courteous and hard working. All monies for highway maintenance and improvement come from the Gasoline Tax Fund. No LOCAL TAXES are used excepting for bridges or culverts costing over $1,000.00. This comes from the Cumulative Bridge Fund.

The department is trying to update its roads to carry the heavy loads of modern day traffic. A system of dust control has been inaugurated in front of rural homes. This will be continued.

COUNTY HOME

The County Home, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parker, is being run in a very efficient manner. Gross receipts have jumped from $20,000.00 annually to $35,000.00, or an increase of $15,000.00 per year.

The residents are well cared for and the grounds are neat and clean. A modern kitchen has been installed to help lighten the work load.

The County Voting Machines are kept in the basement of the home, thus saving an additional $1,200.00 per year rent.

Fifteen acres have been cleared and several thousand feet of tile have been laid.

COUNTY LANDFILL

A committee has been appointed to study and make recommendations to the County Commissioners and the County Council as the the best and most efficient way to operate a county landfill.

DRAINAGE BOARD

The 1965 Legislature designated the County Commissioners as the Drainage Board, and although we do not receive any pay we have accepted the challenge. With County Surveyor Arnold Milks, we have already held hearings and established maintenance funds on over thirty-five separate drains and have let two major contracts for reconstruction.

Excellent working relations have been established with the County Council and other governing bodies in surrounding counties.

MENTAL HEALTH

Last year a County Fund was established to help defray the expenses for psychiatric care for the mentally disturbed of DeKalb County, who can not afford the service.

I am especially pleased that with these progressive improvements, the County Commissioners and the County Council have been able to hold the County Tax Rate of $1.60 per hundred assessed valuation. The $1.60 is the only part of the total tax rate over which the County Commissioners and County Council have control.

I am a member of the Norris Chapel Methodist Church, the Indiana Association of County Commissioners, a director of the DeKalb County T.B. Association, a member of the DeKalb County Extension Advisory Committee, K. P. Lodge, Waterloo Lions Club, Northeastern Mental Health, Garrett Lodge No. 129 F. Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Dick Kagey excitedly told me about a fishing experience last Saturday involving him and a few other anglers.

Tim Hollabaugh hooked a 4 lb. Red Horse Saturday. The line broke but it caught on a line tossed out by Denny Meichi. The whole works was being tugged into the water when Dick grabbed it. Some final help from Tom Hollabaugh landed the fish—and gave the boys a good fish story to tell their grandchildren someday.

The primary election next Tuesday will include the election of school board members, four to be exact, in our school district. There is a contest in only one instance, that between present board member Delbert Washler and Dick Coil. Others who are as good as in are Syd Long, Harold Kagey and Lynn Fisher; they have no opposition.

There are many people who may be voting in that one contest on the basis of site agreement or disagreement. At the risk of appearing to have something "against" one candidate or to think there is something "wrong" with him, I suggest that disagreement with Mr. Washler because of his support of the Butler site should not determine how our vote will be made. There is more to the school board job than just picking a school site, and Mr. Washler has done a conscientious job in his overall duties, as far as I can see.

I can understand why some people will vote against him—they don't like his site outlook for the new high school. But voting against him will do no good for anyone, if the vote is only because of his site outlook.

I don't have anything in particular against Mr. Coil; in fact, I probably should be speaking loudly and strongly for him, inasmuch as he has indicated his desire to find another site other than the Butler site. But the site is not the whole story, and as long as Mr. Washler has been a satisfactory board member in other respects, and as long as it will do no good particularly to get rid of him, and as long as he wants to serve again, I see no good reason for opposing him.

To vote against the incumbent, in this case, might be like biting off one's nose to spite one's face.

Most of last Saturday morning and afternoon was used in removing heavy equipment from the front part of the building, along with a small amount of painting being done. Last Tuesday, the walls were washed in preparation for further painting, which will be finished soon. This Friday afternoon, a group of club members plans to pick up wire reels discarded by the I&M electric company. The reels will be remodeled for use as tables.

We would like to repeat our plea for materials needed for construction of a subfloor in the dance area. The club will not be able to operate unless this floor is laid. Anyone wishing to donate the proper materials is urged to do so.

Donations of old pillows, rugs, carpet and linoleum remnants, artificial flowers, plywood, and tile may be made by contacting Loretta Loy at 337-3675.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank those who cheered me during my hospital stay with cards, flowers, gifts and prayers. They are deeply appreciated.

Here we are with No. Ten. What a week! I've been so busy this week, I began to wonder if I could find time to write to you!

We have been busy at the teen canteen, cleaning and painting and just generally trying to get it organized.

The teens are working very hard. Watching them work deepens my faith in teenagers and makes me wish I that I had their endurance.

The column is growing, too. It's getting ahead of me a little. I guess from now on I'll have to write to you first, and then try to find time for the rest of the things that have to be done!

When Mike Haberkorn wrote last week, he asked me for Randy Reinhart's address. I tried to call Mrs. Reinhart to get it, but I didn't get through. Saturday morning I got a letter from her. She must have mental telepathy.

Randy, wife Barb and son Rod left Saint Joe April 16 for Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. Randy had returned from Vietnam for a thirty day leave. His address is:

SP-4 Randy E. Reinhart
25 Daniels Lieber Heights
Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. 65473

Mrs. Reinhart also sent information on Number One son Rock. He is stationed at Long Beach, California, with wife, Bonnie, and daughter, Dori Ann. April 30 Rock left California for 8 months sea duty aboard Helicopter Carrier USS Princeton. He is an electronic technician first class. His address is:

Rock A. Reinhart ET1
O E Division,
USS Princeton (LPH3)
FPO San Francisco, Ca. 96601

A new title for the column from Mrs. Reinhart is "News From Uncle Sam's Boys."

Thank you, Mrs. Reinhart, for the name and for the letter.

I got a call from Barbara Davis this week. Barb said that husband Lance Cpl. Mike Davis graduated from Ground Radio School last Friday, April 26. He is now stationed at Beaufort, South Carolina, and is expected home soon for a two week leave.

Marcia Sible called to say that son Gary is home. He has been promoted to the rank of Captain. He enlisted in the Air Force in January of '65 and took his basic in Texas. He completed officers training and took a six month tour of duty in Vietnam. Gary is a navigator on a B-52 bomber. He returned to the states March 30. His present address is:

Capt. Gary B. Sible
454 Hadley Street
South Hadley, Mo.

Marcia said that she also likes the "?" as a heading for the column.

Larry Beaty and John Stiver will complete their basic training at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, Friday, May 3. John will go to Fort Polk, Louisiana, for eight weeks (A.I.T.) Advanced Infantry Training.

Larry will report to Aberdeen, Maryland May 17 for Helicopter Armament School.

Danny Beaty is in the Air National Guard and is leaving Sunday for 6 weeks training at Lackland Air Force Base. From there he will go to Lowrey Air Force Base for an additional 16 weeks.

Son Mike is home this week. He will report to Fort Walters, Texas, Sunday, May 4.

Bridge Contracts Let

The DeKalb County Commissioners have announced that a contract was awarded to the Forker Excavating Co. of Albion for the widening of Cedar Creek bridge on the Auburn-Ashley Road Monday at the commissioners' regular meeting. The same firm was also awarded the contract for new bridge construction at the Crow bridge northwest of Saint Joe. Total cost of the two bridges is $34,642.

Plans were submitted by Robert Buschman of Auburn for the Dills Bridge across the Saint Joe River south of Saint Joe. The old covered bridge has become unsafe for public use and must be replaced. The plans will now be submitted to the State of Indiana for approval.

The proposed bridge will be 29 feet wide and 235½ feet long and is expected to cost $250,000. The cost will be shared equally by the county, from the cumulative bridge fund, with equal monies coming from federal aid.

It is hoped that the contract can be let this year.

Only 12 Acres On Butler Site, Testimony Indicates

(NOTE: Due to incomplete reports published elsewhere, the following is reprinted from last week's issue for the benefit of those boxholders receiving this issue.)

A hearing was held Monday, April 22, 1968, at 9:30 a.m. in the DeKalb Circuit Court on a petition seeking posting of bond in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District's school site controversy. A suit was filed in January of this year against the school board by three taxpayers in the district, Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., Jack Hollabaugh and Victor Timmerman, in behalf of a citizens group in the school district seeking to re-establish a central location for a proposed new junior-senior high school. No answer has been filed to the suit, but a petition to have the plaintiffs post a $500,000 bond was filed by school attorney H. Charles Winans. Monday's hearing on the bond request was held in DeKalb Circuit Court before Judge Ray Ade of the Huntington Circuit Court. He was appointed by the State Supreme Court as special judge to hear the case, at the request of the school attorney.

Five witnesses were interrogated by Winans and Nelson Grills, the latter representing the plaintiffs in the court suit. The five were county surveyor Arnold Milks; D. John Turpin of the Fort Wayne office of the state Board of Health; Kenneth Cole, superintendent of schools of the eastern district; Robert Darby, treasurer of the building corporation formed to provide funds for the proposed new school facility; and Oliver Ogden, representative of the school's architects.

Mr. Milks testified at Winans' request as to the surveying of the Butler site to establish the areas required for building construction. On questioning by Grills, the surveyor outlined the area in the site which lies within 500 feet of a railroad and the Butler sewage disposal plant. He then computed that area at 18 acres.

Winans questions directed to Mr. Turpin established the approval of the Butler site by the Board of Health, which waived a 500-foot regulation relative to railroads. Grills then cross-examined the witness who was eventually compelled to admit that a sewage treatment plant could be a health and safety hazard. He admitted that no set schedule is followed for inspection of sewage treatment plants.

Superintendent Cole presented information to indicate that the Butler site could accommodate 2100 or 2600 upper grade students, with two different interpretations of state standards.

To counteract this testimony, Grills asked the superintendent to read the definition of "school building" as established by the state regulations. The definition includes not only "buildings" in the accepted sense but also the site itself, sidewalks, driveways, parking areas, recreational facilities, water and sewer lines, etc. With 18 acres indicated by the surveyor as within 500 feet of a railroad and sewage plant, and 11 acres required for the elementary building already on the Butler site, the superintendent was compelled to admit there were only 12 acres remaining for high school purposes. He was further compelled to admit that, by state regulations, only 300 students can be accommodated on a 12-acre site.

The waiver of the 500-foot regulation by the Board of Health was granted on the condition that no "school buildings" be built within 500 feet of the railroad which lies at the east end of the Butler site.

The superintendent stated during his testimony that all necessary steps had been taken in preparation for actual construction to begin. When Grills asked if construction could "begin tomorrow" if the suit were withdrawn immediately, Cole qualified his previous statement by saying that approval of the sale of bonds had not yet been obtained.

Answers to some questions from Grills were given with obvious reluctance by Turpin and Cole, each of whom appealed once to the court for relief from answering a question as it was posed. The court indicated that they answer the questions as presented.

During interrogation of Turpin, Grills gained the admission from the state health representative that the board of health is demanding the incorporation of ponds in sewage treatment installations.

Darby was questioned concerning the availability of buyers for a school bond issue and he indicated that right now there would be no trouble for the proposed 15-year issue. But he indicated there might be some difficulties encountered in coming months.

Ogden testifed that valuable construction time was being lost this spring. He estimated that the cost of construction was going up at the rate of 5% per year at the present time. A year ago the rate of increase was 4%.

Grills questioned the architect and gained the admission that no construction could be undertaken until the building corporation had obtained the necessary money. Inasmuch as the superintendent had admitted that approval of the bond issue had not yet been sought, the architect then admitted under Grills' questioning that no damages in the form of increased construction costs had occurred due to the plaintiffs' court suit, inasmuch as contractors' bids are guaranteed by a 120-day acceptance clause until mid-May.

2 Killed In Crash

Two deaths have occurred as a result of a two-car crash on State Road 101 just south of State Road 8 at 11:30 p.m. Saturday night.

Dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital was Maurice John Stark, 53, of Rt Auburn. Mrs. Roberta Grobis, 32, of Rt Butler died at Parkview Memorial Hospital in Fort Wayne Monday due to injuries suffered in the same accident.

Other passengers in the car driven by Mr. Stark were Marvelle Stark, 50, his wife; Lyle Wiler, 47, of Auburn; and his wife, Martha Wiler, 40.

The driver of the other car was Michael Storer, 17, of Rt Saint Joe who was treated for injuries and released. Debbie McDowell, 15, of Rt Saint Joe, a passenger in the Storer car, suffered a broken nose and abrasions to her right leg.

Investigating officers said the accident occurred when the Storer car, a 1963 Pontiac, crossed the center line headed south and rammed into the left front of the 1964 Chevrolet driven by Stark who was headed north.

The force of the impact spun the cars around and each went about 50 feet before coming to rest on their wheels. Both cars were totally demolished.

An Uphill Struggle

The citizens group in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District which is seeking to re-establish a central site for the district's proposed new junior-senior high school had another "curve ball" thrown at it last week in the form of a newspaper article in the county daily. The neswpaper was in all probability innocent of any intent to show favoritism, and the publication of the article (which contained only one side of the April 22, 1968, court hearing on a petition to require posting of a bond by the citizens group) represented the acceptance of the information therein as factual and complete. In other words, they trusted the source. Unfortunately, the article had only half the story; it was very misleading.

Many citizens from our school district, and not just from the Saint Joe "faction" as an identification was made in the article in reference to the group, telephoned the county newspaper to register their complaints about the article. From these persons have come conflicting reports as to who wrote the article and how it came to be published. One caller was told that the paper had a reporter at the hearing, another was told the information was given by the school attorney, another was told the attorney wrote the article.

It probably doesn't matter particularly who wrote the article, except that if it was a reporter representing the paper, the reporter did a poor job of factual reporting; there was nothing to indicate that the plaintiffs in the case used any witnesses in presenting their case. On the other hand, if the article was prepared by someone else, as was indicated, the content of the article shows in black and white the drastic manner in which the citizens group is being opposed in its effort to get a better location for the proposed new school. The opposition is taking advantage of every possibility to discredit the citizens group and deny it fair public consideration. If the article was prepared by someone else, it is an indication of the closed-mind opposition which the citizens group has faced since its efforts began.

"Curve balls" are being thrown right and left, perhaps in desperation, in recent weeks. The minutes of a March school board meeting were so misleading in their content as to prompt the Butler newspaper to publish the following in connection with an article related to the site matter:

"At the meeting of the Board of Education last Monday night, a discussion was held about the many untruths which had been published in the St. Joe News the past two years in regards to the proposed new Junior-Senior high school building site."

The Butler newspaper did not have a representative at the school board meeting in question. The Saint Joe News did. Therefore, I can tell you as a witness that there was no such discussion. But to read the Butler paper, and to read the minutes of that meeting, you would be led to believe that the gist of the board's discussion centered around a little weekly newspaper and what it had published, and that the school board expressed its displeasure. There was no such discussion.

A three-page letter, therefore, was sent to the president of the school board protesting the wording of the minutes. No demand was made for retraction of the minutes or change of wording; the board was allowed to use its judgment about the matter. But no change was made. Therefore, the minutes of the March 18, 1968, school board meeting still stand as originally written, they are still misleading as to the general air of discussion.

The belittling of the citizens group effort was even carried into the wording of the petition requesting that the group post a bond for possible damages due to delay in construction. The petition stated that the only reason a suit has been filed in the circuit court against the local school board is to "harass" the board and "delay" the construction of a new school. If an effort to get a school located where it can be literally a center of community activity, if an effort to get the school on a site big enough to be appropriate for today's educational needs and tomorrow's population growth, if an effort to be considered part of a school district rather than be considered as "country cousins" who are granted the privilege of going to the same school with the elite of the district — if these are considered appropriate under the definition of "harass", then, yes, the citizens group is "harassing" the school board.

As far as delay is concerned, there seems to be an inclination on the part of some Butler enthusiasts to forget that the greatest delay came after the previous school board voted to locate in a central area. Nothing can be proved, possibly, but the "talk" from Butler at the time was that things would be delayed until a "new" board could be elected. And things were delayed. And a "new' board was elected. And the original site decision was rescinded.

So, when you boil it down, the charges of "harass" and "delay" are more appropriate in describing the forces which the citizens group is opposing, rather than describing the efforts of the citizens group itself.

In addition, I have been accused, both publicly and privately, by the Butler newspaper, by the school administration, legal counsel and certain board members, of publishing and stating lies, untruths and misstatements. I offered a couple of years ago to the former superintendent, and I repeated the offer at a recent school board meeting, to publicly retract any statements I have made which are disproved as to truthfulness. I do not wish to—I have no need to—mislead the public in any matter involving the public. So far, no one has given me the opportunity to make any retractions. But the accusations have had their effect elsewhere, inasmuch as information concerning the school situation is seldom if ever picked up from this paper by other papers. But the Butler Record-Herald has been used as a source of information. I am like the citizens group—we are willing to lay our cards on the table, and have done so as far as site size and location are concerned. But the Butler site proponents avoid honest deliberations and instead cast doubts on the citizens group and its purpose, throw out accusations of lies, untruths, and so on, to cloud the issue which common sense can best answer! And their tactics have borne fruit.

There has been little indication at any time that the Butler site forces will consider anything but the Butler site. On the other hand, there has never been an indication by the citizens group that it would be unwilling to discuss the site matter and try to reach an agreeable decision for as many as possible. It is a matter of record that board member Harold Kagey has twice challenged the board majority in the last six weeks to get both "sides" together and select a mutually agreeable site. No such action has been taken.

There has been "talk" in recent weeks that some Butler elements would be willing to compromise. However, there has been no approach made to the citizens group about any such compromise discussion. And another "however" is that those Butler elements willing to "compromise" have already decided on a compromise site, the Casebere farm at the city limits of Butler. Those in the citizens group who may feel encouraged at "compromise" talk may find it necessary to redefine the word, if prior selection by one side is considered to be "compromise."

The money in the city of Butler which is supposedly available to fight against any site other than the Butler site seems to have scared many people in Butler into complete subjugation, regardless of their business, professional or social status. The present school board majority is, by its own admission, pressing for the Butler site because of the greater amount of money in a few Butler pockets available for a site fight than in the citizens group pockets. The site is not being decided on the basis of merit, of common sense, of consideration for all, of potential use as a community center, of convenience to the greatest portion of the district. It is being decided on the basis of moneyed interests, of outdated school loyalty (which incidentally we at Spencerville, Newville and Saint Joe had to outgrow!), of economic pressure, of attention-diverting charges of "lies" and "untruths", in short on the basis of a lot of "curve balls" being thrown by certain individuals trying to make some of their own fellow school patrons look like bush-leaguers and treating them as such.

The most unfortunate thing is that the Lyons site, on which the school board still has an option until September of this year, must apparently be cast aside in order to settle the dispute. I say unfortunate because the Lyons site represents a compromise by the previous school board, whether Butlerites realize it or not. After all, the old board, which decided on a rural location originally, could have gone clear down to State Road 8 to look for a site; the Ball State survey gave such a location as a possibility! But the old board didn't do as they could have, they did as they ought, and moved a mile north to the Lyons site.

But, again, apparently that 80-acre plot must be thrown out. At the reasonable price of $400 per acre, no school corporation could match it. On the average you'd better figure $1,000 per acre when you compute school site cost!

I have stated on more than one occasion that the best solution to the matter is not by a court decision for either side. The best solution is for us to work it out together. Compromise—in its true sense!—is the best solution.

Others say. . . .

I AM A REPUBLICAN BECAUSE . . . .

I believe that faith in individual people is the only true foundation of our national strength.

I believe that our national stability can stem only from the basic constitutional principles that unite us.

I believe that free enterprise and encouragement of individual incentive have given this nation an economic system second to none on earth.

I believe, as Lincoln did, that the proper function of a government is to do for the people only those things that have to be done, but cannot be done by individuals for themselves.

I believe that sound economic growth can be generated only by sound money and avoidance of inflationary deficits.

I believe in equal rights and equal justice for all regardless of race, creed or color.

I believe Americans have an international kinship with peoples everywhere who seek the extension of freedom and human rights.

I believe that Americans have an enduring capability of making hard decisions unflinchingly when the security of the nation and our free world allies is threatened by aggression.

I believe the party is a party of vision, retaining those things from the past that are worth retaining and always receptive to new ideas in the task of building a better America.

I believe our mission is to win on merit as we appeal to all segments of the population —not as separate groups but as part of the whole with equal but never superior claims on the progress we can generate.

Finally, I believe that only through the Republican Party can these ideals become active and successful principles of government.

—New Mexico Republican (in the Republican "Newsletter.")

"I'M FOR THE UPPERDOG"

I've about reached the end of my tolerance for our society's one-sided sympathy for the misfit, the ne'er-do-well, the drug addict, the chronic criminal, the loser—in general, the underdog. I feel it's time for someone to stand up and say: "I'm for the upperdog!"

I'm for the one who sets out to do something and does it; the one who recognizes the problems at hand and endeavors to deal with them; the one who isn't blaming someone else's failings; who doesn't consider it "square" to wonder what more he can do instead of why he shouldn't be doing what he's doing. Whether "privileged" or "underprivileged," each of us should be judged by what he does with what he inherits—not merely excused as a "victim of his environment."

The quality of any society is directly related to the quality of the individuals who make it up. We will never create a good society, much less a great one, until individual excellence and achievement are not only respected but encouraged. Building a better society will only be done by those who take seriously their responsibility for making the most of their native ability, for getting the job done. That is why I am for the achiever —the succeeder—the UPPERDOG.

- Announcement -

I, Richard Coll, am a compromise candidate for the DeKalb County Eastern Community School Board. I am a Farm Bureau member, having served 6 years on the county board, also serving as DeKalb County Rural Youth Adviser. I am a graduate of Butler High School, Class of '43' where I was a band member for 4 years. I have also participated in the field of music most of the time since. I am a full time farmer residing 3 miles east of Butler. I am a member of the United Methodist Church. If elected to the school board, I will be representing Troy, Stafford and Newville townships, of which I propose to be as fair to the northeast corner of Troy as well as to the southeast corner of Newville Township and I challenge any other member of the board to do likewise for the district which he represents.

I do not favor the Butler site, but I do favor a site somewhere between the south city limits of Butler and State Road 8, preferably somewhere not now being considered, with good drainage and with good accessibility. I favor a good academic program with as good of teachers as possible, a good athletic program with a full band playing at all home games, with their director being present to see that it is being carried out right. I also favor a good Adult Education Program if it is wanted by us taxpayers who also own these school buildings.

Thanks to those of you who support my candidacy.

HOLDEN ANNOUNCES QUESTIONNAIRE ANSWERS, MORE APPOINTMENTS

Merle R. Holden, Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties, has announced to the public his answer to a questionnaire distributed by the Indiana Township Trustees Association. The association has 1008 members. The questions were asked of all candidates for the state legisature.

The questions and Mr. Hloden's answers:

1. Do you favor the elected Township Trustees system of local government? —Yes

2. Do you favor the elected Township Trustees serving as the county welfare board in lieu of the present appointive system? —Yes

3. Do you agree that elected Township Trustees by giving immediate emergency aid to the poor at a minimum administrative cost to the taxpayer have been instrumental in saving the cities and rural areas of our state from economic and social upheaval that has plagued our nation? —Yes

4. Do you feel that a study commission should be established to evaluate by means of research, study and investigation the operation of school reorganization to date and its effect on local property taxes? —Yes

5. Are you in favor of mandatory school reorganization? —No

Mr. Holden commented, "Elected township trustees are the best form of local government."

Art Garragus, the 1964 Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties, has been appointed a director of the Holden for Joint State Representative Club in DeKalb and Steuben counties.

Mr. Garragus is the guidance director at Shipshewana High School and has previously taught at Garrett, Ashley, Salem Center and Topeka schools. He has also served as a minister at Auburn, Hudson and Corunna. He has attended Butler, Goshen and St. Francis colleges. He and his wife, Alta, reside at the West Edge Mobile Home Court in Auburn. They have two sons, Bill stationed with the armed forces in Japan, and Paul, a student at Davidson College.

Mr. Holden said that Mr. Garragus' experience in the 1964 campaign will be of considerable benefit to the present campaign since he will be able to advise on the nature of campaigning in the two counties. "Art Garragus is a widely known and respected man in the tri-state area and it is a definite asset to our organization to have his services," Mr. Holden stated.

Herbert J. Moore, well known Pleasant Lake businessman, has been appointed Steuben County chairman of the Holden for Joint State Representative Club, it has been announced by Mr. Holden.

Mr. Moore is the owner and manager of Moore's Hardware in Pleasant Lake and is a long time precinct committeeman in Steuben County. In 1964 he was a candidate for county commissioner. He has also been a delegate to past Democratic state conventions and will be a delegate to this year's state convention.

In announcing the appointment, Mr. Holden stated, "Herb Moore's acceptance of this most important position is a great pleasure for me and is a definite asset for our campaign to present a choice to the people of these two counties and to bring forth a campaign based on issues. Mr. Moore is one of the most knowledgeable persons that I know in politics and in government."

Patrick J. McDermott, 1516 South Dallas, Auburn, has been appointed treasurer of the Holden for Joint State Representative Club in DeKalb County. The appointment of the life-long resident of DeKalb County was announced by Merle R. Holden.

Previously, Eleanor Thomas had been appointed vice-chairman, Mrs. Carl Walter secretary, and Art Garragus a director. Dick Harris has been appointed coordinator for the two counties, DeKalb and Steuben.

Mr. McDermott is a native of Garrett where he graduated from St. Joseph Catholic High School before attending the Indiana University Extension in Fort Wayne. He is a four year Air Force veteran and is presently employed by the Indiana Department of Revenue. He has lived in Auburn for the past eight years.

The duties of a member of the House of Representatives deal primarily with representation of his constituents in the legislative body.

In this action, he should be aware of the needs of his people and the effect of legislation that is proposed on their welfare.

His interest should be for all of his people and while in the Legislature he is the representative of both the majority and the minority. It is not his duty to take sides in local issues to be solved on the township or county level, but rather to act in the interests of all of his people in legislation introduced in the legislature. To this end, it is his responsibility to help enact laws for the benefit of the state and to act to defeat bills that would be obnoxious. He also should have an eye on controlling needless taxation or expenditures.

It is my pledge to continue to do only those things which will add to the dignity and honor of the office.

LAUB SPEAKS OUT ON TAX-SAVING

During an informal reception held at Republican Headquarters in Auburn Friday night, DeKalb County Commissioner candidate Frank Laub took a firm position on a tax savings program.

He said that thousands of tax dollars could be saved by a closer working relationship between county, state, city, and township governments. Mr. Laub stated that he was surprised to find out that in many cases a year or more has passed without any contact between various levels of government. Mr. Laub said: "This is a serious mistake. You cannot have dollar saving effective government without good working relationship among all government officials."

Mr. Laub said that, if elected, he proposes to meet at regular intervals with state, county, city, and township officials "to unite our government working efforts."

COUNTY COMMISSIONER TO BE A CANDIDATE

Cecil Fitch seeks renomination on the Republican Ticket for County Commissioner of South-East District.

I am the present County Commissioner for the South East District and am announcing that I will seek re-election to a third term.

I was born and raised in Butler Township, DeKalb County. I and my wife, the former Josephine Kistler of Noble County, Indiana, have two children, Mrs. Larry Walberry of Huntington, Indiana, and Richard Fitch, an electronic engineering technician at Bell Laboratories in Indianapolis. There are five grandchildren.

COURT HOUSE REMODELED

During my six years in office, the County Court House has been cleaned, tuck-pointed and new modern aluminum doors have been added; the public rest rooms remodeled; court room carpeted; windows replaced and floors sealed. The heating system has been converted to gas, with one furnace left to handle coal for emergency use. The Court House is one of the most beautiful in the State of Indiana.

Micro-film equipment for recording deeds has been put in the Recorder's office and an address-o-graph in the Auditor's office—both have contributed greatly to the efficiency of the offices.

HEALTH BOARD

A county-wide Health Board has been established and for the first time in the history of the County, all birth and death records are kept in one office. The Health Board, a bipartisan board, is operating very well.

PLANNING COMMISSION

A County Planning Commission, with a bipartisan board, has been established and is operating very well to control the orderly development of our county.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

The Highway Department is now one of the best equipped in this part of the state. The highway personnel are courteous and hard working. All monies for highway maintenance and improvement come from the Gasoline Tax Fund. No LOCAL TAXES are used excepting for bridges or culverts costing over $1,000.00. This comes from the Cumulative Bridge Fund.

The department is trying to update its roads to carry the heavy loads of modern day traffic. A system of dust control has been inaugurated in front of rural homes. This will be continued.

COUNTY HOME

The County Home, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parker, is being run in a very efficient manner. Gross receipts have jumped from $20,000.00 annually to $35,000.00, or an increase of $15,000.00 per year.

The residents are well cared for and the grounds are neat and clean. A modern kitchen has been installed to help lighten the work load.

The County Voting Machines are kept in the basement of the home, thus saving an additional $1,200.00 per year rent.

Fifteen acres have been cleared and several thousand feet of tile have been laid.

COUNTY LANDFILL

A committee has been appointed to study and make recommendations to the County Commissioners and the County Council as the the best and most efficient way to operate a county landfill.

DRAINAGE BOARD

The 1965 Legislature designated the County Commissioners as the Drainage Board, and although we do not receive any pay we have accepted the challenge. With County Surveyor Arnold Milks, we have already held hearings and established maintenance funds on over thirty-five separate drains and have let two major contracts for reconstruction.

Excellent working relations have been established with the County Council and other governing bodies in surrounding counties.

MENTAL HEALTH

Last year a County Fund was established to help defray the expenses for psychiatric care for the mentally disturbed of DeKalb County, who can not afford the service.

I am especially pleased that with these progressive improvements, the County Commissioners and the County Council have been able to hold the County Tax Rate of $1.60 per hundred assessed valuation. The $1.60 is the only part of the total tax rate over which the County Commissioners and County Council have control.

I am a member of the Norris Chapel Methodist Church, the Indiana Association of County Commissioners, a director of the DeKalb County T.B. Association, a member of the DeKalb County Extension Advisory Committee, K. P. Lodge, Waterloo Lions Club, Northeastern Mental Health, Garrett Lodge No. 129 F. A.M. and the Waterloo City Lodge No. 307 F.&A.M. and Eastern Star. I have been active in 4-H club work for over 25 years.

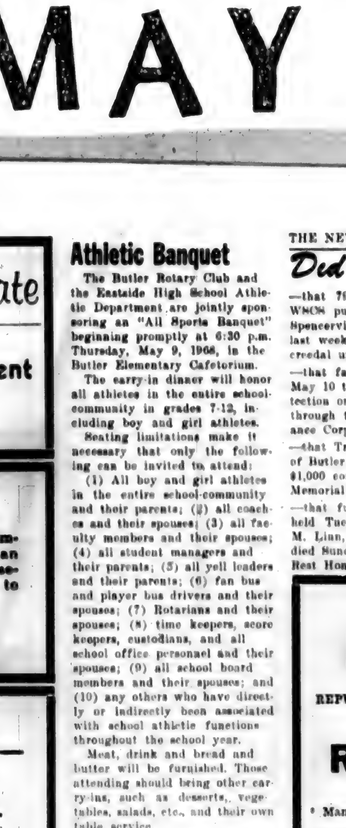
If electric rates are lower than ever, how come your bill is higher?



Yeah, how come?

Easy... you're living better. It works this way: our rates for electricity have gone down over the years. But you're using more power all the time.

These days, you not only use electricity for light, but you can use it to heat, cook, wash and dry clothes, tell time, entertain you with radio, TV, tape and records, shave, dry your hair, keep your bed warm, make your coffee, heat water, open cans, sharpen knives, wash dishes, even carve your Sunday roast.

That's why your bill is higher. Think about that next time you hear us say...

Electricity is your best dollar value.

Summer School

The Summer School program in Remedial Reading and Remedial Arithmetic under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, P.L. 89-10, will be held at both the Riverdale and Butler elementary school buildings again this year.

The program begins June 3 and continues through and including July 26 for students in grades 1 through 8 who might profit academically by attending. Letters will be sent to parents of these children within a few weeks. Where family vacations, summer Bible School or other activities will take the child out of school for several days, parents ought not to have the child attend the program, since real achievement and progress cannot be made if the child misses the classroom instruction. Parents are urged to see to it that the child maintains regular attendance.

Classes for this program will begin at 8:30 and last until 11:30 a.m. with bus transportation furnished for those pupils who live out of town.

In regard to this great book (Bible), I have but to say, it is the best gift God has given to man. All the good Saviour gave to the world was communicated through this book. Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

I didn't have time to get the vote tabulations from local precincts this week. It was necessary to do some traveling Wednesday to get certain papers in certain places as quickly as possible to keep our fight against the Butler site going. The balloting getting the most interest was in connection with the contest between incumbent Delbert Washler and challenger Dick Coll for a school board position. Delbert won.

I certainly appreciate the patience shown by you readers, in not becoming incensed when the things which should be taken care of (like reporting election statistics) don't get taken care of due to time involved in the school site matter. I am well aware that you are being very considerate in not raising heck with me when, by all standards, you are entitled to.

Thanks.

Mae Walter sends the following from Fort Wayne:

"Ted,

"I would like to thank everyone for their cards and visits while I was in the Hicksville Hospital. I have returned home after an operation and will be a shut in for some time. A neighbor who lived by us in St. Joe Mrs. Fern Carr came in while I was there and was great company to me."

Alva "Jake" Miller stopped in this week with a copy of the St. Joe News from May 11, 1944, just 24 years ago. The paper was the result of some housecleaning at the Miller residence.

Some of the headlines that week were:

"Nearly 184,000 Prisoners of War Working in U.S."

"Tax Collection Increased This Spring" (and Saint Joe's collections were "up" to $4,255.84).

"Former St. Joe Girl Dies In Chicago" (Mrs. Ruby N. Andress-Wall).

"Free Picture Show Starts Saturday Night" (why can't we bring them back?!?)

There was also a public notice in that issue of a hearing on the petition of the B&O to change its agency station at Saint Joe to a non-agency.

There was also a listing of local young men serving in the military forces and their mailing addresses, about 35 of 'em.

—Which goes to show that after 24 years, there still isn't anything new.

Judge Rules For $160,000 Bond; Appeal In Progress

In a decision handed down last Friday in the DeKalb Circuit Court at Auburn, special judge Ray Ade from the Huntington Circuit Court ordered plaintiffs Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., Jack Hollabaugh and Victor Timmerman to post bond of $160,000 within ten days in order to have their suit against the local school board heard.

H. Charles Winans, attorney for the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District board of education, was present when the decision was anounced Friday afternoon. Attorney Nelson Grills, representing the plaintiffs was not present, inasmuch as the court had advised no further testimony or arguments would be heard. A few members of the group represented by the plaintiffs were present.

The school board had asked through its attorney that plaintiffs post a bond of $500,000 to cover possible increased costs of construction due to delay in litigation. Judge Ade reduced the amount to $160,000.

Following the announcement of the decision, Mr. Haberkorn, serving as spokesman for the citizens group, stated that an appeal on the Friday decision is being prepared. "We are continuing our efforts in opposing the Butler site due to our basic conviction that the 41 acres are inadequate for a 12-grade school installation even if all 41 acres can be used conveniently for school purposes. Our evidence has included state regulations, definitions and statutes which indicate that only 12 acres are legally available for a junior-senior high school. In addition, we are encouraged by the apparent growing dissatisfaction with that site from elements within the city of Butler itself. We hope that the situation can be resolved through the efforts of people from the entire school district, rather than from the legal maneuvers which we must continue to utilize in order to keep the Butler site inadequacy open for discussion."

The present situation in the DeKalb Eastern district is reported to be similar to that in the West Noble school corporation as far as legal moves are concerned. Grills also represents a remonstrating group in that district which also has been ordered to post a bond. That group has appealed the decision to the Supreme Court of Indiana, and a hearing on their appeal is set for Monday, May 13, at 2:00 p.m.

Dear Ted,

Enclosed is a check for $10.00, which if I computed correctly from your statement will pay for our subscription to May 19-69.

We enjoy reading about the happenings around our "ole home town" and our many dear friends we once lived among. Congratulations too, Ted, on your editorials. They are well composed and should command respect from even those not sharing your views.

Kindest regards to you, your family, and maintain that high standard of news reporting you have established.

Sincerely,
Mayola Zuber and Earl Kinsey

I think I have hit on a good idea. Since you men overseas get your paper about three weeks late, and since we want to wish you a Happy Birthday on time (when the time comes), I guess the only logical solution is to say it three weeks early! So here you are: Happy Birthday Mike Haberkorn (May 21).

I talked to Diana Renfrow Tuesday morning (after I voted). Husband Dewey is in the Navy, serving in comunications aboard the USS Dubuque on his way to Viet Nam.

Dewey enlisted in March of 1966 and took his basic at Great Lakes. He and his wife spent six months in Mississippi, and from there they went to San Diego. Dewey was last home April 15 for two weeks. He is expected home again in December. Third Class Petty Officer Dewey Renfrow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olon C. Renfrow of Spencerville. You may address your letters to: Dewey Renfrow IC3 7890566 USS Dubuque LPD8 FPO San Francisco, Cal. 96601

I goofed on Gary Sible's address last week. For some reason I stuck him in Missouri instead of Massachusetts. His correct address is:

Capt. Gary B. Sible
Box 1998
Westover AFB, Mass. 010288

John Stiver's new address is:
Pvt. John Stiver
Co. A, 4th Bn., 3rd Bde.
Fort Polk, La. 71459

Pat Crow, 20 son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Crow of Saint Joe, was promoted to Army specialist five April 8 while serving with the 299th Engineer Battalion in Viet Nam.

A combat demolition specialist in the battalion's Company C near Pleiku. Pat entered on active duty in August 1966, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived in Viet Nam last June. He is a 1965 graduate of Eastside High School.

That's all for now, see you next week, don't forget to drop a line.

PTA Changed

The final meeting of the Riverdale PTA for the current school year will be held Thursday, May 16, instead of on the regular meeting night. The change is to avoid a conflict with graduation ceremonies reported to be scheduled for May 21.

The PTA meeting will be a "Teacher Appreciation" pot luck dinner starting at 6:00 p.m. in the Riverdale cafetorium. Teachers will be guests of the parents, the latter to furnish all the goodies for the carry-in pot luck. Table service will be furnished by the cafetorium.

The regular business meeting will follow the dinner with election of officers to be held and a style show by the junior high girls to be presented.

Parents are asked not to bring their children for this particular meeting.

Gas Service Ordinance Passed

The town board of Saint Joe met in regular session Monday night.

The main item of business was the third reading of a proposed ordinance which would grant to Northern Indiana Fuel and Light Company the exclusive right to install a gas service in the town within the next four years. The ordinance has been published in the Saint Joe News and the Butler Record-Herald. In addition, public notices have been posted at various places in the town for the past few weeks.

Following some discussion on the ordinance and a few of the details of obligations involved, the board voted to pass the ordinance. Response from townspeople in the past several weeks has been overwhelmingly favorable toward the prospect of having gas service available in the town. Board members indicated there had been slight, if any, opposition to the gas proposal.

Representing the utility at the meeting were Ray Shuttleworth, Robert Marshall, and Kenneth Smith. Robert Keegan, legal counsel for the company, was also present.

Other business taken care of by the board included discussion of street maintenance and other routine matters. The board authorized water service for the local teen canteen at no cost to the youth group.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Town: Butler Lumber Company (tile) $7.96; Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. 83.78; Jessie Cannady (labor) 24.00; Brown Furniture and Hardware 9.43; Auburn Sanitary Landfill 240.00; John Chew (mowing cemetery and town hall lawn) 48.00; William Mansfield (labor) 30.68; A. D. Inlow (limestone and gravel) 63.66; Carl Carpenter (park) 10.00; Donald Kinsey (clerk cemetery) 26.00; Donald Kinsey (clerk salary) 100.00; Howard Andress (insurance) 521.05; Raymond Singer (graves) 135.00.

DEKALB COUNTY FARM BUREAU BOARD MEETING

—Mildred Jarrett, pub. chmn.

Tabulation and evaluation of the questionnaires concerning the proposed Cedar Creek Watershed was the most important business considered at the monthly meeting of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors on April 29. Three hundred and twenty-five questionnaires were returned. Asked if the DeKalb County Farm Bureau should take a stand on the issue, the vote was: 250 yes, 64 no. Asked for approval of the formation of a Conservancy District, the vote was: 50 approve, 248 disapprove.

Previously, as a public service, Farm Bureau sponsored an open information meeting at the Court House concerning watersheds, their purpose, laws governing them, organization, and expense involved. Acord Cantwell, Natural Resources Department, Indiana State Farm Bureau was the speaker. He listed similar projects — some completed, some under construction — in other parts of the state, and gave resulting advantages and disadvantages. He also presented figures relating to the proposed Cedar Creek Watershed.

A brief summary of facts on the local watershed was compiled and sent along with a questionnaire to all DeKalb Farm Bureau members. The above tabulation shows the response.

After careful consideration, the Directors voted to publish the results of the questionnaire and to delay any decision on the same until its May meeting.

Other business included the distribution of 1968 replacement sheets for the Workers Manuals and pot and hobby zinnia seeds, reading of correspondence, and announcements of future meetings and plans.

Joanne Scattergood will have devotions in May.

Memorials of Love

Years ago, our predecessors realized that man's need to love and to be loved was an indomitable and perpetual strength within him. He cherished memories of this love and sought ways to express and preserve it. This reverence for those we have loved and lost separates us from the uncivilized tribes and the animal kingdom. The sentiment in love and memory is truly beautiful and deserves to last.

Modern cemeteries, with their trees and lawns and flowers, express this spirit. They are emblematic of the continuing and perpetual life of nature. Memorials are emblematic of the continuing and perpetual strength of love. Thus, love finds perpetuation through enduring memorials in surroundings of park-like beauty, and man keeps safe his memories with a permanence that characterizes his love.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Maybe you noticed it but I didn't until someone brought it to my attention. In the May 2 issue, there was a paint ad—but no name in the ad to tell you where the prices are still as low as they used to be.

Oh well, everybody knows it's Brown's.

The County Red Cross Chapter is in a ticklish position. As a member of United Fund, it cannot ethicaly solicit for funds on its own. But due to the Vietnam conflict and the additional expenses of the county unit in providing services for those servicemen and their families, the unit is in an emergency need for additional funds.

As I said, it can't go around knocking on doors for more money, but if anyone has a buck or two they can spare, the Red Cross chapter will accept such additional help appreciatively.

Merwin Place stopped in already several days ago and dropped off a nice contribution for the Red Cross emergency. If you want to leave a donation at the News Office, I'll see that it gets to the home office. Or if you'd rather, mail it to Jessie Baxter, Executive Secretary, DeKalb County Red Cross, Auburn, Indiana 46706.

Monday morning, I opened an envelope addressed: "St. Joe News, St. Joe, Ind." In it was a brief note as follows:

"Sir—

"There has to be one in every community and you are the one in this town — "

There was no signature.

Compliment or otherwise? What do you think???

To show that things usually even up, good for bad, later in the day I was talking to Harold Kagey. When we ended the conversation and I turned to leave, he said, "Wait a minute, come in here," and walked into his nursery office. He pulled out my statement of account which indicated something over $30.00 I still owed on the driveway he put in for me last summer. Harold said, "You've been doing a lot of running around on this school business and I want to help out a little on your expenses" — and he marked the bill "paid" and gave it to me.

I call that a very nice gesture. I greatly appreciate it.

Monday afternoon, I listened to arguments presented in the Indiana Supreme Court in a bond appeal case similar to that in our own school district. Nelson Grills represents a remonstrating group in the West Noble district, as he represents a similar group in our district. As the hearing proceeded, comments and questions by two of the judges appeared to indicate a strong impression made by Grills' remarks. He pointed out that if a bond is always required in order to have a suit heard, then the only ones in this country who can use the courts are the rich.

It was quite a surprise, therefore, when the court ruled unanimously against the remonstrating group.

There seems to be some automatic condemnation of a person or group who question the use of public funds. Legal notices invite taxpayer participation when hearings are held. But the effect of court rulings is to make public participation meaningless. When you must post a bond in order to have a suit heard, you might as well forget those invitations to "interested taxpayers" to express themselves. As things now stand, anyone who questions the proposed expenditures is automatically wrong.

I can understand the courts' desire to prevent an overload of unwarranted suits. However, if they establish the guideline that remonstrators are wrong and are financially responsible for delays, it seems that the principle is established that a remonstrator is guilty until proven innocent. This is contrary to the basic concept of justice that a man is innocent until proven guilty.

If you're wondering how so many regulations and statutes can be violated or set aside as they have been in connection with the Butler school site, and how it can be so difficult to be heard in a struggle to uphold those regulations and statutes which are ideally intended to maintain and provide good school systems, you have company. I don't understand either.

Plaintiffs' Motions Denied; Suit Hearing May 21

A hearing was held Saturday in the DeKalb Circuit Court before special judge Ray Ade of the Huntington Circuit Court on motions to reconsider a previous decision requiring a bond of $160,000 and to grant a time extension. The hearing was in connection with the suit filed by Ted Haberkorn, Jack Hollabaugh and Victor Timmerman against the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District. Both motions were denied.

However, a date was set for hearing the suit before Judge Ade, the date being Tuesday, May 21, at 9 a.m. Pending the outcome of the hearing on the suit, the plaintiffs have filed an appeal on the bond decision with the Indiana State Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, rumors and unofficial comments about potential compromise talks have not been substantiated by any announcements or actions of an official nature. However, there does appear to be some indication of efforts to resolve the situation as soon as possible so that construction of new facilities can begin.

The Unicorn

by Phil Haberkorn

During the coming weeks, the Unicorn will be sponsoring several events designed for the purpose of raising money to finance construction of a dance floor. A bake sale will be held this Saturday, May 18, starting at 9 a.m. Area residents will have a chance to buy pies, cakes, cookies, baked beans, potato salad and other goodies.

Many local people have expressed their desire to own discarded electric wire reels to use as lawn tables. These people will have a chance to fulfill this desire, as many of the reels originally intended for use in The Unicorn will also be on sale. These tables have been repainted during the past week, and are ideal for outdoor use. The spools come in several sizes, and can be used either as tables or chairs, depending on size. Sale of the tables will be on a first-come, first-served basis, so early risers will have the best choice.

Another fund-raising project will be held in the near future, this being a raffle. The prize will be an AM-FM transistor radio, designed for use on either batteries or AC current. The drawing is scheduled for June 1.

Other tentative plans include a car wash in the near future.

Recent donations include paint from Charles Emenhiser and Brown Furniture & Hardware.

Honor Students

Shari Jo Benninghoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Benninghoff of R1 Butler, and Anthony Teutsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Teutsch of 112 West Willow Street in Butler, have been named valedictorian and salutatorian respectively of Eastside High School Class of 1968.

Miss Benninghoff, whose academic semester averages for the past four years have been A's except for two B's, has received a National Merit Scholarship letter of commendation. She also won a trip to Mexico in 1966 to study Spanish and other subjects.

The valedictorian is a member of the National Honor Society and served as vice-president her senior year. She was president of the Spanish Club and a member of the girls' booster block. She was also secretary of the Eastside choir. Along with another student, she represented Eastside at the Government Leadership Conference in Indianapolis.

Miss Benninghoff enjoys swimming and skiing. After graduation she plans to attend Indiana University in Bloomington.

Mr. Teutsch, whose academic semester averages for the past four years were A's except for seven B's, is a member of the National Honor Society, vice-president of the Science Club and a member of the Eastside band. He received a first rating at state contest with a trombone solo. He also was an outstanding member of the senior play cast. He served this year as one of the hall monitors in Eastside's busy hallways.

Most of Mr. Teutsch's free time is spent playing his trombone or listening to his stereo. He also works at the Butler Lumber Company and plans to enter Purdue University in September to study engineering. Following college, he plans to enlist in the Navy.

Debbie Warstler Is State Champ

Miss Debbie Warstler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Warstler of R1 Auburn and featured twirler with Eastside High School's marching band, won the Grand Championship of Indiana in the United States Twirling Association contest held Saturday, May 11, at Anderson, Indiana. Approximately 150 advanced twirlers from the state were eligible for competition.

Debbie won the championship for the second time Saturday, having also won the title in 1965. She has been in state competition for the past five years.

Also competing in the state contest were Debbie's sisters, Sandy and Pamela. Sandy won second in the 14 year old division and Pamela won fifth in the 11 year old division.

Several of Debbie's students participated in the contest winning as high as first in age division.

The Warstler girls and several others are looking forward to participation in the national contest in Milwukee, Wisconsin, in August.

Obscene Publications 'Big Business'

"The publication and sale of obscene material is BIG business in America today," states FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in a recent communication to all law enforcement officials. His letter continues:

"Degenerate sex pictures and pornographic literature, covertly peddled and sold in most cities and communities, net greedy smut merchants millions of dollars annually.

"It is impossible to estimate the amount of harm to impressionable teenagers and to assess the volume of sex crimes attributable to pornography, but its influence is extensive. Sexual violence is increasing at an alarming pace. Many parents are deeply concerned about conditions which involve young boys and girls in sex parties and illicit relations. While there is no official yardstick with which to measure accurately the reasons for increases in any criminal violation, we must face reality. Pornography, in all its forms, is one major cause of sex crimes, sexual aberrations, and perversions.

"Is our society becoming so wicked that we are turning from virtue and integrity to immorality and degradation? Are we becoming morally bankrupt nd letting our principles of conduct and decency deteriorate? Are we forsaking the simple teachings of right over wrong and good over bad?

"Let us look about us. In the publishing, theatrical, and entertainment fields, are the good, enlightening, and educational qualities of their products being overshadowed by too much emphasis on obscenity, vulgarity, incest, and homosexuality? Many people believe this to be true. But the legitimate productions of these media are rather mild when compared with the 'hard-core' pornography flooding the country in the forms of films, 'playing' cards, 'comic' books, paperbacks and pictures. Such filth in the hands of young people and curious adolescents does untold damage and leads to disastrous consequences.

"Police officials who have discussed this critical problem with me unequivocally state that lewd and obscene material plays a motivating role in sexual violence. In case after case, the sex criminal has on his person or in his possession pornographic literature or pictures. Under these conditions, it is not surprising to note that forcible rape in 1966 increased 10 percent over the 1965 total, a violation occurring every 21 minutes. Since 1960, forcible rape has increased 50 percent.

"Obviously, all that is being done to combat the sale and traffic in obscene material in the Nation is not enough. Sound and workable laws are needed, and, where they do exist, they should be vigorously enforced. Since many courts seem to judge obscenity on the basis of the moral standards in the community, the public has a vital role in upgrading the level of community morality. When obscene material is discovered, it should be exposed and citizens should complain to proper authorities. When pornography is received in the mails, postal authorities should be advised. Citizens should come forward and cooperate in the prosecution of offenders.

"Obscene material is indeed evil, but it is not a necessary evil. If the illicit profits in pornography were replaced with stiff punishments for the filth purveyors, this evil would be brought under control," Mr. Hoover concluded.

Others say. . . .

A COMMON LABOR UNION AILMENT and "THE PANACEA"

The parasite, as defined by Webster or any other dictionary, is still the parasite. Although I have searched and researched for one word to adequately describe one who lives off others, the preponderance of meaning contained in the word parasite must stand as the name, label or identification for the subject of the following . . . .

You know him only too well, you may have business dealings with him, you may have lunch or enjoy an evening out with him, but the last person in the world to appear to you as a card-carrying parasite is the parasite himself. He masquerades with the adaptability of a chameleon. Agreeable?—this is his most obvious asset. But turn your back and when he is in the company of others whose views differ from those expressed by you, like a chameleon he finds it expedient and simple to agree with everyone. This, of course, is only one facet of his unpredictable nature. Another strong tendency is substituting lie for fact as often as it suits his fancy. Although reams can be written about this social enigma, you would know him best as the guy who goes through life's revolving door on other people's push.

No walk of life has escaped the invasion of the parasite, particularly those areas where one expects and finds a high degree of dedication as in labor unions. His value to the labor movement, to hear him tell it, is of such great import that he and he alone is responsible for labor's economic success enjoyed by the working man. He will, at the slightest provocation, button-hole the unsuspecting and regale him with imagined accomplishments of the past and loudly proclaim, "Labor is where it is today because it is enjoying the fruits of my efforts; years ago I laid down the seed that is bearing fruit today, the fruit known as labor's gains," and he wasn't near the ball park at any time, particularly years ago, except to take, then as now, as would be expected of a parasite. The parasite has no compunction about attaching himself for all he is worth, like a leech, and his appetite is insatiable. Dedication, to him, is lip service; production for the cause is measured by a compounding of lies and the usurpation of the union's or organization's time for his salary structure, he diplays a total lack of decency or compunction as to how he spends these funds. As an example, he will involve the unsuspecting by dining him and, thus obligated, the accessory is generally the misguided one who is coached to move for acceptance and payment of the expenses come meeting night. Altruism, sincerity, integrity . . . these are just words to the parasite, to be used only to further his crimes on those who foolishly trust him.

Labor would reach a higher plateau of trust and confidence in the public esteem if it employed the standards for promotion by service recognition as used in industry. Labor would profit and thereby earn the respect of the business world if MERIT were substituted for PATRONAGE or POPULARITY. There is a wealth of intellect and experience in the rank and file of the labor movement, but since politics are unacceptable to many of the gifted, we are deprived of their service.

In view of the fact that labor today is business, BIG BUSINESS, let us pray that one day soon merit will prevail over the tested and failed method of popularity and patronage—and that common sense will prevail in the labor movement.

—H. Cy Mendelsohn, member I.B.E.W., in "The Leader," official publication of the Indiana State Building and Construction Trades Council, March 29, 1968.

News Receives Mental Health Award

Approximately 100 county residents attended the annual meeting of the DeKalb County Association for Mental Health at the Auburn Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening.

During the business meeting The Saint Joe News was among those receiving annual awards from the association. The News received the Communications Award for excellent coverage and cooperation given the local mental health chapter. Editor Ted Haberkorn accepted the award with thanks.

Miss Marcia Ellis, Music Therapist at Dr. Norman Beatty Memorial Hospital at Westville, was the guest speaker. She explained that the primary function of the hospital is to provide therapeutic facilities for persons having mental disorders and who are therefore in need of care, detention, training, and/or treatment. In fulfilling this function, the hospital philosophy is based on the premise that patients are all-important and their welfare, happiness and return to the community are the primary responsibility of every employee and volunteer at the hospital.

Beatty Memorial is one of 12 institutions caring for mentally ill adults and children and the mentally retarded in Indiana.

Eight patients from the hospital, comprising a music therapy group known as the "Beatty Barnstormers," then presented a half hour program of music.

Mrs. Clayton Sattison, Jr., president of the local chapter, conducted the business meeting.

Committee reports were given as well as a report from Miss Betty Johnson, the first recipient last year of the chapter's Mental Health Scholarship.

Miss Mary Ann Caprino of Garrett then received this year's scholarship award. A Certificate of Commendation was presented to Alpha Pi Chapter of Kappa Kappa Kappa Sorority of Auburn for its efforts in the Christms Gift Project and the presenting of ward parties at Fort Wayne State Hospital.

A Certificate of Appreciation was given to the Auburn Presbyterian Church for the use of facilities by the association during the past several years.

A Special Commendation was given to Mrs. Myrtle Overmyer of Waterloo in recognition of services given as a volunteer in the fight against mental illness and the advancement of mental health.

The following directors were elected to office:

Charles Overmeyer of Waterloo, president;

Dr. Norwin Niles of Garrett, 1st vice president;

Mrs. O. L. Gronendycke of Auburn, 2nd vice-president;

Mrs. Alfred Englehard of Garrett, secretary;

Mrs. Orval Bair of Auburn, treasurer.

CONCORD JUNIOR HOME-MAKERS' CLUB
—Katy Crow, reporter

The hostess for May was Mrs. Forrest Bevington. After singing the song of the month, Mrs. Carper led devotions from "Together" magazine. Roll call was answered by "Tributes to Mother" which were many and wonderful.

Special committee reports were: Fair Booth - Betty Bevington; Breast Cancer - Lois Strong; Finance Committee - Doris Prentice and Katy Crow.

Mrs. Bevington presented a report on "Meeting Family Emergencies." Margaret Carper gave a report on the county counsil meeting. She also talked about the "tasting bee" ad rummage sale.

The club decided to make a donation to the Eastside Spanish Club. Arrangements were made for sending Margaret to Conference in June. Betty Bevington shewed a film from Rubbermaid entitled "Alice in Blunderland," which was in time for spring house cleaning. Refreshments were served to eight members.

Church League Opens In June

The Saint Joe Church Softball League held a meeting May 16 at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

Election of officers was held with the 1967 officers re-elected. They are Ted Haberkorn, president; Bud Shockley, vice president; and Lavon Hart, secretary-treasurer.

A discussion about league rules was held, with the group voting to change game time from 8:15 p.m. to 7:45 p.m. The move was made due to the inconvenience caused to the Hicksville team which resides in the Eastern Daylight time zone, one hour ahead of Indiana time. The former game time of 8:15 would mean that the Ohio players would probably arrive home after 11:00 p.m. All other teams agreed to change the game time to ease the situation.

Entry fee remains at $25.00 per team, with the possibility of the need to seek additional funds by special request if a new section of protective fence is installed at the diamond. The old gym building which was torn down last year had served as a retaining barrier for the third base line.

An estimate is being sought for a new fence installation.

The season will begin the first week of June. The league secretary is in the process of refining the schedule to adjust to Bible school, camp and other dates of certain churches.

Eligibility rules remain the same. Players must be legitimate members of the congregation for whose team they play. Attendance at two Sunday services in the calendar month preceding specific games is necessary. Exceptions are made for men in military service who are home on leave and for college students who are not home until after the season starts.

Pony Leaguers Edged 4-3

By Dick Harris

The Saint Joe-Spencerville Pony League team tasted defeat in its first encounter of the early '68 season. Merle Holden's team lost 4-3 in a rather extended game of 11 innings.

John Mansfield started for the locals and gave up one run in the first inning after SS had failed to score in their half. Steve Evans' hit plus an error brought Tom Frank home, and then Steve scored on throwing errors. So as Waterloo came to bat in the second inning, the locals led 2-1. And this score stood until the 4th inning when Doug Fetters scored from third on a passed ball.

Waterloo scored in the bottom of the fourth inning when with a man on third and two out, a sharply hit ball was fielded by Doug Fetters and he missed throwing the runner out by inches. So Waterloo tacked up another run and the score read 3-2.

The 5th inning was uneventful for both teams. The SS team went three up three down in the top of the 6th, but with a man on base Waterloo's Danny Kronts blasted one into centerfield. Kronts was thrown out at third but the damage had been done as the tying run had come across.

In the 7th and supposedly last inning for Pony League, Merle's boys couldn't get anything going in their half. Bob Holtzberg, who came on in relief of John Mansfield in the 6th, finished the inning with a flourish by striking out the batter with the winning run on third base. John Mansfield struck out 8 in his stint and did a good job overall.

Extra innings began with the SS team doing nothing on the basepaths and Bob Holtzberg again came through with tight pitching by striking out Waterloo batters 1, 2, and 3.

Mike McDowell led off the ninth with a solid single, went to second and then was thrown out at third on a disputed play. This run would have scored the winning tally as later events proved.

The 10th inning was unimportant except for a fine defensive play by Kent Rosenbury. Two men were on base because of errors and two were out. Big Danny Kronts was at bat and the outfield went deep. Bob Holtzberg had struck out Kronts earlier, but Bob was careful with this hitter. Kronts got hold of one and that looked like the game. But Kent Rosenbury took a couple of steps, leaped into the air and timed the ball perfectly as it smacked into his glove, undoubtedly the defensive gem of the evening.

The locals went down 1-2-3 in the top of the 11th. Waterloo's leadoff man singled and scored on errors as the SS team's hopes of a win went down the drain.

Next game—Monday, 6:00 p.m., local diamond, vs. Waterloo.

Twirling Winners

Sandy Panning and Lori Resor, two local twirlers, have had a very busy but rewarding week end. Saturday they attended a contest in Kokomo, Indiana, and again on Sunday at the Tala wanda High School in Oxford, Ohio. After entering various events, the girls had a total of 14 trophies and three medals to show for their efforts.

Lori, one of Sandy's students, won awards in the following classes: first place trophy in age 11-12 beginners solo; first place trophy in 11-12 intermediate solo; two first place trophies in 12-year-old advance solo; first place trophy in 11-12 fancy strutting; second place medal in 2-baton; second place medal in fancy strutting; third place medal in fancy strutting.

Lori also had the honor of winning the beginner twirl-off to give her another trophy to add to her collection.

Sandy's awards were in these classes: two first place trophies in 13-14 solo; two first place trophies in 13-14 fancy strutting; two first place trophies in 2-baton; first place trophy in duet. Sandy was also named Grand Champion Twirler for the Kokomo contest.

The girls were accompanied on Sunday by Lori's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Resor, and brother Brent, who visited friends in Richmond, Indiana, while in the area.

Recently Sandy took part in a contest in Hillsdale, Michigan, at the Hillsdale College Field House, and was named Grand Champion twirler and was interviewed on the local radio station.

With school ending, Sandy will be starting new baton twirling classes (both group and private). Anyone interested can contact her by calling 238-4573 for more information.

'Cut Spending, No Tax Hike'

Cutbacks in government spending, particularly in foreign aid and overseas troop commitments, are favored over any form of federal tax increase by Indiana voters polled by Senator Vance Hartke (D-Ind.).

First substantive returns from a statewide mail survey reveal that 92.3 percent of Hoosier respondents are opposed to paying more federal taxes, with 7.7 percent in agreement with the administration's surtax proposal.

The Indiana Democrat made known results from the first 8,000 opinions tabulated as the House Ways and Means Committee voted 17-6 to support a tax hike in exchange for spending cuts.

"If there is such a thing as consensus in a survey of this kind, it is the near-unanimity expressed by my Indiana constituents for deep cuts in government spending," Senator Hartke commented.

"Foremost among their selected economy areas is foreign aid. While we are still going through more than 5,000 personal letters accompanying the survey form, the one fact emerging from Indiana is a strong sense of disillusionment with our foreign assistance programs. This is usually expressed in such terms as 'Where are our allies in Vietnam?', or 'We cannot buy friends with foreign aid.' "

The stationing of American troops in Europe and elsewhere, plus "waste and inefficiency" in Vietnam were among other favorite economy targets of Hoosiers, Hartke noted. Budget trimming was also urged strongly in the space program, poverty and welfare spending, and the supersonic aircraft.

Senator Hartke voted against foreign aid in the last two sessions of Congress. He has been a strong opponent of the proposed surtax in this session, believing that it will add to cost-push inflation and slow down the national economy.

Fifty-one percent of Hoosiers polled cited higher local taxes for their unwillingness to assume a greater federal tax obligation, Hartke reported.

Of these, nearly half commented that an additional tax burden of any kind would impair their standard of living or ability to educate their children.

"Some of the questions asked by Indiana people are difficult in the extreme," Hartke said. Typical, he said, are these:

1. Is the race to the moon an investment or a gamble?

2. We have been helping other countries for a generation. Why aren't more of them fighting at our side in Vietnam?

Another area of tax discontent revealed in the Hartke survey is among single persons who feel they are taxed excessively.

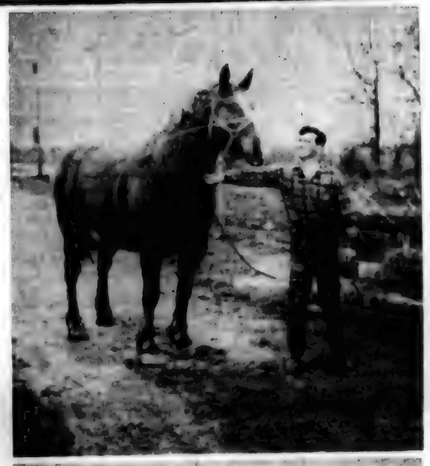
Great numbers of respondents over 65 asked Senator Hartke for a revision in income tax laws to restore full deduction for health insurance, medical care, and drugs.

In the outpouring of personal letters accompanying the poll, farmers were particularly insistent upon a greater share of the consumer food dollar if they are to pay higher taxes.

With analysis of personal letters still incomplete, Hartke said that he is particularly interested in the pleas of respondents who believe that present tax laws place an unequal burden upon the middle class wage earner.

Single persons request a larger individual exemption. Parents believe they should receive a deduction for college expenses. A surprising number of Hoosiers favor imposing price controls if the new tax is enacted. One thing seems apparent; there is widespread dissatisfaction with our tax structure.

Big Horse - Big Price



One of the highest prices ever paid for a draft horse, reported to be at the $4,000 mark, was paid recently to Leo Swary of north of Saint Joe. The animal was purchased by Richard L. Wallingford of West Forks, Maine.

The huge 2520-lb. 7-year old draft horse was purchased a few years ago by Mr. Swary for a few hundred dollars, raised and trained by him as part of a team which the Swarys have entered in pulling contests the past two years.

Mr. Wallingford, who owns a wood pulp operation in Maine, has a stable of 12 draft horses "for business and for pleasure." He and two companions drove over 1,000 miles from Maine to pick up the big horse which he plans to enter in pulling contests in his home state. There the winning team is determined by how far it can pull a given load in five minutes, not by how much weight can be pulled a minimum distance.

Sports Banquet

A near-capacity crowd attended the All-Sports Banquet to recognize students who participated in athletics at Eastside High School and Eastside and Riverdale Junior High Schools during the 1967-68 school year. The dinner, held at the elementary cafeteria in Butler, was attended by parents of the athletes, coaches of all sports, their husbands and wives, individuals who assisted at the athletic events during the year, plus members of the Butler Rotary Club and their wives. The Rotary Club was the co-sponsor of the event, along with the school athletic department.

The featured speaker for the evening was Mr. Ned Garver, former major league baseball pitcher and now Personnel Direct for the Eckart Packing Company. Mr. Garver related his experiences as a professional athlete and emphasized the opportunity that is available for today's youth.

A Tired American

(The following is a sales letter distributed to its customers by Schlatter Hardware, Inc., and passed along by Ivan Brown of Brown Furniture and Hardware in Saint Joe.)

I am tired of having the world use my country as a whipping boy 365 days a year.

I am tired of having American Embassies and information centers stoned, burned and sacked by mobs operating under orders from dictators who preach and breed conflict.

I am an American, weary of being lectured by an ungrateful General DeGaulle, who poses as a second Jehovah in righteousness and wisdom, whose country we have twice saved by the sacrifice of thousands of our young men and who owes us billions of dollars and has weakened our nation by taking our gold at a time when he knows it is badly needed in the interest of the whole world.

I am fed up with mobs of scaldy-faced, long-haired boys and stringy-haired girls who claim they represent the new wave of America, who sneer at the old fashioned virtues of honesty, integrity and morality on which America grew to greatness.

I am nauseated by the lazy do-nothings who wouldn't take a job if you drove them to and from work in a Rolls Royce. I am tired of supporting families who haven't known any source of income other than government relief checks for three generations.

I am weary of the bearded bums who tramp the picket lines and sit-ins, who prefer Chinese Communism to Capitalism. They say they hate Capitalism but they are always right at the head of the line demanding their share of the American way of life.

I am an American who gets a lump in his throat when he hears the "Star Spangled Banner" and holds the tears when he hears the chilling high notes of the brassy trumpets as Old Glory reaches the top of the pole.

I am an American who thanks a merciful Lord that I was born an American citizen and that the so-called "new wave" has not penetrated our business nor affected our wonderful customers and loyal employees.

—Quoted by John M. Williamson.

VOL. LXXXIII | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, May 30, 1968 | NUMBER 22

Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built.
—Abraham Lincoln

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A man came into the News Office Monday and introduced himself as the brother of the late Harry Shuff and the nephew of Lizzie Milliman of Saint Joe. His name is Harold Shuff, and he said this is the first time since 1926 that he has been in Saint Joe. He also said that there is not much that looks familiar to him as he walks through the community.

Mr. Shuff is on his way to the east coast where he will meet his wife who is conducting a tour which originated on the west coast. He is on the engineering staff at Oregon State University at Corvallis, Oregon. Born in Garrett in 1906, Mr. Shuff went west with the family in 1907 and has resided in California and Oregon since that time.

Our family was treated to dinner Sunday evening at the home of Esther's mother, Mrs. Edward Hauke of Port Wayne, who gave me the following to pass along to other readers:

"RECIPE FOR A HAPPY LIFE
"One cup of good thoughts,
"One cup of kind deeds,
"One cup of consideration,
"And two cups of sacrifice for others.
"Three cups of forgiveness,
"Two cups of well-beaten faults.
"Mix thoroughly, add tears, joy, sorrow, and sympathy for others.
"Flavor with little gifts of love.
"Fold in four cups of prayer and faith,
"To lighten other ingredients and raise the texture to great heights of Christian living.
"Pour all this into your daily life.
"Bake well with the heat of human kindness.
"Serve with a smile."

The following note was received last week:
"The eighth grade class of Riverdale Junior High School would like to thank their parents for the eighth grade banquet and dance that was given by them on May 17, 1968. Thank you.
The Eighth Grade"

Cal Coburn is home on leave at the moment. He's a career man in the Army and has achieved the rank of Captain, starting as a buck private. He reports that he is just three shy of 700 parachute jumps in his Army career. Cal has 20 men serving under him and is always the first man to jump when the group goes into action. When he returns to Vietnam this time, it will be his third hitch in that conflict.

Cal talks with eager anticipation about the 26-room estate he bought in Switzerland. He has a while to go yet before getting his 20 years in for retirement, but that doesn't seem to dampen his planning for a tourist hotel for the estate near Zurich when he gets out. Of particular interest is the double-level wine cellar under the house, with giant kegs just loaded with grape juice. At the present time nine families reside in the house and care for it. When I suggested to Cal that maybe when he gets there, those kegs will be empty and the place in bad shape, he said, "No, those people aren't like that. They take care of things just the way you tell them."
—Which sounds like a pretty good word for the Swiss.

Swim Info Asked; Rec'n Monday

Ken Severson, summer recreation director at Riverdale, has announced that a preliminary check is being made on all students in the school district who are interested in taking summer swimming lessons. Information sought by Mr. Severson and Coach John Bedwell includes the name of the student, choice of beginner, intermediate, or advanced lessons, and the dates which would interfere with other summer plans. The information should be given to either coach by next Monday, June 3. Riverdale area students can turn the information in at the principal's office at the Riverdale Elementary School.

Mr. Severson announced that the summer recreation program for school age children will begin next Monday at 1:00 p.m. at the Riverdale building.

It should be noted that this will probably be the last year for the school recreation program at Riverdale and at Butler. In action taken last week, the local school board voted to discontinue the program. The reason for the curtailment is the need to provide funds for increasing costs due to increases in teachers' salary schedules.

Church League Opens Monday

League secretary Lavon Hart has announced the first week's schedule for Church League softball activity. Of course, the schedule is subject to the weatherman's efforts in providing suitable playing conditions, which at the present time can most accurately be described as muddy.

Here is the first week's schedule, and players should remember that the new starting time is 7:45 p.m.

Monday, June 3 - Saint Joe Church of Christ vs. Coburntown II (umpires: Lutherans).

Tuesday, June 4 - Lutherans vs. Coburntown I (umpires: Newville United Methodist).

Wednesday, June 5 - Newville UM vs. Mt. Pleasant (umpires: Lutherans).

Thursday, June 6 - Lutherans vs. Saint Joe CC (umpires: Newville Church of Christ).

Friday, June 7 - Newville CC vs. Hicksville CC (umpires: Coburntown I).

Town Board Meets Monday

The town board will meet in regular session next Monday evening, June 3, at the town hall. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend and participate. Criticisms, comments, and suggestions will be welcomed.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Ned Keller and Karen of Colorado Springs, Colorado, surprised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Keller, last Wednesday morning. Mrs. Keller had been to the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota. Mr. Paul Keller of Dayton visited in the same home Thursday before Ned and Marcia started for home in the afternoon.

During her stay she attended the Mother-Daughter Banquet at the Hobart First Christian Church. On Friday morning, she met Mrs. Carl Perkins, Mrs. Carl Carpenter, and other women from DeKalb County in Elkhart, where they attended the Seminar for Farm Bureau Women sponsored by Indiana Farm Bureau, Indiana Farm Bureu Coops, and Farm Bureau Insurance.

—that H. Charles Winans, a Garrett attorney, has been selected to appear in the 1968 edition of "Community Leaders of America." Other recipients of this honor include governors, United States senators and congressmen of the various states. Mr. Winans has been active in civic and political fields, is a prominent attorney, and presently serves as DeKalb County prosecuting attorney.

Summer School

High school classes will open June third, at 8:30 a.m., for some 200 Eastside students. Classes in Biology and Driver Education are filled. A one semester class in English will be offered if the present enrollment is increased by five students.

Principal Kent Myers has advised students that the summer program will meet for forty school days ending July 30. July 4 and 5 will be school holidays. The regular daily schedule will begin at 7:30 a.m. and will terminate at 1:30 p.m.

All classes will meet at East side High School, with classes in Driver Education also meeting at the Riverdale School.

Students are reminded that books and materials are available.

Opening day classes will meet at 8:30 a.m. and will be dismissed at 11:30 a.m.

Bridge Plans Progressing

County Commissioners Cecil Fitch and Robert Forrest met with Robert Buschman, design engineer, and representatives of the state highway department Tuesday afternoon to discuss plans for the new bridge to be constructed south of Saint Joe over the Saint Joe River. The new bridge will replace the old wooden covered bridge known in the past as Dilla Bridge. The group met at the bridge site, inspected design drawings and then inspected the site itself to discuss various refinements of the project.

If no delays are encountered, it will be possible for bids to be let by October of this year. With construction time estimated at a year, it is possible that the new bridge can be open for use by the winter of 1969.

Estimated cost of the project is around $250,000. Funds are provided in part by the county through a cumulative bridge fund and part by government aid.

Increased consideration was given due to increased traffic on the old bridge, deterioration of the old bridge, and the increased loads carried over it. In addition, vandals have done extensive damage in the recent past, necessitating complete removal of the roof. The commissioners did provide some emergency repairs in the past year to keep the bridge useable and also imposed a load limit on the structure.

Those who may want to have their own pictures for a keepsake of the old bridge should get their photographs in the next few months, inasmuch as it appears possible that dismantling could begin in the fall.

Seven Receive Scholarships

Kent Myers, Principal of Eastside High School, has announced that seven Eastside Seniors are winners of state scholarships. The seven are: Shari Benninghoff, Stanley Campbell, Shawn Campbell, Melanie Carnahan, Stanley Miller, Mark Strong, and Anthony Teutsch. Approximately five thousand seniors have been named Hoosier Scholars by the State Scholarship Commission of Indiana. Mr. Richard C. O'Connor, Chairman of the Commission, said the new awards represent an expenditure of $1,300,000 to help recipients attend the Indiana public or private college or university of their choice. The Scholarship Program was made possible by the 1967 Legislature with a $4,000,000 appropriation for the current biennium.

Mr. G. David Hunt, Executive Secretary of the Commission, estimated that an additional $1,300,00 will be spent in renewing the scholarships of students who were named winners in the first two years of the competition and are now entering their sophomore and junior years in college.

Mr. Hunt further indicated that of the five thousand students currently named scholarship winners, approximately one half will receive monetary awards ranging from $100 to $800 while the remaining students will be named honorary winners. A student receiving an honorary scholarship may request financial assistance if a change occurs in the family's financial circumstances at any time during his four years of college. Monetary awards are determined by confidential information provided by the family. This financial data is analyzed by a committee of professional financial aid officers of the State who make recommendations to the Commission on the amount of assistance a student needs.

The State Scholarship Program, which was enacted by the 1965 General Assembly, is in its third year of operation. Initially 6,700 students applied for awards while this year 16,000 high school seniors from the 92 counties entered the scholarship competition.

The stated purpose of the Scholarship Act is to promote scholarships for those students who without this assistance would be unable to attend college. Winners are selected on the basis of their sixth semester rank in high school and their scores earned on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. After they have been selected on the basis of these academic criteria, they are awarded financial assistance in proportion with their families' financial need. The Scholarship Act specifically states that no distinction is to be made between honorary and monetary scholarship winners. Each award is renewable for a total of four consecutive yers.

Mrs. Foster presented the senior choir pins to Shari Benninghoff, Janet Capp, Melanie Carnahan, David Cather, Dorothy Cobb, Sandy Gonzales, Ann Kagey, Jackie Hook, Marty McCullough, Marty Searfoss, Janet Sebert, Elaine Simmonds, Jeff Snyder, Mark Strong, Nancy Ulm, Larry Waratler, Bill Wellendorf, and Dan Crow. Jeff Snyder received the school Choral Award.

Mr. Foster presented senior band members with pins. Those receiving the awards were: Marna Ankney, Larry Armstrong, Melanie Carr, Barbara Eakright, Dick Fisher, Jackie Hook, Janet Sebert, Mike Storer, Stan Miller, Tony Teutsch, Ann Kagey, Steve Gafkon. Tony Teutsch was presented with the John Philip Sousa Band Award.

Mrs. Reynolds presented the cheerleading award to Shawn Campbell.

Mr. Wilder announced Sheila Reinoehl, Jim Ridge, and Tom Seltenright as Girl and Boys State representatives, respectively, with Sandy Bissel, Dennis Ginder, and Gary Willibey as alternates.

Mr. Reynolds presented the track and fidld awards. Dave Myers, owner of two new school records, was awarded the Most Valuable Player award. Trophies were awarded to the following boys for setting new school track and field records: Dennis Keller in the 220-yard dash, Kenny Waratler in the two-mile run; Keith Kessler in the High Jump; Van Miller in the Shot Put; Dave Myers in the High Hurdles and Long Jump.

Blazers Split Pair

Tom Seltenright placed a perfect squeese bunt between first base and the pitcher's mound in the last half of the last inning Saturday at Eastside's diamond to bring the Blazers a 5-4 victory in the first game of an exhibition doubleheader. The locals blew the second game, however, by a score of 14-12 after gaining a 12-8 lead in the fourth inning with eight runs.

In the opener, the Blazers put together two doubles, a triple, and Gary Baird's home run, all in one inning, to provide the winning margin. Rod Knox started for Eastside, but was relieved after three shaky innings. Dennis Ginder took over and held Hoagland in check with his roundhouse curve and change-up pitches.

The Blazers appeared to have provided enough runs for a win in the second game when they scampered around the bases in the 8-run uprising, but Hoagland rallied for six suns in the final two innings, getting some solid base hits. Both teams suffered on occasions from mental lapses, both offensively and defensively.

Eastside faces Fremont Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in the state sectional to be held at Angola, following games between DeKalb and Angola, and Hamilton and Garrett. The semi-finals are scheduled for 3 p.m. Saturday, with the final game to be played at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night. The Blazers were fortunate in the draw, in that they need win only two games to become the sectional champs.

WIFF radio, Auburn, 105.5 FM, will broadcast live coverage of the sectional with Don Lemish and Lu Martin broadcasting.

The state regionals will be held the following week.

Around the Town
WITH THE EDITOR

Whatever differences I may have with the editor of the Butler Record-Herald over the school site matter do not detract from the fact that he has done a good job in getting information to the public about the official decisions rendered by various state agencies. The latest example is the fact that this week's issue of the Butler paper contains the information that the state tax board ruled in favor of the school board concerning the cost of the proposed new facility. Our remonstrating group had protested in April at a public meeting that the cost was not reasonable to a large segment of the school district because of the location at the far northern end of the school district. It is evident that the board rules only on monetary considerations. Thus it appears that if you could build a school in a swamp for no more money than elsewhere and without increasing the tax rate, such a proposal could be approved.

On the other side of the coin, however, is the fact that in the same article this week, the editor has planted the thought that anticipated lack of accreditation by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges is the fault of the central-site group. Actually, our standing has been precarious for several years in that respect.

I have been doing a lot of leg work in recent weeks for the central-site group, due to the press of time and need to meet certain deadline dates in the legal maneuvering. This week required two trips to Indianapolis plus the larger part of a day in Auburn and Fort Wayne helping to get material together. As a result, this paper has not had the amount of information it should have about the matter; I've been pushed for time.

Last week Lavon Boylan, Harold Casebere, Connie Hollabaugh and especially Lora Hart did a terrific job in raising over $250 between 6:00 p.m. Tuesday and 9:00 a.m. Wednesday, when we needed additional money to obtain legal documents for the June 10 presentation of arguments before the State Supreme Court. And Lester Anthony and Mose Yeiser handed me some money when they heard about the current situation.

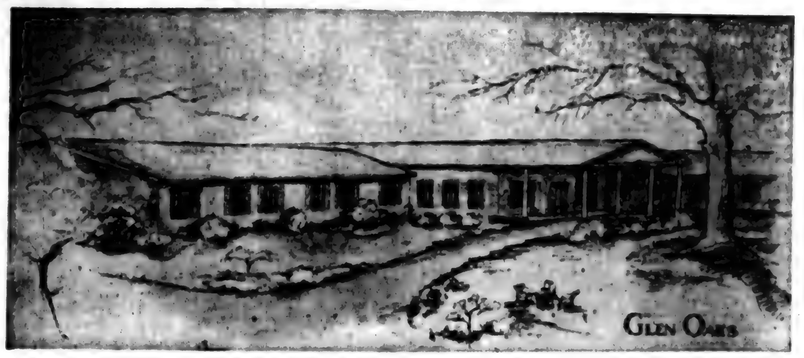
People ask, "How does it look" when the conversation turns to school. The answer is "no better than at first, honestly speaking." We have had two strikes against us from the start, despite the fact that rules, regulations and common sense are on our side. It shows that the cry of "state control" is not always valid in school matters. Thus far the state has not interferred with the local school board's decision to build at Butler, again, even though that site is not large enough and is not conveniently located. The fact that a central site was originally selected, then delays due to inaction by the superintendent and school attorney led to election of a new board dominated by Butler insets which then immediately rescinded the previous action, has not made an impression anywhere along the line.

Our central-site group has the unique position of seeking to have regulations upheld! Usually people holler to have regulations set aside.

At any rate, the situation is that we are still trying to get a better location and a better site than the Butler site, we are handicapped by the stigma attached to the word "remonstrator", we are handicapped by the fear in and around Butler in the minds of those who support our cause but cannot speak their minds.

What do you do? You keep trying.

Open House Sunday At New Nursing Facility



Glen Oaks, northeast Indiana's newest and finest nursing facility, will conduct an open house this coming Sunday, June 9, 1968, from noon to 5:00 p.m. The new facility is located at the east city limits of Auburn on State Road 8, just across from DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

Miss Kathryn Larrance is administrator of the nursing home. Directors are Thomas M. Muhn, Philip Butler, Ronald Ball, Clifford J. Shultz and Donald T. Mefford.

The distinctive X shape of the new facility was designed for the most efficient and safe nursing supervision. The nurses' station, located in the center of the building, allows nurses to observe all activity in every corridor as well as the main lounge and public entrance. Each bed has access to a nurse's call system which turns on an appropriate light at the nurses' station. Signal lights are provided for each guest room door and entry door to give guests maximum nighttime protection.

Private, semi-private, and four-bed wards will be available to satisfy the varying needs of guests. All bedrooms have private toilet facilities and each guest will be provided an individual clothes closet, nightstand, vanity, and lounge chair. Furnishings have been carefully selected to provide the greatest comfort and convenience for guests, and all have been specially designed to meet the requirements of the elderly, handicapped, or convalescent.

Glen Oaks features a homey, Early American design in both decor and furnishings. Lounge areas, all corridors, offices, and nurses' areas will be fully carpeted. A large, well-lighted dining room will accommodate all guests able to participate in family atmosphere meals and will double as a chapel and community room for church services and special entertainment. In addition to the spacious main lounge, two sparate television areas, with color television, are provided. Separate conversation areas will be available for guests and their families.

The new building is located on a five and one-half acre tract directly across State Road 8 from the DeKalb Memorial Hospital. The combination frame, cement block, and brick structure, having a floor area of over 23,000 square feet, has been designed to meet the most rigid requirements of State and Federal licensing authorities. All wood in the building has been specially treated for flame resistance.

Total electric heat allows each guest to regulate room temperature. All corridors are equipped with hand rails, an emergency lighting system has been installed, and a doctors' examination room is available to assure guests the utmost privacy.

Special features to add to the comfort and convenience of guests include a physical therapy room, barber and beauty shoppe with shampoo bowl and hair dryer, customized and enclosed shower chair, padded captain's chairs in the dining room, dietary control supervised by a licensed dietician, warm and informal decor and spacious accomodations.

Miss Larrance placed special emphasis on the treatment to be accorded guests. She stated: "All of the planning, time, money, and effort which have already gone into this lovely building must occupy a position second in importance to the personal care given each guest. A complete program of recreational and occupational therapy will be provided to keep our guests active and interested. The most important service we can render is constant, warm, and genuinely interested attention. All of our employers, in whatever capacity they may serve, are being hired and trained with that singleness of purpose."

Persons desiring information about accommodations are invited to call the administrator at 925-1230.

She was a daughter of Daniel and Arvilla Houk. Miss Houk was a graduate of Tri-State College in Angola.

The body was taken to the Baldinger and Walter funeral home in Spencerville where final rites were conducted at 3 p.m. Friday. Burial was in the White City cemetery near Spencerville.

This column is really becoming a question mark! And the question is whether or not I'm going to get it written by the time we go to press. There are just not enough hours in the day to get everything done.

The canteen is nearing completion. All the details, large and small, are falling (or being pushed) into place and as the dawn follows the night I see myself standing high up in the clouds swaying on the edge of a cliff, screaming help!!!! and wondering if I'll fall or if one of Tarzan's ropes will suddenly appear out of nowhere and swing me to safety! I'm sure you all know the feeling well.

I got a letter from Glen Schuler last week. He has been cooking in Vietnam for the last ten months (and I thought my kitchen was a disaster area). Glen says that he likes the column and that he has only 65 days left in Vietnam. Send your favorite recipe to:

Mike Loy says that flying is much safer than driving. I suppose you guys think that is because there are more women drivers than women pilots.

Bob Gerber has been transferred to a hospital in Camron Bay.

We talked to Jim Wetzel of Leo last week and asked him to tell us about his son, Mike, and son-in-law, Andy Smith.

Pvt. 1st Class Andrew J. Smith enlisted in the Army in September '66, took his basic at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, and half-track training at Fort Knox.

Andy was wounded in January while stationed along the Cambodian border and is now on convalescent leave from Walter Reed Hospital. His wife, Nan, also graduated from Leo High and is now a nurse.

Andy will return to the hospital June 17.

John Stiver will return to the hospital Thursday.

Ed Mike Wetzel graduated from Leo High in '67 and enlisted in the service in June. He took his basic at Fort Campbell and had training in the quartermaster corps at Fort Blevns, Massachusetts.

Mike was last home on a 40-day leave in April and is now stationed in Saigon.

See you next week. Don't forget to drop a line.

Pony League

by Dick Harris

The Saint Joe-Spencerville Pony League team squared their exhibition season record at 2 and 2 by losing to Hamilton 10-7, beating Hamilton 11-6, and beating Waterloo 13-7. This Waterlo win avenged an earlier loss.

In the loss to Hamilton, Merle Holden's chargers could not stir up any big innings. Vic Dermott belted a 3 bagger and Doug Fetters had a good double. Kent Rosenbury pitched and didn't do too badly, John Mansfield relieved and did o.k. In fact, pitching should be a strong asset for the 68 team.

Merle's Pearls came back to swamp Hamilton. Steve Evans started and showed good stuff for a few innings and then little ol' reliever John Mansfield came in and stopped Hamilton. Doug Fetters and Ron Knisely came through with the stick for the locals.

Manager Holden started Kent Rosenbury against Waterloo and Kent got himself the first complete game of the season. He had a couple rough innings, but when the going was tough, he came through like gangbusters. Doug Fetters, Mike McDowell, Tom Frank and George Carper led the hitters' parade.

The 68 team journeys to Garrett Wednesday of this week for what is hoped more than just a ride. Leo at Leo will be the game Thursday. Friday is open. A game with a Leo "B" team is set for Monday. The actual league season begins Tuesday of next week at home against Prairie Heights.

The coaching staff is appreciative of all the fan support and hope that it continues.

Function Of FBI

When riots occur and there is a breakdown of law and order, emotions and prejudices often overwhelm judgment and sound reasoning. We have seen this occur in the recent past in many of our major cities. In such instances, most people agree the restoration of law and order is, and should be, the paramount issue. Disagreement sometimes arises over how this can best be achieved and by whom.

In any circumstance where passions are aroused and prompt decisions are necessary, it helps materially if the lines of responsibility are clearly drawn and understood. This is particularly true in riots, racial turmoil, and disturbances where arson, murder, looting, and wanton destruction occur.

Apparently, the role of the FBI in civil disorders is not fully known to all citizens, and therefore it is frequently misunderstood. Some highly vocal groups insist that the FBI is obligated to step in and usurp the power of local law enforcement and "police" the areas where, in their opinion, a breakdown of law and order has occurred. The FBI has no lawful authority or jurisdiction to take this action and certainly does not seek such national police power. In those instances when we refuse to exceed our authority, some extremists in these groups have accused the FBI of racism. Many times it is determined that these bigots are the same agitators and exploiters who provoked the disorder in the first place. On the other hand, some individuals insist that the FBI in performing its duties exceeds its authority and encroaches on the authority belonging to State and local enforcement agencies. In both instances, emotions and expediency override rationality.

The FBI's responsibilities are clearly defined and limited by Federal statutes and Presidential directives. This Bureau has no jurisdiction to protect persons or property or to police and control riotous conditions. These are obligations of local and State police agencies. Basically, the FBI's role in civil disorders is the development and dissemination of intelligence information, at the same time being alert to any specific violations of Federal laws over which it has investigative jurisdiction. In the field of civil rights, this Bureau functions solely as a fact-gathering and fact-reporting agency. The information and evidence gathered are furnished to the Attorney General for prospective consideration. For years the FBI has offered to local law enforcement agencies every possible cooperative service in the fields of civil disorders and civil rights. During the 1950's, for example, the FBI conducted almost 600 civil rights police schools, and since the early 1960's, this Bureau has instructed almost 80,000 law enforcement officers in the various functional aspects of mob and riot control.

If the FBI has been consistent in any one commitment over the years, it is in it awareness of the exacting limitations within which it must operate. We have meticulously avoided infringement on responsibilities belonging to local and State authorities. By the same token, we have always met our obligations regardless of criticisms and attacks from special interest groups, whoever they are.

Diversionary tactics by lawbreakers are as old as crime itself. These beat on civil disobedience, riotous rebellion, and racial strife make good use of the technique. Time after time, with wild, unfounded charges, they have, in the minds of some people, successfully made law enforcement and established authority the scapegoats while diverting the critical public eye from their unlawful conduct. We can expect these groups and individuals to continue these disruptive practices. During the coming months, if riots occur, unwarranted criticisms will again be directed against the FBI and other enforcement agencies by those who are eager to mislead the public and to negate effective police cooperation by misrepresenting the facts. The public should remember that persons who defy the law frequently find it expedient to disparage agencies charged with enforcing it.

Hi, Ted,

How are ya? Me, I'm fine and doing okay. I got over here on the 17th of March and was placed in the 1st Bn., 26th Inf., 1st Division. I am in the Headquarters Company of Battalion. I work as a parts clerk in the Motor Pool.

Today I went scrounging for parts. Before I left I intended to stop at the 1st Engineers to see if I could locate Jim Miller, since I found out from my mother that he was located on the same base.

Well, I found him, he was sacked out on his bunk, because he had just gotten off of perimeter guard. It sure was good to see someone from home. We had a good long chat.

Also I met a guy from Garrett. His name is Bob Bond. He's in Charlie Company of the 1/26th. He left for Saigon to be in the MP's.

It's not bad over here, just hot, muggy and dirty as Jim has probably told you. The monsoons are late getting here. And from what I have heard about them, we are in for it when it does start.

By the way, what's the chance of me getting the Saint Joe News while I'm here.

Before I came over I got married and reside in Elyria, Ohio. But when I get out next February I plan to go back to International Business College.

You see a lot of guys in the service who have dropped out of school and regret it.

After spending time on tour for the Army in France, Germany, and now Viet Nam, I thank God that I live in America.

Well that's about it, so say hi to everyone and take care, and May the Lord Bless you.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Ted,

This must be something of a historical day for Indiana. The Indianapolis 500 is being telecast live to the Far East. Al Unser's car just crashed—it is 1:45 A.M. May 31 in Tokyo.

At the start of the race Hilliard Gates' voice came across and I was reminded of the many sports events I've heard him cover over the years.

Here in Japan, of course, the automobile industry is growing by leaps and bounds. There is one excellent high speed track at the base of Mount Fuji. It would not surprise me to see this sport become increasingly popular out here. I suspect that someday in the future Honda will go to work on a car to enter the "Indy" competition.

It is 1:55 A.M. (10:55 A.M. in Indiana!). Lloyd Ruby has just taken the lead after Leonard and Unser made pit stops. Quite an experience to be seeing a T.V. program from "home" all the way out here in Japan. Coca Cola and Admiral air conditioner co.'s are among the sponsors of the program—(all in Japanese, of course.)

Just a note about us. Work is going along well in our Lutheran welfare instituting. In addition to my work in the three Bethany home locations, I've began work with the staff of our Home for the Aged here in Tokyo. I'm teaching two Bible classes as "extra-curricular" work and am on committees of our publishing house here in Japan, and chairman of an international social workers' group and work with the board of directors of a grocery store for the missionary community...

Tom and Ken are nearing the end of their school year. They both like school so well that Tom, at least, would go to summer school just for the fun of it. Mary too would like very much to go to school but has to pick up her learning from the boys. Doris keeps busy at home and supervising the building of the mission house we are now building.

We truly appreciate The St. Joe News and word from you all via the paper. —Bobby Unser just won. —Time for breakfast in a few hours.

Sincerely,
Bill Billow

The Mental Health Center

(by Rosemary Lewis, information director for the Division of Planning and Evaluation of the Indiana Department of Mental Health.)

It may not look different from any addition to any local hospital, but the three-storied wing being built at Clark County Memorial Hospital is different!

It will be a comprehensive mental health center to serve residents of Clark, Floyd, Harrison, Washington, Scott and Jefferson Counties.

Now operating in cramped, rented quarters, the Southern Indiana Mental Health and Guidance Center will move into spacious first-floor quarters. Offices, play therapy rooms, and group activity areas will allow a full range of out-patient psychiatric services. The upper floors will provide 40 in-patient psychiatric beds. It will provide for both night care and a large program of day care activities, including arts and crafts, social, recreational, and occupational therapies. Psychiatric emergency cases will be admitted through the regular hospital emergency room with coverage provided by members of the psychiatric staff on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The staff of the center will initiate consultation and education services to other community agencies dealing with disturbed people.

Some day, the center at Jeffersonville may not be so distinctive, but instead, part of a network of centers serving the mentally ill in their home communities. Three others are already underway in Indiana and 31 (altogether) have been programmed by the division of planning and evaluation in the Department of Mental Health. Across the nation, 2,000 are expected to be under construction by 1975.

This great "facelifting" of mental health programs is occurring because, for the first time in history, there is concerted joint action by the federal government, state governments, and local communities. The movement began with federal funds for planning comprehensive services for the mentally ill and retarded. In Indiana, the Indiana Mental Health Planning Commission, a broadly representative citizens' group of both expert Task Forces and regional committees was formed, and its work was directed by the staff of the division of planning and evaluation, of the state mental health agency. The result was a comprehensive plan for mental health services, published in 1966, endorsing the development of community mental health centers, suggesting locations and services needed.

The concept of the comprehensive mental health center had been articulated by President John F. Kennedy in his message to the Congress in February, 1963. Congress had responded by appropriating money for construction grants ($3.5 million to Indiana for the initial three fiscal years). The Indiana General Assembly had established a mental health centers fund ($2.3 million initially from part of cigarette tax revenues). With the federal share fixed at 50 percent; the state share at 25 percent, local communities would need to raise just 25 percent of the cost of initial construction and there was new legislation permitting county governments to levy taxes for this purpose.

There was no doubt in the minds of regional committee members that this was the course to pursue. It was painfully clear that prevailing patterns of care for the mentally ill were inadequate. The emotionally disturbed person might seek private psychiatric care IF his community boasted a psychiatrist; he might be able to be hospitalized in a local hospital IF that hospital had a psychiatric unit; he might seek service from an out patient psychiatric clinic IF there was one in his locale; he might be admitted to a state hospital IF he were committed, or IF he were willing to leave family and friends and seek admission.

The community mental health center described by federal legislation would eliminate the "if's." Persons would not be rigidly forced into programs that might not be suitable for them. There would be choices—flexible programs dictated by prospective clients' needs—not by their ability to pay, not by their diagnostic classification, nor by any other irrelevant consideration such as creed, sex, age, national origin. There would be five "essential" services provided in a community center: inpatient care, outpatient care, partial hospitalization, emergency service, consultation and education.

From Cong. Adair---

WHAT IS BEING DONE?—Many persons have been writing to me in the last few days asking what is being done for the "poor marchers," and at the same time expressing their concern for the safety of the Nation's Capital. Their anxiety was crystallized over the "Poor Peoples' March" on Washington and the continued rise in the crime rate.

Crime in Washington continues to increase. Since the rioting and disorders in April, when large downtown areas were burned out and destroyed, crime has escalated. Ten lives were lost as a result of that turmoil. In the last few days, four store owners or employees were murdered, a bus driver was robbed and slain, many robberies were perpetrated, and bus drivers threatened to strike unless they received better protection. In fact, nighttime bus service has been virtually at a standstill. Citizens are fearful to go out at night because of the muggings, rapes, and personal assaults.

In my opinion, the preservation of law and order and the safety of our citizens is the first order of business. Eighteen of the "Poor Peoples' March" were arrested when they demonstrated and refused to disperse as ordered from a march on the Longworth Building. A Congressman was denied entrance to "Resurrection City" and a newspaper reporter and a cameraman were ejected by strong-armed methods when they visited the encampment near the Lincoln Memorial. The leader of the March has publicly said the Marchers would resort to civil disobedience if their demands were not met. And he is a minister.

But the demands have never been spelled out.

I hold strong compassion for the plight of the poor. But their problems cannot be solved by the "instant use" of taxpayers' dollars. If that was the answer, we should be well on the road to alleviating the situation. Since 1960, we have spent more than $140 billion for so-called "Federal Aid to the Poor." Starting July 1, we will add another $25 to $27 billion in assistance to the poor. Also, state governments are providing welfare and poor relief.

One letter I received said: "I am writing to express my concern for our country. I feel the government officials have let the people down. They are not keeping law and order. ... I do not want to bring my children to a city of violence. I want to know how the government is going to protect vacationers this summer?"

Another said: "I think the 'Poor Peoples' March' should not be allowed to stay any longer than the (World War I) soldiers that had fought a war. We are getting rather tired of all the Marchers, Sit-ins and Riots."

—Cong. E. Ross Adair

Conservation Nationwide 4-H Project

What is conservation? If 10 people were asked, in all probability there would be 10 different answers.

But if they were asked who is responsible for conservation of the nation's natural resources, they would undoubtedly answer, "Everyone!" And they would be right.

4-H'ers Participate

Conservation is everyone's business, even youngsters. Proof of this is in the national 4-H Conservation of Natural Resources program which involves parents, children, educators, and conservation specialists. The 4-H members carry out projects in soil and water conservation, wildlife preservation, reforestation, and anti-pollution.

The farm boy works to prevent soil erosion, water contamination, forest fires, drought and damage to crops and livestock. This boy wants to learn about soil testing, irrigation, land management, weed and insect control to insure profitable farming operations.

Urban 4-H'ers are concerned with protecting towns and cities from air and water pollution, blight and deterioration. They want to enjoy fishing and swimming in recreational areas where they can catch a prize fish instead of an old boot, or dive into a clean lake instead of one contaminated with rubbish or harmful bacteria.

Raises Pheasants

Among the nation's leading 4-H conservationists last year was a teenage boy whose project included raising pheasants for the New Jersey State Division of Fish and Game in connection with wildlife preservation. Another lad perfected a conservation demonstration for television viewers in the West Central part of Colorado. Both boys were involved in county-wide conservation activities.

Awards Offered

The 4-H Conservation club members now exceed a quarter million. They are guided and assisted in their individual projects by adult leaders, county extension agents and other qualified persons. Parents often team up with their offspring in tackling the large, long-range projects.

Another participator is John Deere, the 4-H Conservation program sponsor. For the fifth straight year, John Deere has provided funds for county, state and national awards given annually to 4-H'ers who have completed the best conservation projects in the three categories of competition.

The highest award is the $800 national scholarship presented to six national champions. State winners are delegates to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, and county winners receive the conservation medal.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Much has been said about the credibility gap between Washington and the people.

A great deal of this is perhaps based on the public appraisal of some of the statements emanating from government leaders. Some are so astonishing that people come to the conclusion that either a falsehood is being perpetrated, or the officials are nuts. But then, on a double take, there is a tendency to exclaim "They can't be that nuts."

C. W. Harder

As a case in point, the Secretary of the Treasury appeared before a Congressional committee to urge passage of a plan to levy tax on Americans travelling to Europe to aid the government in saving money.

Now a treasury secretary is presumed to have some basic understanding of receipts and income, or in other words, the relation of outgo to income.

Yet he testified the plan he was urging would bring into the U. S. Treasury additional tax revenues somewhere between three hundred and fifty and four hundred million.

But he also said that enforcement of such a law and collecting the tax would cost a little extra. He estimated it would require employment of 165 additional customs inspectors at an annual cost of one and a half million dollars per year. It would also require an additional 200 postal inspectors at a cost of $3,430,000 per year, for a total cost of $4,930,000.

Now of course it becomes readily apparent that to even collect the highest estimated tax from the proposed new law of $400 million, there would be a cost to the government of almost $100 million more than would be taken in.

And of course, completely left out of the computations is the loss in business revenue now received from thousands of independent travel agencies which would be badly curtailed by travel restrictions.

Of course, it does seem the fashion for governments to figure the national economics are only hurt by what the individual does, not what the government spends. East Germany keeps its people hemmed in to help the communist economy, ostensibly. Yet the cost of maintaining the guards along the Berlin wall, to say nothing of the costs of the ammunition used to shoot down those trying to leave probably far outweighs any possible loss to the economy by people leaving.

But the American official position on this travel matter from the standpoint alone of income and outgo of dollars is somewhat reminiscent of the old radio comedy team in which one comedian said on his farm he had both white horses and brown horses, but it cost so much more to feed the brown horses. When asked why, he said he really did not know. "In fact," he would say, "the only reason I can think of is that I have more brown horses than white horses."

VOL. LXXXIII Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana Thursday, June 13, 1968

In this sad world of ours, sorrow comes to all; and, to the young, it comes with bitterest agony, because it takes them unawares. The older have learned to ever expect it . . . . .

Time Granted For Amended Petition

The central site group in the DeKalb County Eastern Com-

[illegible]

Chief Justice David Lewis stated when the court's decision allowing filing of the remonstrance petition was announced, that the matter was important enough to grant additional time for consideration. He indicated that the court was not quite certain about the entire matter because it was not quite certain what the legislature had in mind when the law was passed.

The remonstrating group contended that the bonding requirement means that only those persons or groups with considerable money will be granted their day in court. This is considered contrary to the American concept of justice available to all regardless of their means.

Grills also argued that, inasmuch as the school corporation has not proceeded as far as it can in the advertising for sale of bonds, the remonstrating group cannot be held responsible for any alleged delay in constructing a new junior senior high school.

Meanwhile, a hearing will be heard next Monday, June 17, 1968, at 1:30 p.m. in the DeKalb Circuit Court in the suit filed by three school patrons against the school board. Special Judge Ray Ade of the Huntington Circuit Court will preside at the hearing.

Jo Baum To Teach Again In Chicago

Mrs. Arthur Baum, the former Jo Bowser of Saint Joe and a graduate of Saint Joe High School, will teach again in a predominantly negro school in Chicago starting in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Baum spent the past week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowser of Saint Joe, at the Bowser cottage on Hamilton Lake.

Mrs. Baum leaves next week for a trip through the southern states. Mr. Baum will join her on June 20 in Florida where they will put their car in storage and fly to the Caman Island near Cuba for a month's vacation.

Dr. Mrtin Luther King's grave in Georgia will be one of the places Mrs. Baum will visit. She worked with him during the "Jenner School Trial" in 1966. Jenner is the largest elementary school in Chicago and is 90 per cent negro. Mrs. Baum taught 6th grade there in the ghetto for seven years. After resting for two years following this trial, she will begin teaching this fall in the George T. Donahue School which is also predominantly negro.

by Phil Haberkorn

A total of over $115 was raised from sales made in last week's rummage sale and car wash, and the rummage sale is continuing this week through Saturday.

Work is progressing this week in the construction of new floors on both sides of the building. Jay Loy, Bill Mansfield, Dick Roberts and C. M. and Armando Gonzales have all donated their time and efforts in laying 90 sheets of plywood furnished by Jerry Baker.

An urgent need now exists for tile, rugs and carpet remnants. Anyone wishing to donate any of these materials is welcome to do so. The Unicorn should be ready for business as soon as these floors are finished.

Some of the young men who assisted in the floor work are pictured in various stages of activity—and inactivity— at The Unicorn last week. They are as follows:

Newville Church 126th Anniversary

NEWVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH 1842-1968

The Newville United Methodist Church held its 126th anniversary observance Sunday, June 9, 1968, with 200 to 300 persons attending through the day.

The morning program included a lesson led by Rev. V. A. Carlson, D.D., superintendent of the Logansport District. At the worship service which followed, Rev. Reuben H. Mueller, bishop of the West Central Area, delivered the message.

Following lunch at the noon hour, a program was presented, including remarks by George Patterson, former teacher at Hicksville, Ohio.

Photos and appropriate history of the church appear on this page.

REV. REUBEN H. MUELLER

HISTORY OF THE CHURCH

The U. B. Class at Newville, Indiana, was organized by Bishop Henry Kumler, Jr., in 1842 in the home of Solomon Woodcox, which was located about two miles west of Newville on the northeast corner of the crossroad north of the Hoisington Bridge. Shortly afterward, services were moved to a schoolhouse near the present church site. The charter members were: Mr. and Mrs. Solomon DeLong, Mrs. Hanna Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Woodcox, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Woodcox, Mr. M. Soper, and Mrs. Sarah Ellis. Descendants of Hanna Robertson are still active in the church.

In 1855, under the pastorate of Rev. J. Fink, the original 30x40 frame structure was erected. The church was, without a doubt, superior to any other building in the community. The fact that the framework of that original church is in the main part of the present building is evidence that these pioneers built well.

About 1880 the church was moved back from the road and placed on a brick foundation. Truss beams were installed and the ceiling supports were removed. Five years later, under the pastorate of Rev. R. T. Martin, extensive improvements costing about $500 were made including a tower, bell, vestibule, slate roof, and new windows. This building served the class until 1914 when a new building was erected.

The present biuding was dedicated on April 9, 1914, under the pastorate of Rev. O. P. Givens, by Bishop Fout. The board of trustees at the time of dedication consisted of Sam Wyatt, A. W. Platter, M. E. Leighty, J. S. Kain, John Washler, and G. F. DeLong The total cost of the new church was $5,230 and took only 2 years after the dedication for the church to remove itself from debt. Mrs. Josephine DeLong collected the money for the window in the east end of the main sanctuary in memory of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The Rural Free Chautauqua had its beginning here in 1914, and was directly related to the building of the church. The Chautauqua operated every yeaf except one during World War I and was never revived after 1942 because of World War II.

CHURCH ACTIVITIES — 1942 - 1968

Since 1942 many improvements have been made to modernize and beautify our church. The present parsonage was built and dedicated on July 9, 1950. Rev. Albert Swenson served as minister at that time.

The Partners Class donated new light fixtures for the sanctuary in 1954. The steps were rebuilt and a roof put over the front door in 1956. In 1958 a new oil furnace was installed and the coal bin converted into rest rooms. The altar and chancel were remodeled in 1960 after which it was carpeted. A public address system with chimes was installed about this same time.

Between 1963 and 1967 extensive remodeling of the basement was undertaken. The foundation was waterproofed and drainage tile laid. All outside walls, both upstairs and down, and the ceiling were insulated and the basement rewired. Celing tile, floor tile and wall paneling were installed and the kitchen was completely remodeled. The partitions in the basement were altered to give room for two attractive class rooms. These projects were to a large extent paid for by a farm program. The exterior of the church was painted in 1967.

Many lesser improvements have been made from time to time so that our church remains attractive, efficient, and modern.

Two men from our congregation have answered the call to the ministry. They are Rev. Frank Engle, now retired, and living at Story Lake near Ashley, and Rev. Donald Ruhl, now serving at Lakeside Church in Whiting, Indiana.

On April 23, 1968, we became United Methodist when the Methodist Church and the E. U. B. Church merged. This made us a part of the largest Protestant denomination in the world.

These improvements and events reflect our dedication and make it possible for our church to take its proper place in the community and to serve God better.

PRESENT CHURCH PROGRAM

The Newville United Methodist Church offers a complete and comprehensive program for everyone. We are governed as provided in the Discipline of the United Methodist Church and we adhere to its program as closely as possible. We are part of the Indiana Conference North and the Waterloo group. Newville and Mt. Pleasant comprise the Newville Circuit, therefore we alternate times of Sunday School and Worship.The first and third quarter we have Worship service at 9:30 and Sunday School at 10:30. The second and fourth quarter we have Sunday School at 9:30 and Worship at 10:35.

Our Sunday School offers classes for all age levels. We have three organized adult classes, two classes for the youth and three children's classes.

The Women's Society for Christian Service is organized and follows the program provided by our conference. They meet the second Monday of each month.

Our church has an organized Ladies' Aid. The youth of our church have a very active Youth Fellowship. They meet each Sunday evening and offer a diversified and interesting program.

Newville United Methodist Church sponsors a softball team which competes in the Saint Joe Church League.

A pastor's class has been provided to offer instruction to our youth before they take church membership.

To all our members and friends we offer our help and an opportunity for service by these several means.

Weevil Threat

The Alfalfa Weevil was found in large numbers recently in DeKalb County, as reported by Michael R. Jewett, DeKalb County Agricultural Extension Agent. The weevil was found in several fields in the Butler and Waterloo areas. Additional report by farmers indicate that they were also found in substantial numbers in the Auburn, Newville, and Butler Center areas of the county.

This week Jim Myers of the Rainbow Farm Center at Saint Joe reported that the weevil has been found in fields at Saint Joe and Spencerville.

This new insect to Northern Indiana can be very destructive to the growing alfalfa crop. The feeding on the alfalfa is caused primarily by the larval stage of the weevil. Young larvae are tiny yellowish-green worms. Older larvae are green with a white stripe running down the back. They grow to about one-fourth of an inch long. All stages of the larvae have curved bodies and shiny black heads. The larvae feed first on the growing tips of the alfalfa plant, then shred the foliage. This feeding in severe infestations can cause complete loss of the crop.

Farmers are advised to harvest the present stand of alfalfa as soon as possible in the form of hay, silage, or direct cut-and-feed methods. After the removal of the forage crop from the field, the stubble and regrowth should be examined in about three to five days. If the weevil is again feeding on the new growth in numbers to be harmful, spraying with an approved insecticide should be considered immediately to protect the regrowth.

Chemicals approved to be used with at least 20 gallons of water per acre include malathion, mixture of malathion and methoxychlor, or a mixture of diazinon and methoxychlor. Farmers are urged to contact the County Extension Office, or other reliable sources of insecticide information for assistance in identification and recommendations on chemical control before spraying.

The Mental Health Center

(by Rosemary Lewis, information director for the Division of Planning and Evaluation of the Indiana Department of Mental Health.)

(conclusion)

The center was not conceived as a single building, but as a program, an organized principle. Hence, if a community had an outpatient clinic, for example, it might urge establishment of the other services and link them administratively so that prospect ive clients would be spared red tape and waiting lists.

As a working model, the concept of the community health center has proved to be an attractive focus for community agencies. Since implementation was always considered to be a vital component of planning, the regional mental health planning committees, and more particularly the regional executive secretaries, are meeting with local hospital administrators and boards, outpatient clinic directors, state hospital personnel, family service agencies, in fact, any local agency which might be willing to organize, develop, or participate in a community mental health center. Members of the division of planning and evaluation in the Department of Mental Health are available to counsel those who request such help; division staff members are constantly "on the go" advising local groups on programming details. As applications are drafted, the Indiana State Board of Health is called in to advise on construction and architectural considerations; the Indiana State Board of Health actually administers the federal grant program for community centers as it does for other health facilities. This sort of inter agency cooperation sets the stage for future comprehensive health planning in Indiana.

Consider what it has meant in one region of the state, the Vincennes Mental Health Planning region composed of Knox, Martin, and Daviess counties. The regional committee there, chaired by Judge Philip D. Waller, Washington, and strong leadership from Vincennes University, the contracting agency, and Franklyn H. Schroeder, the executive secretary, had recommended a mental health center at either the Good Samaritan Hospital in Vincennes or at the Daviess County Hospital in Washington.

Good Samaritan Hospital emerged as the preferred site by an interesting circumstance. The Hospital had been condemned by the Board of Health for not meeting operational standards; a major rebuilding program was necessary and was being planned. What better place for a community mental health center than as an integral part of a brand-new hospital? When the regional committee approached the three county councils for funds in September, 1966, however, it was unsuccessful in achieving approval. The Vincennes hospital had been a major issue in other campaigns and with elections once again, and county officials were understandably reluctant to immediately appropriate tax funds for such a novel project. Because of this Charles Arends, the hospital administrator, necessarily proceeded on plans for the new six-story structure and secured Hill-Burton funds.

Then, in November, at the eleventh hour, the Knox County Medical Society pledged $30,000 and kicked off a community fund drive which netted $150,000 in one month. By January, 1967, the plans for Good Samaritan included another floor and a program of complete mental health services for the three counties then without any mental health facilities or professional people. With state and federal funds now assured, the building is underway.

A center is being built in Evansville in quite another manner. In this community, blessed with both an outpatient psychiatric clinic for children and one for adults, two state mental hospitals, a private psychiatric hospital, and local hospitals offering psychiatric service, the problem was not so much developing new services as coordinating, solidifying, and reaching out into nearby counties where services were slim, if they existed at all.

Thus, on the grounds of Welborn Hospital, newly purchased by the Vanderburgh County Council, a new facility is rising to house the adult clinic, an all new day care center, capable of serving 50 adults and 50 adolescents, and the executive staff of the Southwestern Indiana Mental Health Center.

This will be the central administrative office which will direct patient flow among the various hospitals, clinics, and other community agencies, all of whom have formally affiliated with the Center. The county councils of Vanderburgh, Posey, Gibson, and Warrick have pledged funds for construction and operational costs; state and federal approval for construction grants has been given.

A fourth center (actually the first to be funded) is to be opened at Marion County General Hospital this year to give special service to the immediate low income neighborhood. Applications for construction grants have been recently submitted by Union Hospital in Terre Haute, and the Mental Health Center of St. Joseph County in collaboration with Memorial Hospital in South Bend. Work is in progress in Columbus, Kokomo, Marion and elsewhere. So the network will grow and Hoosiers will be able to receive quick, expert mental health services in familiar settings.

In this and like communities, public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment, nothing can fail; without it, nothing can succeed. Court Rules Against Plaintiffs In Site Suit

Attorney Nelson Grills is in the process of filing another appeal with the State Supreme Court following a hearing Monday of this week in which Special Judge Ray Ade of the Huntington Circuit Court ruled against the remonstrance group in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District. The ruling came in the suit filed by three patrons of the district against the school board. In addition to citing regulations which are not being followed, Grills had contended that proper approval of school construction had not been obtained from the State Board of Accounts. The state agency's acknowledgment of receipt of plans has been considered "approval" in the past, the school board contended through its attorney, H. Charles Winans. Judge Ade commented in his ruling that he did not see how a school corporation could be kept from building a school just because the state agency had not given approval.

The remonstrance group also has an appeal in the Supreme Court concerning posting of bond. The court has granted Grills time to file an amended appeal in order that the court may consider the constitutionality of the bonding statute.

Shooting Accident

David Hubbard, 22, of Saint Joe, underwent exploratory surgery at DeKalb Memorial Hospital last Friday evening after he shot himself in an accident at his home at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

The County Sheriff's Department reported that Mr. Hubbard was at home alone and was apparently cleaning his gun when it accidentally discharged. The slug from the .32 calibre automatic pistol entered his stomach and emerged from his back. The surgery Friday evening revealed there was only moderate interior damage.

After the shooting, Mr. Hubbard managed to go out onto the front porch of his home and collapsed. Neighbors saw him and called the sheriff's department.

Summer Brings Bike Hazards

With many younger boys and girls using bicycles on the streets and walks of Saint Joe, the need for their observance of bicycle safety rules becomes more evident. Parents of these young riders are urged to instruct their offspring about the basic rules of safety when riding a bicycle. Some of the young ones have been riding too fast at corners, riding on the wrong side of the street and failing to keep far enough to the right for safety.

Basic bicycle safety rules are as follows:

1 — Ride single file.
2 — Stay on the right.
3 — Give signals.
4 — Obey traffic laws.
5 — Lock your bike.
6 — Wear white at night.
7 — Keep eyes on the road.
8 — Yield the right-of-way.
9 — Stop for cross traffic.
10 — Park your bike properly.
11 — Conduct a safety check regularly.
12 — Only one rider to a bike.
13 — Avoid sidewalk riding.
14 — Never hitch rides.
15 — Light up at night.
16 — Walk bike across heavy traffic.
17 — Keep head up.
18 — Have a good horn or bell.
19 — Ride safely for fun.
20 — Keep speed down.

Swim Lessons

Swimming lessons for children in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District will be held at the Auburn swimming pool beginning July 15 and running through the 26th. The lessons will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, with each lesson starting at 9 a.m. and ending at 11 a.m. each day. The cost of the lessons per student will be five dollars.

A bus will pick up students at the Spencerville Community Building at 8:25 a.m. and then at the old grade school building in Saint Joe. The bus will leave Saint Joe at 8:35 a.m. for Auburn. No rural pickups will be made unless they are on the bus route to Auburn. For final confirmation, Ken Severson should be contacted no later than July 15.

The Unicorn

by Phil Haberkorn

With work advancing on the construction of floors on both sides of the building, the management of The Unicorn is now aiming for an opening date in the first week of July. Tile was laid over half the dance floor Tuesday by Jerry Baker, and that floor should be done within the week. The west room of the building, planned for use as a lounge and recreation area, will be carpeted. Many carpet remnants and rugs have been donated thus far, but more is still needed. Anyone wishing to donate rugs and carpet remnants may leave them at The Unicorn at any time when someone is there working.

The tile used on the dance floor was provided by several donors, and a list of them will be printed later. A juke box was installed last week, and now provides music while work is being done.

Crane Erects 80-ft. Elevator Leg

Work is proceeding at Sients Elevator & Coal Company in Saint Joe on the new and expanded grain storage facilities at the elevator. Last week an 80-foot leg of the elevator was erected, requiring the use of a 100-foot crane. Accompanying photos tell part of the story.

First comes the job of putting together the sections of the crane, trucked on a semi-trailer.

Later, up goes the topmost section for the elevator.

When it's all done, the elevator leg stands 80 feet high.

Puzzling Circumstances

The central site group in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District took another one on the chin this week when a hearing in the suit filed by three patrons against the school board brought a decision against the three from the special judge hearing the case. Plaintiffs had pointed out state rules and regulations in favor of their argument that the Butler site is not large enough for present needs as well as future needs. They also contended that the Butler site is not centrally and conveniently located.

It has been quite discouraging from the very beginning of the controversy (that is, when the original central site decision was rescinded immediately after a "new" board took over) to be fighting an uphill battle requiring legal counsel and court appeals, especially since the rules and regulations established by the state favor the central site group's arguments. It has been puzzling to me, as well as many others, how state regulations can be upheld so diligently in some instances. But when it comes to the expenditure of $3½ million for a school which should benefit the entire area it serves and not just a small portion of it, you find it virtually impossible to have school regulations upheld.

One thing the controversy has brought of a constructive nature is the question of the constitutionality of a state law requiring the posting of a bond in a public suit to cover damages due to delay. But this is not accomplishing anything directly related to our local site controversy. This is not answering the question: why are the court decisions being rendered against plaintiffs who have as their goal the upholding of state regulations which are intended to help provide adequate and convenient school facilities for all?

Another question which remains unanswered is: why have the state superintendent of public instruction, the Commission On General Education, the State Board of Accounts, the State Board of Tax Commissioners, the State Board of Health, and the Planning Commission been so willing to overlook our particular situation and allow, thus far, the proposed expenditure of $3½ million for a school on a site which is wholly inadequate. These agents and agencies are usually thought of as quite diligent in overseeing the expenditure of public funds. However, there has been little indication thus far of any particular concern on their part, even when their duties and responsibilities are spelled out in no uncertain terms by state regulations.

The more disappointing aspect of the matter is the fact that our local school board has shown bull-headed insistence on carrying through with its plans to build on a site which has, under state definitions and descriptions, only 18 acres available for proposed junior-senior high school use. Butler site proponents have been quick to refer to a Ball State survey team's recommendations to justify the use of the Butler site. But that survey has been shown to be self-contradictory, and it also contains a statement pointing out that a high school should have a minimum of 40 acres available for its use. That's just for high school. We are going to have a junior-senior combination on 18 acres, under the present board's insistence!

If I were hailed into court for driving 40 miles per hour in a 30 miles per hour zone, how far do you think I would get if my defense were: everybody else overlooked my violation, the court should, also. All it takes is an officer or a citizen to testify that a regulation has been violated to bring a court sentence on me. But in this school site matter, we have had no success, even though the central site group has legally brought violations before the courts and sought correction of these violations FOR PUBLIC BENEFIT.

In the past couple of weeks, the Garrett-Keyser-Butler Community School District has seen the school board in that district reconsider expenditures of only $70,000 due to a REMONSTRANCE petition (and I use capital letters to emphasize that bad word "remonstrance"!) signed by only some 100 persons from that community. And it is surprising, and gratifying, to see the names of those "bad, bad remonstrators" published in their newspaper, and to see the number of well-known and respected names on that list of remonstrators, including people in Garrett who are not afraid to be identified with a cause even as "remonstrators." Here in our district we had almost 400 signers on a REMONSTRANCE petition which has gained no recognition from the school board or any state agencies. And our petition involves an expenditure of THREE AND ONE-HALF MILLION DOLLARS! Though our petition had what would seem to be well-known and respected names in the school district, it evidently did not have enough well-known Butler residents to impress the present Butler-dominated school board. It is obvious, under the circumstances, that the present board is more concerned with the civic importance of Butler than with the adequacy and convenience of the new-school site when that matter is considered. The city of Butler is blanketed by fear hovering over those who are "remonstrators" at heart in the site controversy but are afraid of reprisals of some sort if they openly express their support for a central site. This is not a false accusation of fear; it has been substantiated by at least a half dozen persons in or immediately adjacent to that city.

The school attorney recently attempted to help resolve the situation by suggesting a meeting between the school board and the plaintiffs in the suit against the board. The board rejected the suggestion even though a site at the city limits was mentioned (though prematurely) as a possible "compromise"; so, that site is now "out," along with the Lyons site. The remonstrators have always been willing to discuss the matter; the present school board majority has never been willing to negotiate. State agencies continue to ignore the central-site group's pleadings for a proper and adequate location.

Is it any wonder that you hear more frequently as time passes, "There's something 'fishy' about the whole thing."

Historical Society

The DeKalb County Historical Society will hold its regular meeting Sunday, June 23, beginning at 2 p.m. in the Newville church, located about 11 miles east of Auburn on State Road 8. Mrs. Roy Baker of near Saint Joe will be the program speaker. The public is invited.

Tentative plans for the July 14 meeting are for a carry in dinner in Butler Township (exact location to be announced later), followed by a tour to the Cedar Chapel church, the church cemetery, and the Cedar Chapel covered bridge. The program is to be highlighted with comments by Mrs. Mirth Inman of Keadallville who is familiar with the early history of the area.

There are more than 175 charter members of the Historical Society, nine of whom are organizations. All are cordially invited to attend regular meetings. It is hoped they will renew their memberships for 1969.

The last 1968 meeting is scheduled for November 17.

Pony League

by Merle Holden, coach

The Saint Joe-Spencerville Pony League brought their non-league record to 9-4 and their league record to 1-1 the past few days, with the latest decision being a 14-1 slaughter of Fremont at the local diamond.

In other games the locals lost to Hamilton, 10-2, after a nightmare last inning in which Hamilton tallied seven times on local errors. In non-league games, the 88 team walloped the Leo "B" team 22-1, and took a doubleheader from Antwerp, 8-6 and 6-5, winning both games in the final inning.

John Mansfield and Steve Evans limited Fremont to five hits, all singles, in Mansfield's first league victory. Mike McDowell, Bob Holtzburg, and Doug Fetters supplied the hitting power to go with the pitching.

Against Antwerp, Rick Holden, Mike McDowell, Evans, and Kent Rosenberry led the hitting attack.

With the season well under way, it appears that this year's team may be one of the best in the past ten years. Last year's, the best in many years in the area, finished third in the league with a 10-6 record.

The infield is set with Holden at first, Rosenberry at shortstop, and Steve Evans at third. Joe Fetters, George Carper, and Dennis Melchi are all bidding for the second base job. McDowell appears to be the starting catcher. The outfield has Doug Fetters in left, Kevin Campbell in center, with right field up for grabs between Warren Griggs and Ron Knisely. Vic Dermott may take over the first base spot or an outfield position with an improvement in hitting. He started last year.

Holtzburg is the only veteran Pony League pitcher besides Holden, who was used sparingly last year. Mansfield has been very impressive so far, and he and Holtzburg shape up as the starters. Steve Evans has done well in relief, and Holden and Rosenberry will be spot starters and relievers along with McDowell.

Tom Frank will substitute at third and the outfield. Dwight Fish and Terry Dermott are both newcomers this year, but should gain experience in the outfield for next season.

Vacations and injuries have hurt this year and will continue to do so. Two starters were gone last week and one this week. Donnie Shilling suffered a cracked nose in the second game of the year, and has been out for the past three weeks.

Of the squad of 18, eight are 14 years old, and ten will return next year.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Verlyn Diemer, who opened the Mobil station last week, had a lot of volunteer help to get the place in presentable condition. And he commented this week about how much he appreciated the efforts of several young men from the community. Their help included washing the walls and windows, and general cleaning and sweeping of the station, for which they asked nothing except to be kept in pop and candy bars while they worked.

I asked if he could remember who the young men were, and Verlyn, at the risk of leaving out someone's name, mentioned Ric Roberts, Don Edgar, Jim and Mike Swary, Larry Shuff, Kenny Groves, and especially Dave McCann who really pitched in, according to Verlyn.

This good deed by these young men sort of evens up for such other unfortunate moments of poor judgment as that which prompted some young buck to paint an obscene four-letter word on the inside wall of our garage with a can of spray paint I had placed near the door for use at the ball diamond. And after all the privileges we have given to several young men in their wish to use our driveway "court" for shooting baskets. None of them have been around in the last few weeks; maybe it's guilty conscience—which it ought to be. There's no excuse for that kind of "prank."

Leon Kees passes along the following letter which appears in a bulletin from the Indiana Department of Veterans' Affairs. It was written by Chaplain G. P. Murray, USN.

"Dear Mr. Editor:

"I've had it! I'm weary of articles concerning Red China and the war in Vietnam. They are written, I'm sure, by people who have never been in the combat area! The things they are saying are just not so. I spent eight months in the combat zone with men who worked on humanitarian projects, built roads, a hospital, dug water wells and did civic improvement such as working in orphanages. Returning to the U.S.A. to find criticism, bickering and questions like: 'Are you still burning innocent villages and shooting civilian women and children?' Patriotism is suspect, military obligation is to be avoided and trying to rescue a man is now a sin.

"I wish critics and those clamoring about Red China would listen once in a while to those who have been there. I'm sick of experts who have never left home, of mushy Christians who have never been where belief in Christ means torture and death. Let them spend time under fire, and then I'll listen. Let them talk to refugees, then I'll talk to them.

"What frightens me is our people not getting a true picture of the conflict even though it is the best covered in history! When I tell people our men never fired at the Viet Cong until attacked they look at me like I was crazy. When I tell them the Communists hate our guts, blow up our hospital and maimed our men no one wants to listen. When I ask if they have been to Asia, if they have talked to refugees from North Vietnam they say, 'No, but it doesn't make any difference!' Can you imagine that?

"When I tell folks about the building, teaching, healing and cleaning our boys are doing there I get a sweet smile, a County Reorganization Now?

During the time that there has been a dispute in our school district about the location of a new junior-senior high school, several patrons from various locations in the school district have said, "Let's go in with Allen County" or "Let's go in with Auburn." Some of those who made such comments were doing so in desperation over the site matter and in frustration over the apparent lack of concern by the present Butler-dominated school board for the welfare of other areas of the school district.

Now that there is time to consider the whole situation, what with two appeals being presented to the Indiana Supreme Court for a decision from that body sometime in the future, consideration ought to be given to the idea of combining with the DeKalb Central District. Mind you, I am not saying that such a move ought to be undertaken. I am saying, however, that such a move ought to be talked about by all parties concerned, and that includes representatives of the DeKalb Central District itself. Perhaps the other school district in the county ought to be in on the discussion. This suggestion is based on the following justifications:

1. Reorganization of schools was undertaken to improve education for all, specifically and particularly to make the educational opportunities equal within our county.

2. Despite the popular preference for four school units within the county, the single unit plan had the second highest number of first place choices, as I recall, when we were allowed to express our preference a few years ago. Obviously the average person did not wish to "lose" school identities in the county, but the average person also was aware that, as at least one person put it, "that's the way we'll end up sometime anyway, with a single unit."

3. Because of the strong showing by the single unit, and because of its own deliberations, the county reorganization committee voted for the single unit plan. But immediate pressure from the northwest area and from a group of school administrators influenced the committee to change its mind not only once but twice. (If only they had stuck to their guns!!) Thereafter, the public accepted the committee's final recommendation for four separate school districts in DeKalb County.

4. Within two years (as I recall) of the time that the four-unit plan was approved, the same northwest area which had protested a single unit because it would lose its identity joined with the central district for a very practical and common-sense reason: both school districts would have been duplicating high school facilities within five miles of one another without sufficient enrollment to justify such duplication. That school district now has a high school enrollment (top four grades) of around 1,100, an ideal number for curriculum purposes.

5. The DeKalb County Eastern Community School District has an enrollment of only 502 in the top four grades. It cannot match the central district in education potential because of the basic lack of numbers. The Garrett high school enrollment is not too much larger than Eastside's and it, too, cannot equal the central district in potential because of numbers.

6. Money is a major problem today in providing education. It seems potentially foolhardy for $3i million to be spent for a new high school in our eastern district if greater educational potential can be obtained for Eastside students WITHOUT BUILDING A NEW HIGH SCHOOL and tax relief can be obtained for the DeKalb Central District by uniting the two districts.

(Remember, these points are for talking purposes and do not cover all details, only major starting points for discussion.)

7. How could such a unification be made without immediate high school construction? As one Auburn resident suggested recently, the high school could be made up of the top three grades instead of four. With the new central school capable of housing some 1350 students, and their present enrollment now some 1,100 students, they would have roughly 825 students in the upper three grades. Eastside's present 502 students in the top four grades would give approximately 375 in the top three grades. Thus, an upper-three-grade high school, combining the two school districts, would have an approximate enrollment of 1200 students. This would be getting close to the 1350 capacity of the central building, but it would be less costly to add classrooms in a few years when those rooms are needed than to build a whole new high school in the eastern district under the present separate set-up.

8. Adjustments would have to be made and it is possible that such adjustments could not be made efficiently. Answers can only come from discussion and investigation. But the first adjustment would be to provide junior high facilities for the entire district at either two or three locations. I do not know for certain, but it has been suggested, again by an Auburn resident, that the central facilities could take care of central junior high needs. In the eastern half of the district, there would be two possibilities. Either add classrooms to the Riverdale building for junior high grades 7-8-9 and use the present high school facilities at Butler for 7-8-9 grade students up there, or take all 7-8-9 students to Butler to the present high school facilities. There might be a third possibility, that of building new classrooms at the Butler elementary building site for all junior high students in the eastern half, but this might involve more construction costs than are reasonable, inasmuch as we are trying to spend our school money as efficiently as possible. And one thing should be remembered—a new school building is not the solution to our particular Eastside problem! A new building did not solve the northwest and central districts' situation. The new building was the FRUIT of their solution, which was to work together for their common good. I am suggesting that further working together within the county might be beneficial for even more of the total county school population. At least, it appears to be worth talking about and investigating.

9. Just a few years ago, school patrons in the entire county were influenced by their personal and selfish desire to keep things as they were, to prevent any change. Within a short time, some of those same people saw how costly such efforts might be, and they joined together, and they profited by such unification. Now is the time for more talking about even further administrative unification which appears to have potential benefits for everyone.

In conclusion, I want to make it clear that I am not convinced that further unification WILL solve everyone's problems. However, when I am faced with an additional $1.50 per hundred tax hike to build a new junior-senior high school in the Eastside district (no matter where it may be located!), and when a central district patron says his tax rate would go down if our districts got together and pooled resources for the common good, I am ready to listen to any and all arguments, pro and con. Several of the above paragraphs are numbered so that anyone who may wish to address himself to the points made can do so by paragraph number. I'd like to hear where the holes are in the suggestion to unite!

In case anyone says I've changed my tune with the above presentation because of the site dispute in our district, let me point out that, at the time of reorganization, I supported the single unit plan, that I took the county reorganization committee to task for allowing itself to be coerced into something other than its initial recommendation, that I urged further consideration of county reorganization when the northwest and central districts undertook their unification.

My tune has not changed. I am still intent on obtaining the fruits of reorganization which are there to be gained: to provide equal and adequate educational opportunities within our county at the least possible cost to the taxpayer. Discussion of the matter at the present time could bring out more plainly whether or not further unification can accomplish such ends.

I urge residents of the entire county to consider this matter, to consider further reorganization into a single administrative unit before more millions of tax dollars are spent for school construction. Proper motivation in education is not merely the construction of new buildings; it is the improvement of the classroom potential for as many students as is efficiently possible. All of us should look not only toward the benefits we may derive but also toward the responsibilities we bear.

knowing look and reply like this: 'Oh, yes, but those people are taking advantage of us, and wouldn't they be just as well off under the Communists ' The first several times I heard this I was too surprised to reply. Then I was too mad to talk. Now I want to go into a corner and weep! How stupid can we get!

"This war is a terrible thing. There is a feeling about 'political policy' and 'foreign affairs.' It is not a simple thing. But would you say 'Let them go, don't help—they will be happy under Communism'? If we sit smugly in our freedom and not help others preserve theirs, we wouldn't have ours very long! We're so smart we know this, but so dumb we don't want to do anything about it.

"This is the 'Good Samaritan-Parable War.' Bruised and bleeding South Vietnam is desperately in need of help. A lot of Americans fear getting involved by stopping to help. It breaks my heart as one who did stop to help to turn around looking for Church help—and not find it! What is wrong with being on the side of freedom? What's wrong with helping a brother who is hurt badly and calling for help? What's wrong with speaking out against the godless ruthlessness of Communism? Nothing, you can say? Then why don't we do it?

"I hope I'm Christian in the matter of speaking to the Red Chinese, and in working for peace. The only trouble is the last Red Chinese I saw tried to mortar me to death.

"Now, brother, if you want to speak with him and discuss the issues of peace, go ahead! Be my guest. I have had it. You try for a while. Then, after you come back, let me know how you made out.

Budget, New Ordinance Face Review Monday

The Town Board of Saint Joe will meet next Monday evening, July 1, at 37:0 p.m. at the Town Hall for its regular monthly meeting. Two significant matters will be deliberated at that time.

The budget for 1969 will be reviewed, following a special meeting held this week to prepare the budget which includes anticipated revenues and expenditures for next year. Publication of the budget will be in August.

Another matter to be considered will be the transfer of the method of collecting revenue for the trash removal service from the tax rolls to the individual households in the town. Such a move is being considered in order to reduce the tax budget of the town by $2,880. If it is done at the present time, there will be sufficient funds remaining in the treasury for 1968 to pay a $1200 fee due an engineering firm for preliminary survey services in connection with sewage disposal for the town. No specific appropriation was made in the 1968 budget for the survey obligation.

If the collection of trash removal fees is changed, residents will find the fee added to their monthly water bill.

The public is invited to attend the meeting and offer suggestions and criticisms in both the above matters.

Pony League

—Dick Harris, reporter

Merle Holden's Saint Joe-Spencerville team eeked through with a 12-11 victory over Prairie Heights on the local diamond last Friday. The game seesawed back and forth as runs were scored in every inning except one. When Bob Holtzburg got blasted in the rib cage by a pitch hit back to him, the general feeling was that this was going to be a lulu. The game began this way and ended on a disputed call at first base that enabled the winning run to score. Warren Griggs hit sharply to the shortstop, and the throw pulled the first baseman off the bag as the run scored. Prairie Heights came off the bench, rather angry at the ump, but all for wasted energy as the decision stood.

Bob Holtzburg and Steve Evans had good days at the plate. Evans poked one so far he probbly could have crawled on his stomach around the bases with time to spare.

Manager Holden was irked at too many errors and was hoping for some practice days to iron things out. The team's next game is set for Thursday, the 27th, provided the monsoon season is over by then.

Livestock Rules To Be Enforced

Livestock health requirements for exhibition at the Indiana State Fair and all 4H and County Fairs will be strictly enforced this year. This comes from the State Veterinarian's Office to all who plan to exhibit at the fairs and is a result of various complaints from the fair associations and livestock people.

Health certificates are in a sense health insurance to both exhibitor and his animals. The purpose is to prevent spread of infectious or contagious diseases among livestock. Animals that congregate in close quarters together with lowered disease resistance as the result of stress from transportation and handling, change of food, water, etc., are prone to many diseases. Therefore, precautions must be taken that animals exhibited be free of any contagious disease. A State Fair recently was placed under quarantine because of the death of an animal with a contagious disease.

Advanced precautions include health examination on the farm, all necessary vaccinations, such as that against cholera, at least 21 days prior to show, T.B. and Brucellosis tests and all other health requirements must be met before animals leave the farm.

It is known that contact at shows has been a factor in the spread of not only serious diseases but also of other conditions such as ringworm, warts, and mange.

Show animals often represent large investments in livestock and in case of junior exhibitors (4H) much time, care, and hope are tied up in the animals exhibited, not only at the larger shows but at 4H and County Fairs.

Veterinarians know the various diseases and conditions and they should refuse to write health papers or to clear animals that show diseased conditions. Only by requiring all animals to carry correct health papers can the exhibitor of animals be protected in the manner to which he is entitled and the fair managers and fair boards expect.

On July 7, young 4Hers from Noble and DeKalb Counties will travel to Camp Limberlost on Oliver Lake in LaGrange County for three full days of 4H Camp. They will participate in such activities as crafts, nature study, water and field sports, and citizenship training.

The 4H Club Camp is an important yearly activity on the County 4H Program. The Camp's main objectives are to afford to the young 4H member a valuable learning experience and a deeper understanding of 4H work. The Camp also gives the older 4Her an important experience as Junior Leaders from both counties will help in the administration of the Camp and the teaching of various classes.

Any 4H club member between the ages of 9 and 14 is eligible to attend 4H Club Camp. Members desiring to attend the camp should contact their local 4H Leader to obtain an enrollment form. Alright you guys, you didn't write to me this week, so I can't write to you. You find all that free time on your hands with nothing at all to do and you didn't even write one letter to me!

So now I'm going to tell everyone who you are and where to find you and you are really going to be ashamed of yourselves for not writing even one letter to me. When you see your name listed, you'll say "Oh! There's my name in Loretta's column and here I am with nothing to do, I better sit down and write one letter to her this week."

John Crothers gave me the following composition written by him for all you guys.

"For Those Guys from Around Saint Joe

"If a leather neck is a gyrene
And a sailor is a gob,
The Air Corps man wears a pair of wings,
Just which one is doing the job?

"I know the soldier is a G.I.
And the Coast Guard is a duck
But no matter what they call them
We wish them the best of luck.

"If you'll mix them all together
And give them a job to do,
I'm sure they'll come up with the answer
For they'll FIGHT for the Red, White, and Blue.

"For Bob and Hank and Larry
And Joe and Fritz and Pete
All trained and armed with proper weapons
Is a combine that can't be beat.

"Now all you guys in uniform
Here at home or over the sea
Just take the advice of an old G.I.
And be what we'd like you to be.

"And the desire of ours is simple
We want you to come home someday,
Not necessarily covered with medals,
But like you were when you went away.

"We know you will be older,
More mature and serious of mind
For the ways of war are terrible
But you're leaving it all behind.

"Then Mom and Dad will welcome you
With a kiss and a pat on the back,
And the girl friend will be waiting,
Not knowing you were a "Sad Sack."

Red Cross Gift Bags For GI's

Christmas is coming seven months ahead of time in 1968 for the DeKalb County Chapter of Red Cross.

For the third successive year, the Red Cross chapter here is joining with others across the country in a nationwide project to prepare gift bags to be distributed to U.S. servicemen and servicewomen stationed in Vietnam at Christmas time. The chapter has been asked by the national organization to make and fill one hundred bags. The bags are to be made of sturdy red and green cotton material, so they will be useable to their owners after the original contents are removed. Dr. Paul Trausch of Auburn, county chairman of the work, says "Red Cross Shop Early - Vietnam '68" is intended to be a "tangible way for Americans to say we care about our troops in Vietnam."

"This is not exclusively a Red Cross program," Dr. Trausch continued, "but a community-wide affair in which many individuals, groups, organizations, and business firms are participating."

Preparation of the bags will be done by a number of sewing workers, under organization of Mrs. J. A. Bower and Mrs. F. A. Bower. Each bag contains a holiday greeting card carrying the names of the contributors. Also included will be letters from the Junior Red Cross members of the Ober School in Garrett. The Red Cross committees are aiming at completion of the project by September 15. Among the items, the bags packed here will contain: ballpoint pens, plastic soap cases, small packages of writing paper with self-seal envelopes, small address book, plastic tooth brush holder, kool-aid, gum, and roll candies, wash cloth, nail clipper, plastic cigarette case, comb, pocket games (cards, chess, checkers), wash and dry packs.

Donations of advertising items such as pens, cards, pocketbooks, etc., by area business concerns is encouraged. The committee hopes that individuals and groups will help finance the project. Last year, cost of supplies with shipping charges amounted to approximately $4 per unit. Checks may be sent to Paul Trausch, 116 West 6th Street, Auburn, or DeKalb County Red Cross, Auburn.

FARM BUREAU BOARD

—Mildred Jarrett, pub. chmn.

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors held its regular monthly business meeting June 24 with president Robert Blech presiding.

Harold Diehl, concerned about the present unlawfulness in our country, read a reasonable solution in Hebrew 10: 19-30, and a poem, "Don't Abandon Assembly."

Harold Diehl moved and Paul Brenneman seconded the motion that, in view of the recent poll taken by the DeKalb Farm Bureau, the Bureau Directors go on record as being opposed to the proposed Cedar Creek Water Conservancy District in its present plan.

The group voted to order 75 advance State Fair tickets for local sale.

Mr. Blech announced a District 2 Commodity Report Meeting July 8, at 6:45 p.m. in Xenia.

Howard McDaniel, Insurance Manager, reported the final cost of the newly installed cupboards and total of outside improvements.

Edna Perkins announced the following meetings: June 30 County Farm Bureau Picnic, Saint Joe Conservation Grounds, 12:30; July 24 - Make It Yourself with Wool District Judging, Shrine Building, Warsaw; August 1 - County Farm Bureau Women Leaders Alumni, Shelter House, Waterloo Park (each unit is to notify its former leaders).

Mr. Blech appointed the following Fair Booth Committee: Edna Perkins, Floyd Pfiernan, Earl Hodges, Velda Erwin, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blech.

Beverly Blech will have devotions in July.

Along Mexico's Route of Independence

No one can claim that he knows the real Mexico until he has travelled the famous Route of Independence. It's along this roughly 800-mile route that the true beauty, charm and drama of the country's past and present are felt at their fullest.

Among the historical highlights the traveler will see are the town of Queretaro (2) where Doña Joseta, the wife of the mayor learned that the independence plan had been betrayed and informing Father Hidalgo, touched off the struggle for independence before the planned date.

The little town of Dolores Hidalgo (4) lives in history as the place where Father Hidalgo proclaimed the Independence of Mexico. A plaque on his church steps marks the historic spot, and every year during his term of office, the Mexican President recreates the historic Grito - City of Freedom - at the same moment: 11:00 P.M. on September 15 from the balcony of the national plaza overlooking the central palace "Zocalo" of Mexico City.

A network of excellent roads and superhighways connects the string of fascinating towns and villages that invite the traveler to sample the best of the old and the new in their inns and hotels, restaurants and sights.

While they are rich in everything from native art, artifacts and architecture to magnificent spas and one-of-a-kind shopping, the stops along the Route of Independence reach their forte for making history come alive for even the most casual observer.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

We did an injustice to Sally Diemer last week, not only misspelling her last name but also giving her a new first name under one of the pictures of the Lutheran Bible School.

Another error was found in the writeup about Ed Washler's coming marriage — only we made it sound as if he was already hitched. The correct date for the wedding is July 27.

The majority of managers in the church league have indicated they want to go ahead with installing a fence along the third base line, similar to the fence which was erected two years ago along the first base line and in back of home plate.

With the old gym building now gone, there is nothing to stop the balls that come into the third base area, so the fence is needed.

If anyone wants to help out in raising the $288 needed for the fence (the church league has about $130 to start with), you can send donations to Lavon Hart at Spencerville.

Burdette Powers had the following in his "Corncob Philosophy" column last week:

"And speaking of taxes, here is one for the book:

"A young man of our acquaintance recently received a 10-cent-an-hour raise in wages, or $4 a week. The increase put him in a higher tax bracket, and the company deducted another $1.29 a week taxes.

"The new 10 percent surtax now goes into effect, which takes two or more dollars every week from his pay check.

"Any way you figure it, the Government is taking $3 of the $4 increase in wages.

"Isn't it about time for another tea party in Boston?"

—Amen.

Louis Neirot brought in a program booklet from Sylvia Washler Ruhl. She thought readers might be interested in the publication, which goes 'way back to 1916. It was prepared for the three-day Farmers' Institute Association Annual Meeting held February 24-26, 1916, in the Widney Opera House at Saint Joe. Officers were B. Vondale Widney, president, and Frank E. Rhodes, secretary-treasurer.

Committees included display, reception, membership, and decorating.

As you leaf through the souvenir program, you find these businesses advertising their products and services:

Delbert Washler Re-elected 'Pres' Of School Board

Elected board members who were administered the oath of office by Mrs. Virgil Laux, the school district's bookkeeper and a notary public, were Harold Kagey (re-elected for Concord Township), Lynn Fisher (re-elected for Spencer Township), Delbert Washler (re-elected for Troy, Stafford, and Newville Townships), and Sidney Long (newly elected for Butler city).

Other business included the awarding of the milk contract for the school year to Hoosom Dairy of Saint Joe.

LocalFarmCenter Among 18 Shut Down

The Rainbow Farm Center at Saint Joe was ordered closed by the parent firm of International Minerals and Chemicals Corp. Monday of this week, according to Jim Myers, manager of the local fertilizer distributing center. Seventeen other distribution center over the nation have also been closed, as have five processing plants.

An oversupply in the fertilizer field has been suggested as the reason for the cutback in International's operations. The move is reported to affect some 181 sales and service personnel as well as many other employees, with a total of $3½ million in payroll and associated benefits.

The Saint Joe center has been open for just a little over a year.

I would like to thank John Crothers again for the great composition that he wrote last week. I have had many favorable comments on it during this week. Maybe we can talk John into writing something else for us sometime.

See you next week and don't forget to drop a line.

The Unicorn

by Phil Haberkorn

Progress in developing The Unicorn building has hit a snag this week, as there are several jobs to be done with no one to do them. Carpentry and plumbing work had been planned for the near future, but the plumber is on vacation and no definite plans are made to provide for a carpenter. Electric plugs are planned for installation this week end, but that is about the only thing to be done until a little help is found. The carpeting of the lounge has been stymied by the exhaustion of the supply of rugs and carpet remnants, and a plea for these materials is being repeated. A pick-up truck will also be needed in order to transfer heavy equipment, including a piano and a pool table, into the building.

With all these complications, the opening of The Unicorn will be delayed for at least a month, unless more help is found soon.

Several Residents Participate In Town Board Discussion

The Town Board of Saint Joe met in regular session Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall. In addition to board members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn, and clerk treasurer Donald Kinsey, visitors present were Mrs. Harvey Hull, Robert Stiver, Clyde Evans, Jonas Bockelman, Robert Musser, Bud Shockley, Leon Kees and Willard Hurni.

The visitors were asked to make whatever complaints or comments they wished to begin the meeting. Mr. Shockley and Mr. Hurni asked for corrective drain work at the west end of town. The board indicated it would make necessary arrangements for labor for the coming week end to repair reported broken tile. A request was made by another visitor that a length of hose be used when fire hydrants are periodically flushed to avoid gouging of lawns from the force of water pressure.

All visitors indicated their presence was due to the board's proposed plan to transfer the collection of money for trash removal from the tax budget to the individual households in the community. The board explained the proposed action for the following reasons:

1. With the annual cost of $2,880 for trash removal now raised through tax levy, inequities arise because those who own real estate in the town provide a greater share of the tax money than those who rent properties. Because trash collection is an individual household convenience, it seems fair to assess the household rather than carry the obligation on the tax budget. Also, removing the trash obligation from the town budget would reduce the budget and, therefore, the tax rate.

2. Transferring the manner of collection as quickly as possible would provide excess funds in the town treasury which could be used to cover a $1,200 obligation the town now carries for a preliminary survey for sewage treatment. No specific appropriation was included for this purpose in the 1968 budget under which the new board is operating.

An objection to the proposal was voiced by Mr. Carr, who stated that the service was established by ordinance and it would be illegal to change it. Other comments were expressed by Mr. Stiver, pointing out that difficulties might be encountered if someone refused to pay the trash removal fee, or if a house were missed during the Saturday removal. Mr. Carr also stated that there were funds available for the sewage survey obligation. He referred to a special reimbursement from the state which has been accumulating for the past few years. The board stated that it was attempting to allow this fund to accumulate further in order to have a sizeable start in funds for a new town hall. The present building has become a virtual safety hazard, to all appearances, due to deterioration with age.

It was explained that the trash removal under the proposed collection system would remain a compulsory service, which it is at the present time under the present ordinance. It is necessary to make the program compulsory in order to get the most reasonable collection fee possible. If the collection of trash were left to the individual households of Saint Joe, the landfill service would have its own bill collecting to do, which could involve considerable time and bookwork. Under the present system, and under the proposed system, the obligation is paid by the month by the town.

It was noted by the board that the proposal to collect a monthly fee from the households does not change any details of the collection service. The monthly fee to the town is now based on the charge of $1.50 per household. Under the proposed setup, households would be billed $1.50 per month along with their water bills. The cost of the service is not increased, the regulations governing trash removal are not being changed, the board said. All that is proposed is to make a more equitable distribution of the cost by having the individual households pay by the month rather than provide the funds through a tax levy.

After the lengthy discussion, the majority of those present expressed support of the board's proposal and of its goals and intentions. The board indicated that further study of the matter was being made and there is the possibility that the proposal would be found unworkable and awkward.

The visitors then left, after being invited to sit in on the discussion of the budget for 1969. The budget session lasted until 11:00 p.m. and was continued to next Tuesday, July 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

Bills allowed were as follows:

General Fund—Donald Kinsey, clerk cemetery $25.00; Allen County Tractor Sales, parts 20.08; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, lights 82.58; Brown Furniture & Hardware, materials 5.52; William Mansfield, labor 4.00; Tondalaya Miller, mow cemetery 20.00; John Chew, mow cemetery and town lot 62.00; Saint Joe Waterworks, town hall water for year 30.60; Saint Joe Waterworks, hydrant rental for year 1200.00; Jessie Cannady, labor, 52.00; Milton Thorne, labor 34.00; Jessie Cannady, labor 4.00.

Pony League

by Dick Harris

Merle Holden's Pony Leaguers won two straight games from Angola's Pony Riders this past week. Friday, the 28th, Holden sent his team onto the Angola diamond looking for a tough game. But Steve Evans, Kent Rosenbury, and Bob Holtzberg, with help from the Angola fielders, really socked it to the Pony Riders by a 10-1 margin. Doug Fetters' brilliant fielding at his outpost in left field helped John Mansfield record the win. John almost had himself a complete game, but Steve Evans came on in the bottom of the seventh to mop up two men and end the game.

June 2 found the Pony Riders as visitors to the local diamond. The outcome was much the same, though, as the SS team walked off the field with a 9-4 victory. Mike McDowell played Babe Ruth by hitting the ball hard into center and down the line in right. Mike came through with the bat when the team needed some runs.

"Big" Denny Melchi placed a pinch-hit single over second base and earned himself a cheer from the team's bench that probably could be heard all the way to Spencerville. Rick Holden played good defense at first base, and Kent Rosenbury played his shortstop position like he was born there. Kevin Campbell did a good job at second base, and that pleased manager Holden. Merle has tried just about every thing at second except the family dog and now seems set with Kevin.

Bob Holtzberg struck out eight men in six innings and John Mansfield finished the game. Holtzberg also helped his own cause by driving in two runs.

The locals travel to Orland Friday for an important game. Sundy, Avilla comes here for a non-league game and Wednesday is again a travel date at Fremont.

Butler Youth Overcomes Handicap

A feature article in a Fort Wayne newspaper last week told of the accomplishments of Michael Scott Zeigler, 9, of Butler. Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zeigler, has been able to overcome the handicap of being a double amputee since he was 18 months of age. He has had artificial legs since that time but is now able to swim, ride a bicycle, bowl and play Little League baseball.

Much of Mike's success has been due to the interest of Carl W. Behnke of Grand Rapids, Michigan, who has worked with crippled children's organizations and has presented Mike with trophies as the latter mastered each of the sports he undertook.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeigler said that their son's legs failed to develop normally, necessitating amputation. His case, believed to be the first of its kind, drew attention in the medical journals in the United States and overseas.

GOP Women Elect

On Thursday evening, June 27, the Republican Women's Club of Spencer, Concord, and Newville Townships met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laub.

The Pledge to the Flag was given in unison, and all joined in singing "America."

The response to roll call was "What would you like to see accomplished at these meetings?". There were many ideas expressed, and all were interested in learning more about the candidates.

Mrs. Lorraine Rhinehold, Republican nominee for County Recorder, told of the duties performed in that office.

Mr. Frank Laub, Republican nominee for County Commissioner, told of the duties performed by the Commissioners of the county.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given.

Mrs. Grace Phelps, County Vice-Chairman, was present and had charge of election of officers. Results were as follows: Berniece Wilder, president; Connie Hollabaugh, vice-president; Grace Phelps, second vice-president; Marilyn Laub, secretary; Lois Fisher, treasurer.

Dorine Singer and Katy Crow were appointed to the Executive Committee.

A unanimous vote was given against the idea of forming one county women's club instead of maintaining the present five clubs.

Reappraisal Begins

DeKalb County Assessor Clayton Hartman has advised real estate owners in the county that the reappraisal of real estate in the county is now underway.

He said that township assessors are being notified of the time of the start of the appraisal in each of the taxing areas of the county.

The reappraisal of real estate is being handled by United Appraisal Company representatives. The duty of the appraisers is to obtain exterior and interior construction data concerning the properties in the county.

It will be necessary for the appraisers to enter the houses to check the physical condition of each.

The county assessor said the appraisers will not make the assessment of the properties, but will only be compiling the necessary information.

The cooperation of real estate owners in the county will be appreciated while the reappraisals are being made, Mr. Hartman said, adding that, when the appraisers call at the properties in the county, they will have a card of introduction signed by themselves.

FARM BUREAU PICNIC

Tables loaded with choice food fittingly represented the accomplishment of farmers and their wives at the annual DeKalb County Farm Bureau picnic, held at the Saint Joe Conservation grounds, Sunday, June 30.

Nearly a hundred people enjoyed the dinner and the program and entertainment which followed.

Richard Coil led the group in singing. Recognition was given to past County Presidents Clyde Husselman, John Linton, and Wayne Voss, and to charter members Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lautzenhiser, Mr. and Mrs. William Goings, Berniece Friend, and Mrs. Merle Grambling.

Marjarete Beyersdorff, Breman, Germany, who is presently working at Warner Motive, expressed her joy over the beauty of our country and told how she enjoys social gatherings such as these.

Berniece Wilder, accompanied by Dorine Singer on the accordion, led the group in singing four old favorite songs, after which Jackson Township furnished games for the social hour.

Door prizes, all food items, were won by James Goller, John Linton, Ross Gramling, Ralph Coulson, Charles Bloom, Norman Gerig, Mae Hartman, Bruce Provines, Mrs. Merle Gramling, Marie Carnahan, Edna Morr, and Lola Schlatter.

Historical Society At Newville Church

The DeKalb County Historical Society held its regular meeting Sunday afternoon, June 23, in the Newville UM Church. The church extended the invitation to the society in commemoration of its 125th anniversary.

Mrs. Violet Baker gave a brief history of Newville Township, the village of Newville and the EUB church, now merged with the Methodist church and renamed the United Methodist Church.

The township of Newville is 6 miles long and 2½ miles wide. Its official settlement dates back to 1836 when three families purchased government land at $1.25 per acre, and with its 11 people began working the land. In the 1870's, the village of Newville was surveyed and divided into 104 plats with five named streets.

By 1880 the village boasted of an academy, a public library, post office, hotel, two churches, four doctors, two attorneys, and many business establishments in a busy, thriving river town. It had great hopes for a future metropolis until a railroad bypassed it, going through Hicksville, Ohio, instead. However, it continued to be a good business and trading center until motor vehicles diverted trade and transportation to larger business and industrialized centers. Like many other small towns, it was unable to serve all the needs of a highly mobile population.

One predominant institution remains: the Newville church, many of whose members are descendants of early pioneers. It has kept pace with the times. The church is attractive, efficient and modern. It is located in a beautiful and peaceful setting, near the banks of the St. Joe River, and offers help and opportunity for service to members and friends of the surrounding area.

The DeKalb County Historical Society extends its thanks to the Newville UM Church for the opportunity to enjoy and participate in a living document, vital and precious to our American way of life.

Scholarship Info

The State Scholarship Commission of Indiana has announced an extension to August 1, 1968, for high school students planning to enter college in September of 1969 to file the scholarship application for competition in the Hoosier Scholarship Program. Mr. David L. Chambers, Jr., acting chairman of the Commission, reports that the extended application deadline has been given so as to assure an opportunity for interested students to file an application. The August 1 deadline has been provided for those students planning to attend an approved public or private college or university in Indiana as freshmen in September 1969. The applicants should have taken the Scholastic Aptitude Test, administered by the College Entrance Examination Board, in May, 1968.

The determination of a monetary award is based on the Commission's evaluation of the financial data submitted by the student and his parent or guardian and the budget of a specific college.

Students may obtain the scholarship application form from their high school counselor or by writing to the State Scholarship Commission, Room 514, State Office Building, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204.

Board Passes Revenue Resolution; Tentative Budget Established

The Town Board of Saint Joe passed a resolution Tuesday night of this week which will transfer the collection of revenue for payment of trash removal services from the general fund tax levy to the individual households in the town corporation. The resolution reads as follows:

"Be it resolved, by the Board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana:

"That in order to defray the expense of Sanitary Landfill garbage collection within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, there shall be charged to each residence, living, or housing unit the sum of One Dollar and 50/100 ($1.50) per month, which monthly charge shall be billed by adding it to the Public Utility billing each month hereafter beginning August 1, 1968.

"Garbage and rubbage collection service requested by any retail, manufacturing, or commercial establishment shall continue by separate agreement by the requesting establishment and the contractor performing disposal service for the Town of St. Joe, Indiana.

"This resolution adopted by the Board of Trustees of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, this 9th day of July, 1968.

"Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr.
"President of the Board of Directors of the Town of St. Joe, Indiana"

Tuesday's session was a continuation of the board's regular monthly meeting which began Monday of last week. Due to consideration of the proposed budget for 1969, the additional meeting night was necessary.

Although the board has received predominantly favorable public response to its proposal to change the collection of trash removal fees, there have been a few indications of concern. The board has attempted to assure townspeople that the timely action taken by the previous board, setting up the trash removal service last year, has not been changed or altered in any way except in the matter of revenue. The original ordinance established the payment of obligations for the service as a tax responsibility. The new resolution merely makes the payment of the same obligation an equal responsibility on every household in the corporation, as a part of the public utility billing for water service.

The program is, and always has been, a "mandatory" obligation on the residents of the town, as is any public utility of this nature provided through the town's governing body. It is necessary for all to participate in order to provide the service at the lowest possible cost.

Some objection has been made to paying the monthly fee if no trash or garbage is collected from a household. However, the fee is not based necessarily on quantity collected from a household; also to be considered is the basic provision of such service.

As stated in the new resolution, business and commercial establishments will be served by the trash removal service by separate and individual agreement between the town, the trash removal service, and the individual businesses.

The board has authorized the completion of street improvement, begun last year by the previous town board. Included will be the blacktopping of two blocks of Fourth Street, and double sealing of two blocks of Railroad Street plus a block of Second Street.

The tentative budget for 1969 has been set at $13,068 for the general fund and $5,000 for the street fund. This compares with last year's general fund total of $12,803 and $5,000 for streets. However, with the revenue for trash removal to be provided by the households in the town, that total of $2,880 for the year can be subtracted from the total general fund estimate, leaving only $10,188 as the actual total general fund obligation to be raised through taxation.

The August 5 meeting will allow for further consideration, after which a special meeting at the end of August will provide for approval of the proposed budget. Publication of the budget will be made for two weeks in August.

Pony League

by Merle Holden, coach

Bob Holtzberg's three-run homer in the last of the sixth inning Sunday gave the Saint Joe-Spencerville Pony League team a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over a tough Avilla team in a game played at Saint Joe.

On Friday the locals suffered a heart-breaking 1-0 loss to Prairie Heights at Orland.

Avilla led the first five innings Sunday before Rick Holden and Mike McDowell singled, George Carper drew a walk, and Holtzburg homered for a total of four runs.

Kent Rosenberry survived a shaky first inning, in which Avilla tallied three times, and then went another five innings for the win before Holtzberg came on at the start of the seventh.

The SS team's first run came on a single by Dennis Meichi and a triple by Steve Evans. Meichi continued his hot streak at the plate by collecting two hits, but was robbed of a third by a good play by the Avilla center fielder.

Against Prairie Heights, the two teams battled evenly until the last of the sixth, when the home team managed to drive in a single tally. The local pride and joy almost tied it in the seventh when they got two men on base, but the rally fell short.

John Mansfield went all the way for SS, allowing only three hits while striking out nine in his best effort of the year.

After traveling to Fremont Wednesday, the locals host Hamilton at 6 p.m. Thursday, and Waterloo at the same time on Friday. Saturday at 7:30 the white and blue team travels to Avilla. Tuesday the Angola Kemets visit Saint Joe for a 6 p.m. game.

Senior Pictures

Robert E. Williams, new Eastside High School Principal, has announced that senior pictures will be taken at the Eastside High School in Room G-3 on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, July 16-18, by Robert's Studio of Fort Wayne.

Each student will be required to make a $5 payment at the time of the sitting. If in natural color, payment is $6.

At the time the student places his order, a deposit equalling one-third his total order is made. Balance is to be paid upon delivery of the finished order.

Students are asked to check their schedules received on the final day of school, and to be at the high school at the assigned time.

Laundromat Construction Begins

With the details of the transfer of real estate title now completed, two ambitious young Saint Joe businessmen have begun work on a new laundromat facility which is expected to be ready for public use by September 1.

Jack Bowser and Norman Morr have completed several months of negotiations with the B&O Railroad through their attorney, Warren Sunday, giving them title to property adjacent to their presently operating car wash at the east edge of Saint Joe. The land which the two men have acquired lies on both sides of State Road 1. However, the laundromat will be located on the south side of the road, just west of the car wash, which has proven to be one of the most popular such businesses in this area. Motorists from outlying areas have commented about its excellence and their preference for it over other car washes.

The laundromat will be housed in a 30'x40' building of cement block construction. Ten conventional-size washers and four dryers will be available, plus two duplex (20-lb.) washers and one "big boy" unit which will wash heavy items such as rugs, drapes, and bedspreads. A dry cleaning facility is also planned for the installation.

Grading of the site began last week end. Provision of water for the new enterprise is being planned for by the local town board and Waterworks Commissioner William Mansfield.

Lions Social July 27 For Good Causes

by Frank Amstutz

The executive committee of the local Lions Club met Monday evening, July 8, at the home of president Robert Wilder to plan details of the Ice Cream Social to be held Saturday, July 27, beginning at 5 p.m. The social will be held at the Saint Joe Valley Conservation Club.

The menu will consist of homemade ice cream, hot dog and ham sandwiches, baked beans, potato salad, potato chips, pie, cake, coffee, and cold drinks.

The purpose of this project is to raise money for some local community projects. The most needy will probably get first priority. Last year the social raised about $230. Together with some other funds, it made a total of $300 which was donated to the Eastside Band Uniform fund.

The committee also adopted a 10-point program, the purpose of which is to promote a larger and more active club. Perhaps the point of most interest to the general public is "What does this outfit do other than just get together and enjoy a socially good time?". In addition to presenting Bibles to each graduating class of Eastside High School, other community services include paying the light bills for local night softball games, football capes, United Fund, Cancer Fund, Junior Baseball League, Needlework Guild, Leader Dog, Eye Bank, and various similar benevolences.

We try to pay our state and national dues out or local membership dues so that we can spend our earned money on local projects. A large percentage of the state and national funds also goes for benevolent purposes.

Did you know....

—that the Saint Joe Oasis baseball team just missed scoring a big upset Wednesday night at Fort Wayne, losing to the Fort Wayne Stars by only 3-2. The locals led 2-1 and 3-2 before allowing three unearned runs in the seventh inning of the Stan Musial League contest.

Nation's Outstanding Young Farmers

DES MOINES, IOWA — The nation's four Outstanding Young Farmers for 1967-68, chosen annually from among the outstanding young farmers from each state in a program sponsored by the U.S. Jaycees and the National LP-Gas Association.

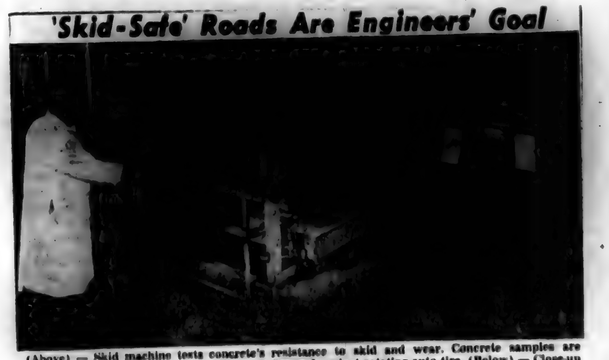
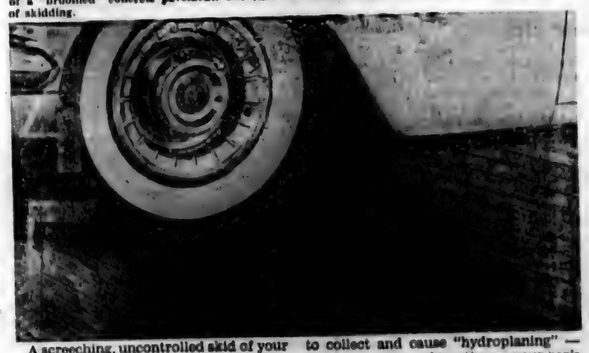
'Skid-Safe' Roads Are Engineers' Goal



(Above) — Skid machine tests concrete's resistance to skid and wear. Concrete samples are installed in cradle, flooded with water, and pressed against rotating auto tire. (Below) — Close-up of a "broomed" concrete pavement. The textured surface improves traction and reduces danger of skidding.



A screeching, uncontrolled skid of your automobile on a busy highway — that can teach you the real meaning of fear. You also probably learn to drive slower on wet or icy pavements.

Although we don't know as much as we should about skidding accidents, safety engineers know that skidding is a serious problem. Studies in one state showed that skidding contributed to 40 percent of all rural accidents.

Pavement condition is an important factor in skidding. Concrete pavement surfaces are purposely textured during construction. The coarse, skid-resistant surface provides the best possible traction.

A rutted, uneven pavement surface can cause skids, too. Depressions allow water to collect and cause "hydroplaning" — a dangerous loss of traction as your car's wheels skim over a film of water. The problem of standing water — the main cause of hydroplaning — is sharply reduced with concrete pavements, which are built with a slight crown to permit rapid water runoff.

How can the safe driver avoid dangerous skids?

— Slow down on wet, icy, or oily pavements.

— Use tires with good tread. Bald tires cut traction dangerously.

— Check your brakes. Spot checks show that at least 15 percent of all cars' brakes are in an unsafe condition.

U.S. BUSINESS IS BIG WITH 4-H YOUTHS

A half century ago Armour and Company picked up the tab for about 40 members of the fledgling 4-H Clubs who came to Chicago for an "educational" tour. They visited the International Live Stock Exposition, International Harvester and Armour.

Outstanding 4-H'ers still travel to the Windy City for their annual National 4-H Congress. Private industry has continued to pick up the tab.

Today 56 firms support 4-H youth through the National 4-H Service Committee and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Contribute Millions

During the past decade nearly $12 million given by these firms has been channeled to 4-H through the 4-H Service Committee, reports Norman C. Mindrum, director.

"The funds are used to support specific phases of 4-H work as requested by the Cooperative Extension Service," Mindrum said.

A breakdown by years reveals that 15 business enterprises have been 4-H sponsors for a span of 25 to 51 years.

Wilson & Co., Inc., now a subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., shared Armour's early interest in livestock education. And 4-H'ers continue to tour a Harvester plant in connection with the agricultural program it sponsors.

Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward became interested in 4-H in the early 1920's. Wards has always supported home-centered projects. Recently, the home economics emphasis was shifted to consumer education.

Sears for many years gave cash prizes for community and club betterment. For the last eight years, The Sears-Roebuck Foundation has sponsored the 4-H Leadership program and numerous state and city 4-H activities, as well.

The railroads provide funds for broadened educational experiences, including scholarships. Donors are Burlington, Illinois Central, Chicago & North Western, and Santa Fe.

More Projects

Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation is the original sponsor of the 4-H Canning program, dating back to 1929. The program recently was expanded to include home-processed frozen foods. A thread manufacturing company, Coats & Clark Inc., joined the 4-H award donor family in 1941 by supporting the clothing program.

About that time the 4-H Electric program was introduced, and Westinghouse Electric Corporation became the sponsor.

Since 1936, livestock conservation demonstration contests have been held in Chicago to encourage young farmers in livestock loss prevention. Livestock Conservation, Inc. supports this activitiy.

Raymond C. Firestone, chairman and chief executive officer of Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, grew up on a farm. It was largely due to his efforts that the company this year observes its 25th anniversary of 4-H support. Firestone currently backs the national 4-H Automotive program.

Headquarters for the National 4-H Congress have been at the Conrad Hilton Hotel since the early 1940's. For the last 26 years the hotel management has provided funds for promoting 4-H Club work.

This year some 2,000 4-H youths, business leaders and extension personnel will again check in at the Hilton for the 47th 4-H Congress, December 1 through 5.

Man With A Memory

National Political Convention's TV Know-It-All

A gavel brings to order a political convention. But who brings order to the million details that go into the gavel-to-gavel coverage of political conventions on television? Behind the NBC coverage of the Republican and Democrat conventions are a dozen unit managers whose job it is to see to everything from housing and headpieces to "how can we get this done in time?"

One of these men is Gene Whitlock who has been a unit manager for various NBC shows since 1956. At the conventions he is the NBC unit manager in charge of production and related business matters for Gulf Oil Corporation, which again is sponsoring the television and radio coverage. Mr. Whitlock sees to it that the film libraries at both convention sites have the programmed commercials ready for use at the right time. He knows the running time and the intricacies of scheduling. He works with the advertising agencies in assuring the air quality of the film or tape and he must be ready for every contingency. If a sudden shift in schedule comes, such as: "Drop Reel Number 106 and get Reel Number 127 on tape for the next break," Mr. Whitlock has to be able to quickly coordinate the network operations and insure the changes.

Mr. Whitlock must know a thousand things about the convention hall, the city, the political parties and their various candidates. Long before the convention opening, he has surveyed both the Miami and Chicago convention sites to learn the ins and outs, basements and lofts of the halls and the housing, food and transportation situations of both cities. He must sit on planning committee meetings and know how to obtain credential clearances and how to make one ticket to the gallery do the work of ten tickets, all within the tight regulations of convention halls and the respective party planning executive committees.

Gene Whitlock (right) looks over mockup of NBC News' TV and radio network broadcast center at Miami Beach Convention Hall, where Republican National Convention will meet starting Aug. 5. With him here is Hjalmar Hermanson, plant designer, and George Murray (center), executive producer of Gulf-NBC News' coverage of the 1968 national political conventions.

"Political conventions are just about the most exciting assignment you can get," said Mr. Whitlock. "It is very encouraging to see people become more and more interested in them. More people are recognizing that delegates to a convention are deciding a very important matter: who will be leading the country and arranging their lives for the next four years.

For Mr. Whitlock this assignment appeals to his deepest scholastic interest. He majored in history at Brown University, where he was graduated in 1954. "Reading history as recorded in a book is just not as exciting as seeing it enacted on a convention floor," he said. "In the roll call of states you feel the power of democracy working right before your eyes."

FBI Operates Under Certain Limitations

by J. Edgar Hoover

It has been alleged by a prominent candidate for the Presidency of the United States that the FBI under my leadership operates autonomously and without proper control. This charge, of course, is not true, and it denotes either a contrived effort to mislead the public or a woeful lack of knowledge of our governmental system of "checks and balances."

As most informed citizens know, there are definite limitations upon the FBI, its authority, and its operations, all of which I consider most essential and which the FBI has meticulously honored over the years. First of all, the FBI, as the investigative arm of the Department of Justice, is directly answerable to the Attorney General. He is promptly and fully informed on all aspects of this Bureau's activities. Our administrative operations are subject to his control.

Further, the Bureau of he Budget keeps close tabs on the FBI just as it does on other Federal agencies, and we must justify and account for every cent of our appropriations. Likewise, the General Accounting Office reviews and audits our expenditures. FBI operations and investigations come under close scrutiny of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. They study our requests for appropriations and know exactly where, when, and how the FBI uses its allotted funds in the discharge of its duties to serve the public. In addition, Congress exercises control over the scope of FBI authority. With the exception of a few Presidential directives and instructions issued by the Attorney General, laws passed by Congress are sole source for FBI authority and jurisdiction.

Despite what may have been implied, the FBI does not serve as "police, court, and jury." When this Bureau investigates an alleged violation of a Federal law within its jurisdiction, the facts are presented to a United States Attorney without comment or recommendation. He determines whether the matter will be prosecuted. In cases brought to trial, the Federal courts and juries have a firsthand opportunity to judge if the FBI has met its obligations with proper regard for the constitutional rights of the accused and all other parties involved. Where convictions result and are appealed, this critical review continues on to the highest courts of the land.

And finally, FBI operations are under constant scrutiny of the news media and the public. In our free society, where freedom of the press is not only cherished but practiced, the alert and inquiring press upholds the right of the public to know and to be informed. Therefore, considering this array of control points and limitations, charges that the FBI operates autonomously are utterly ridiculous. Now, if there are those who disagree with the FBI policy of vigorous enforcement of the law, protection of law-abiding citizens, preservation of the rights of all people, proper punishment for guilty lawbreakers, and the protection of our country from subversive elements and illegal forces, then let them admit this rather than make erroneous allegations which cannot be supported by facts.

The FBI has always met its responsibilities and discharged its duties without fear or favor, regardless of criticism and attacks, whatever the source. This must continue to be the policy of the FBI or any other Federal investigative agency under the rule of law. Consequently, all Americans should view with serious concern the announced intentions and threats by a political candidate, if elected, to take over and revamp the FBI to suit his own personal whims and wishes.

—that Dana Corporation employees of Fort Wayne honored Willard Hurni recently when he retired after 25 years' service with the company.

—that Dick Shook of Washington, D.C., was a recent visitor in the community.

It is as much the duty of government to render prompt justice against itself, in favor of citizens, as it is to administer the same between private individuals.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Since Jim Swary has been working for the highway department, he has obviously become quite aware of the litterbug tendencies of the population. The cluttering of the countryside is such an item, in fact, that the state highway department has distributed small litterbags for automobiles, and Jim is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the idea. He has personally seen to it that the bags are in local service stations and is working on getting them placed elsewhere in places where the public will see the bags, take one, and help keep America clean.

So, if you don't already have one, pick up one of those bags and make use of it in the car. Jim says you ought to—you paid for them in taxes!

I had a good time, and I think the others did, too, at my birthday party last Friday night in our "garage ballroom." We had a pretty good sized bunch of people on hand for the festivities, including the Mike Voirols of Fort Wayne, the John Bakers of Leo, the "Fuzzy" Bakers, the Bill Beebes, the Bill Sibles, the Jack Bowsers, the Wayne Fetters', the "Red" Strombecks, the Lynn Lakes, the Dewey Whites, the Ed Haukes of Angola, the John Ma—I mean, John Mason and Opal Treuary, the Merrill Neals of Fort Wayne, the Keany Trumans of Fort Wayne, the Frank Sechlers, Jerry Vinson, Junior Jones, the Hollis Akins', the Bob Chews, and the Jim Myers' of Hicksville. Oh yes, I almost forgot that Norman Morr stopped in later that evening . . . .much later.

Our get-together went until the wee small hours of the morning, and it's probably a good thing that it did. It gave Mike Voirol a chance to prevent what could have been a railroad fatality when he talked a motorist into moving his vehicle off the B&O crossing across the street from us just before an eastbound train came around the bend west of town.

Jerry Vinson cleaned house in the card game, and I understand Carolyn cleaned house with Jerry when he got home and the birds were cheeping and the sun was coming up. She may not know how well he did in the game, so don't say anything to her about it; it might get him in more trouble.

The Oasis ball team was in a happy mood Wednesday night after their first win of the season, a 2-0 victory over Waterloo. I saw them play last week against the Fort Wayne Stars and they looked pretty good. I don't understand why it took them so long for their first win; the other teams must be pretty good. Maybe the local team is like the Cubs — they've started to make their move!

The "Hoosier Farmer" of July, 1968, contains the following appropriate thoughts:

"I BELIEVE...

—in the American competitive enterprise system.

—that man's search for progress should be encouraged by maintenance of opportunity, not hindered by illusions of security.

—that a person should be rewarded in accordance with his productive contribution to society.

—that every man is entitled to own property, earn money honestly, save, invest and spend as he chooses.

—that property rights cannot be taken away without infringing on rights guaranteed by the constitution.

—that the constitution is the basic law of the land, and that its interpretation should be in accordance with the intent of its authors.

—that government should operate impartially in the interest of all.

—that government's regulatory functions should be based on law.

—that government should provide only minimum controls and aids.

—that government should stimulate, not discourage, individual initiatives.

—that propagandizing by government is dangerous to the maintenance of self-government.

—that monopoly, whether by government, industry, labor or agriculture, is dangerous.

—that voluntary cooperation is a part of the American system.

—that all candidates for public office should state their beliefs with respect to communism, socialism and capitalism.

"All these undergirded by our religious faith.

"(Based on policies of The American Farm Bureau Federation)"

Socials

The Lions Club Ice Cream Social will be held Saturday, July 27, beginning at 5 p.m. The social will be held at the Saint Joe Valley Conservation Club.

The menu will consist of homemade ice cream, hot dog and ham sandwiches, baked beans, potato salad, potato chips, pie, cake, coffee, and cold drinks.

Norris Chapel United Methodist Church members will hold their July ice cream social this coming Saturday, July 20, starting at 5:00 p.m.

The menu will include chicken, ham, sloppy joe, and hot dog sandwiches, baked beans, escalloped potatoes, potato salad, pie, cake, and ice cream, as well as beverages.

Members of the Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Church are preparing for their annual summer ice cream social to be held Thursday, July 25, starting at 5:00 p.m.

The menu will include homemade ice cream, sandwiches, potato salad, baked beans, cold and hot drinks, pie and cake.

Take-home gallons and half-gallons of ice cream must be ordered before the social date, with pickup of such orders to be made the afternoons of July 23 and 24.

The church is located five miles north of Saint Joe on County Road 59.

The public is invited to attend these socials.

Scout Car Wash

The Saint Joe Boy Scout Troop will hold a car wash Saturday, July 20, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Customers will have their cars washed, chamoised, and vacuumed for $2. Proceeds will be used to buy equipment for the Troop.

Work Day At Club Building

The Spencerville Community Club board met July 8. Among the items of business was the setting of a general repair day at the community building, with Ray Foltz in charge. This coming Saturday, July 20, will be the "work day" and those interested in helping to complete the maintenance and repair jobs are invited to come with their tools, "the earlier the better," according to Charlotte Hudson, president of the club.

Jobs include putting up lights, repair flashing, clear an outside door and place steps to south doors for fire escape convenience.

P.O. Change

Charlotte Hudson, postmistress at Spencerville, has announced receipt of a directive from the U. S. Post Office Department concerning Saturday hours. With the "economy" move in the department since the passage of the combination federal tax increase-spending decrease bill by Congress, the status of Saturday delivery of mail has been uncertain.

However, Mrs. Hudson stated that the Spencerville Post Office, which is a second class post office, will have window service Saturdays from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. beginning July 27, 1968. The lobby will be open until 2:00 p.m. for access by local boxholders and acceptance of outgoing mail.

Lehr Wilder, postmaster at Saint Joe, stated Thursday that he has not been notified of the Saturday regulations and will therefore continue to operate on the past Saturday schedule of window service from 7:30 to 11:00 a.m. and lobby access until 2:00 p.m. This may be changed, however, inasmuch as the Saint Joe post office is a third class office, and third class offices reportedly will have no Saturday window service under the new regulations. The classification of post offices is determined by total annual receipts.

WINNERS 4H

—William Smith, reporter

The latest meeting of the Winners 4H Club was preceded by a swimming party in Bill Graham's pool. The meeting was called to order by Steve Watson. Pledges were given, and songs were sung.

The secretary's report was read and approved, followed by business. The meeting was then adjourned, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Graham.

The next meeting is scheduled for August 27 at the Auburn pool.

Two State Groups Enter Site Suit Controversy

The remonstrating group in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, which is seeking to prevent the building of a proposed new junior-senior high school on a site located in Butler, which already holds the Butler Elementary School and is alleged to be too small for the proposed use for junior and senior high school students, has run into more opposition. On July 1, 1968, the Indiana Association of Cities and Towns and the Indiana School Boards Association filed a joint "Brief of Amici Curiae" with the Indiana Supreme Court in connection with an appeal now being considered by the court. The appeal, filed in behalf of three local patrons, concerns the requirement to post a bond in a suit over expenditure of public funds. The 75-page brief deals at length on the constitutionality of the bonding requirement, stating at the outset that the purpose of such requirement is to prevent needless civil suits. The brief quotes many court decisions and sections of statutes to support its contentions.

Nelson Grills, legal counsel for the remonstrating group including Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., Jack Hollabaugh, and Victor Timmerman, the three men who filed a suit against the school board in the district, has filed an answer to the amici curiae ("friends of the court") brief, stating that posting of a bond in order for suits to be heard deprives the citizen without means of his right to be heard in court. Grills pointed out that the right to be heard in a court of law, free and without hindrance, is a fundmental concept of American justice dating back to the founding of this nation.

Although the Supreme Court's decision on the constitutionality of the bonding provision will now have little effect in the particular dispute in the DeKalb Eastern District, the question has created interest elsewhere in the outcome of the case, as is indicated by the participation of the Indiana Association of Cities and Towns and the Indiana School Boards Association.

The decision by the Supreme Court is expected in the next few weeks.

Instrumental Music Schedule

The instrumental music classes being sponsored by the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District for six weeks during the summer will have an initial meeting Monday, July 22, at the High School gym at 10:00 a.m. At this time, a Fort Wayne music store will display instruments, and explain a rental system for those who desire to rent an instrument for a trial period. A similar procedure will be followed at the Riverdale Elementary building that afternoon at 2:00.

Any student from grade five through high school who wishes to learn to play any one of the instruments for which instruction is offered is welcome to attend.

The following classes will be held at the High School gym Monday thru Friday, with their times listed: beginning flute 8:00 a.m.; beginning clarinet 8:30; beginning saxophone 9:00; beginning cornet 9:30; beginning trombone 10:00; intermediate clarinet 10:30; clarinet 8-12 11:00.

These classes will be held at the Riverdale Elementary building, Monday thru Friday: beginning flute 1:00 p.m.; beginning clarinet 1:30; beginning saxophone 2:00; beginning cornet 2:30; beginning trombone 3:00; beginning percussion 3:30.

Marching band practice will be held at the high school gym from 6 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Marching band is open to all instrumentalists in grades eight thru twelve.

LADIES' LITERARY CLUB

—Betty Bevington, reporter

The midsummer meeting of the Ladies Literary Club was held on July 10, at the home of Mrs. Wayne Storer.

Mrs. Maurice Kline presided at the meeting. The club program for the 1968-69 year was read for approval by the members. Twelve members responded to roll call.

The club voted to donate $4 to the DeKalb County Chapter of the American Red Cross for a gift bag for a serviceman in Vietnam.

Mrs. Kline turned the meeting over to Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, the incoming president, who made a few comments.

For entertainment, Mrs. Bobert Musser conducted a musical contest, assisted by Mrs. Omer Hansen at the piano. The group sang several songs.

The refreshment committee then served several salads, sandwiches, punch, and coffee. The guests were seated at tables centered with red carnations, which were given as favors.

The next meeting will be held on September 11 at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser.

Sandy Panning Wins

Miss Sandy Panning, freshman at Eastside High School, captured the Miss Crescendo Title after being one of twenty girls selected from over 400 campers for outstanding work during the week.

Crescendo Camp, located 30 miles south of Louisville, Kentucky, is the southern training center for drill squads, contest twirlers, majorettes, bands, and cheerleaders. To be selected one must have shown outstanding talent in one of the competitions held every evening prior to the pageant. Winners were selected for the following categories: Strutting, Twirling, Talent and Water Show. On Thursday evening the pageant is held on the patio and each contestant must model a dress of their choice, strut and execute a twirling routine.

The judges selected to evaluate the girls were Miss Karen Drotleff, Fire Champion of Ohio; Elva Kay Kimmel, Miss World Majorette 1967; Miss Mary Alice Smythe, feature twirler of the "Band of Blue"; and Valerie Brown, feature twirler for Purdue.

While the scores were being totaled, Mr. Roy E. Boesser, director of the camp, presented awards to the winners of earlier competitions. Miss Panning had previously placed first in twirling and was presented with a trophy.

Upon being announced the winner, she was presented a tiara, a dozen red carnations, and a trophy by last year's winner, Miss Sandy McCory of Berne, Indiana. First runner-up was Martha Whobrey of Kentucky; second runner-up was Trina Hedges of Lima, Ohio.

Sandy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Binard of Spencerville, and a student of Sherry Bullock of Waterloo, Indiana.

Historical Society

The DeKalb County Historical Society met at the Altamar church Sunday afternoon, July 14. Several visited the nearby covered bridge and the church cemetery. The grave of the first white person born in DeKalb County, Barbara Moody, born in 1836, is located in the Cedar Chapel cemetery.

Stanley Means, president, called a meeting at 2 p.m. After a short business session, Mrs. Harry Heinzerling gave a brief history of the Altamar United Methodist Church, and the Cedar Chapel covered bridge.

The church, first built in 1862, has gone through many changes. It has had periods of inactivity and rejuvenations. It is active today. The interior is simply and artistically furnished and the decor is unusually attractive.

The covered bridge was built in 1884 and was moved aside in 1966 to make way for a superhighway type of bridge to take its place across Cedar Creek on County Road 68.

Mrs. Mirth Inman, who was born in a log house in Butler township, gave several accounts of past history of the area. Her grandfather, builder of the Harry Heinzerling home, told of and pointed out a long building on the farm now owned by the Holbrook family, which served as an underground railroad station during the Civil War, with easy access to the Lima plank road (presumably a section of State Road 3) which led north to Michigan.

Mrs. Harriet Oberlin of Fort Wayne made a plea that the Society make an effort to acquire and preserve for posterity at least one one-room school in the county.

After the meeting the assemblage visited the Harry Heinzerling home. The home, built in 1837, has recently been restored, and is furnished and decorated with probably the finest and largest collection of antiques in this part of the country.

Theron Foltz

Final rites were held Saturday at 2 p.m. for Theron Foltz, 77, who passed away at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the Dr. Bonnell M. Souder hospital in Auburn. Mr. Foltz had been a patient at the hospital for 24 weeks.

Rev. I. L. Pusey conducted services at the Methodist church in Spencerville. Burial followed in the Lee cemetery.

Mr. Foltz was born the son of the late Samuel and Hanna McCarthney Foltz. He is survived by his wife, Zenus Horn Foltz. The couple resided at Spencerville. He was a retired custodian at the Spencerville school.

Also surviving are a son, Orland, of Fort Wayne, and two granchildren.

Occupying a prominent place in the files of trust officers and attorneys in DeKalb County is a very special legal file folder. Each folder is distinctively marked, "DeKalb County Community Hospital Foundation, Inc." Each folder holds a quantity of an eight-page brochure setting forth some suggestions which thoughtful persons would do well to consider in their quieter moments.

It tells the basic facts about the structure — physically, financially, and humanly — of the hospital itself and of the long range plan to perpetuate its services to the area-wide community.

Here is a quotation from the folder:

"To insure expansive capacity and to preserve efficiency at all times, this Foundation solicits and administers funds through gifts and bequests. DeKalb Memorial Hospital is a non-profit institution, built and equipped through voluntary contributions of magnanimous persons, entire without tax levy.

"To secure additional funds is one of the continuing functions of the Foundation and in their hands rests the sole responsibility for investment and administration."

There is much more of vital interest in these brochures which have been in the hands of these trust officers and attorneys since 1904.

From time to time certain thoughtful persons planning gifts, bequests, and memorials are given one of these brochures for perusal. Also from time to time, a responsive chord is found among these persons planning for the day when their wills are probated and this hospital foundation has been remembered.

This, hopefully, will serve as a reminder of what others are already doing. The latest bequest is from the will of Grace Houk, whose estate is now being administered in DeKalb Circuit Court.

L. G. Wellendorf of Butler is presently the chairman of the committee on memorials for the executive group for the hospital board, from whom a brochure may be obtained. A brochure may also be received from Robert King, hospital administrator.

Also your own attorney or trust officer will counsel with you. He has this excellent presentation in his own file and will be glad to give you a brochure to look over at your convenience. It will suggest several worthy ways to give for the benefit of others through the DeKalb County Community Hospital Foundation, Inc., a fund entirely separate from the hospital itself.

Pony League

by Merle Holden, coach

Saint Joe-Spencerville put themselves in a good position to finish third this season by clubbing the Angola Komets, their major opposition for third place, 11-3 Tuesday at the local diamond. In other games, the locals lost a tough one to Hamilton 6-5, and lost to Avilla 7-3 in a non-league game at Avilla. The scheduled game with Waterloo was postponed when the visitors forgot about the game. It will be played at Waterloo as part of a doubleheader between the two clubs, beginning at 6 p.m. next Tuesday.

Angola took a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning, as the 88 team got behind early for the fourth game in a row. The locals fought back, however, and scored in every inning except the first, including four runs in the sixth. Kevin Campbell led the hitting with two safeties, while Kent Rosenberry had a double and Doug Fetters batted in two runs.

Bob Holtzberg went all the way on a five-hitter, striking out eight while walking three.

Hamilton jumped to a quick 6-0 lead but the 88 team fought back to 6-5. The rally fell short as two runners were left on base in the final inning. A total of six men were left on base by 88 batters in the game. Holtzberg and Rosenberry each had triples. Holtzberg relieved John Mansfield in the second and struck out seven.

On Wednesday of last week, the locals beat Fremont 21-4 at Fremont. Doug Fetters collected five hits, including a double, while Bob Holtzberg had two triples and a double, and Vic Dermott had two hits.

Rick Holden pitched the first six innings, allowing only four hits, before Steve Evans finished up in the seventh.

In the Avilla game, the Panthers got off to a 5-1 lead after two innings, and although the 88 team threatened several times, they couldn't quite pull even.

Mansfield started and was relieved by Holtzberg, who fanned ten.

Thursday the locals travel to Angola for a 7 p.m. game with the Komets. Friday they play at Garrett at 6 p.m., and Saturday travel to Edon, Ohio, for a 7:30 game. Tuesday there will be a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Waterloo.

The locals will again be attempting to prevent Garrett from being undefeated, as happened last year when 88 beat Garrett 2-1 for the T-Birds' only loss.

Garrett leads the league with a perfect record, while Hamilton is second with two losses. Saint Joe-Spencerville is third with three losses, Prairie Heights fourth with 6 losses, followed by the Angola Komets, Waterloo, Angola Pony Riders, and Fremont.

Edward Roush last month throughout the Fourth District. Eighty-one percent of the over 13,000 people participating supported Eastern Standard Time twelve months a year. Under the provisions of the national Uniform Time Act, a state will automatically go on daylight time from late Spring to early Autumn unless its legislature specifically exempts the state from this provision of federal law. Eighty-seven percent of those polled in DeKalb County favored year-round Eastern Standard Time zoning in Northeastern Indiana.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barkman and son John of Wyoming, Michigan, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wade.

The action was favored by 47 percent of DeKalb County residents polled, while 46 percent voted against it. S. should be strengthened; 82 percent felt that more vigorous law enforcement is the solution to summer riots in our cities; and 85 percent felt that President Johnson and Secretary Freeman are not solving the present farm problem.

School Board

The school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District met Monday night in the superintendent's office for a regular scheduled meeting.

Bus driver contracts were signed for the coming school year. A discussion was held concerning general budgetary problems. The school budget, as proposed for the 1968-69 school year, is being prepared for publication in August. A special meeting was set for July 29 to review the budget prior to publication.

By a vote of 4-1, the board approved an additional appropriation as advertised for payment of architects' fees in connection with construction of a new junior-senior high school. Theodore E. Haberkorn, Jr., a taxpayer of the school district, presented a written objection to the appropriation, stating that it is not proper to pay such fees until the site dispute has been finally settled. A hearing will be held by the State Board of Tax Commissioners within 15 days. The date will be available at the county auditor's office.

School attorney H. Charles Winans presented a resume to the board of the legal proceedings which have transpired thus far and what possibilities lie ahead in the site dispute litigation. He pointed out that the matter of posting a bond, now before the Indiana Supreme Court for a decision, now has no real bearing on the local dispute. Of more significance will be the judgment on a second appeal before the Supreme Court on the injunction suit filed by three patrons of the district against the school board.

JUDGING ACTIVITIES HELD

35 4-Hers participated in the County Judging Activity held June 28 at the Exhibit Hall in Auburn. Fifteen of the Senior participants were selected to judge in the District Activity held in Allen County July 2.

Those selected to judge "Let's Have a Party" were Laura Walker, R1, Waterloo; Susan Reed, R2, Waterloo; Marcia Blomeke, R1, Auburn; Mary Blomeke, R1, Auburn; and Kathy Trapp, R1, Ashley.

Selected to judge in "Selection of School Wear" are Mary Cook, Corunna; Sarah Haynes, R3, Auburn; Janet Sebert, Butler; Cathie Johnson, R1, Auburn; Eileen Burch, Hudson.

Therese Miller, R1, Waterloo; Karen Haynes, R3, Auburn; Rita Eldridge, R2, Kendallville; Jennifer Blomeke, R1, Auburn; and Sue Kirkpatrick, R2, Kendallville judged in "Study Desk Unit."

Nine counties participated in the District Contest.

Five of these DeKalb County 4-Hers won the opportunity to judge in the State Judging Activity, August 23 at the State Fair. They are Marci Blomeke, Kathy Trapp, Mary Cook, Sarah Haynes, and Karen Haynes.

They will judge in the same categories as mentioned above.

Susan Reed is the first alternate and Laura Walker the second alternate in the "Let's Have a Party" category.

Each participant in the judging activity develops an awareness or desire to observe details, and to apply principles of comparative selection in project work. They also learn to make decisions based on reasons and standards.

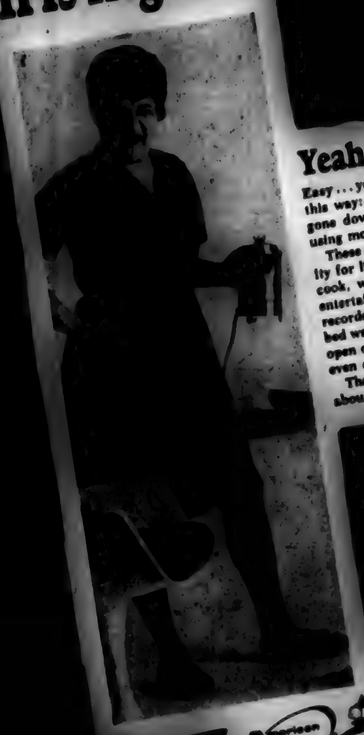
If electric rates are lower than ever, how come your bill is higher?



Yeah, how come?

Easy... you're living better. It works this way: our rates for electricity have gone down over the years. But you're using more power all the time.

These days, you not only use electricity for light, but you can use it to heat, cook, wash and dry clothes, tell time, entertain you with radio, TV, tape and records, shave, dry your hair, keep your bed warm, make your coffee, heat water, open cans, sharpen knives, wash dishes, even carve your Sunday roast.

That's why your bill is higher. Think about that next time you hear us say...

Electricity is your best dollar value.

From The Town Board--
Answers To Comments About Trash Removal

While it appears that the citizens of Saint Joe have generally accepted the change in the method of collecting revenue for paying the contract fee for removal of trash and garbage from the residences of the town, some apprehension still exists in a few minds over what appears to be a combination of misunderstanding and a lack of information.

The main point mentioned in what opposition does exist is something like this: "I don't like to pay if I don't have any trash" or "I won't pay if I don't have something to take away every week." They are already paying every week even if they don't have any trash to take away! The original system of paying the landfill service for trash collection was through a tax levy. Since everyone must pay taxes, every Saint Joe taxpayer is paying for trash removal whether he has any removed or not. The service is compulsory on every taxpayer in order to keep the cost as low as possible. With the town board having the responsibility for administering the program and with the entire town included in a blanket contract (except business establishments), it is possible to eliminate the need for the landfill service to do extensive bill collecting from the households, thus eliminating considerable time which would be required in collecting and bookkeeping. But the main point is: the trash collection service has, of necessity, been compulsory from the start and it will continue to be.

The new fee collection system ($1.50 per month per household to be included on the public utility bill now sent to each water user) will begin with the August billing and it will still be compulsory. The individual household will now pay $4.05 per month for water and trash collection starting in August, instead of the $2.55 billed for water in the past on the public utility bill. This will be a more fair distribution of cost in that each household will pay its share for providing the service to the town rather than the property owners alone paying for the service. Under the tax levy set-up, a person who owns a home carries the burden of the cost while a renter gets the advantage of the service for almost nothing, inasmuch as the renter's tax burden is based only on the value of his automobile. In addition, the businesses of the town pay for the trash collection service under a tax levy but they are excluded from the trash collection service under the present contract. These are the reasons why the change has been made.

For five months in 1968 (August through December) property owners in Saint Joe are going to be "paying twice" for trash collection. The present town board has made no effort to fool anyone on this point. However, the balance of revenue from the tax levy, originally intended to pay for the trash collection service, will be used to fulfill a $1,200 obligation now outstanding against the town for a sewage treatment installation survey. And if the obligation is not paid for by the method undertaken by the current town board, an appropriation for $1,200 must be added to the budget for next year to pay the obligation. No matter how you try to figure it, the money must come from somewhere and that somewhere is the town.

Those who object to paying a monthly fee whether or not they have a can of trash out every week may be overlooking the fact that, although the service involves a number of trash cans and the amount contained in them so far as the household is concerned, the primary purpose of the monthly fee is to provide the service. One household may have four cans and another may have only one, come Saturday morning. But the responsibility for providing the service falls equally on both households, regardless of how much they have in the cans, how many cans they have or how often they place the cans at the curb. We are all involved in the responsibility to provide a very necessary service to protect the health and comfort of our citizens and to help maintain an attractive community in which to live.

Can you imagine how the town might look if everyone were left on his own to take care of disposing of his trash and garbage, now that the old town dump is closed? It is almost certain that there would be some trash piles in town today if the compulsory service had not been set up by the previous board. How much success would you have had in finding someone for spot pickup of trash for only $1.50 per month?

One more thing. Yes, your water will get shut off if you don't pay your utility bill in full, including the trash collection fee! It is the only way the system can be operated to provide the funds which MUST be raised in order to pay the contracted obligation. It is no different from any other public utility service in any other community.

NFO Members Get Higher Price

Victor Timmerman, DeKalb County Vice President of NFO, and Jerry Hafley, Steuben County NFO Vice President, have announced that their area receiving point paid a 50-cent-per-hundred price above all local markets to farmers who brought their hogs to the receiving station this Friday. The Vice Presidents seemed quite enthused over the tremendous price that NFO members received at the local collection point. Mr. Timmerman stated that as soon as local farmers find out they can receive more money through NFO marketing at local points, he feels their membership will have a tremendous boost.

This area NFO receiving station is located at the former Angola Livestock Auction, on U. S. 27 at the south edge of Angola, Indiana. They are collecting and receiving hogs and paying farmers the same day on each Friday of every week, from 7 to 11 a.m.

All farmers wanting to sell through the NFO marketing stations are urged to have their hogs at the Angola receiving station each Friday forenoon. The only requirement to sell at this higher price is that the farmer be an NFO member.

Report Of Scout Trip

by Keith Melchi

Eight Scouts from the Anthony Wayne Council, Troop 172, Spencerville, of the Boy Scouts of America, returned from a 21-day trip to Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base, the 214-square-mile national camping area of the Boy Scouts of America.

Leading the expedition on the trails of New Mexico's Sangre de Cristo Mountains was Robert Jacobson. The Scouts left Spencerville on June 23. The five-day trip took us through St. Louis, Meramac State Park, Dodge City, Kansas, and Boot Hill, Meade State Park, Kansas, and Clayton State Park, N.M.

Upon reaching Philmont Scout Ranch Headquarters, we were met by a Ranger who took us to lunch that afternoon.

After being assigned to tents in Tent City for the night, we attended the opening campfire, at which the New Mexico story was told.

The next day at 10:00, we left for a journey of ten days, living the camp life. We were led by a Ranger for three days, then went on our own for the remaining seven. While on the trails, we fished, panned for gold, studied earth science, geology, and archeology at different points. We climbed to the top of Mt. Phillips to find snow in July. Walking all the way back, except for horsebacking the last six miles to the last camp, we toured the Kit Carson Museum, and returned to camp headquarters. After supper, there followed a ceremony in which we received a plaque which read: "We all made it."

The following morning we left, touring through Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, through Texas and St. Louis, visiting the St. Louis Zoo, and then on back to Spencerville. The following boys took on this task with the help of a real fine leader: Bob Jacobson, scoutmaster, Greg Bohl, Denny Hart, Arthur Hausbach, Eric Jacobson, Jerry Markle, Keith Melchi, Eddie Shilling, Dayton Webb.

A big "thank you" goes to our scoutmaster, Bob Jacobson, for this wonderful experience.

Charles Bassett

Charles Bassett, 68, of Rt. Butler, passed away at 6:30 a.m. Sunday at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Fort Wayne from cancer of the liver.

Mr. Bassett was born May 11, 1900 in Saint Joe, and lived in the Saint Joe area all his life. His parents were the late Clifford and Ada Bassett.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Bassett was a 47-year member of the Walter Whitehurst Post 283 Saint Joe American Legion, and Moose Lodge of Fort Wayne. He was also a member of the Newville Church of Christ.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Newville Church of Christ. Burial followed in Riverside Cemetery in Saint Joe. Rev. Harry Farrer officiated.

Mr. Bassett was employed as an assembler at the Fruehauf Trailer Corpertion in Fort Wayne.

He was married December 24, 1940, to Nancy Frain, who survives.

Students Should Check Schools

In a few weeks Indiana youths will enroll in colleges, trade schools, vocational schools, and other centers of higher education. In some instances, these youths have decided upon a specific goal or professional field, while others will be reaching this decision during the education process. Richard D. Wells, State Superintendent of Public Instruction urged that youths and their parents fully investigate trade, vocational, or professional schools which students will be attending. Investigation should determine the exact degree of education that will be received, the exact degrees or awards that will be conferred, and if the school confers degrees or awards that will be acceptable in chosen business or professional fields or by professional accrediting agencies.

The state of Indiana currently does not have legislation or a specific governmental agency which gives full approval or accreditation to private trade, professional, or vocational schools. Generally, in Indiana and throughout the U. S. schools do meet professional or business requirements. In some cases, advantages of attending a school are presented in misleading manner. Legislation will be before the 1969 Indiana General Assembly which would provide protection for students attending such schools. Parents or prospective students interested in verifying the accreditation or approval of business, professional, vocational, or trade schools may write either of two national associations to receive a nation-wide list of accredited or approved schools. The two agencies are The National Assoc. of Trade and Technical Schools, and The National Home Study Council. The address for both organizations is: 1601 18th Street N. W., Washington, D. C. 20009. Another source of information would be the Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce of the city in which the educational institution is located.

In addition, if prospective students will write to the Director, Teacher Education, State Department of Public Instrucion, Room 230, State Capitol, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204, information concerning the status of the school will be provided.

Prospective students should also consider discussions with persons who are currently engaged in a similar vocation, profession, or trade to determine educational standards or requirements of the chosen field or professional organization of which they would become a member, or a prospective employer to determine if the course of study would meet required standards for employment.

It is the duty of the State Department of Public Instruction, according to State Superintendent Wells, to provide assistance to those interested citizens wishing to attend these schools in their search for educational attainments.

Word-Kurtz Vows Exchanged

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM LYLE WORD

White gladioli and mums graced the altar of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Blakeslee, Ohio, Saturday, June 22, as Mary Ellen Kurtz became the bride of William Lyle Word. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kurtz of Blakeslee, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Word of Camden, Michigan.

Rev. Fr. Earl Loeffler performed the nuptial rites at 6:30 p.m. as the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Steve Ciolents of Montpelier, Ohio, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor.

The bridesmaids were Miss Susan Word of Camden, cousin of the groom, and Miss Janie Kurtz, Blakeslee, sister of the bride.

Serving as best man was Wayne Word of Edon, Ohio, brother of the groom. Guests were ushered by Raymond Rigelman, Tom Troxel, Dave Jenkins, all of Camden.

The flower girl was Stacey Kurtz, niece of the bride, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kurtz of Butler, Indiana. She was escorted to the altar by Stanley Kurtz, nephew of the bride.

The ring bearer was Tommy Hoffer, nephew and godchild of the bride, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hoffer of Butler.

The reception for approximately 200 guests was catered by Mrs. Eldred Hug, Mrs. Louis Thiel, Mrs. Jack Wright, and Mrs. Bill Hug. The cake was cut by Mrs. Carl Meuhlfield, the bride's godmother. Other receptionists were Miss Diana Thiel, Blakeslee, and Miss Pam Lantz, Montpelier. Miss Sharon Word, sister of the groom, attended the guest book.

Out-of-town guests were from Defiance, Holgate, Napoleon, Edgerton, Montpelier, Edon, and Bryan, Ohio; Angola and Butler, Indiana; West Branch and Camden, Michigan.

Honored guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Leota Keller of Defiance and the groom's grandmothers, Mrs. Gladys Word of Angola and Mrs. Lucy Hassett of Columbia.

The bride was graduated in 1966 from Edon High School and is also a graduate of Stautzenberger Business College, Toledo. She has been employed as a secretary at Eastside High School in Butler. The groom, a 1966 graduate of Camden Frontier High School, is serving with the U. S. Army at Fort Hood, Texas.

The couple left for Texas following the reception, and will be living at 410 Second Street, Gold Rocket Trailer Court, Killeen, Texas.

Calls For Higher Sales Tax

Calling for an end to the "ridiculously high property taxes in Indiana," Merle B. Holden, Democratic candidate for Joint State Representative from DeKalb and Steuben Counties, Tuesday defined his tax platform in an address to the Steuben County Senior Citizens Council at Orland.

Speaking to nearly 150 people, Mr. Holden called for a reduction of property taxes by raising the sales tax and returning the additional money back to county and school units. "States all around us are raising their sales tax to lower property taxes and there is no reason why Indiana should not follow step," he commented.

In his first major address since the primary election, Mr. Holden said that for any candidate to say that he will lower all taxes is just not possible. "But there are ways of paying taxes that are more fair and less painful than others," he told the group.

"Those who spend the most will pay the most and those on fixed incomes will not be faced with losing their homes because they are unable to pay the high property taxes."

Mr. Holden also announced his support to the group for a bill which would put the Indiana Council on the Aged and Aging under the merit system so that they will be eligible for nearly a half million dollars in federal funds in 1969. The bill passed the Indiana Senate in the last session of the legislature, but failed to come to a vote in the Republican-controlled House when it was delayed by House Speaker Dr. Otis Bowen. The Senior Citizens Council backs the bill.

The former executive secretary of the Indiana Young Democrats also told the audience he feels there is only one candidate for state representative who has time to do the job right. He outlined the duties of the state representative and concluded that a man with a large medical practice, as has his opponent, Dr. Floyd Coleman, could not adequately fulfill the duties.

"I feel my opponent is a fine doctor, and I want to keep him in his doctor's office so that, while I am in Indianapolis at the legislature, I will know that my family is in good hands should an illness arise," he quipped.

Proposal For More Public Control Of Court Appointees

by Cong. E. Ross Adair

PROPOSE TO RECONFIRM COURT JUSTICES — In view of the current controversy over the appointments of a new Chief Justice and an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, I have introduced, along with others, an amendment to the Constitution to bring the selection and retention in office of fuure Justices closer to the people.

At the present time the Justices are appointed for life, and after they are officially confirmed by the Senate they remain untouchable by the people except for the difficult procedure of impeachment.

The resolution I have presented to the House proposes an amendment to the Constitution relating to the confirmaion and reconfirmaion of the Justices of the Supreme Court.

While elected officials have to go before the people periodically for reelection, the Court Justices are not subject to this close and attentive review of heir records.

Under my resolution, the President still is empowered to nominate the Supreme Court Justices when vacancies take place. However, these appointments have to be confirmed by a two-thirds vote of the members of each House of the Congress. Now all that is necessary is for the Senate to decide upon the merits and qualifications of the Presidential nominations.

TO REVIEW RECORDS AND VIEWS — This proposed amendment goes a step farther. It provides that the Justices with the longest records of service on the Court will be subject to official review by the Congress periodically. In other words, one-third of the Court would have to submit to a Congressional vote of approval or disapproval of their service on the Court. Unless a Justice was reconfirmed, he would no longer be permitted to continue in office.

It seems to me that this is a sensible solution to the problem and would enable the public, through its elected representatives, to pass judgment upon the conduct and decisions of the Justices and would bring the Court under close surveillance by the public. As it now stands, some of the Justices hold to alliances that seem to have a greater impact on their judicial decisions than an uninfluenced consideration of the questions before them.

This resolution is H. J. Res. 1387, and has been sent to the House Judiciary Committee for further consideration.

The new budget tentatively calls for a tax rate of $1.55, compared to $1.43 last year, an increase of twelve cents per $100 taxable valuation. The new $1.55 rate will raise an estimated $47,201.53, compared to $44,633.31 collected in 1968. Last year the budget called for a 17-cent street fund and a $1.26 general fund. The new budget is not raising anything in the street fund, and the entire $1.55 goes into the general fund. The new budget is figured on a net taxable property of $3,045,260, compared to $2,771,660 last year, an increase of $273,600. The budget is subject to review by the county adjustment board, and the state board of tax commissioners.

Among the several ways to give enduringly for the benefit of others, there is one which has particular appeal to potential donors of smaller amounts. This is the memorial gift.

It is appropriate at any time in the year, but particularly at Christmas time, Eastertide, or the anniversary of a birthday or some special occasion.

The memorial gift is adaptable to group giving also. A part of its appropriateness lies in the fact that there is no limit, upward or downward, as to the number of dollars acceptable for such an occasion or remembrance.

A gift to DeKalb Memorial Hospital gives assurance that a lasting memorial will testify to the benevolence of the donor and will endure.

To know that family, neighbors, friends, and strangers have had burdens eased, will prove a satisfaction through the years.

Furthermore, the generosity of donors through gifts and bequests, is essential to the continuing hospital program.

Within each heart lies the power to alleviate human suffering and prolong the gift of life itself. Such gifts and legacies will make possible an enlargement program for the future, and for both the present and the future provide such care for the indigent as becomes a worthy hospital.

Memorial gifts may be addressed in either of two ways: DeKalb Memorial Hospital Association, Inc., or DeKalb County Community Hospital Foundation, Inc. In either case the address is the same: P. O. Box 542, Auburn, Indiana 46706.

All gifts are tax deductible. The donor receives an acknowledgment and in the case of specific memorials, an appropriate message is sent to the family of the memorialized relative or friend.

Thus, we can all perpetuate the beauty, the care, the scientific advancement, and the ultimate expansion of DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

ST. JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB

—Pat Roberts, reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the lovely cottage of the president, Catherine Bowser, on Hamilton Lake, July 10, 1968.

It was an all day meeting, and at noon a bountiful dinner was served, all diets being forgotten —the plump ladies just gained a little more, and the thin ones put on a pound or two also.

At one-thirty p.m., the president called the meeting to order with the group reciting the Club Collect.

Devotions were given by Alice Reidenbach, stressing on being kind to one another and forgetting all pettiness, striving toward peace and tranquility for all. She closed devotions with the group praying the Lord's Prayer.

Gertrude Borthwick gave the history of the song of the month, "America the Beautiful."

Roll call was answered by eleven members with "why I like to come to this cottage every year." All stressed the hospitality of the hostess, and the news reporter stressed the fine dinner she enjoyed so much.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given and accepted.

All committees gave reports, and all chairmen are working toward making the next meeting a success.

The president reported on the success of the County Rummage Sale.

The meeting was then closed with the singing of the Prayer Song, and visiting was resumed. All returned home with memories of a very pleasant day, hoping to be invited back next year.

A Special Report--
Will This Community Provide Youth With Summer Recreation Program?

By The Editor

An increase of nearly $50,000 in assessed valuation in the town of Saint Joe, plus removal of the trash collection obligation from the tax levy, has given the present town board a pleasant result — a big decrease in the town tax rate. In fact, the decrease is so great that, if the board adopted the same budget for 1969 as was adopted by the previous board for 1968, the tax rate would be cut in half! — from $2.14 to $1.07, according to clerk-treasurer Donald Kinsey.

However, with plans for 1969 including moderate improvement in street lighting in the town plus a levy for street work to add to the funds received from state motor vehicle taxes, plus the need for a small "buffer" fund to cover trash collection obligations, the rate will be more than the one-half possibility. With the additional expenses Mr. Kinsey estimates the town tax rate at around $1.60, which still represents a substantial reduction even with the additional proposed expenses.

Another possible program for the town was discussed at a special meeting Tuesday of this week. With the school district no longer sponsoring the "summer recreation program" in the Riverdale area as well as the Butler community, the suggestion was presented that the town place an appropriation of $900.00 in the budget for next year to cover the cost of hiring a summer recreation director. Additional costs would be met by private donations.

A summer director is available to the community for next year, if the program were adopted. However, the board took no action on the matter Tuesday, inasmuch as it was not certain of the wishes of the public on the matter. The board, therefore, has for the moment allowed the matter to ride.

Under the proposal, the director to be hired would be responsible for coordinating much of the recreational program in the community. He would not only give instructions in various sports, such as tennis, badminton, baseball for Junior Leaguers to augment their participation in evening games, and so on, but he would also have the responsibility of maintaining the facilities used in the recreation program.

The plan would also call for three days a week of swimming, which is a very popular summer activity with youth and adds one more day to the past program of two swimming days. Scheduled instruction periods plus time for group participation in the various sports provides a well rounded program.

Several years ago, another board appropriated $1,000 for such a program but it was not carried out after the school district announced its plans to provide for summer recreation. The $1,000 town appropriation was used for recreation, however, in that the funds were utilized to build the pavilion at Wild Cherry Park.

Inasmuch as the town board meets next Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall for final approval of the proposed budget, the summer recreation program could yet be added to next year's budget if the public so desires. While certain refinements must be made in the overall program if adopted, the basic question for Saint Joe taxpayers is: is a summer recreation program worth a 22-cent increase in the tax levy?

It should be noted that the man available to serve as a director of the program has had many years of experience in this field. He should not be publicly identified now since the program has not been adopted; but he knows his stuff! It should also be noted that, if the public says "Yes, we also want to continue summer recreation for our youth," the 22-cent addition will make a tentative total town tax rate of around $1.82, which is still 32 cents less than this year's levy!

If you parents, and others, are interested in providing our young people with a well-rounded summer recreation program under a professional director, you should go to Monday's town board meeting and express your support. The board hesitates only because it does not know your wishes.

School Board Minutes

The Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District met in a special meeting at 8:00 p.m. on July 29, 1968. This meeting was held in the Board's regular meeting place. Those present were Delbert Washler, Argus Fisher, Lynn Fisher, Sidney Long, Keith Ulm, School Attorney H. Charles Winans, and School Superintendent Kenneth L. Cole.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 8:00 p.m. by Board President Delbert Washler.

Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

Board President Washler called upon School Superintendent Cole to review the proposed 1969 budget as prepared and as mailed out to the Board members. Cole made such a review complete with explanations and answers to Board members' questions. After adequate review Board President Washler asked the Board members what action they wanted to take and a motion was made by Lynn Fisher and was seconded by Keith Ulm: "I move that we accept this budget as presented and further that we direct School Superintendent Cole to have said budget published as is legally proper." The motion carried. All Board members present signed budget forms number one and number three, and said forms are attached to and made a part of these minutes.

Teacher contracts were signed as presented by Superintendent Cole. Said contracts are bound in the teacher contract book in the Office of the Superintendent.

Superintendent Cole reported to the Board members on the present status of all additional appropriations.

Superintendent Cole reported to the Board members that as of the instant there were openings in the faculty for a sixth grade teacher in the Butler Elementary School; one art teacher in the High School; and one chemistry and mathematics teacher in the High School.

As per number 6 on the Agenda, Superintendent Cole asked the Board members to sanction his being gone on vacation August 1, 1968, through August 16, 1968. The Board members all agreed that Cole should take the vacation.

As per number 7.1 on the Agenda, Superintendent Cole read aloud and in its entirety a July 26, 1968, letter of resignation from Mr. Kent D. Myers. A motion was made by Keith Ulm and was seconded by Argus Fisher: "I move that we accept the letter of resignation as read." The motion carried. Said letter is attached to and made a part of these minutes.

Pony League

by Merle Holden, coach

Vacations hit the Saint Joe Spencerville Pony League team hard the past two weeks, but they still managed to hold on for an 8-6 won-lost record in league play which was good for sole possession of third place. In games played the last two weeks the locals beat the Angola Komets 11-0 on Steve Evans' two hitter, topped Waterloo 10-6, and lost to Garrett 16-0 and to Waterloo 4-0. In each of these games the 88 team had at least two starters gone, and in some as many as four gone, including top hitter Bob Holtzberg, who is batting the ball at a .500 clip and holding his own in the pitching department. Also absent was Ron Knisely, who is hitting an even .300. Tom Frank, who has just started to come on, left for Arizona for the rest of the summer.

Steve Evans pitched a 2-hit shutout Wednesday night last week, and his teammates backed him with 8 hits and 12 walks off four Angola pitchers as the St. Joe-Spencerville Pony Leaguers downed the Angola Komets 11-0 at Angola.

Evans struck out 12 and managed to pitch himself out of several jams as the Komets got a man on third in three innings, but could not score him.

Mike McDowell got the only extra-base hit, a double, and 88 collected 7 singles, two by Rick Holden, and one apiece for Evans, Doug Fetters, Vic Dermott, Kent Rosenberry, and Jake Fetters. Kevin Campbell drew 3 walks and scored 3 times, while Doug Fetters walked twice and scored twice.

The defense was near perfect, with only a catcher's throwing error being committed.

Earlier in the week, the locals lost at Garrett 12-0, and 9-0 at Edon, Ohio. Bob Holtzberg pitched against Garrett, and John Mansfield against Edon. Warren Griggs got the only hit against Edon.

The league playoff starts Thursday, and the locals get into action on Friday when they tackle tough Prairie Heights at Waterloo. They beat PH at Saint Joe 13-12, and then lost 1-0 at Orland. Since then several managers in the league, including the locals' Merle Holden, have indicated they will not play at Orland next year because of safety conditions, including a drop-off in left field.

Holtzberg and Knisely are questionable starters for the PH game, since they are still in Canada and may not return in time for the game. The vacation situation would have been much worse had it not been for the Fetters family bringing Doug and Jake 43 miles one way for each game including two rainouts, the Campbell family bringing Kevin 30 miles one way including a rainout, and the Melchi family bringing Denis back about 20 miles one way.

Consistent hitting seems to be the big problem for the 88 crew this season. In the doubleheader with Waterloo they scored 10 runs in the first game and then went scoreless the second. Practice sessions this week have been mostly devoted to hitting. The defensive play has been the best in recent memory with the locals averaging less than one error per game.

The winner of the 88-PH game will play the winner of the Hamilton-Angola Pony Riders game at 2:30 Saturday at Waterloo, and that winner will play in the championship game at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Did you miss me?

Jay and I just returned from our R&R!

It was wonderful to be gone, but it's great to be back.

We spent a week end with Mike, who is stationed at Fort Walters in Mineral Wells, Texas, and I would like to say thanks again to Rich Lussow of Illinois, Al Dickinson of New York, Larry Hayes of Michigan and Mike for the great day of skiing and boating that we enjoyed so much.

The second part of our R&R was spent in New Mexico with our adopted daughter, her husband, and our new grandson. He's beautiful. From now on just call me "Gram."

"Gerb" wrote to let me know that he hasn't forgotten me and to say that he has only 63 days left. He said to tell all you guys "Hi!" Bob will be home in September. You may address your letters to:

I got a letter from Mike Haberkorn who's stationed in Hawaii. "Same old sun on the beach," says Mike! He sent an essay to me that he thought you men would enjoy. It's called "The Essence of A Soldier:"

"Between the insecurity of childhood and the insecurity of second childhood, we find a fascinating group of individuals called soldiers. They come in assorted sizes, weights, and states of drunkenness. They can be found anywhere: on shores, deserts, bus stations, or air terminals; in love or in debt. Girls love them, towns tolerate them, and the government supports them. A soldier is laziness with a deck of cards, and the protector of the world with a Playboy Magazine. He has the energy of a turtle, the slyness of a fox, the ingenuity of a con-man, the stories of a Texas sea captain, and when he wants something, it is usually connected with a liberty pass. No one person but a soldier is able to darn a sock, grab a little black book, a comb, and what is left of last month's pay and still make liberty. Some of his likes are: women, girls, ladies, chicks, and members of the Opposite Sex. He dislikes: chow, writing letters, wearing a uniform, below superior officers, and getting up in the morning. He likes to spend his money on women, some on poker, some on booze, and the rest foolishly. A soldier is a magical creature. You can lock him out of your house, but not your heart. You can scratch him off your list, but not your mind. You might as well give in, he is your love away from love, your one and only good for nothing barrel of joy. All of your dreams become significant when your soldier looks at you with those bloodshot eyes of his and says "Hi ya, Doll! I love you!" A Soldier is damned if he does and damned if he doesn't. So he might as well do as he damned well pleases."

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my deepest thanks to relatives, friends, and neighbors for the Love Gift, flowers, food, cards, and many acts of kindness given at the passing of my husband, Theron Foltz.

Church League

The Saint Joe Church Softball League race has narrowed down to a two-team battle for first place. Coburntown II, and the Lutherans have both lost but one game thus far while winning 8. The two teams, however, have not played each other as yet, having been rained out in the first scheduled encounter and finding it difficult to pick an acceptable date for both teams for the make-up.

Coburntown II won their 8th tilt Tuesday evening, downing Newville CC 16-9.

Last week the Lutherans spotted Hicksville 8 runs early in the game, then picked away at the lead and finally won 17-10 after going into the final inning with an 11-10 lead. Monday of this week, they spotted Mt. Pleasant eight runs in the early innings, then again picked away at the lead while holding Mt. Pleasant scoreless in the last three innings. They won it in the 7th, 9-8.

Though there are two teams leading the pack as this writing, anything can happen in a Church League game and sometimes does. With several games yet to be played, the season is far from over and several teams can cause trouble for the leaders.

Munsey - Heffelfinger

On Sunday, July 14 at 3:00 p.m., Miss Linda Marie Heffelfinger and Hilliard A. Munsey were united in marriage in a symbolic candle service performed by the Reverend Victor C. Roebuck in the Trinity United Methodist Church of Hicksville, Ohio.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Heffelfinger of Butler, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Odis Munsey and the late Mr. Odis Munsey of Saint Joe.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown designed and made by herself. The bodice, fashioned of crystal white imported lace of the Netherlands, featured long sleeves, a natural waist, and scoop neck. The skirt of heavy bridal satin featured a peionaise of silk illusion edged in lace, fitted smoothly in front, with pleated fullness in back falling into a circular brush train, also edged with lace. Her bouffant veil of English illusion was held in place by a crown of Aurora Borealis and she carried a cascade arrangement of white glamellas and pale blue rose buds.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar bearing an arrangement of white carnations and large white daisies and greenery centered by the three symbolic candles.

The kneeling rail was flanked by baskets of white gladioli and large blue and white daisies. Wicker baskets of yellow daisies graced the piano and organ. The two candelabra were entwined with white daisies and greenery and long white satin bows. White satin bows also marked the center aisle pews.

The bride was attended by Miss Shirley Trenary of Butler as maid of honor. Her gown was floor length pale blue linen, embroidered with white daisies and a band of lace marking the empire waist. The short bell sleeves and scoop neckline were detailed with scallops. A Dior veil and an arrangement of yellow daisies completed her attire.

Bridesmaids were Myra Munsey, sister of the groom, Karen Heffelfinger, Kathy Heffelfinger, and Cheryl Heffelfinger, sisters of the bride. Sandra Kay Heffelfinger was junior bridesmaid. All were dressed in pale yellow linen dresses embroidered with white daisies and styled identically to the maid of honor's. Their head pieces were Dior bows holding a short veil scattered with white daisies.

Nancy Heffelfinger acted as her sister's flower girl and wore a yellow floor-length dress with a white lace overlay and yellow satin sash at the empire wist. She wore a crown of live daisies in her hair, and scattered rose petals from a white daisy-trimmed basket.

Mr. Harold Creager of Butler served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Munsey of Saint Joe, brother of the groom, Ronnie Richmond and Stan Washler of Saint Joe, and Kenneth Rakestraw of Waterloo, brother-in-law of the groom. Mark Heffelfinger served as junior groomsman.

Two year old Keith Heffelfinger, brother of the bride, acted as ringbearer. Mark and Kevin Heffelfinger lit the candles and pulled the white aisle runner. Guests were seated by Steve Surface of Spencerville, Ted Czaja and Garry Heffelfinger of Butler. The men and boys of the wedding were powder blue jackets with black trousers and, bow ties with yellow tipped white carnation boutonnieres.

A reception was held in the fellowship room immediately following the ceremony. The lovely cake featuring a bubbling fountain and circular staircase with a miniature wedding party descending, was specially designed for the couple by Pauline Meyers and Mrs. William Meyers of Tocsin, Indiana, cousin of the groom, who catered the reception. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Kenneth Rakestraw and Mrs. Jerry Munsey, sister and sister-in-law of the groom. Miss Debbie Creager registered the guests.

The bride wore a pink suit with tunic jacket and white accessories as the couple left for their wedding trip to the West.

The couple resides on R1, Saint Joe.

Washler-Link

Edwin Lee Washler of Saint Joe and Miss Suzanne Hannah Link of Fort Wayne were married at Calvary Presbyterian Church in Fort Wayne at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. Washler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Washler of Saint Joe, while his bride is the daughter of Mrs. Earl C. Link of Fort Wayne and the late Mr. Link.

The bride wore an ivory silk organza gown with re-embroidered Alencon lace appliqued over the empire bodice and bordering the bell sleeves. A wide border of the matching scalloped lace encircled the A-line skirt and the chapel train was accented with lace appliques.

Her veil of ivory illusion was held to a lace cap touched with pearls and she carried a cascade of ivory roses and ivy.

Mrs. Howard Shaefer, Indianapolis, served her sister as matron of honor with Mrs. Jerry Harms and Miss Ruth Washler, Indianapolis, the bridegroom's sister, as bridesmaids. Miss Paula Shaefer, the bride's niece, was junior attendant with another niece, Miss Barbara Link, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, as flower girl. The attendants wore skimmer gowns of turquoise linen fashioned with high necklines of Venise lace and cap sleeves. Matching bands of lace held four-tiered veils and each carried pale pink and lavender carnations.

Paul Myers, Kokomo, was best man, with Philip Washler, the groom's brother, and Walter Goldsmith, Spencerville, as ushers.

Acolytes were the bride's nephews, William Shaefer and William Link.

Paul Inlow, R1, Hicksville, Ohio, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orvel Bryson, R1, Mark Center, Ohio.

The bride chose a white floor length gown of imported alencon lace and silk organza over taffeta. The bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and alencon lace cap sleeves. The slim organza over taffeta floor length skirt was highlighted with a peak at the waistline and then swept into a full chapel length train which was appliqued with alencon lace. Her illusion veil was caught to a princess crown of lace and seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of white roses and white gladiolus.

Miss Sharon Inlow, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Shannon, Shawn, and Sharman Inlow, sisters of the bride. The attendants appeared in A-line mint green floor length gowns. They carried nosegays of carnations, glamelias, and daisies with streamers.

Letters to the Editor

We of The Unicorn are grateful to all the people of the community who have contributed so many things and so much time to The Unicorn these past four months. We thought we would be finished in half the time, but as they say, "the best laid plans of mice and men..." To bring you up to date, our money-making projects included a bake sale ($57.65), a raffle ($89), a car wash ($15), and a rummage sale ($153.63) for a total of $315.28. Our liabilities amount to $462.39 including $338.04 for 3,000 square feet of plywood. So I guess that puts us about $147.11 in the hole!

The carpenter, the plumber, and the electrician have all donated their time and talents toward our cause, but we have imposed upon them in their busiest season with prior commitments. Our teens have worked hard and they need a place of their own.

If anyone has time or any ideas, please help. This is not a plea for financial help, but for personal assistance. Soon after we are able to open we will settle our financial obligations.

Please make our cause yours. You don't have to have a teenager of your own in order to help. You are invited to come in and take a look at what we have accomplished.

Memberships at $5.00 per year for students from the ninth grade up are now available and anxiously waiting to be sold.

Thank you.
Sincerely
Loretta Loy

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

I don't think I was successful in hiding my disappointment Monday night when the several voices of opposition spoke against the inclusion of a tax levy in the town for summer recreation purposes. Perhaps the suggestion was too "new" to some people and they do not want to jump into something too quickly. It is not a new subject to me. The other time I served on the town board, we appropriated for this type of program, not knowing that the school was going to provide summer recreation. So, it has soaked in for a longer time for me and the need may appear in a different light than to others.

I don't agree with the opposition expressed on behalf of the fire department by the chief. Their opposition came because they had a few weeks ago gone along with the board's not including $1,000 for uniforms for the fire department. The board had stated that it thought the expenditure for a new fire truck, plus any other necessities, was enough financial burden on the town for fire protection purposes. The firemen went along with the board on that matter. But evidently they also feel that since they can't get uniforms for $1,000, we also should not spend $900 to hire an experienced summer recreation director. I can't agree because we are spending thousands of dollars for the fire department, and thousands of dollars for our streets — and not one cent for our youth!

Other citizens may not be aware of certain facts, and are therefore opposed to a tax levy for recreation. They may not know that next summer there will be NO summer recreation of any kind, not even the swimming program which has been so popular. Of course, there is the apparently justifiable criticism that the summer recreation program of the past few years was no more than four hours of babysitting for a faculty member. However, the town board's opportunity to employ a resident of the community who has had many years of experience in this field appeared to provide the type of instruction and recreation which would make the expense as worthwhile as is possible.

An offer by Frank Sechler to donate $200 to help out next year, plus a Spencer Township resident's favorable comment, could not offset the opposition that has been expressed. I must go along with Jack Bowser and Lynn Lake, the other board members. If the public says "no" in something like this, then it's "no."

Another suggestion was made by Maury Kline that such activities should be privately supported, rather than by tax levy. He sponsored a Pony League team for ten years at an annual cost of round $300, he reported Monday night. It would seem, however, that such private sponsorship for a special age group (boys of a certain age bracket) should not be confused with a public responsibility for recreation for all ages of youth. I would not want the town to pay for a Pony League team, but I would want the town to provide general recreational opportunities that are within reason. We can't break the cost down in everything and say that only the users should pay. There are some areas of public responsibility; that is, each one of us must help to pay for some things which we will never use. There are thousands of miles of state and federal highways which I will never drive my automobile on. But I helped to build them with the federal and state gas taxes I pay, along with every other automobile user. It is a part of our responsibility in the overall transportation system. Is "youth" not a public responsibility?

Perhaps by next year, there will be a different outlook on the part of the public as far as recreation is concerned. I hope so. This was intended to be a "Riverdale" benefit, with the town instituting the program of recreation in anticipation of participation by boys and girls in Concord, Spencer, and Newville townships and a resultant support financially from those areas if their youth made use of the program. Private donations were also anticipated and one was already volunteered, as I mentioned before.

I think we made a mistake, but I'll go along with the public. It's their money.

Omer "Dead-eye" Hansen misses ground hogs when they're not around. He even misses them when they are around. I hear from a reliable source that when the Hansens were having their problems in getting rid of ground hogs recently at their place north of town, one of the creatures was heard outside and when the family saw it, the animal sat up on its hind legs and gave a perfect full front target. Omer grabbed his trusty rifle and — missed. He hasn't heard the end of it yet — and don't mention ground hogs to him.

Son Hal was advised by Van Miller to pour gasoline down the ground hog holes and then toss a match in it. Hal did, and his comment was, "You never saw so many asses on fire in your life."

Lavon Hart mentioned recently that the Bevington family has donated $30 toward paying for the additional backstop fence to be installed at the softball diamond. Anyone else who wishes to donate money may do so to Lavon.

Jeff Morr was helping father Norman in baling hay recently. When they stopped momentarily to wait for a wagon or something, Norman pulled out a pack of cigarettes, lit one for himself and, to see what reaction he'd get, offered one to Jeff, who is all of 10 years old. Jeff surprised Dad, however, taking one and accepting a light from Norman who decided to go along with the gag. Jeff took one puff, coughed and sputtered, then turned to Norman and said, "Why would anybody walk a mile for one of these!"

This has been a good summer for growing grass, what with all the rain and sunshine. It's also good for weeds. It would help a lot to make the town look better and be considerate of the neighbors if vacant lots were mowed more often to eliminate the stand of weeds, some of which have gotten rather high.

Monday of last week, those who passed our house in the morning saw some yard decorations which were not there the night before. Some enterprising souls apparently had swiped the red reflectors, which people use to mark the boundaries for their driveways, and stuck them in our front yard. So, if you hear of anyone missing their driveway reflectors, we have 30 or 35 of them in our garage available to the owners.

Local Tax Rate Drops 74¢ To $1.40; No Recreation

The town board of Saint Joe, Ted Haberkorn, Jack Bowser and Lynn Lake, and clerk Don Kinsey, met in regular session Monday evening, with visitors including Andy Monroe, chief of the local volunteer fire department, Harvey Carr, and Maurice Kline.

The main item on the agenda was final consideration of a proposed budget for the year 1969. With the three visitors present to express a protest against the inclusion of 22-cent levy to provide summer recreation for the Riverdale area, under the guidance of an experienced director, and with several other reported expressions of disagreement with the suggested proposal, the board adopted the budget for 1969 without including the summer recreation levy which would have paid the salary of the director. Only two residents of the area indicated approval, as reported by the president of the board. One of the approvals also extended an offer of a donation of $200 to assist in carrying out the program. Both approvals came from residents outside the town.

Following the dictates of public response, the board did not include a summer recreation levy.

The budget which was adopted provides for a tax levy of $1.40 per $100 of assessed valuation. This represents a decrease in the tax levy of 74 cents, due to an increase in assessed valuation in the town and the removal from the tax supported appropriations of the contractual trash collection obligation. The levy for 1968 was $2.14.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Town — Milton Thorne, labor $32.00; Jessie Cannady, labor $36.00; Paul Thorne, labor $12; Farm Bureau, fuel 7.95; Albert Schrock, open grave 45.00; William Mansfield, labor 14.00; William Mansfield, labor 4.00; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash collection 240.00; Frank Chew, mowing 4.00; Indiana Stamp and Seal, rubber stamp 1.65; Butler Lumber & Supply, materials 31.15; Indiana & Michigan, street lights 80.46; Farm Bureau Coop, fuel 7.95; Jiggs' Motor Service, supplies 6.35; A. They also say that topless girls "serve to direct a person's interests to good healthy hetrosexual relations — away from perversions and bangups."

One observation by a psychologist I don't quite accept. He said, the topless shows help "exhaust men's curiosity about women's breasts, which American males seem to have a preoccupation about."

Why do "American males" get blamed for the "preoccupation"? After all, its' the women who wear the clothes — or don't, if you want to get technical. And it's going on all over the world. Females universally are prettying themselves up with something or in some way. Are they "preoccupied" with attracting the male?!?!? — or just doing what comes naturally?

Williams has accused the Johnson administration of deliberately undercutting the congressional ordered cutback on government employment by "padding the payroll" before the economy action went into effect. The Delaware Republican said the administration hired 95,300 federal workers during the 30 days in June when Congress was wrangling over an economy package which finally included a 10 percent surtax, a $6 billion cut in spending and the job cutback.

VOL. LXXXIII — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, August 17, 1968 — NUMBER

Splurge Of Commercial Building Projects Brightens Saint Joe's Prospects

While there has not been any "industrial development" of the size usually associated with the economic growth of a community, the Saint Joe area has nevertheless seen signs indicating a reversal of the downward trend of business activity in the last few years. These signs are in the emergence of new buildings for small business purposes.

A year ago The Saint Joe News moved into a new building and at the same time a feed dozer plant was built and opened. The latter is now not in operation but efforts are being made by the company to keep it active.

Last summer a car wash was built by Jack Bowser and Norman Morr and has proven a very successful addition to the community. The two men are currently erecting another building at the same location to house a laundromat. The tentative opening date has been set for September 1.

Fred Rayle of Saint Joe is completing a building on his property which will be used for automobile and truck body repair and painting. Mr. Rayle has done such work part time in his small garage and is now putting the finishing touches on a 24x36 structure in order to expand his business. He has been employed at Fort Wayne full time in the past.

Richard Watte of Saint Joe is another full time Fort Wayne employee who has decided to provide larger quarters for his part time welding operation. Mr. Watte is erecting a 36x48 cement block building on his property which will provide much more working area for his efforts.

In addition, Verlyn Diemer has purchased the Mobil station in Saint Joe and while no new building was involved, the successful operation of that business since he reopened the station has added to the optimistic prospects for the local business community.

As stated before, there has not been any large addition to the community as is usually indicated by "industrial development." However, the investment by private individuals in new buildings, as represented by the above examples, is an indication of confidence in the community and the future. It is a reassuring indication in that these, except the fertilizer plant, are small businessmen who have made substantial investments. Such investments and efforts are as important to a community as are larger industrial additions, because they provide individual services to the community.

Photos that follow show the progress being made.

Maxton Motors Donates Bus To Scout Troop 172

Robert Jacobson, left, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 172 of Spencerville, receives a hand shake and bus key from Dick Bereaw, general manager of Maxton Motors of Butler. The bus was recently donated to the troop by Maxton's as a part of that firm's continuing program of support and participation in community betterment activities. The bus will be utilized for troop activities in the future. Incidentally, the troop has light bulbs for sale to finance those activities.

1. Before the laundromate can operate, it needs water. It was necessary to tunnel under State Road 1 in order to run a water line to the laundromat. Above is pictured Jack McHenry of Saint Joe, top left, and two assistants who prepare a section of auger for boring under the highway.

3. While the boring was in progress, Max Likens was laying block for the 30x40 building.

4. Later, owners Jack Bowser, foreground on ladder, and Norman Morr, background on ladder, and helper Richard Musser trim the rafters.

2. Across the road, a trench was dug to make necessary connections with the laundromat, and an interested group of spectators watch for the auger to come through.

5. Finally the roof goes on and the building is ready for interior finishing. (More pictures on inside pages.)

Jesse Is 95!!!

The telephone rang Tuesday afternoon at the News Office and a happy voice at the other end of the line said, "I'm celebrating my 95th birthday today."

The caller was Jesse Loftus, a former resident of Saint Joe now residing in Auburn with a daughter, Mrs. Daniel Johnson, operator of the Auburn Diner.

Jesse was a familiar figure in Saint Joe into the 1950's, along with his horse, old Bob, as he did street work and other maintenance for the town.

Keep It In The Open

Some of the teachers in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District were quite upset two weeks ago over a statement made in the newspapers of the area (except the Saint Joe News!) that some $92,000 increase in our school expenditures for next year will be due to increased teachers' salaries. They had a right to be upset; the statement can easily be misinterpreted. The total paid for teachers' salaries has increased but this does not mean that the same teachers as last year are getting that much more money. Other factors are change in personnel, experience, and numbers.

I don't intend to dig into the amounts involved because that is not the seat of the problem. If there is a confused public at the present time, the teachers can blame themselves in part and the school administration can blame itself in part. Their secrecy is the seat of the problem.

This spring, there was a series of salary negotiations involving representatives of the teachers in the school district and the school board. At the time I sought to find out what the demands were from the teachers, asking one of their prime representatives about the matter. The response, or lack of it, made it obvious: there was no desire to let the public know what was being discussed in salary negotiations. Inasmuch as the school board, also, did not divulge any information about negotiations, and the negotiations were held in private, the public could not know what demands were made, what offers were made, and what ultimate agreement was reached. It should be no surprise, then, that in the present instance, the public can be so easily misled about salary increases; it was never informed by the proper parties when salary agreement was reached and how much was involved.

I am a stickler when it comes to this secrecy bit involving public affairs. The everyday citizen is usually justified in becoming suspicious of secrecy in public matters. It is true that there are times when discussions should be held in private because specific individuals are involved in matters of a delicate nature. "Executive sessions" are a necessity at some times. However, the local school board has been inclined to resort to closed sessions to deliberate some matters which have not involved personalities. The matters have involved argumentative points and the board has shown an inclination to avoid argumentative discussion as if such deliberations are "bad." Under certain circumstances, arguments should be avoided. In most circumstances, on the other hand, open discussion, even if it leads to differences of opinion strongly expressed, at least gives the opportunity for the public to know what is being said and why.

In the present instance, with the teachers NOT getting $92,000 in salary increases (the average is around $350 per teacher for something like 70 teachers I am told), a misinformed public is partly the fault of the teachers themselves for being afraid to let the public know what they were asking and what they got. The school administration is at fault also for resorting to the closed sessions in salary negotiations. Even these closed negotiations could be acceptable to a certain degree if there were an announcement of the terms which ultimately were agreed upon. Both parties seem to overlook the fact that when public tax money is being spent, the public has a right to know who wants it, how much, and what for.

I am not, generally speaking, sympathetic with the teachers in this matter of salary increases. They have reached the point where they are more interested in having a meeting to discuss how much money they can get than they are in having a meeting to police their own membership in fulfilling responsibilities to the public. I'll go along with paying top salaries to those who deserve it, but the "professional" status of teachers which prevailed for many years has now been lost in their collective negotiations which penalize the capable and reward the incompetent and uninspired. It would be a rewarding experience to hear that the teachers in our district, in addition to striving for a greater reward for themselves, were also striving to see that their own number were diligently giving the public its money's worth. Indiana teachers now have the fourth highest average pay of all the 50 states. But we are still getting too many Hoosier high school graduates who can't spell, who can't read, who can't write. So, teachers ought to be willing to accept my gripes on teacher salaries because I am helping to pay for the demands they make, and some of them also can't spell, can't read, and can't write!

Local Business Cooperates In School's Vocational Training Program

Due to the interest of the school district, the business community, and Eastside High School, a new cooperative education program is being offered to eligible senior boys of the high school. Fourteen boys and seven area businesses have joined together to help launch a program which is to become a permanent part of the high school program. The boys enrolled are building for their future by supplementing their studies with a trade training opportunity being provided for them by various industries within our school district.

Industrial Cooperative Training is a program designed to provide vocational on-the-job training for eligible seniors whose minimum age is 16 and who have passed all majors and minors, and have a minimum of 24 credits with senior status. They will have a morning or afternoon work schedule for a minimum of three hours a day, five days a week. Employers have agreed to furnish training that is basic to the trade the student is pursuing.

The student will have a morning or afternoon class schedule which consists of English, U. S. Government, an elective subject, plus classes which provide individual study of directly related technical information dealing with the phases of his trade area. The second phase of I. C. T. classroom instruction deals with group study in job adjustment information to consider problems of youth in the industrial world. I. C. T. leads to graduation with a standard diploma along with all other Eastside graduates. I. C. T. students also receive a Certificate of Achievement.

All students will be directly supervised by Mr. William Scruta, Coordinator for the school district, and their respective employers.

The list of students, their trade areas, and employers is as follows:

Charles Arnett; Industrial Maintenance; Ralph Seehler and Son, Inc.

Marlin Betz; Universal Tool and Stamping Co., Inc.

Jerry Bungard; Auto Mechanic; Maxton Motors, Inc.

Paul Culler; Meat Cutter; Saint Joe Locker.

Gary Heffelfinger; Universal Tool and Stamping Co., Inc.

Galen Hose; Hendrickson Tandem Corporation.

David Mumma; Kaiser Plumbing, Heating and Electrical.

Jerry Simanton; Tool and Die; Mold Service, Inc.

Bruce Craig; Auto Body and Fender Repair; Not Placed.

Doyle Marr; Tool and Die; Not Placed.

Terry Maldeney; Farm Mechanics; Not Placed.

Michael Prentice; Farm Mechanics; Not Placed.

Any employer interested in arranging to participate in the Eastside I. C. T. Program may call Mr. Scruta at the school, 868-2134 or 868-5310.

A trade or an occupation is classified as such when a minimum of 2000 hours in training is required to become proficient. Some examples are carpentry, cabinet making, plastics technology, electricity, small engine repair, welding, lab technician.

The objectives of the program for the students are,

1. Aptitudes and interests are realized.
2. Knowledge of basic trade skills increases employability.
3. Academic subjects and graduation become important.
4. Adjustments to working conditions in industry are made under school supervision.
5. Skills of the trades are acquired under actual industrial work conditions.
6. Expensive machinery furnished by industry adds to training advantages.

Advantages to the community through I. C. T. include:

1. Can provide youth broad training opportunities at minimum costs.
2. Helps more students stay in school for graduation.
3. Helps induct and retain youth in the community for full citizenship.
4. Holds school and community in close working relationship.

Advantages to the employer and labor are:

1. Provides the opportunity to teach desirable work habits, job ethics, and loyalty, and encourages initiative and honesty, while excluding and discouraging the exploiting of student trainees.
2. The trainee does not displace nor will he take the place of an employee needed in that work area.
3. Provides the businesses and labor factions of the community in cooperation with the entire school district an opportunity to develop technical knowledge with on-the-job experience as well as related technical knowledge beyond the job experience.
4. The economic factors of the community are increased by retaining graduates that will contribute to the welfare of the community.

The operation is based upon the following provisions:

1. Certified coordinator is responsible for the program provisions.
2. An active advisory committee provides guidance and advice.

Dear ——

This week I'm happy to be able to report that John Stiver is home on leave. John and Shawn Campbell stopped by the house Sunday for a short visit. I hope John won't mind my saying this, but he seems to be typical of young men his age. A few short months ago he looked just like the boy I have known for the last eight years. When I saw him standing at the doorway Sunday, it seemed as though his appearance had suddenly changed into that of a man overnight. I had the same experience when Dave Haberkorn was home, and when we visited our own son Mike a few weeks ago.

They all looked great!!

John will report back for duty September 2. It's nice to have you home, John.

Don't quote me, but I think we are expecting Mike Haberkorn to drop in unexpectedly, maybe.

Well, that's it for now. My editor is going on vacation, so I'll see you in three weeks. Don't forget to drop a line.

New Students Should Register

Students who will be attending Eastside Junior-Senior High School for the first time this fall, and have not previously been enrolled in the DeKalb County Eastern Community District Schools, are requested to enroll at the Eastside High School on August 16, August 19-23, or August 26-30. The office will be open on these dates from 8:00 a.m. to noon, and from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. All new students should definitely enroll prior to the opening of school September 4.

WATER SAFETY

EVERYBODY should learn to swim, but unfortunately they don't. It is estimated that only one person in ten can swim; even more unfortunate is the fact that of this number only a few have an adequate understanding of water safety.

Between 6,000 and 7,000 persons drown each year; nine out of ten of these victims are male, and the majority are between 15 and 19 years of age.

A large number of drownings could be prevented if swimmers would use common sense and take a few simple precautions. Among those precautions and "don't's" are the following:

Don't dive into unknown waters —there may be hidden rocks, logs or shallow places.

Don't casually change places in a small rowboat or canoe—you run the danger of capsizing.

Don't push or duck others in the water — it may be fun, but it is dangerous.

Don't float on an air mattress or inner tube if you are a non-swimmer — you may float too far from shore or into a dangerous current.

NEVER swim alone — even experienced swimmers can get cramps.

If you have a backyard pool make sure that it is fenced and that the gate is kept locked when the pool is not in use. Insist that your pool users know how to swim; never permit toddlers or young children to play within the pool area or paddle in the shallow end unless an adult or teenager with a knowledge of lifesaving is present all the time.

Urge members of your family to enroll in a Red Cross Lifesaving Course, and remember that while swimming is fun — it can be dangerous.

Follow these simple rules and have a happy summer.

Deaf Man Perfects Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to A. J. Wilder, 809 Steuben Street, Wausau, Wis. 54401. (Adv.)

THE NEWS August 15, 1968

Letters to the Editor

Hi Ted,

I wanted to let you know how much I have enjoyed getting the Saint Joe News this summer. I read every word in it.

I was so happy to learn that there is to be an MR class in the fall. This is certainly a challenging and rewarding field of teaching to enter. One sees miracles occur so often when working with these children.

I have visited several institutions this summer, so I have accumulated quite a lot of material which I may be able to use in my class. I go with my husband when he visits the vocational classes.

Marty Loy stopped by to visit us the other evening. I guess that his aunt lives about a block from us.

Thank you again for the enjoyable and informative paper.

Sincerely,
Florence Weaver
402 N. Broadway
Butler, Indiana

Saint Joe, Indiana

Dear Ted,

Dear Ohio friends who attend revivals in many states told me prophecy tells that unless a Christian is elected for President of our United States by November 15, our country will be in slavery the same as Poland and other foreign countries.

Pray that we will not lose our freedom.

Sincerely,

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDER

The Defrauded Poor

It is perhaps fortunate for minimizing public uproar that the poor do not have $5.95 available to buy a book.

• • •

For if they had the price to buy and read the new book "Poverty Is Where the Money Is" by Shirley Scheibla, and published by Arlington House, New Rochelle, New York, the poor would be swarming on Washington like mad hornets.

• • •

And probably no one could blame them, as the book gives a comprehensive insight into how a vast share of the money appropriated to aid the poor get on their feet has been dissipated and siphoned off.

The author, Shirley Scheibla, a veteran Washington writer for both the more prestigious national and international business journals, in Washington editor for Barron's

In a heavily documented volume there is gathered together a mass of details which amply support the contention of many people that any measures to help the poor should be on a local, and not a federal level.

• • •

For the book relates details on the scores of five figure jobs set up, often with unsubstantiated expense accounts, to help the poor. Details are given on the police records of some of the "officials" employed.

And perhaps the most interesting part of all is the experience in setting up Job Corps centers to train unskilled youth for useful jobs.

• • •

Federation researchers have received many reports from independent businessmen who have hired job corps graduates only to find them completely incapable. The apparent answer is in this book.

Although it is established competent privately operated trade schools can train a resident student at a cost of between $2300 and $2600 per year, it is costing the taxpayer via the War on Poverty $12,000 to $15,000 per year, and in some instances up to $24,000. Due to the high number of drop outs, at one training center it is stated that each graduate cost the taxpayer over $20,000.

• • •

While some of the big corporations took over operation of these job training centers on a cost plus basis, receiving 4.7 per cent over costs, with no investment by the corporation, the results have been most dismal, the book points out.

• • •

The text of this book gives both the American taxpayers and the poor a great deal to get upset about. Of course, as is well known, the former generalissimo of the War on Poverty is now in France.

• • •

But if through some unlikely circumstance, a large number of the poor ever read this book, perhaps France is not far enough away.

Lutherans Are 'Champs', Newville UM 'Good Sports'

Newville United Methodist players were chosen the best sports for the just-ended Saint Joe Church League season and received the sportsmanship trophy Tuesday of last week at the annual all-star game. The sportsmanship trophy is awarded by a vote of all teams in the league.

The same evening the Lutherans were awarded the champion ship trophy, having concluded the season with a 13-1 won lost record. They clinched the crown in the final game on the schedule, defeating second-place Coburntown II, 13-5. The latter would have tied the Lutherans for the lead with a win. The only defeat suffered by the Lutherans cam at the hands of Saint Joe Church of Christ, 10-9. That defeat was avenged in the Lutherans' next-to-last game of the season, 10-0, the only shutout of the season.

The Lutherans defeated the all-stars at the closing ceremonies last week. The game is played between the league champions and a team composed of two members of each other team in the league. Each team elects its own representatives to the all-star game.

Sandy Successfully Defends Title

Sandy Panning, 14, had the honor of placing first in solo competition at the WTA Grand Nationals held in Abingdon, Virginia the past week, and thereby defending her World Twirling Championship Title won last year at the Grand Nationals in Cleveland, Ohio.

The World Twirling Association limits National entries to those that place in the top five in state contests. Sandy qualified for the National competition this past June at the Indiana State Contest in Kokomo by placing first in both solo and strutting competition.

Sandy placed fifth in strutting at the Nationals. She will be enrolled as a Freshman at Eastside High School in Butler this fall She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rinard of Spencerville, Indiana.

CONCORD JUNIOR HOME-MAKERS
—Katy Crow, reporter

The August meeting was held in the fun room at the Wally Miles home. The usual business was carried out. Response to roll call was "how to keep cool." Several committees gave reports. Margaret Carper gave a report of the council meeting. We are to entertain our neighbors, the "Sisters of the Skillet" in September. Election of officers was conducted by Edna Perkins. All officers were retained for another year.

The finance committee presented a gimmick on weights and measures titled "In Search of Jack," and wound up with a nice sum for the treasury.

A cake and fruit punch was served by our hostess, Ruth Miles.

Troop 29 had its final campout August 27-29 in the youth area of Chain-o-Lakes State Park near Albion, Indiana. The girls went swimming in Sand Lake, one of three lakes in the camp. They went on two hikes, and visited the family camping area. The girls cooked over open fires, did skits, and sang around the campfire each night. All four levels of Scouting were represented at the campout. The Brownies were Laura Bevington and Laura Hook. The Juniors were Terri Akey, Vickie Baker, Cindy Bevington, Linda Carper, Debbie Culbertson, Janet Culbertson, Rita Fish, Grace Hausbach, Sue Hicov, Anita Inlow, Debbie Keener, Cathy Kers, Terri Kers, Marilyn Longacher, Lori Reser, and Candy Richmond. The Cadettes attending camp were Robin Inlow, and Kay Stromback. The Senior Scouts were Martha DeLong, and Euphrasia Hausbach.

Jack Hollabaugh

A lifelong resident of Spencerville, Jack N. Hollabaugh, 35, passed away at 2 a.m. Sunday in the DeKalb Memorial Hospital in Auburn of complications of an illness of nine months. He had been a patient in the hospital a day prior to his passing.

Mr. Hollabaugh retired about nine months ago due to ill health. He was a foreman at the Fabricon Manufacturing Company in Grabill.

Final rites were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Church of Christ in Saint Joe, with Rev. Don Bullock, pastor of the church, officiating. Burial followed in the White City Cemetery in Spencerville.

A diabetic patient since youth, Mr. Hollabaugh had suffered from failing health the past few years, eventually suffering the loss of sight and of kidney functions. He required frequent hospitalization in recent months in relief of body wastes and followed a strict diet. Despite the attempts of doctors to relieve his condition, and the constant care of his devoted wife, Mr. Hollabaugh suffered periods of extended and increasing pain.

Despite his illness, Mr. Hollabaugh continued to support efforts in the local school district to gain an equitable location for the proposed new high school in this district. He was one of three signers in an injunction suit filed in the matter and did not withdraw his name even when illness kept him from active participation.

Mr. Hollabaugh was Chief of the Spencerville Volunteer Fire Department. He was born on November 3, 1932, in Spencerville, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hollabaugh, who reside in Spencerville. His wife, Connie Stewart Hollabaugh, also survives.

Others surviving include two sons, Timothy and Thomas, and a daughter, Beth Ann, all at home; four brothers, Ted, James, and Parks, of Spencerville, and Thomas of Rl, Saint Joe; a sister, Mrs. Margery Morgan of Hopwood, Pa.; two grandmothers, Mrs. J. S. Hollabaugh of Spencerville and Mrs. Derwood Ridgway of Saint Joe.

Mr. Hollabaugh was a member of the Church of Christ in Saint Joe, and the Concord 556 F&AM.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB
—Pat Roberts, reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the Community Hall in Auburn, August 16, entertaining the Auburn Extension Club. Eight members of the Auburn club were present.

At half past one, the President, Catherine Bowser, opened a short business meeting, after extending a hearty welcome to our guests.

The Club Collect was recited in unison.

Huldah Reasoner, our oldest and most faithful member, gave the devotions. She gave an inspiring reading, then closed devotions with a Prayer Poem.

Gertrude Borthwick gave the history of the song of the month, then led in the singing of several songs accompanied by Doris Yeiser at the piano.

Roll call was answered by ten members with a short biography of some President's wife.

The secretary's report was given by Mary Baker, and was accepted as read.

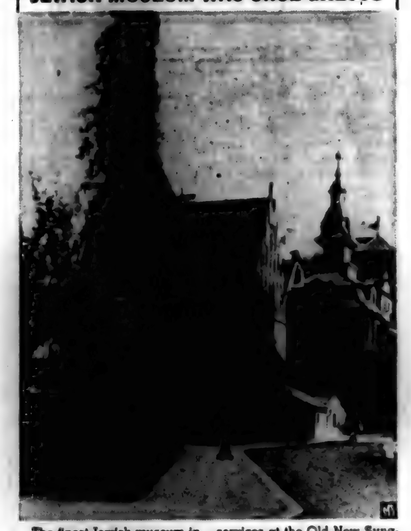
The meeting was then closed with the Prayer Song and the entertainment committee took charge.

We were glad to have with us Lynann and Judy Lake who very beautifully sang several songs for the musical part of the program.

Several games were then played and a door prize was drawn by one of the guests.

The lunch committee then served a tasty lunch.

JEWISH MUSEUM WAS ONCE GHETTO



The finest Jewish museum in the world is located in Praque, the capital of Czechoslovakia. Covering several square blocks and including a number of centuries-old buildings, many of them synagogues, the museum area was once a ghetto. Collections here are incredibly rich; there are more than 2,800 ceremonial Torah cloths and more than 5,000 silver and gold religious ornaments. There's an Old Jewish Cemetery in which 12,000 people were laid to rest between the 15th and 18th centuries. And, for tourists, a high point of any visit is attending services at the Old-New Synagogue (above) an 800-year-old temple that is the oldest Jewish house of worship still functioning in Europe. About half a million travelers visit the museum each year, but this total could double or triple in 1968-69 during the 1,000th anniversary celebration of Jewish life in Czechoslovakia. Travel to the nation in the heart of Europe is easy and unrestricted, reports the Government Committee for Tourism. Visas are issued immediately at all border points and international airports.

Explanation Given For School Budget Increase

by Supt. Kenneth Cole

The Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District has advertised its 1969 budget. This 1969 budget calls for an expenditure of $1,097,518.00, which is an increase of $104,036.00 over the 1968 budget. There have been some recent indications that would lead the School Board members to believe that there is some confusion and some misunderstanding on the part of the public where the new budget is concerned. The School Board feels that the taxpayers in the school community should be informed correctly concerning the $104,036.00 increase in the 1969 proposed budget expenditures over the 1968 budget. The following is an attempt to identify for the public the 1969 budget increase.

The 1969 budget estimate for the cost of salaries for all certified personnel (teachers, substitute teachers, administrators, guidance personnel, librarians, Kindergarten teachers, special education teachers, psychological services, summer school teachers, and driver education teachers), is $795,089.00 as compared to $723,077.00 for 1968. Comparison of these figures show a 1969 increase amounting to $75,312.00. Of this total, $53,072.00 is the result of a new payroll schedule which was negotiated between the School Board and Eastern DeKalb Education Association, the organization that is acting as the collective bargaining agent for the teachers in the school district. A committee composed of three board members, the school attorney, and the school superintendent met on many occasions with a committee of negotiators from the teachers' association in the office of the school superintendent. The results of each negotiating session were reported by the special committee to the full School Board, and the full School Board gave its instructions to the negotiating committee as to how the committee should proceed at the next bargaining session. A full and open report was made at the final school board meeting after a compromise was finally reached with the teachers' organization. In the instant case the minutes of the May 23, 1968, school board meeting carried the salary schedule as it was finally adopted.

In all fairness to all certified personnel and in all honesty to the public, it is necessary to further explain the $75,312.00 difference to which earlier reference was made. As was stated, $53,072.00 represents the cost of salary raises for all certificated personnel. The remaining $22,240.00 of the $75,312.00 represents the salary cost of additional certificated personnel the School Board deemed necessary to upgrade education in the school district. The Board decided to offer fulltime Kindergarten and this caused the addition of one and a half Kindergarten teachers. The Board was finally successful in contracting an M2 teacher (special education), and this added one whole teacher. In an attempt to upgrade the curriculum in the elementary schools, the Board contracted an elementary art teacher who will teach elementary art in both the Riverdale and the Butler Elementary Schools. Thus, three and one half teachers have been added.

Also, part of the difference in cost of contracted salaries for 1969 as compared to 1968 is the fact that on many occasions, when maybe 67,000 teachers have resigned, they were of necessity replaced by teachers on the top of the salary schedule at $10,600 each. Obviously, four such replacements could add $14,400 to the budget.

It is almost imperative that the local taxpayer realize that that the school corporation will get some $26,000 less state aid in the 1969 budget year as compared to the 1968 budget year.

Of the $104,036 which is the total difference between the 1969 budget cost and the 1968 budget cost, $75,312 represented total increase in cost of contracted salaries for all certificated personnel. The remaining $28,724 represents the costs of clerical raises and added clerical help ($5,060); custodial raises and added custodial help ($9,000); bus drivers raises ($3,900); and $10,744 for normal increases in costs for instructional and operational materials and services in a school corporation that gained 53 students in average daily attendance last school year.

The heart beat of DeKalb Memorial Hospital faltered momentarily a short time ago.

Otis Fisher had been a "life blood" donor to this great hospital venture from the time it was conceived. Now he had left an empty chair among the board members who so respected his work and his devotion.

Otis Fisher's whole heart had been put into this hospital enterprise. He also had the innate capacity to enlist others where he had put his own competent effort.

These others recognized his loyalty and responded in like manner. They noted his steadfastness and wanted to second it by their own. They perceived his perseverance in the face of any obstacle or criticism. His promptness, his attention to detail, no matter how small — all these were his attributes, now lost to the board which nourishes DeKalb Memorial Hospital. This loss is what made the heartbeat falter for a moment.

Otis Fisher knew this splendid hospital like a book. In fact, he compiled two books about it. One embodies the minutes of the board meetings year after year. The other is a book which will be cherished through all the years to come as a compilation of the many exciting stories and pictures of events which brought DeKalb Memorial Hospital to its present grand stature.

The word "scrapbook" is inadequate and fails to dignify the true character of the story which unfolds as one clipped news release after another appears on its neat pages.

Within its attractive cover, the chronologically arranged releases begin back in June of 1960 and carry through until the time Otis Fisher became a patient at the hospital—no longer able to be, as he consistently had been, the other patients' advocate.

This beautiful loose leaf book personifies, in a measure, the man whose name is so significantly linked with DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

It reflects his orderliness, his thoroughness, his sense of time to come, when those not yet born will be interested in the earliest beginnings of the great institution for which they at that time will be responsible.

When time and heart permit, this beautifully complete record of events will be brought up to date by the companion who shared his interest in the hospital and is its record of events.

At such time, it would seem fitting that this book be lovingly and gratefully closed as a tribute to Otis Fisher's devotion, and will, as Dorothy Fisher and son David desire, become a cherished and guarded possession in the archives of DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

Malaysia's Craftsman

CHINA? NO, MALAYSIA. This could be a scene in old China, but it is a common sight in Malaysia where for 150 years the Chinese have settled and now live side by side in comparative harmony and co-prosperity with the indigenous Malays, the immigrant Indians and other communities who have made the country their home. Photo shows a street painter working at the ancient art of drawing portraits of deities and offering them for sale. American tourists who are now visiting Malaysia in greater numbers find these painstakingly drawn portraits unusual enough to take home as souvenirs.

Letters to the Editor

August 16, 1968

Dear Editor:

The enclosed verse is a memorial written by my brother, Gerald Deatsman, following the tragic death of our grandson two weeks ago. I feel that God inspired him to write the verse, and it has meant so much to the family.

Do you ever have space in your news for a memorial?

Gerald was born in this vicinity, attended elementary school here, high school at Leesburg, Ind., received his musical education at I. U. and is now dedicated to teaching.

A number of the news readers will remember him and his family during his childhood.

Mrs. Arthur Krieg

"In Memorial for Mark:
A gift from Heaven came down one day;
With the family of Krieg to make his stay.
He thrived and grew into a sturdy boy;
His presence to all was a source of joy.
Let us turn our thoughts to him again,
And be glad he now lives where there is no pain.
God prized the creature He had wrought in Mark,
And decided to call him Home before dark.
So many plans had been made for him;
Let the memory of his life never grow dim.
Our heart's loss is indeed so very great!
In fond memory, love for him will never abate.
Though the span of his life seemed much too brief,
Two facts should give our distress relief.
Mark is now safe with our Father of Might,
And some day we will with him reunite."

With the end of the Little League baseball season, I would like to express my thanks and appreciation to all the boys, and their parents, who were on my team.

I enjoyed working with the boys, and feel I had a great bunch of boys. As for the parents, I owe them a great big thank-you for helping to make this year a success in seeing that the boys had transportation, helping with treats on winning games, and to the Dads who helped with coaching, scorekeeping, etc. I want to thank the Moms for keeping those bleachers occupied at home and away games, and giving lots of encouragement to the boys.

All in all, I feel it was a great year, and you made my first year as coach a success.

Thanks to all!!!!

Jim Rinard

Human nature will not change. In any future great national trial, compared with the men of this, we shall have as weak and as strong, as silly and as wise, as bad and as good.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

We really had a dandy vacation this year at Lake James. The weather was great and we had lots of company. Especially welcomed were the visits of the teenagers from my Sunday School class, present and past.

I only fished twice and got a few each time. Mostly we just soaked up the sun in boat riding or playing croquet or just sitting around.

—We also got thirsty.

Jack Bowser and Norman Morr expect to have their laundromat in operation this week end with the grand opening set for a week from Saturday. Are you ready?

And it's good to see that Dick Crow will keep the local fertilizer center going, assisted by son Pat.

Now if Donald Kinsey can just find a couple to operate the restaurant — — —.

"PRAYER FOR A YOUNG SOLDIER

Lord, he is far away from home,
This is the first time on his own;
If he is torn and tempest-blown,
Comfort him, Lord, tonight.
May he feel for his country the same deep pride
As those before him who fought and died
To keep it free, but let him bide
In safety, Lord, tonight.
Whatever he sees of sadness and wrong,
May his trust in Thee stay sure and strong;
May he face the world with a smile and a song.
Bless him, O Lord, tonight.
Keep him from loneliness, fear and despair;
Let him remember the joys that we share;
Wherever he is, as I make this prayer,
Lord, send him my love tonight!"

Historical Meeting Sunday To Study 1-Room Schoolhouse

The DeKalb County Historical Society will have its regular meeting next Sunday, September 15, at the Eckhart Public Library in Auburn at 2:00 p.m. The program is expected to be of wide interest, inasmuch as it will include a discussion of the county's early school system.

Harriet Wasson Oberlin, who now teaches in Fort Wayne, will serve as moderator, assisted by Alice Peckhart. These ladies and their panel members are all veterans of the rural one-room schools. None of these picturesque relics are in use anymore, many of them having passed out of existence altogether. Many of the buildings are converted now into homes, some into barns and other farm use.

The program committe has contacted some retired teachers and the public is invited to come and join the reminiscing. Early pictures of school buildings, teachers and classes, and related items may be brought by their owners for display.

This is the fourth year of the society since it was reorganized. Dues are payable at any time, and expire a year from any time paid. Meetings are held every other month around the calendar.

Stanley Means of near Spencerville is now serving as president. Other officers are Harry Heinzerling of near Garrett, Elmer Rice of Auburn, Robert Wilder of near Saint Joe and Mrs. Pauline Heupel of near Garrett.

PTA Tuesday

The Riverdale P.T.A. will begin its 1968-69 year of activity next Tuesday evening, September 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Riverdale cafetorium.

The program will include introduction of teachers. The local Boy Scout Troop will furnish the color guard and Rev. Keller of the Newville U.M. Church will give devotions.

Memberships in the organization are now available at $1.00 for family memberships and 50c for individual memberships.

Patrons are urged to attend the meeting and assist in getting the year off to a good start.

EHS Cross Country

by Phil Miller, Coach

Eastside High School's cross country team lost to a strong Hamilton team Monday by a score of 30 to 19. The five top finishers for Eastside were, in order, Warstler, Seltenright, Glader, Houser and Melchi.

Tuesday Norwell and Woodlan defeated the Blazers 26 to 36 to 73. Again Warstler, Seltenright, Houser, Glader and Melchi were the top five for Eastside.

Next week the Blazers hope to receive some help from three late starters who will be able to compete then. Both meets next week are at Churubusco. On Tuesday the Blazers compete with the host school and on Friday they will run in the big 'Busco invitational meet.

CARD OF THANKS

The Saint Joe News
Saint Joe, Indiana
Dear Ted,

While reading The Auburn Dispatch this morning, I happened to read of the death of a cousin, Dr. Francis Curie Skilling of Miami, Florida. The account stated that he had been in his office on Saturday but died from heart attack on Sunday. His deceased parents were Emma (Curie) and John K. Skilling who lived at Baltimore, Maryland, for many years. Uncle John was an accountant for Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The Skilling boys, Francis and Jack, used to spend part of their vacations with Grandma and Grandpa, Catherine and Christian Curie, where Franklin Seehler now lives. My father would be ninety three, and I believe he was a baby when the family moved in the new brick house.

To go back to Francis, the paper stated two aunts survived-they were the Skilling aunts. There are three aunts on Curie side, Mrs. Amanda Klopfenstein at Grabill, Mrs. Harry (Ann) Henderson at Newago, Michigan, and Mrs. Frank Curie, St. Louis, Missouri.

Sincerely,
Marjorie Curie Ramsey

Carper Reunion

On Sunday, August 25, 1968, a group of descendants of Aaron and Sarah Jane (Hughs) Carper held a family get-together at the Saint Joe Valley Conservation Club at Saint Joe.

At noon a bountiful carryin dinner was served. The day was spent in reminiscing and making new acquaintances.

In the afternoon Paul Fetters called the group together and Charles Carper acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Carper presented a prayer poem. Mr. Carper and Mrs. Lillie Rinehold related some of the family history.

Music was furnished by Miss Kathy Getrost of Antwerp, Ohio, and Miss Dora Fetters of Saint Joe.

Mr. Carper presented a reading. A vote of thanks was given to Paul and Ellen Fetters for their efforts in making all arrangements for the day.

It was decided to hold another family get-together in 1969 as this was the first the family had been reunited since 1940. Officers were elected as follows:

Paul Fetters, president; Victor Carper, vice president; Nellie Andress, treasurer; Velma Gerig, secretary.

Five of the original family are still living and four attended. Those who attended were as follows: Mrs. Lillie Rinehold, Mrs. Birdie Fetters, both of Auburn; Mrs. Ines Mauser of Spencerville and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carper of Detroit, Michigan.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fetters, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin J. Fetters Sr and Douglas, Dora and Ervin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fetters and Jim and Joyce, all of Saint Joe; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Getrost and Randy, Kathy and Bonnie of Antwerp, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Max Mauser of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lieberean of Albion; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Carper and Mr. and Mrs. Cora; Carper of Garrett; Mr. and Mrs. B. VOL. LXXXIII — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, September 19, 1968 — NUMBER 36

NITED FUND NEEDS U

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Two weeks ago Nelson Grills, the "protestors'" attorney in the Eastside site fight, was told to prepare petitions to force a referendum (public vote) on the question: should the central and eastern districts unite?

Monday night, Harold Kagey asked that discussion of unification be placed in the agenda for the October meeting of the eastern school board.

Regardless of what comes in the school board's deliberations, those petitions will be circulated on both districts in coming weeks. The purpose of the petitions IS NOT to force consolidation of the two districts. The purpose of the petitions is to allow the public to make the decision.

So, before anybody jumps to any conclusions, or gets too'd off because they think a fast one is being pulled, keep in mind that nothing has been done to unite the two districts, but our board is going to discuss the matter.

No discussion has been held between the two boards, but it hopefully will come so that what's good and what's bad about the idea will be known in both districts.

The petitions will get enough signers in both districts if enough people in both districts think that the public should make the decision.

It is important to remember that the petition will not force consolidation; it will only force a public referendum.

Under Chapter 296 of the Acts of 1949, a vote on consolidation of school districts is put to a referendum upon petition of 5% of the vote for Secretary of State at the preceding election.

With 2328 votes cast in 1966 for Secretary of State in the DeKalb Eastern district, only 116 names are needed on such a petition.

With 5746 votes cast for Secretary of State in 1966 in the central district, only 287 names are needed on the petition in that district.

Seven years ago, county reorganization was going on and a lot of folks said a single administrative unit for the county was needed (but we didn't get it). With the site controversy in Eastside's district holding up construction of a third high school in the county, perhaps better things are possible now for all concerned if the discussion at Eastside is expanded elsewhere and all participate with an open mind—striving for better opportunities for all at the least possible cost.

Now that fence is being installed along the third base line at the softball diamond, Lavon Hart offers a reminder that anyone wishing to help pay the $285 cost may do so by sending check or money to him. Checks can be made out to "Saint Joe Church League."

Something like $100 is yet needed to complete the project.

With me being out of the shop frequently, and with Riverdale students all needing posterboard in the first weeks of school, I have been putting a stack of the poster board out in view with a change box on top. Then when I am out, the kids (and some adults, too) can take what they need and toss their money in the box.

One evening last week, the same thought entered Esther's and my mind—what if the temptation is too much for a youngster, with all that change lying there and no one around. We mutually thought of this as we saw some kids enter the shop just as we were sitting down for supper.

Our concern was answered almost immediately, when I got up and went out to see if the kids were getting what they needed. In the change box was the following note:

"Mr. Habercorn,

"We'er from Riverdale Jr. high & we need four poster boards.

"100c—2—10?

"Kim Vendrely, Robin Inlow, Cheryl Ransom, Nan Scott, Kay Strombeck

"Here's the money. Thanks!

"Over"

On the other side:

"I took 3 poster board's. I put 60c in box—3 quarters & 1 dime. D. Hicov

"I took one poster board. Kevin Chapman.

"I took one poster board. Connie Ourley.

"I took one poster board. Joyce Delagrange."

—I felt better—and a little ashamed.

Board Puts Merger Discussion On Oct. 7 Agenda; New Walks Sought For Riverdale

by the Editor

Discussion of the possibility of uniting the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District with the DeKalb County Central United District has been placed on the agenda of the Eastern school district's board meeting to be held October 7, 1968. The discussion was requested by board member Harold Kagey at the September meeting of the board held Monday night.

No official contact with the central district has been made by the eastern district's board about the matter and the action taken is merely to bring about a discussion. In order for such a unification to be made, both school districts would need to approve such a merger.

The DeKalb Central district is over twice the size of Eastside at the high school level, a difference which causes variation in the curricula of the two high schools. Such variations nullify the purpose of county reorganization carried out some seven years ago, that purpose being to equalize educational opportunities for students in the entire county.

An editorial appeared in this newspaper June 26, 1968, suggesting that the eastern and central districts discuss consolidation or that the third school district in the county also be included in discussion about possible uniting into a single administrative unit for the entire county. The editorial subsequently was published in the Waterloo, Auburn, Butler, and Garrett newspapers, at the expense of the Saint Joe News, in an effort to ascertain the feelings of people in the entire county. Although there has been no strong positive response in any area, to the extent that citizens have volunteered or indicated willingness to actively promote county unification, the comments received in answer to questions about the idea have in no instance thus far been negative. Although there cannot be the statement made that overwhelming sentiment favors a county unit, there has been an indication of consistent favorable consideration.

The idea as presented in the editorial was nothing new. County unit reorganization was recommended seven years ago by the county reorganization committee and was rescinded due to pressure on the committee from a certain area in the county and from school administrators in the county. The committee voted two more times on a recommendation, ultimately deciding on four school units for the county, a decision approved by the general public.

Within two years, however, the northwest district and the central district united, leaving the eastern and southwestern districts approximately one-half the size of the new combination. As stated before, the difference in size of the schools in the county creates a problem for the smaller schools which do not have the enrollment numbers to justify the expense of offering such courses as may be offered in a larger school. A discussion of further consolidation would present an opportunity to compare costs, curricula, and other vital information.

It appears that a constructive result can be obtained from the period of waiting involved in the eastern district's site dispute if the requested discussion of further consolidation is used to its fullest potential in the coming weeks. It has been pointed out by a resident of the central district that uniting the central and eastern district would reduce the central district's tax rate and would not make a hardship on high school facilities now in use. Such unification would cancel the need for new high school construction in the county, with eastern district pupils able to attend the new school in the central district. Both districts need new junior high facilities at the present time, and such need can be discussed along with all other school problems.

A request made several months ago by the Saint Joe News that sidewalks be constructed at the Riverdale School for the safety of local pupils was given impetus at Monday's board meeting by the Saint Joe Lions Club. A recommendation by the club's safety committee for such new sidewalks was brought to the school board's attention also by Mr. Kagey. As a result, the superintendent was authorized to determine what money is available for such construction and the costs involved.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation for the assistance given by the Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department in protecting other property and offering other assistance Sunday when our barn was destroyed by fire.

Grand Opening Saturday

The long-awaited opening of Saint Joe's newest business venture, the Wash-a-Teria public do-it-yourself laundry, will be held this coming Saturday, September 21. Norman Morr and Jack Bowser are owners and operators of the new facility which is located adjacent to the pair's do-it-yourself car wash, which has proven to be one of the best in the northeast corner of the state.

The laundry facility is one of the most attractive installations possible, the two men sparing little in providing not only the best in washing and drying equipment, but also the most pleasant atmosphere for the housewife in taking care of the family laundry needs. The interior is fully carpeted, not only for appearance' sake, but also for the safety of those using the facility. The walls have been paneled, and are complemented by the colors of the work tables and the washers and dryers themselves.

During the hours of 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. this coming Saturday, those who do their wash at the new laundry will have the use of the dryers at no charge, compliments of the two owners.

All the popular washing compounds are available from a coin-operated machine, as are soft drinks. Change machines are also installed, including one which changes a dollar bill into coins.

The 24-hr. facility was completely built in two months, with work beginning in the middle of July.

PTA Monday

The first meeting of the Eastside P.T.A. will be held next Monday evening, September 23 at 8:00 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Elementary Cafetorium at Butler.

Parents and patrons are invited to come and meet the faculty including the teachers new to Eastside this year.

Membership will be available for $1.00 per member. Proceeds from the dues help to maintain a scholarship fund awarded to a graduating student each year.

Officers for the year are:

William Mann, president.

Vaughn Billings, vice president.

Karen Zeigler, secretary.

Gaynelle Lake, treasurer.

Meeting dates for the coming year are: September 23, November 25, February 24 and April 28.

Glenn Moore Honored

Members of the Spencerville Community Club and other residents of Spencerville honored Glenn Moore recently for his service to the club and the community. Mr. Moore served as president of the Spencerville Community Club for 10 years, since its origin in July of 1958, before stepping down from the position at the club's recent election, for a well-deserved rest.

The celebration for the Spencerville man was held Saturday, August 24, and to show its appreciation for him, the community presented him a two-piece luggage set. One hundred thirty persons attended the affair, held in the Community Building in Spencerville, formerly the gymnasium for Spencerville High School students. The club obtained the building in October of 1960 and has sponsored activities for youth and families.

100 Attend PTO At Riverdale

by Lois Fisher, President

The Riverdale Parent-Teachers Organization met at the school on Tuesday night, September 17, with about 100 present.

The meeting was opened by the president.

The posting of the colors was made in a flag ceremony presented by the Saint Joe Boy Scout Troop. They led in the Pledge to the Flag, and in singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

Rev. Don Bullock of the Saint Joe Church of Christ gave an inspiring devotion.

Everyone present joined in singing "School Days."

The president introduced the following officers who will serve for the ensuing year: President — Mrs. Lynn Fisher; Vice President — Mrs. Jack Hollabaugh; secretary — Mrs. Jerry Keener; treasurer — Mrs. Franklin Sechler.

Everyone was wearing an identification badge, and was asked to introduce themselves.

Mr. Rader, school principal, introduced the teachers. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Keener, followed by Mrs. Sechler's giving the treasury report.

It was explained that this is a Parent-Teacher Organization, not Association. The PTA is a national group, and since we do not pay dues to that Association, we are not affiliated with them, and therefore not entitled to use that name.

Committees for the year will be as follows:

Program: Mrs. Lynn Fisher, Mrs. Jack Hollabaugh, Mr. Rader.

Membership: Mrs. Jack Bowser, chairman; Mrs. Oscar Watson, Mrs. Harry Strong, Mrs. Lavon Hart, Mrs. Ben Longacher, Mrs. Howard Timmerman, Mrs. Harold Curie, Mrs. Joe Walters.

Ways and Means: Mr. and Mrs. Bud Shockley, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Helbert, Mr. and Mrs. Cy Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morr, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Akey, Mr. and Mrs. John Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Emenhiser, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Holman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kagey, and Mr. Raider.

Hospitality: Mrs. Jack Hollabaugh, chairman; Mrs. Jerry Keener, Mrs. Franklin Sechler.

Refreshments: Mrs. Frank Laub, chairman; Mrs. Johnny Schmucker, Mrs. Leo Carper, Mrs. Gene Casebere, Mrs. Melvin Hershberger, Mrs. Robert Prosser, Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mrs. Forrest Bevington.

Publicity: Ted Haberkorn, Mrs. Robert Camp.

The president then reviewed some of the plans and ideas for the future, and expressed a desire for anyone with thoughts and ideas to pass them on to her.

Superintendent Cole gave an informative talk about our schools, buildings, and school systems.

At this meeting (and in future meetings this year), each parent registered as they came in the door. Later this register was counted, and the class with the largest number of parents present was given a cash prize of $5. This award went to class 7B, with 13 signed parents. The class sponsors, Mrs. Flesher and Mrs. Fetters, were presented with a 6-star badge to wear as a reminder of their winning. The winning class may use it to purchase something of their choice, or save it in the hope of adding to it at future meetings.

The patrons, teachers, and guests were again thanked for their attendance and invited to stay for refreshments.

The meeting was adjourned following the retiring of the flags.

Gun Clinic

The Annual Gun Safety Clinic sponsored jointly by the area conservation clubs, better known as the DeKalb County Council of Conservation Clubs, will be held Saturday, September 21, at the Auburn Conservation grounds a mile south of Auburn and a half mile west. Participating clubs are Moore's Conservation, Saint Joe Valley Conservation, Hamilton Fish and Game, and Auburn Conservation.

The safety event held each year for the past 9 years is held for the purpose of impressing upon youth and adults the danger of fire power if not used wisely and safely. These safety methods are brought out through films and demonstration talks by State Conservation officers during the day long event.

The grounds will open at 9:00 a.m. Saturday for registration of boys and girls and Guessing Game of Bag of Gold contest. Four prizes will be awarded.

Registration fee is $1.00 and includes a noon meal and cost of ammunition used by each participant. Each will be given the choice of shooting five trap shoot loads from a shotgun or ten shots from a .22 caliber rifle at targets on the target range. Participants are not allowed to bring their own guns.

Youth and adults are invited to attend.

Lions Prepare For Fair

by Frank Amstutz

At most of our meetings, we leave all of our business to the executive board and devote our time to the evening meal and the social, educational, and entertainment portions of our program.

"However," said president Robert Wilder, "we must check up to make sure that we all know when we are to work and what our duties are to be at our stand at the fair." When we had settled that question, he announced that this year we would have two grills and that, therefore, he would expect us to turn out hamburgers twice as fast as we formerly did during peak periods.

All members of the club are to meet in Auburn Monday, September 23, at 6:30 p.m. to help erect the tent. All members are to be on hand again at midnight Saturday, September 28, to take down the tent and remove all equipment.

Officers of the club for the coming year are as follows:

The Unicorn

by Loretta Loy

The Unicorn opened Sunday, September 15, with 28 teens in attendance. They were chaperoned by Loretta Loy.

We would like to thank Babe Coburn for connecting our outside sign light. There was no work done on our second rest room, so we had to open with just one. (We used the buddy system.)

We had ordered two dozen pizzas, but the oven wouldn't heat up. The oven is being fixed this week, and pizza will be on sale Friday.

The following persons have agreed to chaperone this week: Mrs. Joanett Duke, Mrs. Phyllis Petters, Mrs. Jackie Wertman, Mrs. Hilda Edgar, Mrs. Shirley Streets, Mr. Andy Monroe, Mrs. Marvellen Beaty, Mr. Dick Roberts, Mrs. Corky Hershberger, Mrs. Betty Wade, Mrs. Naomi Alwood, and Mrs. Paula Roberts. We thank these persons very much, but we need many more. Anyone interested is asked to call Louise Church at 337-20-40. The hours have been divided so that no one will have to serve more than 3½ hours. Just choose the hours and the day that you would like to serve, and call Mrs. Church.

The opening hours, broken down into segments of chaperone service, are:

Saturday: 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.; 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.; 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.; 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Sunday: 2 pm. to 5:30 p.m.; 5:30 to 9 p.m.

Monday thru Thursday: 6 to 9 p.m.

Friday: 6 to 8:30 p.m.; 8:30 to 11 p.m.

Mr. Herman Collins of Auburn gave us a new 50 star Flag. Several adults visited The Unicorn Sunday, and we would like to thank them for their interest and invite them back.

Membership cards for The Unicorn are now on sale.

Eva Pflaumer

Funeral services were set for Thursday of this week for Mrs. Eva Pflaumer, 89, of R1 Spencerville. She died Monday at Hicksville of complications of an illness of six months. She was a patient in the hospital for two weeks.

Mrs. Pflaumer was born November 13, 1878, in Saint Joe, a daughter of the late William Hoffabaugh and Mary Case Hoffabaugh. She had resided in Spencer Township for 65 years.

Letters to the Editor

Ted Haberkorn,

This letter is regarding the "Around the Town with the Editor" in your publication of August 8, 1968.

First, let us go back a few weeks. The town board received a letter from the local fire department. If you will refer to this letter, you will not see the word "uniforms" as you printed in the paper. This letter stated, by law each town which has a volunteer fire department will allow each man of the department an annual allowance of $50 for clothing. May I repeat the word "uniform" was not in the letter.

The town board was kind enough to reply and stated in it, they felt at the present time with the added expense of a new fire truck for the town, it was unfair to the citizens to add this to the town budget. The fire department members were kind enough to "go along" with the wishes of the board and voted to do so.

I will be the first to agree that the young people of our community is in need of supervised recreation and have for these many years.

But I wish that you would refer back to your files, read the letters from the fire department. These letters requesting consideration on the clothing allowance are not merely requests from the local fire department. In fact, it is not a request, it is a law as laid down by the Indiana Legislature.

I feel an apology is due to the fire department, and this should be published in the Saint Joe News.

Sincerely,
Frank A. Monroe, Chief
Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Dept.

The comments which appeared in the August 8, 1968, "Around the Town" column were based on the discussion which occurred at the August town board meeting, not on any correspondence. Reference to "uniforms" was made originally by the chief of the fire department, not the town board nor this paper. If any apology is due, it is clearly not due from this paper. —Ed.

Mr. Haberkorn
Dear Sir:

I am sure that it is big job to keep up with the address changes of all the service men you are sending your paper to—but still they enjoy news from home and about their friends. So maybe it is worthwhile to put forth a little extra effort, not monetary wise, I'm sure, but personal satisfaction of doing something for someone else. I wish in this way to thank you—much.

Attached is the up to date address of our son, Michael. If you would forward your paper to this address, he will receive it.

Sincerely yours,
Dwight Sebert

Ted—

Will you send Louis the St. Joe News and charge us for it. He got an Associate Degree in Business from Indiana University Business and Technical Studies and is finishing his Bachelor's Degree at Indiana State.

If you are still sending Lynda the paper, you can stop for the winter. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Interdisciplinary Social Studies from San Francisco State and now she and her husband (who has taken a sabbatical leave from his teaching) are touring Europe while he studies. They plan to return in the spring.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Cecil Fitch, one of our county commissioners, didn't get the nomination to run for the job again in the November election. What I say has nothing to do with whether he should or shouldn't have been re-elected. No reflection is intended upon Frank Laub, the nominee. What is intended is to point out the frustrations of an elected official.

From what I've heard from several people, Cecil seems to have been blamed—and still is—for the approval of the county airport a few years ago and the use of county funds for its installation. This despite the fact that there was adequate and legal opportunity to stop the project if the public so desired.

Anyhow, Cecil has apparently borne the brunt of whatever public resentment there is about the airport and it apparently lost him the commissioner's job. Unfortunately, the concern about one matter kept the public from appreciating other constructive efforts by Cecil, including the progressive attitude he—and the other commissioners—have shown toward the mental health program in our county. They were responsible for establishing a fund of $10,000 for this year and a similar amount for next year to financially assist those who require professional help in mental illness but do not have the financial resources to pay for it.

So, during 1968 several people in DeKalb County have had the benefit of treatment and consultation at Oaklawn Psychiatric Center at Elkhart because Cecil and the other commissioners responded to the persistent requests of the DeKalb County Mental Health Association for public assistance.

We are fortunate in our school district to have one of the few "special education" programs in the state; there aren't many licensed instructers for the students in the state who are "slow" for one reason or another. They are not necessarily mental patients; they are for the most part simply in need of special handling to avoid the frustrations and possible personality problems if they cannot keep up with others in a regular graded class.

But if some should prove to be in need of more specialized and professional care, we are fortunate in this county to have funds available to help pay for such professional help when financial aid is needed. At $25 an hour the going rate for psychiatric treatment, it can be very expensive.

—And, you can thank the county commissioners for establishing the "helping hand" in the mental health program. Cecil Fitch is one of those responsible for the progress made in this vital program and deserves a "thank you" for his participation. Even in defeat, he is a winner.

Letter To Editor Points Out---
Extensive Benefits Come From Community Club Membership Fee

Dear Ted: Sept. 23, 1968

As always your cooperation in community efforts is really appreciated. The seed you planted in the St. Joe News about one DeKalb United School . . . seems to be gaining momentum . . . but then too maybe that is what I want to hear.

Main purpose of this letter: "What a $1.00 membership in Spencerville Community Club Means"

1. It means there is a place for Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H, and the Community Club to meet. Also a place for all baton students to practice on Tuesdays after school.

2. It means there is a meeting place for Senior Citizens. The first meeting will be in an afternoon, soon, and if interested contact Mr. or Mrs. Frank Amstutz 238-4509 for details.

3. It means that the knitting classes will begin again on Wednite Oct. 9, at 7:30. It is for all ages, a $1.00 registration fee is necessary, and you provide the materials to work with. Make reservations with Alice Hollobaugh, so she will know how many of each age group to expect. 238-4381.

4. Beginning Nov. 3, after floor is refinished, it means recreation period on Sunday afternoon. Skating for 1-2:30, and usually basketball until 4 p.m. There is 25c admission charge. General recreation on Wednesday night from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. is FREE. Up to 12 years old until 8 p.m., then the older group until closing. There is ping pong, tumbling mats, shuffleboard, basketball and hockey. There is adult supervision, but this is not intended to be a babysitting operation.

5. It means that Frank Sechler is willing to donate Volleyball equipment, if we have a team for "men over 40". The time has not been decided, but contact Jim Hudson, any age, men or women, if you want to play and what time.

6. It means dances for the teen agers. Community Club dances with adult supervision will be provided throughout the year.

7. COMMUNITY HALLOWE'EN PARTY. Oct. 31, 7:00 p.m. Prizes for best costumes, games, contests and refreshments. Record Hop for 9-10 p.m.

Have you joined the Club? Your membership dollar and the proceeds from the annual fish fry defray our expenses, provide the equipment and take care of the upkeep. Your support and participation are encouraged.

Charlotte Hudson, President

Ted, if you feel this should be "a paid political announcement," just say so, as I feel this program should reach as many as possible. It is open to St. Joe residents too, as it is a "Community Club".

United Fund Goal: $80,000

A week which unites most of DeKalb County in a goal for community-wide service has been announced as October 13-19 for a new style "fair share" United Fund campaign.

The announcement comes from Larry Wible, general chairman, and his area campaign council, which includes Don Ruegsegger of Waterloo, George Staley of Garrett, and Don Kelly of Auburn, and carries out the recommendations of the board of directors, R. A. Fink, president.

An all area goal of $80,000 has been recommended by the budget committee and accepted by both the board and the campaign council. A. K. Hahn of Auburn is the committee chairman, and he is supported by Abner Rosenberg of Garrett, Carl Ebert of Waterloo, Robert Blessing of Ashley, Max Doub of Riverdale, and Michael Haggarty and Rev. George Schuette of Auburn.

This one-for-all campaign replaces the repeated drives of years prior to 1961 when, without United Fund, the people were asked to make constant and recurring calls, donate their time unnecessarily, and answer over and over requests for contributions.

Each of the six areas has its active chairman and all are now organizing their volunteers and establishing their own area goals in accordance with the services relevant to their respective neighborhoods.

In the Riverdale area, Ted Haberkorn is the chairman. In Corunna, Mrs. Max (Shirley) Lowe holds the position. Ashley and Smithfield townships are under the leadership of Robert Forrest. Waterloo, with Grant township, has an active Jaycee, John Grimm, for chairman. In Garrett (Keyser and Butler townships), it is the Rev. James Waters, who carried the area to its finest success last year. And in the Auburn area, including Jackson and Union townships, Mr. Wible has consented to double his duties and serve as Auburn area chairman.

The goal for 1968 has been lowered from last year's goal to a more realistic level in relation to subscriptions. However, this has not reduced the need for greater effort. Workers and donors are urged to begin thinking about their contributions to United Fund, in time and in money, to be ready when called upon for this charitable effort.

Past efforts show the following results:

Year	Goal	Subscribed
1961	$7,200	$6,588
1962	69,453	63,290
1963	66,658	63,710
1964	71,453	66,881
1965	71,104	69,565
1966	78,382	72,097
1967	86,160	76,346
1968	80,000

In 1966 the Riverdale area subscribed around $1,300. Last year, due to a late start by the county committee in organizing the area, the total was only around $1,000.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The first meeting of the Ladies Literary Club was held at Platner's Steak House on September 11, 1968, at 6:30 p.m. After grace by Mrs. Weldon Shafer, members enjoyed a delicious dinner.

Following dinner, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, president, called the business meeting to order and led the collect and pledge to the flag. Roll call was answered by every member stating the highlights of the summer. The constitution, club customs, and club courtesy were read aloud. Club was then adjourned.

On September 18, 1968, at 7:30 p.m., the Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Forrest Bevington. The collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

"Living White House" was the topic and was very ably given by Mrs. Carl Carpenter. This lesson presented a most interesting summary of the men and their families who have lived in the White House.

Mrs. Albert Wade was in charge of entertainment and a thought-provoking word scramble game was played.

Roll call was answered by 11 members and a short business meeting was conducted.

The critic, Mrs. Roy Baker, gave a short report from a book of Word and Phrase Origins which was most delightful.

The meeting was then adjourned until October 2 when they will meet with Mrs. Roy Baker.

After adjournment, the hostess served light refreshments.

4-H Auction Climaxes Stock Show At Fair

Above is pictured Van Miller with his reserve grand champion lamb after the animal had been sold in the big auction which is the climax of the stock show at the DeKalb County fair.

Smorgasbord 24th

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank [illegible] kind expressions of sympathy and the helpfulness [illegible] time of the ceremony.

The family of Eva Pittenger

[illegible] cation discourages others from taking part. I don't know. How [illegible] the more respect shown for participants by the schools, the more genuine honor can come [illegible] participation in any event at the fair.

Some of the awards in 4-H are getting almost ridiculous, to the point where I wouldn't be surprised at seeing a ribbon for blowing one's nose. But basically the 4-H program is so good that more participation ought to be encouraged.

I'd like to see the fair become more like the old fashioned ones, where Mom has a pie or cake entered in the baking contest all Moms, not just those on the farm and kids from all families are showing their abilities competively in whatever type of competition may appeal to them. Dads could compete in hobbies and crafts or perhaps other types of competition.

Maybe that chance is already available, technically speaking. But we aren't doing much to promote the overall popularity of the fair for all people. One of the basic opportunities for such promotion, as far as I am concerned, is by closing school Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of fair week and actively encouraging students to participate.

At a time when the temptation to use spare time in something less than a constructive manner is evident--if the time is used at all we seem to be missing the boat in not utilizing the county fair to its fullest possibilities.

What do you think?

—End of sermon.

Effective Propaganda

Republican gubernatorial candidate Edgar Whitcomb hit the nail on the head a couple of weeks ago at a news conference held at the country club at Auburn one afternoon. He said something like this: "The Democrats have been successful for many years in propagandizing to their benefit, making their mistakes and errors appear to be attributable to the Republicans and making themselves appear to be the only ones interested in the public welfare."

It has always been a puzzle to me how so many people could be so effectively hypnotized just by words, how they could so often overlook comparing the promises of Democrat leadership with the results of such leadership. For many years leadership in the Democrat party (and I purposely use the word "leadership" because there are rank and file Democrats who have not been particularly happy with their leadership's philosophy in the past several years) has been able to make the Republican party appear the "war" party while Democrats are "peace" advocates. How could this be done when history shows Democrat presidents usually in office when we have gotten into wars, police action or whatever name you want to call our meddling in foreign affairs? In 1964, the Republican candidate was crucified by members of his own party because Democrat leadership was so successful in scare tactics, including the "war" label, in the campaign against Barry Goldwater. The amazing thing is that Goldwater was honest enough to answer questions most of the time with something more than vague generalities. No frilly campaign promises came from his type of candidacy. He was swamped in defeat, because he was basically honest, so much so in fact that Democrats could dig up little, if any, personal "dirt" with which to fight him. But that did not stop them from deceiving the public into believing he was something terrible. Meanwhile, their candidate said nothing about his views on foreign involvement, was elected, then proceeded to follow the very same approach which his party used as a basis for a scare campaign against his opponent!

Democrats have been successful in labeling anyone who questions the degree of certain legislation, such as civil right legislation, as "anti-negro," "against the minority groups," "against the old people," or against whatever goal the legislation may be directed toward. Democrat leadership has been successful in hypnotizing the American public into emotional responses that have little to do with stable approaches to government. Democrat leadership has condoned the growing tendency toward mob violence to gain concessions for one group or another. But now even Democrat Presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey is speaking strongly against the threat of "anarchy" at the hands of a small number of agitators. This is the same Humphrey whose "liberal" philosophy led him in the past year or so to say that he could understand why these people were demonstrating, that he probably would, too, if he were in their place. What more provocation could a potential demonstrator and rioter have than such words from the Vice-President of the United States? He was not alone. President Lyndon Johnson was making similar comments himself. And he, too, is now making strong statements from the other side of his mouth, now that the "Pandora's box" has been thrown open under Democrat leadership and our country is rocked by civil disorder which worries all conscientious Americans regardless of party affiliation.

If the charge of deceit and deception directed toward Democrat leadership is unfair, untrue or unjustified, then there is only one other explanation for the circumstances resulting from that leadership. That explanation is that Democrat leadership is so unaware of human nature, so unaware of things as they are and blinded by their own glowing promises of things as they think they ought to be ... that they are not entitled to support from those whose interests they supposedly represent. And their promises of a utopian society are a cancer in American politics. Democrat leadership has betrayed the American people, even its own party members.

United Fund To Organize Locally

by Bola Cooper

"Somebody needs You!" This is the caption line of a striking and informative four-page brochure now ready for distribution by United Fund of DeKalb County.

Among those "somebodies" are boys and girls, soldiers and sailors, the ill and the handicapped, in the Riverdale area and all over DeKalb County.

Riverdale people, like most DeKalb County people, are very generous when they understand the need. They want the pains of cancer and arthritis eased. They want mental patients treated. They want healthy boys and girls trained for later responsibilities. They want their soldiers and sailors reinforced in spirit, the blood and safety programs continued, the "down and outers" lifted.

To answer this need, to get the organizations set in motion to fulfill this need, a gathering together of all volunteer workers can well mean the difference between total victory and partial success.

This gathering together for inspiration, know-how, and the handing out of workers' kits, is to be held at DeKalb Central High School between Auburn and Waterloo, on Thursday evening, October 10.

This will be a 7:30 meeting, not a dinner as originally planned. The change was made in the expectation that more volunteers will be able to attend at the 7:30 hour.

A sound and color film is to be shown, and a speaker from Fort Wayne will make a short talk. The film, "The Day Love Died," is made available by courtesy of Fort Wayne United Fund.

Persuasive workers is what the Riverdale area and all other area of the county will need. The October 10 meeting is tremendously vital as a success factor.

Volunteers are now being enrolled in the Riverdale area of Concord, Spencer, and Newville townships. They will meet Friday of this week at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in assisting in the drive is asked to attend, even though they may not have been contacted previously.

The week of October 13 is United Fund week in DeKalb County—every call made, every subscription to be reported by the end of that week.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ted,

Having read your last article concerning Cecil Fitch, our outgoing county commissioner: In my opinion all elected officers should do what the majority of the voters wish them to do. Whether this suits the opinion of the official should have nothing to do with how the official makes his decisions. The official should represent the voters as the voters wish. When any official becomes so certain that his ideas are correct and best he is placing himself in a class with Jesus Christ who, in my humble opinion, was the one and only man who could foretell what was best for the future of mankind.

I have a lot of respect for Cecil, and believe that he acted conscientiously, but I think he made a wrong decision when he failed to follow popular opinion.

Deaf Man Perfects Tiny Hearing Aid
OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing—with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to A. J. Wilder, 809 Steuben Street, Wausau, Wis. 54401. (Adv.)

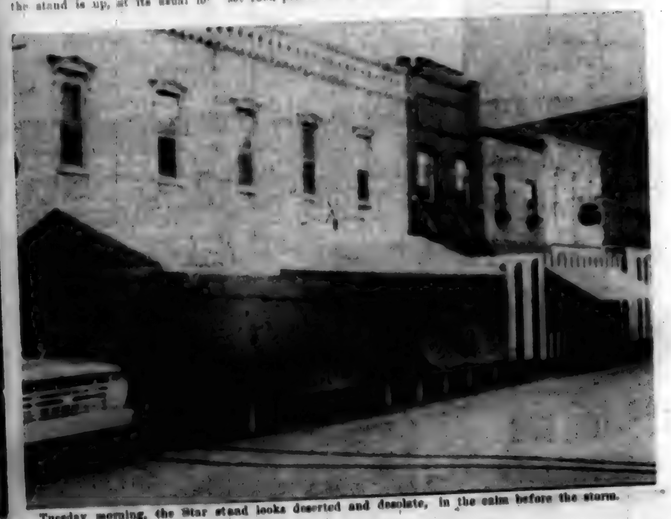
Fair Week Is Busy Time For Lions, OES Members

For two organizations in the Riverdale area, fair time means lots of work concentrated into the space of six days. Although the fair runs for but five days, Tuesday through Saturday, the members of the Saint Joe Lions Club and the Spencerville Order of the Eastern Star must begin their labors Monday afternoon and evening.

The Lions Club has operated a very successful lunch stand at the fair for many years, while the Star women have raised funds with a coffee and donut stand.

The above photo shows Bob Wilder, Lion president, in the truck, and Karl Hart, Cliff Bullow and Frank Laub loading framework and equipment Monday of last week at 6:00 pm. The equipment was stored in the Spencerville Community Building. Star members and husbands were doing a similar task with their equipment elsewhere.

Two hours later, with 20 to 25 Lions Club members working, the stand is up, at its usual location, and the board of directors holds a meeting on the spot to set food prices for the fair week of business.



Tuesday morning, the Star stand looks deserted and desolate, in the calm before the storm.

OCTOBER

Meanwhile, at the Lions stand Tuesday morning, Gene Casebere (background), Walter Morr (center) and Bill Staman do some last minute arranging of equipment and supplies.

Wednesday noon the Star stand is doing business, but still not up to the crowds that ultimately stand two and three deep waiting for the stand's tasty offerings.

At the Lion stand Frank Laub, left, takes time from his farming chores, and campaigning as a candidate for county commissioner, to fry hamburgers, along with Virgil Gerig, a long-time member of the club who labored many hours despite "bum" legs. (One more photo on page seven)

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Newville Township Homemakers Club met Wednesday afternoon, September 11, in the home of Zella Collins. Her cohostess was Elsie Meek.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Shirley Spall. Roll call was answered by an interesting variety of happy school memories. Happy birthday was sung to Annabelle Culler and Charlotte Kimmel. For devotions, Bertha Ricketts read the selection, "What Do You Think of Christ?", followed by prayer. The history of "The Old Oaken Bucket" was read, then all sang the song.

The lesson, "Creative Meals," was presented by Zella Collins and Lucile Nelson. An oral quiz tested knowledge and importance of protein foods. Lesson leaflets distributed contained a variety of new recipes and time saving tricks. Recipe sheets from the former tasting bee were available. Dorine Singer reported highlights of U.S.A. Day September 5 at the A.C.W.W. Triennial Conference held at East Lansing, Michigan. Bernice Miller completed a cancer report.

New officers elected to serve in 1969 were:

Zella Collins, president.

Freda Engle, 1st vice president.

Several school class photos were shown. Craft displayed was a table service carrier made from colorful washcloths. A variety of garden produce articles was auctioned by Freda Engle. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. Two children and one guest, Iva Conine, were present.

Articles of children's clothing may be taken to the Needlework Guild Committee before October 5. The October 9 meeting will be held in the Newville United Methodist Church basement. The guest club will be Town and Country.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Myrtle Pugsley September 20, 1968, with 11 members and three visitors attending.

The meeting was opened by the president, Catherine Bowser, with the reciting of the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Gertrude Borthwick, including many interesting points on "The Riches of the Bible," closing devotions with prayer.

Mrs. Borthwick also gave the history of the song of the month and led in singing of the old favorite song, "The Old Oaken Bucket."

Doris Yeiser gave a report on the presidents' meeting she attended.

Roll call was answered by giving a menu for a quick meal.

The secretary's report was given and accepted as read. Several bills were brought on the floor and ordered paid.

Under new business, our faithful member, Gertrude Borthwick, reported she had taken care of "The Ditty Bag For the Vietnam Boys." She was sincerely thanked by the members of the club.

The ways and means committee reported on the rug raffle we are having and also reported on the amount that they have taken in this year.

Election of officers was then in order and resulted as follows:

Cora Funk, president.

Eva Clauser, 1st vice president.

Pat Roberts, 2nd vice president.

Doris Yeiser, secretary.

Catherine Bowser, treasurer.

The meeting was then closed with the singing of the prayer song.

The hostess served a lovely lunch and much visiting was done over the coffee cups.

Cong. Adair Reviews Efforts

With Congressman E. Ross Adair running for re-election, readers may be interested in knowing what he has done in legislation relative to the important issues of the times.

"In my continuing effort to keep the people of the Fourth District of Indiana informed of legislative activities here in the Congress, I am issuing this second roundup of the legislation I have introduced since the 90th Congress convened over a year and a half ago. Below listed in brief are most of my legislative proposals for your information.

"Farmers — Again introduced legislation to free farmers from government control, H. R. 185. Also introduced legislation to protect our farmers from cheap foreign imports, H. R. 11553; to limit the import action of dairy products, H. R. 9482; to limit the importation of certain meat and meat products.

"Health — Sponsored House Concurrent Resolution 601 expressing the sense of Congress that certain meat imports be prohibited until the exporting country satisfied the President that the livestock was free of hoof and mouth disease. Co-sponsored H. R. 11837 to protect the right of our people to use certain vitamins and food supplements without the use of a prescription.

"Riots — Again introduced legislation to put a stop to professional agitators traveling about the country, H. R. 184. A similar bill passed the House last year and is still languished in the Senate. Later, this proposal was incorporated into Civil Rights legislation and is now part of Public Law 90-284.

"Social Security—My bill, H. R. 7028, to raise the income limitation to $3,000 was again introduced. Unfortunately, the Democrat Congress only increased the ceiling from $1,500 to $1,684.

"Panama Canal — Introduced House Concurrent Resolution 418 expressing the sense of the Congress that we should not abandon the Panama Canal.

"Communism — Introduced legislation in the form of H. R. 12919, designed to unmask the many Communist-front organizations that are seeking to destroy our society.

"Prayer in Schools — Again introduced my legislation designed to amend the United States Constitution to modify the Supreme Court decision to permit voluntary prayer in schools. House Joint Resolution 291.

"Housing — Proposed the chartering of a National Home Ownership Foundation in order to have private industry provide the low cost housing we need for many of our citizens, H. R. 8821. This concept was later incorporated in the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968.

"Unemployment — Introduced legislation to provide a tax credit for employers who provide the expense of job training programs in order to reduce unemployment, H. R. 5583.

"Taxes and Moving Expenses — Introduced bill to liberalize the present law in order that employees do not suffer losses when moving and are reimbursed by their employers, H. R. 5699 and H. R. 11293.

"Congressional Reform — Introduced House Resolution 350 establishing a Select Committee on Standards and Conduct. A bill similar to mine did pass and such a committee is at work and has reported to the Congress. The recommendations of the committee as to standards of conduct for House Members was recently passed by an overwhelming vote.

"Uniform Time for Indiana — Introduced H. R. 8113 in order that certain parts of the State would have the option of choosing advanced time."

Saturday's "madhouse" atmosphere is seen at the Lions stand in the above photo with people waiting patiently for sandwiches, soup, pie and beverages.

FARM BUREAU BOARD

President Robert Bleck presided and county Women Leader Edna Perkins gave devotions at the regular meeting of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors Monday evening, September 16.

Paul Glenger, area field man, encouraged enthusiasm over Indiana Farm Bureau's golden anniversary which will be celebrated in 1969.

Mr. Glenger also passed out material explaining county soil surveys.

Plans were completed for a public "Meet Your Candidate Meeting" to be held in the court house assembly room Friday, October 4, at 8 p.m. All district and county candidates of both parties, whose names will appear on the ballot in November, will be invited to attend. This is a rare opportunity for the voters of the county to see, hear and question these office seekers.

Farm Bureau urges voters to oppose pari mutual betting in Indiana. The issue will be presented on a separate ballot, not the voting machine, in November.

The newly appointed 1969 Membership Committee is Bruce Provines, chairman; Dale Armstrong; Mary Carpenter; Floyd Pfierman; Merle Wagner; Mazie Myers; Robert Bleck and Edna Perkins.

The State Convention will be November 10, 11 and 12. DeKalb County's attendance quota is 26.

The Policy Development Committee will meet October 17 to prepare the policies on which the delegates will vote on October 21.

The Annual Meeting will be held in the court house assembly room October 24 at 8 p.m. Resolutions will be read, annual reports made and a state speaker will address the audience.

Plans for the fair were reviewed.

Carl Diehl will have devotions in October.

Dear ——

Great news this week: Jim Miller is due to be discharged October 17. Jim told Mom and Dad to stop writing to him, the Saint Joe News has been discontinued, and his address has been lifted, so it won't be long now before "Toehead" can stop in at Maxton's and buy a car from "Gerb."

Joe Creager returned home August 20. Sorry we're late with your welcome-home, Joe.

Max Pierson should be discharged sometime this month, but I'm not sure about the date.

Thursday, October 10, Mike Loy will make 1st Lt.

Bruce Peters of near Spencerville and his buddy Joe Young of Huntertown returned home from the Navy Friday, September 27. Bruce has gone to work at the Harvester and Joe is working at the G. E.

It's nice to be writing about guys coming home instead of going away for a change, but I'd still like to get some letters from all you men sitting there in your cozy foxholes doing nothing with all that time on your hands!

Where are you now?
Where have you been?
What are you doing?

Let us know. We're not curious, just nosy!!

John Crothers has set his pen to paper again in honor of you guys, and has produced a song, to which he attaches this note: "As an old artillery man and a gun pointer on the old twelve inch rifles, I dedicate this little song to the artillery men of today. Here goes!"

"Artillery! Artillery! With dirt behind their ears.
They can lick their weight in wildcats, and drink their weight in beer.
"The Infantry, the Air Corps, the gosh darn Engineers;
They could never lick the Artillery in a hundred thousand years."

Way Opened For Annexation Of Riverdale By Central United School District

by The Editor

Two significant meetings were held this week concerning school matters in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District.

Monday night the school board of the eastern district met in regular session. One of the items on the agenda was the discussion of the feasibility of uniting with the DeKalb Central District. With approximately 30 or 35 persons present in addition to the board, the view was expresed by the board majority that such a merger was not desirable. However, willingness was expressed to release Concord, Newville and Spencer townships to the central district if the latter wished to annex the three townships.

The eastern board had received a letter from the central district board asking that the latter be informed of the eastern board's action in the matter through a representative or representatives at the central board's meeting Tuesday. The superintendent and attorney were authorized to serve as such representatives.

A rather startling opening of the business session came when, by a vote of three to one and one abstaining, a motion passed as follows: "I move that we table any further consideration of sidewalks for the Riverdale School center until after such time as the question of the site for the proposed junior-senior high school is settled." The motion was made by Wendell Cooper and seconded by Sydney Long.

That motion established the mood of the board majority and a critical attitude toward the Riverdale area was apparent for the remainder of the meeting.

Tuesday night, the central board met with eastern superintendent Kenneth Cole and attorney H. Charles Winans, and several persons from Concord and Spencer townships, including board members Lynn Fisher and Harold Kagey. Following a discussion in which all parties participated, the central board voted to prepare all pertinent information concerning the annexing of the three townships in question, popularly identified as the "Riverdale" school district.

A committee was appointed by the central board to gather the information, assisted by Mr. Cole and Mr. Winans. Tentative plans call for possible public meetings in the future at which the necessary annexation resolution can be discussed to allow the public to understand the entire situation. The desire was expressed mutually by the central board and the group representing the Riverdale area that every effort be made to inform the public about the matter to avoid any entanglements which might occur if action to annex were undertaken prematurely.

Two points were emphasized by the central board, in connection with possible annexation. One was that the central district has planned for a junior high school on its present high school site and will continue to plan for all junior high students to be transported to that site, should annexation be accepted by participating areas. However, for at least three years, Riverdale area junior high students would of necessity be housed in the present old building at Saint Joe, until a new facility could be built at the central site.

The other point was that "no one's taxes are going to be lowered." This statement was made because of an erroneous impression that merging or annexation would reduce the tax rate. It was explained by Ted Haberkorn, among the group attending the meeting, that the reference to lower taxes which has appeared in The Saint Joe News referred to the obligations connected with construction obligations, that the greater number of persons bearing the cost burden would reduce the cost per person.

Enrollment figures presented at the meeting showed that under annexation, a high school of grades 9 through 12 would total over 1400 students. A high school made up of grades 10 through 12 would number over 900.

The central board showed concern over the motivation of the citizens of the Riverdale area in apparently desiring to unite with the central school. The question was asked if it was a sincere concern for education or just an anticipated means of getting into a new school with the expectation of paying less money. Paul Fish of Spencerville and Mr. Haberkorn pointed out two citizen movements at Riverdale, prior to county reorganization, wherein the then functioning local school board was asked on one occasion to increase the building fund levy from 50 cents to $1.00. On a second occasion, just before reorganization when the Riverdale school board removed the cumulative levy, a group of citizens strongly urged reinstatement of the levy and the board complied with the request.

The two incidents were mentioned to illustrate that the Riverdale area has had active people in school matters, even to the point of asking for tax increases for better school facilities.

Mr. Winans reviewed the process by which annexation can be carried out by mutual agreement between the two school corporations. Attorney Donald Mefford participated in behalf of the central board in legal questions.

The total result of the entire situation is that the central district school board has taken the initiative in obtaining all pertinent facts in the situation, acting not only in behalf of the patrons of the central district but also in behalf of the residents of Concord, Newville and Spencer townships. A thorough program of information concerning possible annexation is being planned by the central board, a procedure carried out in that district a few years ago when consolidation of the Auburn, Waterloo and Ashley high schools was carried out with an almost unbelievable lack of friction and contention. The same degree of efficiency was evident in the district's further construction of a new school in a central location.

United Fund Drive Next Week

The Riverdale area, along with all of DeKalb County, will be asked to respond to the 1968 United Fund appeal for funds during the week of October 13 through 19. The goal for the county this year is $40,000.

12 fund raising campaigns are combined into one effort under "The United Way." Agencies which receive support include Cancer, Mental Health, Arthritis, Cerebral Palsy, Heart, Red Cross, U.S.O., Salvation Army, Wee Haven School, Y.M.C.A., Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Emphasis is placed on the use of a "fair share" pledge by contributors. A "fair share" is one hour's pay per month or 1 per cent a month for those on salary. Contributions can be in one lump sum or in installments. Where offered by employers, payroll deductions can be arranged.

One of the benefits to donors which is often overlooked is that a $25 contribution allows the donor to designate two students, including members of the family, to receive YMCA memberships worth $5 each, applicable through high school. With an increasing number of families participating in a family program at the "Y," the United Fund "bonus" is a convenient way to provide such participation, not known to hold true in any other United Fund in the country.

A $50 contribution brings four student memberships and one adult membership.

An open invitation is extended to families in all areas of DeKalb County to use "Y" facilities at Auburn, now in their 52nd year of service. Swim classes, gym classes, contests for both boys and girls, family nights, business men's gym classes and luncheons, women's morning and evening classes and many other activities are a part of the program offered at the Auburn Y.M.C.A.

When United Fund calls on the residents of the Riverdale area, they are asked to remember the "fair share" approach to giving, and also the extra benefit to the donor with a $25 or more donation in the form of Y.M.C.A. student and adult memberships as described above.

Effective Propaganda - II

The relationship between the federal government and the people of this country has deteriorated to a demoralizing degree under liberal Democrat leadership. The President of the United States cannot be believed much of the time, nor can those who work under the present administration in the various departments of government. Few average citizens in this country today accept without question statements of the present administration. Why? The answer is — Democrat leadership has not been honest with the citizenry of this country. If a lie will serve the purpose sought by that leadership, a lie is used. This is not just speculation; it is a statement of fact, substantiated for instance by an article in the current issue of Reader's Digest. But it doesn't take an article in a national publication to prove the point. All it takes is a little thought by the average person who is pretty much capable of knowing whether or not he trusts his government and its leadership

"The end justifies the means" has been the logic of Democrat leadership for many years. Such a philosophy has been carried out, overriding the objection of conscientious minds, because of the promise of "getting" something. Such a philosophy, practiced by Democrat leadership for many years under "liberal" motivations, has appealed to the selfish nature of the average citizen. Honest as he is, John Q. Public seldom can overcome the temptation of an extra buck in his pocket, or some other "ideal" benefit, which Democrat leadership has placed before the eyes of the laboring man, the elder citizen, and the welfare family. Little regard is evident for the important factor: is the benefit deserved and proper? At the same time, such Democrat leadership has successfully propagandized against the Republican party (or anyone who questions the system) so as to infer that objectors or doubters are against the beneficiaries and do not care about the interests of the "common man." Republicans generally have been categorized in the public eye as "against" the public good because they do not promise all things to all people. Democrat leadership has made a mockery of the cause of freedom by promoting a so-called better life through government. It has successfully made government the master of people by appealing to the natural desire for material comfort. The basic Republican philosophy that government is the tool of the people has been virtually smothered into oblivion, ridiculed in its desire to allow people to work for their own improvement according to the dictates and desires of their own conscience. Such an approach has been scoffed at as unthinkable, impossible, cruel and heartless —and the public has accepted such Democrat propaganda almost without question because of the "goodies" promised for all.

There is, however, an indication from time to time that some Democrat minds see the fallacy of the handout system which their party has fostered for many years. They will no doubt seek to capitalize on a "new" approach as they note public opinion changes. But it is not a new concept or philosophy; it is the same basic philosophy preached by the Republican party for many years. It is the only philosophy appropriate for a truly free society, but Democrat leadership has ridiculed it and smothered it successfully with the promise of material wealth and the almighty dollar, whether deserved or not.

One of the things which voters should keep in mind come election time is whether or not the general leadership of the political parties can be trusted. Past experience has shown that Democrat leadership is deceptive and deceitful, exhibiting contempt for the judgment and intelligence of the "common man" whom the Democrat party has wooed lo these many years. Despite the fact that Democrat leadership has been as rich as you could find, what with the Roosevelts, the Kennedys and the Johnsons in the past generation or so, that party has been successful in selling itself as the champion of the "common man", as opposed to the implied image of the Republican party as controlled by big business, out to squeeze the blood from the little man. The success of Democrat leadership in hypnotizing people is evident in that several of the Democrat candidates and potential candidates in the past several years have been millionnaires. Is a Democrat millionnaire more aware of the "common man" and his problems than a Republican millionnaire?????

The American people have a choice November 5 of electing to the Presidency a Democrat who has been a part of a program of deception, a part of a program of promises which are foolhardy and cannot be fulfilled, a part of a program of deceit which, instead of expanding liberties for all has curtailed liberties and, indeed, made puppets of the very ones who supposedly are being championed. Or the American people can elect a Republican, who has made an effort to overcome past personal and political mistakes, who has been honest enough thus far in his campaign not to promise everything to all people, who has the background of being an active worker for his party and worked for the party and its candidate faithfully in 1964, who as a Republican has a heritage of basic down-to-earth political philosophy. No, he is not perfect; but ask yourself — can I believe him?

For those who may be offended that the third candidate, George Wallace, is not considered in these paragraphs, I ask this question: are you for him because of the positive approach he presents for all people, or are you for him just to get even with somebody?

Letters to the Editor

Waterloo, Ind.
Oct. 7, 1968

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

May I personally thank you for your article in your paper about my husband. It is good to know that he still has friends that think so highly of him.

I know in my heart that the six years Cecil has been in office he has sincerely and honestly done what he knew was best for all concerned. He believed in his work and has put more hours into it than any other commissioner we have had. And he wasn't afraid to say "no" if the occasion presented itself regardless of who it was, if it was for the good of all—not of just one.

Thank you again on your article. Would you happen to have an extra copy to send to our son? His address is: Richard Fitch 6220 E 11th St., Anthony Apt. 111, Indianapolis Ind. 46219.

Our hopes and prayers rest in Bob and Frank, and hope Herman goes along with them. (If they get elected—we hope!)

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Cecil Fitch

P.S. Cecil has worked so long and so hard for Mental Health, hardly misses a meeting, regardless of where they were. That at least he and Bob accomplished.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

There was understandable concern this week in Memorial Hospital circles about the erroneous impression which could be arrived at from first news reports of the cause of death of young Scott Boger. It was possible to jump to the conclusion that someone had been negligent in handling the matter. Rola Cooper called this week to say that the Auburn Star had the accurate account in its columns, and that all concerned, including the parents, had no doubts that every precaution was taken and every possible effort was made to save the boy's life. It was just one of those things where the unexpected—like an upset stomach—created insurmountable odds in treating a physical impairment.

No "pain killer" was used in treating the boy. Ether was the anesthetic used, considered to be the safest such agent.

I was glad to hear someone else make the first comment about women's current shoe fashions. Last week Chicago radio WGN's Eddie Hubbard asked his listeners what they thought about the low heel style now the "rage" for the ladies. He didn't like them—and I'll go along with that. How anybody can call those big heeled clod-hoppers "attractive" is beyond me. Naturally, the men who called in said short skirts are o.k.—and I'll go along with that. All except one said high heels ought to come back. Most of the ladies took a conservative view of the skirt length question, about half of them not particularly approving short skirts. But most of them said they preferred high heels to the flats now being foisted on the females. And they were disturbed that they had to look far and wide to find the heel heights they want.

So, a lot of people are awaiting "The Return of the High Heel" —or—"The Eyes Have It" — or —"You Have To Look At It From Every Ankle."

Incidentally, between Wally Phillips and Hubbard, WGN has the best one-two morning punch for entertaining listening you can find. And that is not intended to detract from their afternoon and evening programming which is tops, too. How come I know? That's the station that broadcasts he Cubs' games!

Smorgasbord 24th

Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Church will host a Smorgasbord Harvest Supper Thursday evening, October 24, at the church. The supper will be served starting at 5:00 p.m. Voluntary donations will take the place of a set price for the supper.

The church is located north of Saint Joe on County Road 59 at the intersection with County Road 40.

Club Formed For 'Oldsters'

The formation of a new program in the activities of the Spencerville Community Club has been announced. With the need felt for some activities for the older residents of the community, the first get-together of the "Fifty-Plus Club" will be held Thursday, October 24, 1968, at the Community Building in Spencerville. A pot luck supper is planned for 6 p.m. Coffee will be furnished.

Those who attend should bring their own table service, basket—and friends.

A good evening of entertainment is being planned.

Scouts Win At Auburn Camporee

The two Boy Scout Troops at Saint Joe and Spencerville participated in a camporee last week end at Auburn. The Saint Joe Troop came out with a first place in camping for the Flaming Arrow Patrol and second place for the Panther Patrol. The troop received first place for its swinging gateway and fence.

The Spencerville troop won a second place in activities for one of its patrols and a third place for both patrols in overall camporee.

Spencerville Scoutmaster Bob Jacobson reported that those who participated from his troop were Randy Richmond, Art and Joe Hausbach, Ed and Donnie Shilling, Loren Fisher, George Carper, Keith and Dennis Melchi, Tom and Tim Hollabaugh, Eric Jacobson, Jerry Markle, Dick Kagey and Jay DePriest. Assistant Scoutmaster is Dennis Hart.

Frank Sechler's troop activities for the camporee are reported as follows by troop scribe Craig Sechler:

"Last week end the Scouts had a camporee at Eckhart Park in Auburn. It was held the 11th, 12th and 13th. The Scout troops from the Pokagon District participated.

"We arrived Friday evening and set up camp.

"Saturday morning's activities were demonstrations of Pioneering, First Aid, Physical Fitness, Soil Conservation and Dutch Oven Cooking. From 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 was gateway construction.

"Saturday afternoon's activities were challenge events, where patrols from troops could challenge each other to contests. Whoever won the most patrol flags would receive a prize. The contests were Fire By Friction, Physical Medley, Flagpole Raising, Rat Trap, Compass and Flint and Steel.

"After the events, we had dinner. The Panther Patrol had an official as guest for supper and the Flaming Arrow had one for lunch.

"The evening's activity was a counsel fire and skits. Our skit had Leroy Dermott tell a story. We also were entertained by two Indian dancers.

"Sunday morning we received our awards.

"The members who participated were Victor Dermott, Leroy Dermott, Steve Hood, Tim Koehert, Jim Rediger, Jerry Culbertson, Ron Knisely, Mark Diemer, Kim Bowser, Roger Evans, Ron and Rick Ortis, Darrell Wolfe, and Tony and Craig Sechler.

"Scouts have just purchased three new tents from funds they have raised in the community by various projects. Currently they are selling calendars as a money making project.

"Eight boys from the troop attended the new Little Turtle Scout Camp for a week this summer.

"Six new boys have come into the troop in the last 30 days bringing the total to 17 registered Scouts. Meetings are held on the first and third Mondays at 7:30 p.m. in the Lutheran Church basement. Any boy who has reached the age of 11 is eligible to join."

Alertness Brings Special Award

A special award was presented last month to Harold Yelser of Yelser's Standard Service in Saint Joe, shown above in a familiar pose as he services a customer's car. Harold won a plaque, bearing two rare silver dollars, two Kennedy half dollars and a specially minted commemorative coin set in an automotive design, from the Gates Rubber Company. The award was given for his alertness in observing a worn fan belt in the company representative's car during an unannounced visit at the local station. Such "mystery cars" travel around the country regularly checking on service personnel and their thoroughness. Each "mystery car" has a worn fan belt—and Harold caught this one to earn the award by offering to replace the worn belt.

Finishing Touches For New Location

Elwood Savage is shown above giving the Saint Joe Beauty Salon an outside coat of paint prior to its opening in the next few days. Owner Kay Smith is moving her shop from the Smith residence to the above store building on the main street.

AUBURN GARDEN CLUB

The Audubon Garden Club held its October meeting Friday, October 11, 1968, in the Saint Joe area.

After a "woods walk," the members enjoyed their sack lunches at Wild Cherry Park.

The club commends the Saint Joe community for maintaining such a well equipped, clean, attractive park.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. C. E. Mavis and Mrs. Marion Peckhart of Auburn, both former residents of this community.

The Unicorn

by Loretta Ley

We are no longer in desperate need of a plumber! Now we're just in desperate need.

After exploring all local sources (Saint Joe, Spencerville, Auburn, Butler), we finally had to import a plumber from Fort Wayne at $10.50 per hour. But we are relieved to know that our second restroom will be in working order this week.

Chaperon chairman this week is Louise Church. Thanks are extended to: Ruth Stiver, Leon Church, Albert Wade, Hilda Edgar, Dorothy Simanton, Harriett Baker, Gertrude Reinhart, Maryellen Beaty, and Carlos and Louise Church.

Thanksgiving is family time, and with visiting teens in the area on Thanksgiving Day, it would be nice to have The Unicorn open. If anyone would like to chaperon for one hour on the holiday, please phone one of the chaperon chairmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Berkmier solved our heating problem for awhile. Saturday we hauled in four truck loads of logs for use in the furnace.

We would be very happy to give your old coat racks a nice place to hang around!

The Unicorn received a very generous cash donation from a wonderful person who wishes to remain anonymous. "Thank you very much."

Saturday, Ted Haberkorn cleaned the street and yard around The Unicorn, and washed the windows inside and out. Thanks, Ted.

Don't forget Jett's Fine Pizza carry-out service at The Unicorn. Phone 337-3035. Betty Brown says, "Delicious!" Mable Loucks says, "Great." Jackie Wertman says, "Marvelous!" Everybody loves The Unicorn's Pizza!!!

Hoodelmier Ditch Cleaning Biggest In History

County surveyor Arnold Milks informed The News this week that the reclearing now in progress on the Hoodelmier ditch north of Saint Joe is the largest such job ever contracted in DeKalb County. The 14 mile ditch, a portion shown above from State Road 1 just south of the junction with State Road 8, is being reworked at a cost of $85,000. Mike Klink of Waterloo is the contractor, using two large dragline machines plus other equipment. The ditch runs through Grant, Union and Wilmington townships and into the Saint Joe River west of Newville. Per acre assessments run from 31 cents up to $11.46. The highest individual assessment is near $4,000, according to the surveyor. Work began in the fall of 1967, stopped through winter, then began again this summer. A 1¼ to 1 slope is being utilized to hold the ditch bank.

Letters to the Editor

Ted,

Our newly-organized troop is, of course, in need of several things. However, one thing we would like to have first is an American flag and standard, so that we may use it in our meeting place for flag ceremonies, and for our troop to carry in parades. Eventually, we would like a troop flag, too. Do you suppose if you would make our wishes known in your paper, there would be some organization or individual that might donate a flag to our troop? If so, would you please write up such an article for us (you can do it better than I). Thanks.

Lois Hook
Spencerville Junior Girl Scout Troop

P. S. If there is a charge for this, please send me the bill.

No charge — and your words are as good as ours. —Ed.

Hello Ted,

In the last couple issues of the St. Joe News, I've seen some quotations from some of Richard Nixon's speeches. I don't think a newspaper should be partial to candidates. I'm sending you some literature on my candidate and with "I think" one of his best sayings. Hope everybody in St. Joe is fine. Also will send you a few pictures of some of last night's disturbances in Washington.

Yours truly
Richard Beebe

Enclosed with Richard's letter is a folder titled "Wallace Can Win" with the following paragraph circled, a quotation from a Wallace speech:

"Some large newspapers have referred to my supporters as 'rednecks.' We ARE 'rednecks.' And we got that way from doing a good honest day's work in the sun."

Also enclosed is the October 9, 1968, front page of the Washington, D.C., "Evening Star" with the headline: "House Members Are Locked In." Two photographs show a nighttime disturbance. However, the news story reporting the incident is not included, so it is difficult to determine what the disturbance was about, who caused it, etc. As for the use of candidates' quotations, newspapers are universally listed in directories with their political affiliation. The News is Republican in politics and supports the candidates whose declarations and efforts are in support of traditional Republican philosophy, including respect for law and order. Our "quarrel" with Mr. Wallace's stressing of law and order is in that we are not certain as to how he would seek to achieve it and who he thinks is largely to blame for the breakdown and who should be punished. We are afraid that, in view of his past record in the state of Alabama, a negroe's life would not be worth a nickel in the United States under his presidency—and this is not the kind of approach we believe in, in striving for "law and order." We find little compassion indicated in conjunction with the firmness of Mr. Wallace's campaign. We do find such compassion indicated in the candidacy of Mr. Nixon. As for Mr. Humphrey, it is his "liberal" type of philosophy which has allowed lack of respect for law and order to flourish today.

Thanks for sharing your opinions with us. —Ed.

Have You Forgotten United Fund???

When we were the political slaves of King George, and wanted to be free, we called the maxim that "all men are created equal" a self-evident truth, but now, when we have grown fat, and have lost all dread of being slaves ourselves, we have become so greedy to be MASTERS that we call the same maxim a "self-evident lie."

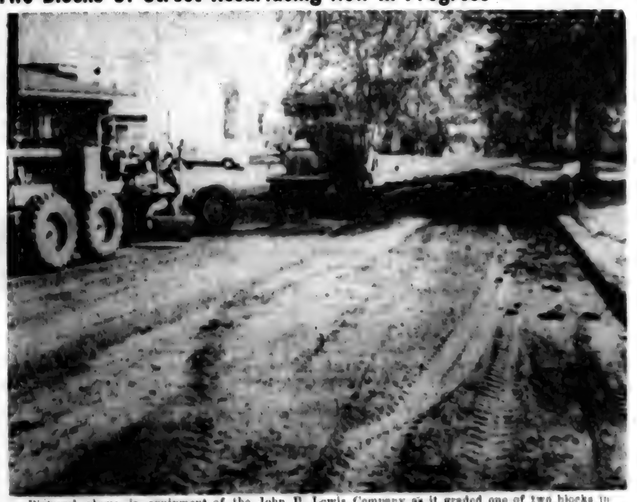
46,887 Bushels - That's A Lot Of Pickles

Pickle harvesting time is now a thing of the past, but the work of processing the harvest will continue through the winter as usual at Sechler's pickle plant just north of Saint Joe. With a total of 46,887 bushels of pickles brought to the docks this year, even "the boss" was needed for manual labor in order to get daily deliveries sorted. Above is "the boss," Frank Sechler, right, helping Glenn Church, left, and Charles Arnett at one of three sorting tables, or graders, during after dark operations at the plant.

At the height of the pickle harvesting season, this year July 15 through September 11, 94 persons were employed at the local plant. Above is another sorting table with Andrea Girton, left, and Betty Ortiz, just visible at the right, busy with the job of primary sorting of giant pickles from the smaller sizes as they proceed along the jogging conveyor. The highest daily intake occurred August 6 this year when 2981 bushels of pickles were delivered to the plant and sorted. Of the season's total of 46,887 bushels delivered, 6,532 bushels were immediately processed for fresh pack, 2,443 bushels for aged in wood dills, and the balance placed in storage tanks.

Two Blocks Of Street Resurfacing Now In Progress



Pictured above is equipment of the John P. Lewis Company as it graded one of two blocks in Saint Joe which are being blacktopped at the present time. The old pavement was broken and hauled away before crushed limestone was brought in for the final grading and preparation.

Mental Health Gift Program Under Way

The holiday season opened in DeKalb County as the Association for Mental Health started its preparation for the 1968 Christmas Gift Project. Mrs. Roger Kain of Auburn will serve as DeKalb County Chairman for the collection of Christmas gifts to be presented to the patients of our state mental hospitals and schools.

Internationally known circus performer W. W. Wilno, who is the state chairman of the annual Christmas Gift Collection program of the Mental Health Association in Indiana, recognized the importance of Mrs. Kain's position when he stated, "In accepting the chairmanship of the Christmas project of the DeKalb County chapter, she has assumed the responsibility of organizing the complete campaign throughout the county which will enable the patients in our state hospitals to share with us some of the joys of the holiday season. I urge all of the citizens of DeKalb County to support this humanitarian program and help me break another record by giving a Christmas gift to the mentally ill."

Each year the DeKalb County chapter asks organizations to seek gifts from their members. Only new items are acceptable, and gifts should not be wrapped, although the wrapping paper and ribbon may be solicited.

The chapter will open collection depots throughout the county for individual contributors, and the gifts collected will be distributed to patients at ward parties at Fort Wayne State Hospital.

Last year the county residents exceeded their quota by some 300 gifts, and the DeKalb County chapter feels that the continued support and cooperation of the residents will mean another goal over the top in 1968.

Lions Club Sets 10 Point Program

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met last week and the president, Bob Wilder, presented a short letter of thanks to all of the members of the club for their effort in making the food stand at the fair a success. He gave a special word of thanks to all of the Lionesses for their work and for their donations of soup and homemade pies.

Bob Jacobson showed slides of the Spencerville Boy Scout troop trip to Philmont Ranch in New Mexico. He and eight boys were at the ranch for three weeks. It is a 200 square mile section of mountains and valleys, owned by Mr. Phillips of Phillips 66 Oil Company. The ranch is a working unit, set up with cabins, tent cities, camp sites, trails, 300 head of horses, and rangers who supervise the operation of the camp. It is reported that 18,000 boys spend time there each summer.

The Lions Club helps to sponsor the Spencerville troop.

The president announced the establishment of a Ten Point Program by the board of directors. The first goal is a substantial increase in membership. It is felt that new blood in the club helps the organization retain its leadership in the community with new ideas, new influence, new enthusiasm and new fellowship.

The Lions Club represents the world's largest and most influential service organization, giving assistance to the poor, the stricken, the blind and the handicapped.

Old Fashioned Methods Still Useful And Enjoyable

Bill Collins, left, and Ray Reasoner were seen a week or so ago sowing a field of rye the old fashioned way, by hand. The pair were working a two-acre patch at the Reasoner farm at the east edge of Saint Joe, obviously enjoying a momentary return to the past in farming methods.

Sen. Biddinger Reviews Betting Question

State Senator Frank Biddinger of Marion, Indiana, presented a review of arguments for and against legalized pari-mutuel betting at a meeting held Tuesday evening at Republican Headquarters in Auburn. The meeting was sponsored by The Quest Club, an organization of Republican women which is devoted to providing information and education of a political nature to the voting public.

Senator Biddinger recommended that the question of pari-mutuel betting not be considered strictly from a moral standpoint, although he recognized that many people will exercise their judgment in this manner when legalized pari-mutuel betting will be put before the Hoosier public at the November 5 election. He stated that there might also be a question of discrimination against the poor if legalized betting were not allowed in the state. It is a "way-out" approach, he said, but proponents of legalized betting point out that those with money can go to other states to gamble but the poor cannot afford to do the same. This could be interpreted as a form of discrimination.

Senator Biddinger stated that he looked at the matter from an economic and social standpoint. Legalized betting would bring in only three to four million dollars per year to the state treasury, he said. There would be the opportunity for corruption, the need for increased law enforcement and an undermining of individual and family economic structures. He noted that in one instance, when legalized betting was abolished, automobile repossessions dropped from 20 per month to only 2 per month. A total analysis, therefore, shows greater disadvantages than advantages under legalized betting.

A question and answer period ended the program for the evening, which also included entertainment and refreshments.

GLEN OAKS HOSTS MEETING

Glen Oaks Nursing Home of Auburn served as host Wednesday of last week to the regular meeting of the Northern Indiana Chapter of the National Executive Housekeepers Association. Nineteen members and five guests from various cities in Northern Indiana enjoyed the hospitality of the new nursing home.

Mrs. Clara McCoy, Executive Housekeeper at Glen Oaks, acted as hostess and served mid-morning coffee and rolls. The business meeting was conducted by the chapter president, Mrs. Ilo Hiss. Following the business meeting, members and guests enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner prepared and served by the Glen Oaks kitchen staff.

Rev. William Heimach of the Presbyterian Church in Auburn addressed the group on the timely topic, "Thoughts for Today." Rev. Heimach's deep insight into current problems furnished much food for thought for the interested and attentive audience.

Following the meeting, tours were conducted of the new Glen Oaks facility. Members and guests included representatives from Fort Wayne, Michigan City, New Carlisle, Hammond, South Bend, Mishawaka, Plymouth, Elkhart, Goshen, Kendallville, Avilla, and Auburn.

Announcement was made that the next meeting of the Chapter will be held at the Pine Lake Division of LaPorte Hospital at LaPorte, Indiana on November 6th.

Supreme Court Rejects Appeal

The following report appeared in the Wednesday, October 23, 1968, issue of The Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

"INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The Indiana Supreme Court Tuesday rebuffed a charge of unconstitutionality against a 1967 law which allows bond to be set in delaying litigation which increases the cost of constructing a public building.

"The high court upheld the DeKalb Circuit Court, which had set a bond of $100,000 to be posted by a group of taxpayers and parents who sought to block construction of a new junior-senior high school building at Butler by the DeKalb County Eastern Community School Corp.

"The group has been turned down on its objections to the site and the judge had set the bond for an appeal to cover damages and costs attributed to the delay in construction. The objectors said the bond requirement was unconstitutional and a 'practical denial of justice.'

"The high court said that since it had reviewed the matter without the bond being posted, the constitutional rights of the objectors had not been affected.

"But the opinion went on to say that the 1967 law 'is a reasonable attempt to give citizens and taxpayers a fair hearing in questioning the actions of their elected and appointed officers without completely frustrating the process of municipal government. It is a constructive statute in clearing the glut and obstruction of public lawsuits and should make for a sound body of municipal law developing certainty and diminishing the filing of suits of no merit.'"

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS OF ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATIONS

Notice is hereby given the taxpayers of DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, DeKalb County, Indiana, that the proper legal officers of said municipality at their regular meeting place at 8:00 p.m., on the 4th day of November 1968, will consider the following additional appropriations which said officers consider necessary to meet the extraordinary emergency existing at this time.

An additional appropriation in the amount of $26,000, which additional appropriation would be from the General Fund Operating Balance and the transfer of potential would be to number accounts as follows: to account no. 700, $8,300; to account no. 100, $6,582; to account no. 800, $1,100; and to account no. 300, $10,015. The reason for such emergency exists by reason that insufficient money was placed in the present budget to cover raises in the costs of salaries for clerical, custodial, bus driver, and for all certificated personnel; further, the present budget moneys were not sufficient to pay the employer's share of Social Security; and further, present budget moneys were not sufficient to cover the unforeseen added costs in maintenance.

Taxpayers appearing at such meeting shall have a right to be heard thereon. The additional appropriations as finally made will be automatically referred to the State Bord of Tax Commissioners, which commission will hold a farther hearing within Fifteen days at the County Auditor's office of DeKalb County, Indiana, or at such other place as may be designated. At such hearing taxpayers objecting to any of such additional appropriations may be heard. Interested taxpayers may inquire of the County Auditor when and where such hearing will be held.

'Mose' Yeiser Honored By VFD

D. W. (Mose) Yeiser was honored Sunday by the Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department in recognition of 40 years of service to the department and the community. Approximately 50 firemen, families, and friends attended the gathering held at the local fire station.

Mr. Yeiser was presented an appropriate plaque following a pot luck dinner at noon.

During his 40 years on the department, he served as fire chief for eight years. He also has been a member of the town board and clerk-treasurer for 20 years. He reminisced this week about the early days of the department when the first fire fighting equipment was a hand-pulled affair. Later a Model T truck was purchased with two chemical tanks to fight fires. These were 50-gallon water tanks into which acid was dumped to form pressure for fire fighting. In 1934 a Chevrolet truck was purchased, having four water-acid pressure tanks. In 1945 a pump was added to the truck.

In 1958 a new truck was purchased by Concord Township, used jointly by the town and township. Last year, the town was compelled to provide for purchasing a new truck for town use only, and it is scheduled to be delivered next Monday.

UF Near $1,000

The United Fund campaign in the Riverdale area has brought in $969.77 thus far, according to statistics from Ted Haberkorn, area chairman. October 13 through 19 was the official week for United Fund soliciting, and many of the volunteer workers completed their contacts in that time. However, the necessity for callbacks, which is a normal and expected part of the program, means that a few donations are yet being made. It is not too late to give to the United Fund.

The largest group sum came from Scehler's and their employees with a total of $253. Lucile Schlatter solicited in the plant last week. The teachers at Riverdale were contacted by Forrest Bevington, and responded with $202 in contributions.

Saint Joe and Concord Township have given $344 thus far. Spencerville and Spencer Township have contributed $103.70. Newville Township has a total of $47 at this point.

With Riverdale's total approaching the $1000 mark, the efforts of local workers can be considered a success, the chairman said.

Solicitors included Betty Bevington, Gertrude Reinhart, Marcia Sible, Hazel Schrader, Jim and Mabel Rinard, Inge Rinard, Delores Emenhiser, Eleanore Henninghoff, Evanna Keener, Delores Hicov, Helen Rescor, Arden Dwyer, Marilyn Laub, and Frank Laub.

School Rate Down

On Friday, October 18, 1968, School Superintendent Kenneth L. Cole appeared in front of the State Tax Commission to defend the school budget for the year 1969. A field representative of the State Tax Commission and Cole reviewed the budget in great detail. The result of said review should make most taxpayers happy, for it looks as if a General Fund levy that was advertised a $5.03 will actually end up as a $4.83 levy, a 20-cent drop in rate for school purposes. Cole explained that this action does not cut anything from the budget as it was planned and advertised.

Cole said that while he was re-working and reviewing the budget in preparation for his appearance in front of the Tax Commission it was soon obvious that almost all estimated late 1968 (July 1, December 31) income and most of 1969 (January 1, December 31) income was or would be up. The only exception to this trend was transportation reimbursement for 1969, which State Aid it appears will be $3,111 below the estimated figure.

Cole spelled out the following as being responsible for the relief to the taxpayers:

Bank Tax July 1, December 31, 1968, up $279; Bank Tax January 1, December 31, 1969, up $558; December 1968 tax draw, up $661; anuary 1, December 31, 1969, Tuition Support Instructional Salaries, up $19,463; January 1, December 31, 1969 Tuition Support, Other Current Expense, up $2,281; Transportation (school year 1968-1969), down $3,111; July 1, December 31, 1968, Intangibles Tax, up $1,153; January 1, December 31, 1969 Intangibles Tax, up $1,655; 1969 Property Tax Relief, up $1,085; 1969 Corporate New Income Tax, up $367.

Cole points out that this combination of increases in revenue amounts to $27,502 and deducting the loss in transportation of $3,111 still leaves an increase in revenue for school purposes of $24,391, and this amounts to 19,436 cents (20 cents in round number) which was removed from the General Fund Tax Levy for school purposes.

Cole explained that the largest increase in aid (Instructional Salaries, $19,463) is attributable to increased enrollment, to the added average daily attendance caused by fulltime Kindergarten, and to excellent attendance this far in the school year.

Finally, the Superintendent reported that, because he could not reflect some things in the budget as he attempted, it will be necessary to advertise an additional appropriation in the amount of $26,000; however, this is completely reflected in the new lower $4.83 General Fund Tax Levy.

Cole concluded that the increase of all revenues (save transportation) would probably make him look bad as a budgeter, but he quipped that he would risk looking bad in this manner rather than the direct opposite possibility.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

On Wednesday, October 16, the Club met with Mrs. Maurice Kline at 7:30 p.m. The president, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, called the meeting to order, and the opening collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

The lesson was on "National Parks," presented by Mrs. Carl Perkins, who told of their origin and showed films of some of them.

Mrs. Yeiser conducted a "Fun Quiz" for entertainment, which was enjoyed by all.

After Roll Call, a short business meeting was held. Members were urged to spread the word about the second annual Artists Exhibit which will be held at the Eckhart Public Library in Auburn November 10-15.

The Club adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Lela Northrup on October 30. The hostess then served light refreshments.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB
—Pat Roberts, reporter

The St. Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Alice Reidenbach, October 18, with eleven members attending.

The meeting was opened by the president, Catherine Bowser, the group reciting the Club Collect in unison. Devotions were given by Edith Sailor. She read from Psalm 24, then closed with a prayer.

The history of the song of the month was given by Gertrude Borthwick, who led in the singing of "Down in the Valley."

Doris Yeiser finished her report on the Leaders Lesson, giving us many ideas for time-saving menis. It was very informative and helpful for busy housewives.

Catherine Bowser gave a report on the Presidents meeting she had attended. She also reminded members of the Holiday Workshop held on November 25 and Achievement Day October 31.

Roll Call was answered by a favorite TV program, and it appeared the Lawrence Welk Show was in the lead and enjoyed by us all.

The secretary's report was read and approved.

The president then read an invitation from the Sisters of the Skillet Club, asking us to join them at their meeting October 24. We are looking forward to spending a lovely time with them.

Mable Loucks was declared the winner in a Rug Raffle sponsored by the club. The meeting was closed with the prayer song, after which the hostess served a lunch.

He has been a leader in educational programs in watershed development and his youth programs have produced numerous national winners. Mr. Jewett has built strong contacts with community leaders for industrial development and hospital facilities.

A similar award was present to Ernest J. Lesiuk, former DeKalb County Agent from 1948 to 1963.

DID YOU KNOW—

—that if Saint Joe residents don't want to get "loused up" on their garbage collection, they'd better put it out Friday night or real early Saturday. Because the collection service includes other communities during the day, an absolute pickup time cannot be established. Better be safe than smel — sorry.

FARM BUREAU HAS INTERESTING CANDIDATE MEETING

The "Know Your Candidate Meeting," sponsored by DeKalb County Farm Bureau and held in the court house assembly room Friday evening, October 4, proved to be interesting and valuable.

Robert Bleeh, county Farm Bureau president, introduced Russell Kelham, county Democrat chairman, and Dean Kruse, county Republican chairman, who in turn introduced their respective candidates, whose names will appear on the county ballot on election day.

Each candidate gave his qualifications for the office he is seeking.

Questions asked by the voters were sorted and combined by district Farm Bureau president George Neff and read by area field man Paul Gienger.

The questions concerning the farm program and the acceptable ending of the war in Viet Nam were answered by Congressmen Edward Roush and E. Ross Adair.

Questions concerning tax relief, the making of higher education available at lower costs, uniform time in Indiana, school taxes, and legalized pari-mutuel betting in Indiana were discussed by Floyd B. Coleman and Merle Holden, candidates for State Representative for Steuben and DeKalb counties.

Farm Bureau has made a careful study of pari-mutuel betting in other states and urges voters to oppose the issue.

The singing of America and the pledge to the flag plus patriotic table decorations stressed the fact that the good of our country should come first, with our own interests taking second place.

Informal visiting and discussions continued while refreshments were served by the Farm Bureau ladies.

—Mildred Jarrett, Pub. Chm.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Roy Baker on October 2, 1968, at 7:30 p.m.

The collect and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Maurice Kline.

Members were encouraged to visit our 50th state by Mrs. Roy Baker who told of Hawaii by lecture and filmstrip. In concluding, members wrote a sentence in the native language from a vocabulary on a map furnished each member by Mrs. Baker.

A memory test game was the entertainment furnished by Mrs. Walter Reinhart. Roll call was answered by 11 members and the president, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, conducted a business meeting.

The meeting was adjourned to meet October 16 with Mrs. Maurice Kline. The hostess served refreshments in keeping with the lesson of the evening.

S.A.T.C. REUNION

On October 1, 1918, the U.S. Government took over the colleges and universities and inducted the men into the Students Army Training Corps, a unit of the U.S. Army.

Those from the Saint Joe area who went were William S. Quance, Merritt T. Milliman, Arden Morr, Clayton B. Hathaway, Levi B. Mumma (son of the Lutheran pastor, A. K. Mumma), and Harvey J. Hull.

Last Sunday, October 6, this unit had a 50th anniversary reunion at Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. William Quance of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Milliman of Fort Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hull of Saint Joe attended the reunion. Passed away are Arden B. Morr and Dr. Clayton B. Hathaway.

The group attended church at Weaver Chapel on campus which was packed for the communion service. They later enjoyed luncheon in a group of 52 men and their wives, spending a very delightful afternoon.

The local group met Levi Mumma whose wife died in 1967. He is now a consulting engineer at Willowick near Cleveland. They also met Mr. and Mrs. John D. Kuhns. Mrs. Kuhns is the former Margaret Tustison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tustison, who was born and resided here until she was about 15 years old. She now resides in Springfield.

Mr. Hull, who prepared the above information, concludes his account of the reunion by stating that, although the rain came down, it was a very pleasant day spent with old buddies.

PAST OFFICERS CLUB

The DeKalb County Past Officers Club of the Federation of Clubs held their opening meeting at Platner's Steak House recently.

Highlighting the evening's program, Mrs. Clarence Bowers of Waterloo told of her recent trip to Scandinavian countries. She and her husband made the trip with a party of twenty-seven, who met at Kennedy Airport for take-off.

Mrs. Bowers was impressed by the hills, the rivers, and the flowers, which were abundant everywhere. Everything is so fresh and clean there, she emphasized. They were fortunate to have fifteen consecutive days of sunshine while they were there. This was unusual, they learned.

Mrs. Bowers showed slides of castles with moats, scenic spots, and points of interest in parks. She told of their visit to the birthplace of Knute Rockne and showed a picture of a memorial to him. They also visited the home of Hans Christian Anderson. This home is now a museum.

On the Fourth of July, they visited a park in Oslo, to which Scandinavians with relatives in the U. S. go on July 4 to celebrate. They also saw a replica of the cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born.

Mrs. Bowers showed slides of the crown jewels, and crowns of rulers. The Bowers visited several other countries during their European tour.

During the business session, Mrs. Dreibelbis reported that she and several other members had attended the District 7 convention. At this time, District 7 received the National first place award in Community Improvement. The prize was $10,000, given by the Sears Roebuck Foundation. All clubs in the state were entered in the Community Improvement Program.

Mrs. John McComas, who is president of District 12, announced that the Convention will be held at South Whitley October 25, with registration beginning at 9:00 a.m.

Mrs. Walter Pepple, president of DeKalb County clubs, was introduced. She said that her goal for the county is to have every club member become involved.

125 At Rally

Mrs. Lehr Wilder, president of the Tri-Township Republican Women's Club, presided at Tuesday's pot luck rally held at the Spencerville Community Building. Approximately 125 were present for the rally, including Dean Kruse, GOP county chairman and State Senator, county candidates and State Senator Gene Snowden of Huntington.

A feature of the evening was an auction of gifts donated by candidates running from county offices up to presidential and vice presidential candidates Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew. The auction brought in a total of $255 to be utilized for campaign expenses.

Dorine Singer provided music for the evening on the accordian and Sandra Panning gave a spectacular exhibition of baton twirling. Spencerville Boy Scouts led the pledge of allegiance.

County candidates were introduced and each gave brief talks. Five members of the Coleman family sang a few songs to support the candidacy of their father, Dr. Floyd Coleman, who is running for the office of State Representative. The group included a pre-school tot.

Senator Snowden was the guest speaker for evening. He strongly criticized the type of government fostered under Democrat leadership, leading to civil disobedience and disorder. He commended the type of representation given by Congressman E. Ross Adair who is running for re-election in the Fourth District.

Blazers Win Pair

The Eastside Blazers Football team ran its record to 4-3-1 with two smashing victories this week. Saturday, the Blazers entertained their fans with a 26-0 smothering of Norwell at the Eastside sports complex in Butler. Seniors Dennis Keller and John Kochert scored twice each. Keller counted on a 9-yard run in the first period, and Jim Ridge ran the extra point over. Norwell's Steve Yeager scored shortly afterward on a 1-yard squeaker, the only blemish against Eastside's defense all day. In the second quarter, Kochert scored twice, on an 11-yard pass from quarterback Gary Baird, another Senior, and again on a spectacular 42-yard pass from Jim Ridge, who had started the play by taking a handoff from Baird. Keller then closed out the scoring on a 40-yard run. A fifth Blazer touchdown was nullified by a penalty in the final two minutes of play, and an attempt by the reserves to get it back failed as time ran out.

Wednesdy evening the Blazers traveled to Fremont for a 19-0 whitewash of the Eagles.

Jim Ridge scored on a 10-yard run in the first period, and Keller ran the point-after. Baird made good on a 4-yard run in the second period. On the big offensive play of the game, Ridge again went over by way of a 50-yard journey through the Fremont defense.

The Blazers' final test of the season will take place at the Eastside field on Saturday, November 2, as they face a worthy opponent, the Woodlan Warriors. Game time is 2:00 p.m.

Norman Gerig Winning For Clerk

From analyzing the 1968 election campaign thus far, in DeKalb County, one can easily see why Norman L. Gerig will be the next clerk of DeKalb County. He has made a tremendous impact on the people of our county with his quiet reserve, and sincere "man to man" campaigning.

Norman L. Gerig has served the people in our community as PTO president, county vice chairman of the Farm Bureau, Union Township deputy assessor, elected to Union Township advisory board, County Line Church of God Sunday School superintendent, plus helping many other area projects and clubs. He has also been active in 4-H projects and the Auburn Lions Club. By having children in our county school system, Norman Gerig knows the value of education and preserving the tax dollar.

Here is a successful, progressive farmer from our home area with the manners and courtesies to become one of the most outstanding clerks in DeKalb County.

His support is among the people of all fields. Just ask your friends why they think Norman L. Gerig will be the next clerk of DeKalb County. You'll soon find out why his victory will be most rewarding this fall. You should examine the facts and join the tide to Gerig.

VOTE FOR GERIG

Dr. Coleman Willing To Serve

Dr. Floyd Coleman, who has been in general practice of medicine in Waterloo for over 20 years since his discharge from military service, is willing to make a sacrifice of time and money to serve as Joint State Representative for Steuben and DeKalb counties.

Dr. Coleman was raised on a farm in Harrison County, Indiana, and farmed near Martinsville, Indiana, prior to obtaining the A.B. Degree and High School Teacher License in chemistry, biology and English. He worked his way through college, served in the Merchant Marine, and after obtaining his M.D. degree, interned at the Methodist Hospital at Indianapolis. He is a private pilot and served as county coroner 16 years.

Dr. Coleman and wife, Eva, are parents of eight children. Two daughters are enrolled in Indiana University, and the oldest son, David, (U.S.M.C.R.) is a pilot with T.W.A.

Dr. Coleman has attended pre-legislative training sessions throughout the state since the primary. He plans to keep his usual office hours, and have other M.D.'s help during the legislative session. He is grateful for past support and promises to strive to be worthy of continued support and confidence.

10 years ago.

Your electric bill just about stands alone. Electricity actually costs less per kilowatt-hour today than ever before.

But if electricity's cheaper than ever, why is your electric bill higher?

Look around. Count the appliances you didn't use ten years ago. Electric power is giving you a better, happier life. So even though rates are lower, your bill is up because you use more.

Considering today's prices, electricity has to be the biggest bargain around. And our whole seven-state system keeps working hard to make it even more of a bargain. Think about that next time you hear us say ... Electricity is your best dollar value.

—that in July, a move to amend the administration's 5 billion dollar aid to education bill submitted by Rep. William Scherle (R-Iowa) passed by a 259-147 roll call vote in the House. The amendment proposed denial of federal funds to students whose actions were "of a serious nature and contributed to the disruption of the administration" of college operations. Congressman E. Ross Adair voted for the amendment to cut federal aid to those students who take part in disturbances on the college campus. J. They also said that they will not tolerate any conduct which includes "intimidation, coercion, violence, or the threat of violence. Disruption of the university's operation or the infringement upon the rights of others within the university by any persons will not be tolerated." Ball State has had no student demonstrations or threats of trouble on the campus. ....an Appeal To Americans....

"The American spirit is presenting its demands today, as it did in different terms to the generations before us. Once again, those demands require sacrifice and ingenuity. The American spirit demands an explosion of education into the mind of every child in every corner of this land. It demands a career—not just a job, but a career, open to every man and woman who has the capacity to get ahead. It demands an end to the slamming of doors, with the answering echo of gunfire that we have heard in the past. It demands a plunge into community service by each of us. The American spirit of today demands that the helpless be cared for, and the hopeless be cared about. It demands that there be greater rewards for initiative and hard work and self reliance. It demands that privacy be respected, that the individual be respected, that the law be respected. Most of all, the American spirit today demands the self-determination of the human being. This means a shift from federal rule, a shift from faceless manipulation to personal participation."

- Richard M. Nixon

Quarrel not at all. No man resolved to make the most of himself can spare time for personal contention. Still less can he afford to take all the consequences, including the vitiating of his temper and the loss of self control. Yield larger things to which you can show no more than equal rights; and yield lesser ones, though clearly your own.

Abraham Lincoln

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

[illegible]

The polls seem to indicate that Richard Nixon's big lead of a few weeks ago is dwindling. One of the reasons may be the rumor of a bombing cease fire in Vietnam. By coincidence the indications of such a cease fire are coming just before the election, and I hope that Americans, regardless of their political affiliation, remember that. We're in a mess socially, enonomically, nationally, and internationally under Democrat leadership controlled by liberal philosophy. My question to any voter would be, "Had enough?" If the answer is yes, then the men to vote for at the top levels of leadership are on the Republican ticket—Nixon, Agnew, Adair, Ruckelshaus, Whitcomb, Coleman, Gutman. After that, I don't particularly care how you vote—if you know the man or woman and think he or she is more capable than the opponent, vote for the one you prefer. The local offices and some of the state offices carry out routine functions for the most part, not establishing policy or philosophy. Ability and experience, therefore become significant factors.

You don't have to agree with me. I just thought I'd let you know that if you're getting confused and maybe panicked in the closing days of the political campaign, it might help to go back about a month and ask, "How did I feel then?" That's what I did, and I think I'll ignore what's gone on since and what will probably go on between now and next Tuesday. I think my vote will be a little more intelligent that way.

I received two replies or reactions last week to my comments a couple of weeks ago concerning women's fashions, in particular certain styles of low heeled monstrosities they call shoes. The first comment came from Lee Tuttson of Defiance, an old friend of The News and of some of our Saint Joe old timers. He wrote:

"October 19, 1968

"From the St. Joe News—'Around the Town—October 19, '68

" 'You have to look at it from every ankle.'

"So low, Mr. Editor? Lift up your eyes and see! The day cometh when all things will not continue to be revealed.

"I am old, once was young, in a day when many things were hid, but recently, yea for some time past, our eyes have beheld the glory of the age. Look now, for the hour cometh when these [illegible] garters will be 'down at the heel.'"

The other response came from Jane Kempf, radio WIFF's roving reporter, who wrote:

"Dear Ted,

"Just a note to tell you how much I enjoy your newspaper, especially the editorials. However, this week, I'd like to say that those of us who live in the 'Land of the Giants' LIKE the low heeled shoes. It's fun to be able to look a few people in the eye for a change. My husband, Pete, once commented that with a 5" HIGH hairdo, 4" heels and everything in between, I measured in at 6' 5". Kindly, old friend, remember stretch next time you mess with women's shoe fashions.

Just kidding, Ted,

Jane"

Dear ———

Boy, this column is really a question mark this week, the question is what to write!

Oh, I've had letters, but they were all advertisements or bills! I've had phone calls, but they were wrong numbers! And I've been given my weekly share of information, but it was just general everyday talk, nothing specific about any of you guys! So where are you? What are you doing? Will you be home soon? Have you forgotten my address? Have you lost weight? Have you gained weight? Have you grown taller, fatter, uglier, meaner? Do you like your job? Do you hate your job? Have you written to your Mom? Did she forgot my address? I'm not curious, I'm just nosey! Everything is fine in "good ol Saint Joe." The Unicorn is progressing well. All the kids are doing well in school, and they all love their teachers.

We have not lost weight, and we will not admit to a gain. We are not any taller or fatter, and we are as ugly and mean as ever. Some of us like our jobs and some of us hate them, but we all miss you and would like to hear from you! So how about it? Sit down "write" now and "right" a letter to us. See you next week. Take care.

Wayne C. Voss Is Honest And Dependable

The office of DeKalb County Treasurer must be filled by a man of established honesty, integrity and dependability. Wayne C. Voss is such a man. He is a life long resident of DeKalb County, has long been active in community and civic affairs, has served as President of several DeKalb County business and civic organizations, and has over 10 years' experience as an elected and appointed governmental official.

Mr. Voss has made no statements during the current campaign that he cannot back up 100 per cent. He is honest beyond reproach and dependable without question.

HALF TRUTHS?

Mr. Voss' opponent states: "I am trained for the job - Ford Foundation scholarship (LaSalle University), Indiana Institute of Technology, Indiana University." Did he receive a degree from these institutions of higher learning? Did he use his "scholarship"? Is "LaSalle University" a correspondence school?

Wayne C. Voss is the best candidate for County Treasurer. He solicits and he deserves the vote of every DeKalb County voter.

My Gratitude To The Voters Of DeKalb County

I wish to take this opportunity to publicly and personally thank the voters of DeKalb County for the honor of serving as your County Clerk for the past four year term. I sincerely trust that my record in office during my first term is such that you will deem me worthy of re-election for a second term. Because of the urgency and importance of the business of the office I hold, I have been unable to do as much personal campaigning as I would have liked. I would have preferred to personally contact each of the voters, but to do so would have required my absence from the Clerk's office. I have not believed it right for one holding a public office and pledged to discharge his public duties to unduly be absent from his responsibility. I have tried to see as many voters as possible without violating the trust of the office to which you elected me four years ago. If you are one whom I have not been able to contact, it has been only because of the lack of time and the demands of my office.

Wayne C. Voss Is Qualified And Experienced

Wayne C. Voss has the qualifications and experience to be the next DeKalb County Treasurer. He served two four year terms as the elected Grant Township Trustee and is presently the appointed Superintendent of the Indiana State Highway Commission—Waterloo Sub-District. In this capacity Mr. Voss was instrumental in securing the recent improvements to US6 and SR27 in DeKalb County. He is a life long resident of DeKalb County and has long been active in community, civic and governmental affairs. He has served as President of several DeKalb County business and civic organizations, including the Waterloo Lions Club and the DeKalb County Farm Bureau.

Mr. Voss is a DeKalb County farm owner and taxpayer and is vitally interested in the DeKalb County tax rate. He pledges to use every opportunity to minimize the DeKalb County tax rate.

OPPONENT INTERESTED IN TAXE RATE?

Mr. Voss' opponent states: "I am .... disturbed .... about the way taxes keep going up, up, up." He does NOT state, however, that he is presently a member of the DeKalb County Council which has the EXCLUSIVE power of fixing the rate of taxation for county purposes and imposing the tax levy. Is he really "disturbed"? Does he tell the whole truth?

Wayne C. Voss is the best candidate for County Treasurer. He solicits and deserves the vote of every DeKalb County voter.

State Representative

Dr. Coleman is a firm believer in Christian principles. He believes we must restore more power to our local governments in order to have good government. Good government is the servant of the people and not the master of them. In this very crucial year, it is important to elect aggressive, concerned Americans who can restore self-initiative and reverse the present trends.

There is no substitute for honest, clean government economy and Dr. Coleman upholds these virtues, being a faithful believer in the Word of God. He has proven his dedication to you and your problems by 20 years as a public servant striving to help meet the medical needs of your community. He challenges you to allow this dedication to be used in the state government. He will make every effort to strengthen and improve the home, community and nation.

Elect Dr. Coleman and help turn frail leadership into a dynamic force .... concerned about the people it serves. Dr. Coleman IS concerned. Send him as your representative to the statehouse.

Summary Of Plan For Older Citizens

Richard M. Nixon's plan for older citizens includes the following proposals:

- An automatic cost of living increase in Social Security and railroad retirement benefits.
- The current limitation on allowable earnings must also be increased and ultimately done away with altogether.
- A widow's benefits should be increased from 82 percent to a full 100 percent of the husband's pension.
- The 100 percent income tax reduction for non-reimbursable drugs and medical expenses for those over 65 should be restored.
- Extend Social Security coverage to include all older citizens. A gradual extension in universal coverage downward from 72 to 65.
- A new White House conference on the problems of Americans over 65 to find a new role for the older generation.

EHS Musical Nov. 8-9

On November 8 and 9, the Eastside High School vocal music department will present Lerner and Loewe's musical comedy "Paint Your Wagon."

The setting is northern California in 1853 during the Gold Rush, and the play traces the history of a mining camp from its beginnings through its development into a boom town, down to its disintegration into a ghost town when he lode peters out.

The town itself is named after the central character who founds it, Ben Rumson. He tries to fill the varied roles of town sheriff, mayor, and judge. His daughter, Jennifer, carries on a romance with Julio Valveras, a Mexican of noble birth.

The play is filled with scenes that provide local color— in a saloon, mine, miner's cabin, the town square.

It has rollicking comedy scenes when Ben buys a wife at an auction, and then tries to sell her when he must raise some cash.

This musical is being directed by Mrs. Paula Foster and Mr. Donald Klausing. The admission is $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for students.

The cast of characters is: Ben Rumson - Peter Foster; Jennifer Rumson - Cheryl Howe; Julio Valveras - Phil Brewer; Salem Trumbull - Tom Frank; Steve Bullnack - Junior Boylan; Jake Whippany - Steve Baird; Elizabeth Woodling - Lynann Lake; Jacob Woodling - Vernon Lake; Sarah Woodling - Lerene Laux; Mike Mooney - Roger Coburn; Edgar Crocker - Joe Bowman; Ray Jamney - John Cox; Sandy Twist - Harry Simmonds; Pete Billings - Jerry Markle; Sherri Jourdel - Cindy Staley; Reuben Sloane - Jerry Mansfield; Walt - Dave Yates; Sam - Clifford Shultz; Ed - Mark Brown; Jack - Bob Farrer; Joe - Larry Andrews; Johnson - Mike Mast; Yvonne - Susie Becky Edgar; Elsie Smith - Kris Hicks; Mary - Marcia Coburn.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS OF ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATIONS

Notice is hereby given the taxpayers of DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, DeKalb County, Indiana, that the proper legal officers of said municipality at their regular meeting place at 8:00 p.m., on the 4th day of November 1968, will consider the following additional appropriations which said officers consider necessary to meet the extraordinary emergency existing at this time.

An additional appropriation in the amount of $26,000, which additional appropriation would be from the General Fund Operating Balance and the transfer of potential would be to number accounts as follows: to account no. 700, $8,300; to account no. 100, $6,582; to account no. 800, $1,100; and to account no. 200, $10,015. The reason for such emergency exists by reason that insufficient money was plased in the present budget to cover raises in the costs of salaries for clerical, custodial, bus driver, and for all certificated personnel; further, the present budget moneys were not sufficient to pay the employer's share of Social Security; and further, present budget moneys were not sufficient to cover the unforeseen added costs in maintenance.

Taxpayers appearing at such meeting shall have a right to be heard thereon. The additional appropriations as finally made will be automatically referred to the State Bord of Tax Commissioners, which commission will hold a further hearing within Fifteen days at the County Auditor's office of DeKalb County, Indiana, or at such other place as may be designated. At such hearing taxpayers objecting to any of such additional appropriations may be heard. Interested taxpayers may inquire of the County Auditor when and where such hearing will be held.

VOL. LXXXIII — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, November 7, 1968 — NUMBER 45

It has been said of the world's history hitherto that might makes right. It is for us and for our time to reverse the maxim, and to say that right makes might.

—Abraham Lincoln

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Since Virgil Scantz and sons took over the local elevator, they have been sinking a pretty penny into new and expanded facilities to serve the agricultural interests of the community.

But there is a fly in the ointment and that is the damage which has occurred at the elevator site. We do not for a moment think that the kids who are playing at the elevator are doing some things on purpose, but they are doing some things without thinking.

Last week some kids' unsupervised activity caused several hours' delay and considerable physical damage by pulling levers and dumping refuse into a grain pit. The kids probably didn't mean to cause damage, but they did.

And the main reason is that they were playing at a place where they shouldn't with property that they shouldn't.

Contrary to what some parents seem to think, kids DON'T have a right to play anywhere they please and there are some parents who obviously do not check on the whereabouts of their children or remind their offspring of respect for other people's property. In last week's instance, the kids live not only near the elevator but also blocks away—boys and girls.

The lack of "law and order" at the older age level today could very well have its roots in the attitude of many parents today which allows their kids, even at the tender age of six years, to roam about the community at will. Some individuals may think this helps the child to "mature"—actually it helps the child get in trouble and cause damage to others.

So, if you have youngsters who are allowed to play where they please when they please, it might help to caution them about causing damage when they are "playing" and endangering themselves in the process.

When I stopped at the Fred Rayle place last week, I walked in on the Mrs. doing some body work. Take it easy—she was wielding a touchup paint brush on our little puddle jumper after Fred finished repairing the rust spots. As time passes, he does more auto refinishing in his new building.

—They're nice people.

The P.T.O. spaghetti supper apparently was a success. I hear they planned on serving 300 and ran out of rolls, so everything must have been satisfactory.

Lois Strong extends thanks to all who helped in furnishing food and labor for the money raising project. Jean Shockley and husband Bud come in for particular expressions of gratitude, they having served as chairmen for the supper.

The Bob Chews added a 7 lb. 11 oz. young lady to their family Monday. Name—Rita Marie.

School Transfer Proceeding With Negotiations

Preparation of the necessary information and fulfillment of legal requirements are being carried out at the present time by a DeKalb Central United School District committee prior to disannexation of three township from the DeKalb Eastern school corporation. The three townships, Concord, Newville and Spencer, known as "River" due in popular usage, will then be annexed by the central district. The committee is composed of central superintendent Dr. James R. Watson, assistant superintendent Roger Hess and attorney Donald Mefford. Eastside superintendent Kenneth Cole and attorney H. Charles Winans are assisting the committee in preparing for the joint venture involving the two school corporations.

A target date of January 1, 1969, has reportedly been set to have all preparations completed. A resolution is required in order to accomplish the project and a 30 day period is allowed for remonstrance purposes. If no objection is voiced to delay the venture, the transfer of students from Eastside to DeKalb Central would in all probability be effective in the fall of 1969.

At the present time, as reported by Mr. Winans to the Eastside school board meeting Monday, an agreement is being worked on to transfer a portion of the assets from the eastern district to the central district along with the Riverdale students. More than one method of determining an appropriate amount are involved. Under one method, a proportionate share of the assessed valuation can be used. In another method, the proportionate share according to enrollment is possible. Riverdale has about 40 percent of the student population but only about 30 percent of the assessed valuation of the entire school district. Present negotiations, therefore, involve an agreement on division of assets appropriate for the Riverdale area when it transfers into the central district.

The present action was undertaken when the eastern district passed a motion to release the three "Riverdale" townships to the central district and the central district board unanimously voted to begin preparations for the annexation of the townships involved.

'50-Plus' Club

Senior citizens of the Riverdale area are invited to attend an organizational meeting Thursday, November 14, to be held at the Spencerville Community Building at 8:00 p.m.

A carryin supper will be served and coffee will be furnished.

The "50-Plus Club" invites all older residents of the community to attend and participate in the effort to provide social activities for their age group.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 30

Girl Scout Trop 29 met Tuesday after school at the Lutheran Church in Saint Joe. The Salamander Patrol gave the flag ceremony. Then we had the investitute ceremony for the new Junior Scouts who were awarded their pins. The monthly dues were collected and refreshments served by some of the Scouts.

The meeting closed with a closing circle and we sang taps.

Local Rally Helped Promote Election Interest

Local political rallies are still considered beneficial in promoting public participation in an election. The successful rally held at Spencerville October 22 included an auction of gifts from candidates. Above is pictured a portion of the crowd which attended the rally, as county GOP chairman Dean Kruse conducted the auction which brought in around $250.

Junior League Basketball Begins

Newspaper Publication Is Family Affair

The publication of this newspaper would not have been possible without the assistance of the young men from the editor's family. Phil Haberkorn, 17, third in a line of four sons, is shown above as he helped produce a recent issue by setting copy on the "old faithful" linotype in the News Office—at night during his teachers' convention vacation! Older brothers Mike and Dave preceded Phil in part time shop work, and little brother Mark recently asked, "Dad, when can I learn to run the linotype?" At the age of seven, he is almost ready to take that step.

Historical Society To Republish 'Sketches'

John Martin Smith, chairman of the Publications Committee of the DeKalb County Historical Society, has announced that the society is republishing "Pioneer Sketches of DeKalb County" by Rev. S. W. Widney. The book was originally published in Auburn in 1859 after the "sketches" ran as a series in the "DeKalb County Times." The original book is very rare, there being only two known copies in existence.

Rev. Widney was an early DeKalb County pioneer. Many of his descendants still live in the county. Several of the "sketches" were written by Wesley Park, the co-founder of Auburn, and John Houlton, who was considered to be the first settler in the county.

The book contains many interesting facts and anecdotes about the early history of DeKalb County and the pioneers who settled it. The original book contained fifty-three pages and had a yellow cardboard cover. The republished version will be printed by the offset method to preserve the style and character of the original printing.

The republication is both a public service and fund-raising project of the society. To insure financial success, the society has sold advertising in the new book to public spirited DeKalb County merchants, businessmen and industries. All of the advertisements are historically oriented and several contain brief histories of the businesses of their sponsors. These persons have been very generous in their support of the project.

Also included in the new book is an introduction, a table of contents and an index of personal names, each of which the original book lacked. These additions will make the new book much more interesting and useful to those interested in the history of DeKalb County.

The new book will contain a total of about 112 pages and is scheduled for release about December 1, 1968. It will be sold at various locations throughout the county for $2.75 per copy. Those wishing to order a copy in advance may do so by sending their name and address along with a check for $2.75 to "Pioneer Sketches, P.O. Box 148, Auburn, Indiana 46706." The book will be mailed postpaid after December 1.

Other members of the society's Publications Committee include Stanley Means of Saint Joe, Kern Butler of Auburn, Harry Heinzerling of Garrett, Albert Rice of Auburn and Robert Wilder of Saint Joe.

EHS Musical Nov. 8-9

On November 8 and 9, the Eastside High School vocal music department will present Lerner and Loewe's musical comedy "Paint Your Wagon."

The setting is northern California in 1853 during the Gold Rush, and the play traces the history of a mining camp from its beginnings through its development into a boom town, down to its disintegration into a ghost town when he lode peters out.

The town itself is named after the central character who founds it, Ben Rumson. He tries to fill the varied roles of town sheriff, mayor, and judge. His daughter, Jenienfr, carries on a romance with Julio Valveras, a Mexican of noble birth.

The play is filled with scenes that provide local color—in a saloon, mine, miner's cabin, the town square.

It has rollicking comedy scenes when Ben buys a wife at an auction, and then tries to sell her when he must raise some cash.

This musical is being directed by Mrs. Paula Foster and Mr. Donald Klausing. The admission is $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for students.

The cast of characters is: Ben Rumson - Peter Foster; Jennifer Rumson - Cheryl Hose; Julio Valveras - Phil Brewer; Salem Trumbull - Tom Frank; Steve Bullnack - Junior Boylan; Jake Whippany - Steve Baird; Elizabeth Woodling - Lynann Lake; Jacob Woodling - Vernon Lake; Sarah Woodling - Lorene Laux; Mike Mooney - Roger Coburn; Edgar Crocker - Joe Bowman; Ray Janney - John Cox; Sandy Twist - Harry Simmonds; Pete Billings - Jerry Markle; Sherri Jourdel - Cindy Staley; Reuben Sloane - Jerry Mansfield; Walt - Dave Yates; Sam - Clifford Shultz; Ed - Mark Brown; Jack - Bob Farrer; Joe - Larry Andrews; Johanson - Mike Mast; Yvonne Sorel - Becky Edgar; Elsie Smith - Kris Hicov; Mary - Marcia Coburn.

Letters to the Editor

WGN Continental Broadcasting Company
November 5, 1968

Dear Ted:

Thanks so much for sending along the copy of your SAINT JOE NEWS, and my personal thanks to you for your gracious comments about the EDDIE HUBBARD SHOW and WGN Radio. I know Indiana is a little far for calling on the air, but I'm glad you could still cast your fashion note via the newspaper. Incidentally, I hope you heard me read that segment of your article on the air this morning.

Regardless of fashion trends, Ted, your kind words for us at WGN will never go out of style. Our best greetings to you.

Sincerely,
Eddie

The Unicorn

by Loretta Loy

The Unicorn's first dance with a live band was a huge success. There were 70 teens and 14 adults in attendance.

Tom Duke's group called "The Group" was fantastic. All the teens are looking forward to the return of "The Group."

The chaperones included Jay and Loretta Loy, Paula Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duke and uniformed firemen Andy Monroe and Mel Hershberger.

After checking over the records of the past seven weeks, we've come to the conclusion that it would be better if we were only open four night a week. Our new hours are as follows:

Closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Open Thursday 6:00 to 9:00 p.m.; Friday 6:00 to 11:00 p.m.; Saturday 5:00 to 11:00 p.m.; and Sunday 2:00 to 9:00 p.m.

We will try to have a dance at least twice a month with a live band.

If anyone has any old baskets of coal or a few coat hooks lying around, we sure could use them.

Don't forget, for Jett's fine pizza Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, call 337 3035.

We have two sizes, 8" and 10", pepperoni, sausage or cheese, 80 cents and $1.30. Combinations are $1.10 and $1.60. You'll love 'em all.

—Loretta Loy, Rep.

Park Success Due To Efforts Of Bill Hurni

Wild Cherry Park at Saint Joe was a popular gathering place during the past summer for family and church groups as well as social clubs. Even with the coming of fall, the facilities are still being used. A group of young people from the Saint Joe Church of Christ enjoyed a picnic Sunday, October 13, with their adult leaders. The group pictured above includes Dean Akey, Tom Hollabaugh, Mary Charlton, Jeff Bush, Paula Smith, Tim Bullock, Willene Bullock, Connie Hollabaugh, Joyce Bush, Cindy Carnahan, Vickie Witte, Pat Markle, Phyllis Edgar, Jane Bush, Beth Hollabaugh, Jerry Bush, ... Bullock, Brian Powell, Terry Akey, Mike Bush, Lynnette Bullock, ... Smith and Mark Bush.

Bill Hurni, park commissioner for Saint Joe, is shown above as he cleared brush along the creek at Wild Cherry Park in preparation for installation of a new walking bridge to replace one now in use but getting progressively unsafe due to weather and winter abuse from ice and snow. Utilizing cable from the recently removed guard rail along the road next to the park, Mr. Hurni plans to construct a suspension-type bridge for use next summer.

Above, Bill pours cement for the footers to give a solid foundation for the new bridge. Since the park was acquired by the town, Bill has personally donated some 1,500 hours of labor!

Notice is hereby given that Clarence A. Smith has filed with the DeKalb County Board of Zoning Appeals of DeKalb County, Indiana, an "Application for Variance from the Requirements of the Zoning Ordinance," requesting approval of a variance of 30 feet and 6 inches for the use of the following described real estate, to-wit:

A part fo the SW ¼ of the SW ¼ of Section 28, Township 33 north, Range 14 East in DeKalb County described as follows: Beginning at the original iron stake at the NW corner of Lot No. 6 in Hafner's Out Lots to the Town of Spencerville, DeKalb County, Indiana; thence south 26 degrees and 30 minutes on the west line of lot No. 6, 126 feet to the north right of way line of Indiana State Road No. 1; thence following the curved right of way line south-westerly 170.6 feet to the intersection of said line with the East line of a lot in the name of Roy and Ines Maurer as described in Deed Record Vol. 107, Page 430; thence due north on said lot line 138.6 feet to the Northeast corner of the Maurer Lot; thence North 46 degrees and 50 minutes East 111.5 feet to the beginning point.

The application and file on this matter are available for public inspection during the regular working hours at the office of the Board in the DeKalb County Court House, Auburn, Indiana, until two (2) days prior to the hearing date.

Town Board To Improve Street Lighting; Seeks Car Removals

The town board of Saint Joe met in regular session Monday night. After a review of bills presented for payment and approval of the bills, discussion of business followed.

Richard Musser was present to ask about purchasing the old town fire truck. The matter was carried over for further investigation. Discussion of improved lighting for the town followed and the board will meet with Mr. Williami Nimmo at a later date to review an Indiana & Michigan Electric Company proposal for additional street light facilities. The board has included an increase of $500 in the 1969 budget to cover additional lighting costs. The board voted to pay the cost of Christmas lighting on the main street this year. The Booster Club purchased the decorations a few years ago and has been paying the light bill since that time. The board will pay the expense with the club continuing to install and remove the decorations.

Letters were authorized to be sent to nine Saint Joe residents who have been reported as having "junk cars" on their properties. The letters requested cooperation in removing any unlicensed and unsightly vehicles in the community to help improve its appearance. While the letter concerned only vehicles specifically, it is hoped that other unsightly objects will also be removed or disposed of.

Removal of snow from streets and sidewalks during the coming winter was tentatively approved by the board, with such service to be provided if the necessary equipment and labor can be contracted for. Discussion was held about the condition of sidewalks in certain areas of the town, but no action was taken to utilize immediately the ordinances or statutes which give the board the responsibility to see that sidewalks are installed and improved.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Town—Frank Chew, labor $4.00; Willard Hurni, labor and materials, park, 12.53; Willard Hurni, labor 5.00; Hixson Sand & Gravel, asphalt patching material 75.18; Saint Joe News, advertising 7.72; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas 3.93; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, 81.06; Auburn Sanitary Landfill 240.00; Donald Kinsey, clerk services 25.00; Parker Insurance Agency, clerk bond 100.00; Jessie Caunady, labor 12.00; Howe Fire Equipment Company, payment on truck 1,800.00; Jack Bowser, 1968 salary 150.00; Lynn Lake, 1968 salary 150.00; Ted Haberkorn, 1968 salary 150.00.

Salon To Have Programs For Ladies

Mrs. Ronnie (Kay) Smith, owner of the Saint Joe Beauty Salon, announced this week that plans are being made to present a series of programs which will be of special interest to the ladies of the surrounding area.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 14, 15 and 16, a lovely array of Fashion Wagon clothing will be in display at the beauty salon. The fall and winter collection will include a variety of suits, dresses, slacks and coats in a choice of wools and knits.

The ladies of the community are cordially invited to stop, shop and visit during any of these three days.

Other programs to be presented later in the winter will include a wig showing and a Holiday Magic Cosmetic Seminar.

CONCORD JR. HOMEMAKERS

The November 4 meeting was held at the Carl Perkins home.

After repeating the club collect, Rose Means had the devotions. She talked about Norman Vincent Peale's most interesting piece on "Giving thanks all year long." The history of the Thanksgiving song was read by Betty Bevington, then we all joined in singing it with Lois Strong at the piano.

Secretary's report was given by Doris Prentice. The response to roll call was most interestingly answered with "the latest joke."

We made plans to fix up a box for a friend as our Mental Health project.

The Christmas Party committee is letting out a few hints on the forthcoming festivities.

Delicious pumpkin pie wound up the evening.

The shepherd drives the wolf from the sheep's throat, for which the sheep thanks the shepherd as a liberator, while the wolf denounces him for the same act as the destroyer of liberty, especially as the sheep was a black one. Plainly the sheep and the wolf are not agreed upon a definition of the word liberty; and precisely the same difference prevails today among us human creatures. . . . .

Blazers Prepare For Nov. 22 Opener; Preview Game Friday

Eastside's Varsity basketball team is busy getting ready for next week's opening game with West Noble. At present the following 14 players are competing for Varsity positions.

The Blazers have good size and experience, and are working hard to improve their shooting skills, and are figuring on being hard to handle this year.

For the preview game this Friday night, the squad has been split into two groups of seven each. The two groups are fairly evenly matched, rather than a first five and reserves, which should provide a pretty close game.

Of Purdue And Protest

In the last several days, I have watched with interest the newspaper accounts of the dificulties being encountered on the Purdue University campus over the editorial efforts of a student editor. Usually Indiana University gets the headlines when it comes to student conflicts, so it is somewhat of a change now to hear of problems at another state-supported institution of higher learning.

The problem at Purdue is that a student editor publicly criticized the president of that institution, and used four- letter words of profanity in so doing. University officials then removed the student editor from the newspaper, "The Exponent." However, an announcement Tuesday of this week indicated that the student had been reinstated by the president of the university while an advisory committee studies the paper's relations with the university.

A somewhat similar situation developed a couple of years ago at the Fort Wayne campus of Indiana and Purdue Universities when the infant publication on that campus ran into dificulties under comparatively unsupervised student management. The editorial content of the Fort Wayne publication became rather vicious in its political views and criticism of the Fort Wayne campus administration. At the same time, there was also an underground campaign against a member of the faculty because of his ancestral background, mimeographed "smear sheets" being stuck under doors and passed around to students attacking the character of the faculty member. The public did not know of the matter; there was no publicity. I know of the matter because I was directly involved. At the time, I was publishing the campus newspaper; but the editorial policy became so "mean" that I ultimately returned copy for the next edition to the campus student activities director, stating that I could no longer in good conscience be a participant in the publication of such inconsiderate writings on a state university campus. I also, therefore, was no longer a "participant" in the revenue from the publication.

In both cases (the one at Fort Wayne and the current incident at West Lafayette), the student editor's defense of his actions was the same: the paper is not a part of the university's financial responsibility, therefore it is not responsible to university administration, therefore it can say what it pleases.

I bring the matter up for a couple of reasons. One is that, although high school graduates are growing into maturity and must prepare for the responsibility of taking on the job of active citizenship, there may be a lack of understanding of the responsibilities which the student has towards those who make the state-supported universities possible. It is not a sufficient defense for a rebellious student editor, such as is evident now at Purdue and was evident at Fort Wayne a couple of years ago, to say that no public tax money is involved in producing the student newspaper, that it is a student activity, and it is therefore not responsible to the university adminstration or the public. The point is not the source of support for the newspaper; the point is the necessity for considering all people involved in the administration of campus activities, official and unofficial. Although no public tax money is supporting the campus newspaper, the newspaper ought to consider the fact that it exists only because there is a university. And the university exists because of the tax money which comes from every taxpayer of the state. Therefore, every student activity, whether official or unofficial, ought to be carried out with respect for the feelings and opinions, not only of the student, but also of the general public. Student editors at state universities ought to be aware that they cannot editorialize with the same freedom that a privately owned newspaper can, simply because the student is a representative of the entire public while he or she serves on a student publication at a state-supported university. Criticism by students can and should be allowed; however, it should be offered with respect and restraint.

There is another reason to bring the matter up. The fact that a certain minor element of our student society is intent upon having its own way at the expense of others should serve as a warning to those who strongly advocate the lowering of the voting age to 18 or 19 years of age. This student element may be small, but it is ambitious and uses every possible means of gaining positions of power and influence in order to carry out its purpose. That purpose is to have its own way regardless of the thoughts and feelings of others. This element is dangerous to a free society because, under the guise of striving to exercise the right to dissent, by its unbending ways it, in effect, discourages others in their right to differ and to exercise authority.

In the present case at Purdue, the student editor has been successful in getting the president of the university to override a decision of other university officials, thus giving the impression that the president supports the student editor's efforts to be able to say what he thinks about whomever he may please, and with four-letter words of profanity. If you think some of these student "activities" are just letting off steam, remember that there are now university officials who have been made to look unfair and unjust when they removed the student editor from his post, only to be reversed by the university president. This is the kind of embarrasing situation which the know-it-all element of our student population seeks to promote in order to undermine established traditional rules and regulations which have been instituted on state university campuses in order to respect the general public which makes these institutions possible.

If these self-centered and ambitious rebels continue to gain positions of influence on state-supported universities, consider the harmful influence they could have on thousands of students who now attend these universities. If a student editor is so limited in his vocabulary and reason that he must resort to profanity in voicing an opinion in public, how can we expect an intelligent approach to voting decisions from those under 21 who would become voters if the age limit were lowered? What kind of example does he set for others? It is significant that, for all the explanations given in defense of the "student rebellion" by those students promoting such rebellion with the argument that they are mature enough to be given greater freedoms and privileges, even of voting, their leadership must resort to the primitive tool of vulgarity and profanity. The greatest argument against more privileges is the manner in which such a change is being sought. Whether it is in seeking a lower voting age or criticizing older administrative personnel, a mature approach certainly does not involve four-letter profanity —especially in public.

Once before I expressed a protest against the liberality which universities appear to be exercising more and more when it comes to control of student activities, official and unofficial. Once again I protest against allowing irresponsible students to gain equality with faculty and administration in the operation of state-supported universities. I am not paying taxes to allow my children, or anyone else's, to go to such campuses and do as they please. And as long as I, along with every other taxpayer in the State of Indiana, am contributing to a $1,000 scholarship each year for every student on every state-supported university campus, I have a right to protest the manner in which such institutions are being operated.

As far as student say-so in current university affairs is concerned, I protest—and I am not alone. If what I have read of the newspaper incident at Purdue University is true, the conduct of the student editor in his editorializing has indicated he is unworthy of that position, and the president of the university erred in reinstating him.

The Role Of 'Education'

With the current observance of National Education Week, a few thoughts about education as a whole would seem appropriate inasmuch as paying for education is getting to be quite a problem. We seem to go through "spells' during which emphasis on a particular phase of education appears to be the appropriate and necessary thing to do in order to keep up with the times.

Before we got into the space age, education seemed to be pretty well defined for the average person. You went to school through your 16th year and got the three R's as a basis. Those who were able to go to college, financially and intellectually, took certain courses in high school for college preparation. They are still doing this, but there seems to have been a new attitude instilled in some minds along with the emphasis on the need for "more education." That attitude tends to make education as a whole some sort of specialized preparation for occupational use. Nowadays many students select subjects on the basis apparently of how much more money it will help them earn. That sounds rather mercenary, but then we are unfortunately in a mercenary age. There is really little dedicated service going on nowadays, proportionately speaking. Even the hospitals' first question is, "Do you have any insurance?" when you enter such institutions. The first concern is payment of your bill, even before you know that they will do you any good. Minimum wages are imposed upon certain businesses and industries to the point where it has been shown to deprive some people of even limited income because the wage-payer cannot afford the minimums inflicted upon him. Getting money in an amount determined by someone other than the employer or employee is the motivation; the opportunity for doing such work of a limited value and income is forgotten.

What does this have to do with education? Well, when any person analyzes his or her education and comes up with a motivation based on occupational-financial returns, they make a mistake. The biggest problem we have today, and we have had for generations, is the problem of getting along with one another. The main reason for conflicts between people—and therefore nations—is a lack of understanding of the other person's position in needs and wants. Exposure to subject matter which may seldom be used in adult life helps to develop an appreciation of what others have done and what there is to be discovered in each particular field. I am not using higher mathematics in my business today. But exposure to higher mathematics has given me, I think, an appreciation for the talents and abilities of those who do use such mathematics in specialized occupations requiring such talents. And I understand the need for such talents in socety. How many people are drawing? Art courses could be called a waste, technically speaking, if we are going to judge what is literally useful in the average person's lifetime. But every student who takes an art course is exposed to an understanding of what it takes to express beauty, impressions and emotions in the field of art. Foreign languages, government, economics, all of these are not used occupationally by the average person to the point where we say they were taken in school to help make more money. But the more varied the courses which a student participates in at the elementary and secondary level, the more that student will be successful in whatever pointedly occupational direction he or she may take. They are more aware of people by such extensive, but not necessarily intensive, exposure to all types of subject matter.

With public relations more a problem than technical knowledge, it would seem appropriate that emphasis be placed on developing in the student appreciation for all things, along with an understanding that flexing of the mental processes in whatever subject may be taken helps to develop the capability to adjust to whatever circumstances may develop, socially and occupationally. Specialized job training is offered by just about every firm you name; they don't need 100 per cent trained occupational robots. They need, and the world needs, individuals who know not only their own ambitions and capabilities but also those of their fellow men.

The total role of education is not "job training" as we may sometimes assume. The total role of education is the development of individual character and personality. When you hear someone say, "I don't know why I took (or am taking) such and such a subject in school, I never use it," remember that the more a person is exposed to all things, the more he or she grows. Need cannot always be measured by actual and literal "use." There are many bricks in our house which we never "use"; we haven't touched them and never will. But if they were not there, we would not have a home.

Commodity Loan Program

Crop growers are cheating themselves if they market their crops at prices below the Commodity Credit Corporation loan levels, according to Max Heffley, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

The price support commodity loan program was developed as a means of helping farmers sell their crops at a time when market conditions are most favorable, and that time normally is not at harvest time when supplies are ample and prices are likely to be down.

The government loan gives an immediate return to the farmer at harvest time, and at the same time the farmer retains control of his crop. By storing it for a while and then repaying the loan and selling the crop later after the marketing peak, the grower frequently can get a much better price.

How effective the loan is in protecting farm prices really can be decided only by the farm. Only he can make the program operate as intended.

Local loan rates for 1968 crops—which are adjusted for individual crops according to grade and quality—are as follows: corn $1.07 for No. 1; soybeans $2.52; wheat $1.19 for No. 1; oats $.66; rye $1.07; barley $.90; grain sorghum $1.52.

The chairman reminds farmers that the loan is only a part of the total price support protection available to participating growers of such major crops. A grower who helps to stabilize crop supplies by taking part in commodity diversion programs also receives a price support payment on the crop (marketing certificated for wheat) which substantially boosts his total cash returns from his crop. The price support payment is separate from production into a conserving use. Anyone is eligible for a soybean or oats loan. Wheat and corn loans are available to those participants in the feed grain and wheat programs.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

One of the blessings of having a younger member in the family after the first offspring have grown somewhat is that parents are more aware of their family as they grow older, and the younger ones add greater pleasure to life—not that the first borns are any less precious. It's just that the years bring greater appreciation of everything. And the first children get the experiences of having a baby around as a growing child to educate them for parenthood.

The little one in the family also serves occasionally—and unwittingly—as preventive against harsh or unkind words which would have been uttered in anger or frustration. So, our Mark has been a calming influence for me when I want to blow my stack. He also comes up with some priceless comments.

Last week the family went to a hockey game one evening. When we got home, I was looking at the newspaper in the kitchen as Mark trotted through on the way to the bathroom, pajamas and bed. He said, "Thanks for taking me to the hockey game, Dad—I really enjoyed it."

—I was in heaven.

I highly recommend to young married couples that they have a couple children, then wait ten years and have a couple more, for the utmost in pleasant family living. Those who have a little one along with somewhat older children in the family know what I mean.

Lavon Hart stopped in to remind me last week that I have forgotten to mention the need of the church league for additional funds to pay for the fence installed at the ball diamond late this summer.

We owe something like $288.16, but if each church league teams kicks in $15 each, that total will be considerably reduced. If anyone wishes to help out, they can send a donation to Lavon at Spencerville.

Pre-sale of student tickets for Friday and Saturday basketball games of the Blazers will be held Friday noon this week in the ticket booth of the high school gym. Price for students only is 50 cents. Tickets at the door will be $1.00 The games are against West Noble at Westview gym and Leo at Leo.

185 Attend Open House, Exhibit Night

A large crowd, numbering approximately 185, attended the Riverdale P.T.O. Open House and Exhibit Night Tuesday at the local elementary school.

The business meeting was opened by president Lois Fisher who led appropriate devotions for the Thanksgiving season.

Bud Shockley reported for the Ways and Means Committee that the recent spaghetti supper and carnival raised around $350 for the organization's treasury. The committee was given the authority to determine how the money shall be spent.

Room 7B won the attendance award given by the P.T.O. for each meeting.

Refreshments were served and parents then toured the school to views students' work, equipment used in classroom studies and to renew acquaintances with the faculty.

Gifts For Mental Patients Being Collected In Next Ten Days

The News Office at Saint Joe is once again among the several area business establishments serving as a collection depot for donations of gifts for patients in the state mental hospitals and training centers. The gift program was started 14 years ago by the Hental Health Association in Indiana and the DeKalb County Association for Mental Health has been an active participant in the program.

Gifts donated by individuals are wrapped for presentation to patients when appropriate Christmas programs are held at the various hospitals and centers.

Suggested gifts for men include sweaters, dress shirts, sport shirts, pajamas, pipes, shaving cream and lotions, raincoats, bathrobes, jackets and belts. Gifts for men are usually in greater demand.

Those who prefer to purchase a gift for a woman may choose from such items as sweaters, washable dresses, skirts, blouses, nylon hose, nightgowns, pajamas, girdles, toilet articles, billfolds, raincoats, head scarfs and gloves.

Suggested gifts for either men or women are slippers, playing cards, instant coffee, billfolds, comb and brush sets and walking shorts.

Gifts should not be gift wrapped, but the donor is asked to provide gift wrap materials. A committee from the county does the wrapping, in order to have an accurate account of the type of gift included in the various boxes and cartons.

Since the parties are scheduled starting in December at the various hospitals, gifts should be donated within the next ten days. DeKalb County's quota is 1,100 gifts, these to be given to patients at the Fort Wayne State Hospital.

In addition to the News Office, stores serving as collection depots for the gifts include Parker Insurance Agency at Butler, the Boston Store at Auburn and Garrett, and Henderson Plumbing and Heating at Waterloo.

Chairmen and local sponsors in the various communities include Mrs. Leland Diehl and the Eagles of Butler, Mrs. Paul Brown and Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority of Auburn, Miss Mary Ann Caprino and Tri Kappa Sorority of Garrett, Mrs. Dale Martin and the B.P.W. of Waterloo, and Ted Haberkorn and the Saint Joe News.

Two Lions Club Members Have 26 Years' Perfect Attendance

by Frank Amstutz

On opening the November 11 meeting, president Bob Wilder announced that since joining the club 26 years ago, two members, Lynn Fisher and Maurice Kline, have had perfect attendance. In case a member should miss a stated meeting, he can make up that meeting by attending a meeting of another club or some other extra meeting. Bob also announced that the next meeting night will be November 25 and it is 100% night for the entire club. This club has three 100% nights during the year and on these dates, we just don't accept excuses for the members not being there.

Past District Governor Ben Garrettson was then introduced. He announced that the sub-district convention will be in New Haven in March, that the Indiana state convention will be in Indianapolis the week before the Indianapolis 500 race. He also told us that the 1969 International Convention will be in Tokyo, Japan, and that the 1970 International will be in Atlantic City. Mr. Garrettson is presently the chairman for Indiana for the Tokyo convention. He stated that Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Billow and Bob Wilder are included in the passenger list of the 183 passenger plane that he has chartered. Now they have 50 more people, including Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart, who want to go and he said they hope to line up some plane or combine with some other delegation so that all can go.

Next, Mr. Garrettson and Lavon Hart showed a movie of the 1967 convention and parade at Chicago, the city where the first Lions Club was organized 50 years previously.

Altogether this was such a good sales meeting for conventions that I have resolved that I will start going to some Lions conventions beginning with the March convention in New Haven.

What's Sauce For the Goose...

I attended a district meeting of the school boards and superintendents associations this week at Fort Wayne and came away unswayed from my conviction that the problem of school finances at the present time is deep-rooted and is a matter of principle rather than some simple explanation of higher expense-higher revenue. There does not appear to be any "solution" to the situation because there is no provision made in our overall economic pattern to level off and maintain equilibrium. We are on a spiral "kick" and it is ever upward.

During the meeting it was pointed out that in some school corporations in the state of Ohio, school boards are making plans to close the schools for a brief period this winter in order to curtail expenses and meet budgets. I don't believe the school-closing was offered as a possible solution for Indiana; it was just a passing observation. The momentary solutions offered at the meeting have to do with more state aid with more state taxes then required, or more local aid through new taxes to relieve the property tax burden. But I wonder, what is so "sacrilegious" about closing school in this day and age? At first, it sounds terrible, doesn't it? Close school? But education is so important. How can we close school? Such a suggestion is like saying something against God, mother and country: you just don't do it.

But — teachers are closing schools; why can't school boards? I find it difficult to fully accept any more the idea of the importance of education, that it must be maintained and provided at all costs, when those who are the heart of the educational system have now chosen to treat education strictly from an occupation-reward standpoint rather than as a type of calling. I formerly classified school teachers just a notch below the ministry in my own system of appreciation for "motivation for mankind" in the various occupations and I think a lot of other people did, too. But not any more. I know there are still "good" teachers; there always have been and there always will be. However, the power in the teachers' unions (they call them "associations" but that is now a misnomer) has placed the emphasis strictly on money for teachers. The leadership of the teachers' unions either openly admit it or do not deny it. And the emphasis is one of continuing pressure, with no apparent end in site. There is no "professional" atmosphere in teachers' organized efforts today; it's all money.

One of the big disappointments for me is the fact that those old-fashioned dedicated "good" teachers have been sucked into the organized efforts of the new breed of occupational teacher who is there because the pay is going up, the fringe benefits are getting better and better, and after five years, they can't fire you, unless you are immoral, and that could take some proving. The "professional" teacher, the one who is motivated by the desire to serve the needs of mankind in educational pursuits, is now a lost voice in the organization of the teachers' unions. Effort, motivation, ambition, dedication are not able to be rewarded by school corporations. With the system of salary schedules now in effect in education and the collectivist frame of mind instilled in teachers' minds by their leadership, putting in time is basically all that determines the teachers' rewards. Value to individuals and communities cannot be rewarded because "the system" which the teachers pressured onto our school corporations through our state legislators prohibits it.

For example, who can tell how valuable the special education teacher at Riverdale has been to those students whose learning problems required special attention? Such guidance is priceless. There are only some 18 persons in the whole state qualified for such special work; younger teachers avoid the field because it's too much work. But we do have to have some price attached to it salarywise. According to the annual report of receipts and expenditures of our local school corporation for last year, our special education teacher received something like $6,300 for her efforts. Other teachers in the corporation received in many instances $1,000, $2,000, $3,000, even up to almost double her salary, more for their efforts. Why the difference? Because teachers' pay is based on two things: the type of degree earned in college work and the amount of time spent in teaching. Our special education teacher has not been teaching long enough to get what she is worth. Only incentive in the teachers' salary system as it is now maintained is to get a higher degree in order to get more money. I submit that a basically good teacher is not improved by graduate work, that teaching is not a matter of expanse in subject knowledge but a matter of developing student learning capabilities. A math teacher certainly must know math or that teacher will hinder and limit student academic progress. At the other end of the scale, a math "whiz" for a teacher does not necessarily mean that students are going to learn any better or any faster. There is a quality that is not a matter of formal education, it is a matter of individual character, and this you don't learn in college; you either have it or you don't. The "good" teacher is thinking not of self but of service, and it is disappointing to see this professional quality so distinctly lacking in the new breed of teachers coming into our school corporations, especially at the high school level. The teachers have brought this situation on themselves, in allowing "unionism" to creep into the professional organization and smother the high standards of workmanship which the profession ought to uphold.

If teachers want to argue against me, I wonder how they can explain the fact that a teacher can sign several contracts with several school corporations when contract time comes up, then think it over and pick out the best one, with no obligation to any of the others. School boards can't sign a flock of teachers and then pick them over at their pleasure. When a school board signs a teacher contract, it is bound to hire that teacher. When a teacher signs a contract, that teacher is not similarly bound. How any so-called "professional" organization could seek such one-sided consideration and then call itself "interested in education" is beyond me. That may get changed eventually. But it still remains that teachers sought for and gained an unreasonable provision in contracting, distinctly to their advantage and distinctly to the disadvantage of the public. The only interest the teachers' unions have today in education is getting as many of those tax dollars as possible into the teachers' pockets with little effort expended toward maintaining a quality of the teacher. In the teachers' minds, quality of education improves when they get more money. Today they are getting more money, and they will continue to ask for more money, but in my book education has not improved much in the last 25 or 30 years generally speaking because teachers have not generally improved. You can have all the gimmicks and electronics and so on that we have in the education process nowadays. It takes people to make this world and it takes people to make education. Without dedication in human beings, the physical tools are worthless. But even if you have a dedicated teacher, you cannot reward him or her because the teachers' own system won't allow it. So, before our special education teacher gets what she is worth right now, she will have to each another ten years or so. Dedication cannot be rewarded; it is penalized by the system of reward which the teachers themselves have bargained for and lobbied for.

But—back to that matter of closing schools to make expenses. If teachers can demand more money continually, go on strike or threaten to go on strike and feel no guilt over crippling the educational processes of our children — and the public accepts these tactics without question and without argument— why can't our school boards be practical also and close school for whatever time is necessary to cut expenditures to the point where they can be met? It is not a good solution, but then if the "profession" of teaching is going to be practical to the striking point, let's all be practical. Let's close school.

As far as I am concerned, I am not getting what I am paying for in public education. I hope our state legislators and the school boards begin representing the paying public more effectively and boldly than they have in the past in educational deliberations.

NEWS MEDIA GET TAKEN TO TASK

To the Editor:

It is high time that our youth of today took this newspaper and hundreds of others to task. Not only newspaper, but nearly all forms of public news media.

The Nov. 14, 1968, edition of The News-Sentinel published two Associated Press wire stories regarding student uprisings. The story on Page 5B relates to the University of Connecticut having to deal with some 100 students creating such a problem as to cause a national wire service to cover it. The University of Connecticut at Storrs, Conn., has a total enrollment of 17,130 students.

On Page 6B another story carried a 3-column photograph involving a "demonstration" at San Francisco State College in San Francisco where the total enrollment is 18,121 students. Undoubtedly the number of those demonstrating was very small, but still caused the college administration to cease operations.

I'm quite sure that the 99 per cent of the students who are not involved are smart enough to realize that they and their schools are being victimized by the publicity being given to these few troublemakers. It would appear that the AP wire services are objectively reporting the news, and covering events such as this from the East Coast to the West Coast. These same news media that are reporting the student uprisings by such a small minority is the same media that also is reporting that this tiny minority has it all planned and programmed.

For a Broadway play to be successful, the reviews can either be very good, or very bad at times, but the worst thing that can happen is no publicity at all. The show closes. To solve the college problem with such a tactic would cause such a hue and cry from the news media about suppression of free speech, but apparently the news media has not considered that the right of free speech does not permit one to scream "Fire" in a crowded theater. Our news media created this fire, so it is about time they began to put it out.

VOL. LXXXIII — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — SHOP AND MAIL EARLY

When a man hears himself somewhat misrepresented, it provokes him—at least, I find it so with myself; but when misrepresentation becomes very gross and palpable, it is more apt to amuse him.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

[illegible]

We [illegible] progressed in race relations [illegible] the following as [illegible] the ancient [illegible]

"A Democratic minister, who has Democratic measles badly, has arranged a new version of the Lords Prayer which he thinks a great improvement. It reads as follows: "Our white Father who art in a white Heaven, hallowed be Thy white name. Thy white kingdom come, Thy white will be done, give us this day our white daily bread, and forgive our white brethren who differ from us, and curse not Thy curse upon the colored population. Lead us into white temptation to oppress the blacks, and deliver us from Republican and negro evils; for this is a white kingdom, Thine is white power, Thine is white glory, forever and ever. Amen."

It is an education to read old issues of any newspaper. In the good old days there were more pointed remarks made about people and circumstances than you find in most weekly newspapers today. It makes interesting and amusing reading.

[illegible] Thanksgiving [illegible] Hosts [illegible] "thanks" for being [illegible] and who you [illegible] that we can be where we are? How can I tell you how much we all love you, and miss you, and wish that you could be here, too? I don't want to get all mushy and sentimental on you, and even though "thanks" isn't enough, please accept it.

Details are not yet available, but Cal Coburn is now hospitalized in the state having suffered a crushed foot in Vietnam action. He telephoned his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Coburn of Saint Joe, last Friday from Illinois and will be transferred to Fort Knox, Kentucky, where he will require corrective surgery on his foot.
